GLICK RITES HELD SUNDAY

DOUBLE SERVICES HELD FOR WILLARD COUPLE; BURIAL MADE IN PLYMOUTH.

Last rites for Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Glick were held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Secor funeral home, Willard, with Rabbi David Rub of Mansfield, officiating. Burial was in Greenlawn cemetery, Plymouth. Mr. and Mrs. Glick had gone to St. Louis in November to spend the winter with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Gerson, where Mrs. Glick became critically ill with a heart ailment and passed away March 23, 1944. Mr. Glick preceded her in death Feb. 24, following an operation at a St. Louis hospital.

Mr. Glick, 79, was born in Hungary, and came to the United States as a boy, where he rapidly advanced in his chosen business, and was a highly esteemed citizen of Willard and surrounding communities. For 50 years he was a leading merchant of Willard. He was a charter member of the Masonic lodge and had served as a member of the city council, and the Willard board of education.

Mrs. Belle Bachach Glick, 88, was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Israel Bachrach and was born in Plymouth. She spent her girlhood days here and graduated from Plymouth high school, class of 1894, and was an active member of the literary clubs in Plymouth and Willard. He will be sworn in at the next regular meeting the first Thursday in April.

WORD COMES FROM PRISONER

Mrs. Ed Phillips has received a second letter from her son, Eugene, a prisoner of war in Germany. The letter was dated Jan. 12, and arrived here March 21. Although the family has written continuously, the letter states he has not received any mail, nor has the family received the clothes he speaks about.

The letter in full follows: "Dear Family: 'I haven't received any mail as a prisoner of war, so I am wondering how everyone back there is getting along in life and what happening of importance is taking place (This attempt at printing is for the ease of censorship). The prison life is one not soon to be forgotten. The activity here reverts from one of a physical nature to that of a mental, causing a person to become more philosophical by analyzing the past and wondering about the future."

I am sending this letter in the hope that the foregoing letters have been received and which have some explanation that I do not have space for repetition in this letter.

I hope you had a Happy Birthday, Ma, and many more to come. I would like to know if my clothes have arrived. "Gene."

Around the Square

(By Phineas Whittlesseed)

WHATTA-YOU-KNOW! The fare wells were all said, the ditty bag all packed, and the senior boys went off Tuesday for Mansfield to join a group early Wednesday morning for Cleveland for their final exams. Prior to induction into the Navy.

Three boys came home from Mansfield the same evening—their blood tests had not been returned and they failed to go with them. The boys held up were Robert Barber, Clarence Mills and Jun for Marvin.

Then—two more boys were counted out at the Cleveland exams—James Crockett, because of color blindness, and Sid Thomas whose eyes did not pass the final tests. Then, to top it all off, the whole group must return today and wait ten days—which means they will have to say "goodbye" all over again. A recent ruling states that all enlistees must wait ten days after their final exam.

THINGS TO COME — Electric eye charts to record the first nose to cross the finish line at race tracks, replacing the "photo finish." Waterproof matches, now used in the armed services, but likely for sportsmen after the war. "Air-conditioned desks, which will circulate cool air around the knee-hole.

BITS O' BUSINESS — Pratt & Whitney's latest Navy contract calls not for a specified number of aircraft engines, but rather for its "maximum output" for a year. — Pusey & Alexander, which normally makes curtain fabrics, has six factories in Connecticut and two elsewhere now turning out insect nettings and camouflage nets for the armed forces.

UNDERGOES OPERATION — Ruby Gilger of Greenwich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gilger, was operated on Saturday night for appendicitis at the Willard hospital.

REMOVED HOME — Rose Marie, infant daughter of Roy Dann, was removed Sunday from the Shelby Memorial hospital to her home on Sandusky St., by Earl McQuate. She has been suffering from pneumonia.

VISITS HUSBAND — Mrs. Noel McQuown of Willard left last Wednesday for Memphis, Tenn., to visit her husband, Seaman 2-c, who is attending school there.

TRIBUTE TO PASTOR ADAMS
Rev. J. J. Adams, assisted in the two weeks service in the Methodist church. Mr. Adams began his ministry here and recently retired after forty years in the field. He has built up the vital spiritual interest of every church he ever served.

The only reasonable explanation why the bishop sent him to various run-down churches was that he would go to a difficult place with a prayer on his lips and a song in his heart and really succeed. The number of converts among those most downcast and depressed is evidence of what can be done today. He is a pastor who does not need to go back to fifty years ago of illustrations of sound Christian conversion.

Many pupils were surprised at the number of words derived from Latin, in the preamble of the United States. Many expressions that we use daily were printed on posters.

The posters were made by members of the Latin II and Latin I classes.

OPERETTA WAS WELL ATTENDED

A successful performance of the operetta, "Her Royal Highness Miss Jones," was presented last Thursday evening, March 23, to a record-breaking audience in the high school auditorium. The main characters with excellent support from the choruses, portrayed their roles with finesse and skill.

It is felt that the charming appearance of the stage scenery and properties was a result particularly of the efforts of a few of the boys of the operetta cast, who worked untiringly for several days on the stage scenery, and much appreciation is felt for this work.

Because of the exceptional attendance and also the lack of numerous expenses, the production was a financial success. The directors, Miss Bethel and Mrs. Jump, have announced that a part of the net proceeds will be used to pay off old debts of the department, which is due for several years. A part of the proceeds, a substantial amount, will be used to supplement materials and equipment of the department.

Pfc. Harold Biller arrived Monday evening from Camp Sibert, Ala. for a furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Biller.

PLAN FOR NEW FAIR GROUNDS

That the Ohio State Fair grounds should be relocated and that now is the proper time to consider plans to do this, was the general consensus of opinion of the Ohio State Fair Relocation Advisory committee which held its first meeting at the Neil House in Columbus, recently.

Governor John W. Bricker, who approved the appointment of the committee, attended the meeting. He stressed the importance of the annual exposition to agriculture, labor and industry in Ohio. He charged the committee with the responsibility of making a complete study of the problem. Numerous members called attention to the fact that even if the federal government, which took over the grounds at the outset of the war, returned them to the state, they are very inadequate and entirely unsatisfactory for holding a fair, which for the past several years, prior to its discontinuance when the army occupied the buildings and grounds, had been steadily growing. It was pointed out that one of the best state fairs in the country was being held in space entirely inadequate and that in planning for a new State Fair plant thought should be given to its year-round use.

The committee elected Director of Agriculture John T. Brown as chairman; Walter J. Buss, Wooster, president of the State Board of Agriculture, vice chairman, and B. P. Sandles, Junior, Fair Manager, as secretary. Director Brown was authorized by the committee to name an executive committee.

OFFENDERS...merchants

In the same way that British and American officers are keeping lists of enemy criminals whom they intend to punish after the war, many civilians are keeping mental notes on petty offenders at home toward whom they are anticipating "sweet revenge."

I refer to the outcher who gives a poor cut of meat, who makes complaints with, "You're lucky to get that!" to the grocer who saves scarce goods for his friends and answers your requests with, "Don't you know there's a war on!" to the gasoline dealer who acts as if he's doing you a favor to honor your coupons, to the hardware dealer who responds with bitter sarcasm when you ask for a tool no longer made, to the landlady who refuses to make necessary repairs because he isn't allowed to raise your rent and to the movie operator who shows third-rate pictures because he knows you can't afford to go to the movies anyway.

And I refer also, in this list of petty offenders who are doing us down to the railroad conductors and bus drivers who make you feel as though you are a Nazi for taking up travel space, to the hotel keepers who "lose" reservation letters when the crowds pour in, and to the storekeepers, salesmen and "service" employees who lose patience with their wartime problems and take it out on their customers.

SERVICE...grousing

In this country a stock rule for success in operating a retail store or any kind of service establishment has been, "The customer is always right." In actual practice the customer has never been quite that fortunate, but, in general, the storekeepers who have done a good business are those who treat their customers more than fairly and who go out of their way to extend helpful services to their patrons.

Having been spoiled for years by the storekeepers, it is natural that we should resent this sudden turn about of attitude. It is perhaps most noticeable of all in the gasoline stations—the "super-service" establishments of yore—where attendants used to do practically everything but polish our eye glasses when we drove in for gas and where, in many instances, we now feel that we should get out and dust off their overalls in order to entice them into giving us a few gallons of inferior fuel for our tired vehicles.

We realize that the gasoline attendants, the storekeepers and the bus drivers have plenty of troubles these days. But so do a lot of the rest of us. And we figure that as long as they are willing to take our money for their goods and want to stay in business, we are the ones who should be permitted to do the grousing over scarcities.

SMILES...future

To me one of the pleasantest wartime advertising campaigns is that carried on by the telephone company about the girl with the "smile in her voice."

If there's anything this country needs right now, it is more smiles in more voices.

Just as most of us are getting an almost ecstatic thrill out of picturing what we are going to tell the wartime grouchers when supplies are plentiful again, we are also making up our minds now that we will always patronize those establishments where the clerks were helpful and gracious, and where we were treated like human beings.

There is little doubt in my mind that the storekeepers and other business men who will be most prosperous after the war are those few who are trying to make the most of this period when goodwill brings in no immediate dividends. And there is also little doubt that these business people who take advantage of the times, by being rude and uncooperative with their customers will find themselves in a precarious position when the war ends.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"I was just telling my brother Fred this morning, Judge, there's never been a time in our lives when we got to live up to that old sayin' 'United we stand, divided we fall' more than we have to today."

"How true that is, Herb. And for the life of me, I can't figure out why, at a time like this, some folks insist on raising a question like prohibition. I can't imagine anything that would tickle our enemies more than to get us folks over here taking sides against each other, arguing about an issue like that. We've got to be a he-man's job on our hands to win this war and we can't be wasting our minds, our money and our strength fighting about something we tried for nearly 14 years and found couldn't work.

"I say there's a time and a place for everything, and this is no time or place to be doing any fightin' except the kind that's going to win the war."

UNION TRYING TO GET FARMERS

FARMERS MEET IN SAVANNAH TO LISTEN TO UNION AGENTS. The second meeting of farmers held at Savannah Hall, March 27, was quite a success. The main speaker was John Johnson of Massillon, district representative for United Dairy Farmers, District 25, N. M. W. of America. With him were Russell Kiko and Bill Corning, chairman of Stark County Local, and an Ashland man, Martin Merritt, chairman of Ashland County Federation of Union was also present. These men all spoke to the farmers.

John Johnson stressed the point that some people had the wrong idea of this organization; that the N. M. W. didn't want to run the farmers' business. One reason is that they do not know anything about farming, also they know the farmer in their market, and he produced their food, feedstuffs, they just help him to help himself. For these reasons they offered him the use of their organization, monetary, legal and legislative aid of this organization. Because if they don't keep the farmer on his feet, they also will be in the same shape.

Russell Kiko said the farmers in the middle west, Ohio as the center, are the power base of legislation and are recognized, such in Washington. All that is needed for Ohio farmers to come through, and they will link United Dairy Farmers in Pennsylvania, Michigan and Indiana together. He said that the farmers had the best opportunities they ever had to get themselves in position to set the policy of agriculture. If he does not do this, someone else will, and it won't be in the farmer's interest.

Bill Corning told of progress of Stark County Local. He said that they had the complete cooperation of the big dairies and the dairies recognize them as the leading organization, and there is little, if any misunderstanding with them, also they had the services of legal and representative did not fill out any papers they might have, whether it pertains to farming or not, and advise an other organization. Whether any cow, and that each member receives a paper every month or two weeks to tell them of the progress of the organization in the U. S. Probably the most interesting happening of the evening was when Martin Merritt of Ashland took the floor to commend the farmers on the stand he was taking and pledged full cooperation of the Federation of Labor unions of Ashland county. We will have another meeting on Wednesday evening, April 5th at the Savannah town hall. There will be several speakers including John Johnson, district representative and with him we expect a state representative, also Martin Merritt of Ashland County Federation of Union.
