

NEW GUINEA NO PLACE FOR WHITE MAN SAYS CPL. VANCE HOFFMAN

All wonder what our boys are doing, what they are thinking and how the world is using them. This week we received an interesting letter from Cpl. Vance Hoffman, telling us of his experiences in New Guinea. Not the best place in the world to live, the boys there take it good naturedly and in a way, that is a credit to the United States. The letter follows:

"Dear Tommy:
Well, Tommy, I have been planning to write you a letter for some time. So I am doing so now. I am deep in the hills of New Guinea. I can say one thing. I don't play for a white man. I forget what a white girl looks like, as all you see here are natives. They're fun to watch and bargain with. They work for 4 cents (tin of Aussie money) a day. To hire any of them to work, you must do it through the Australian government and they pay them, as some of the Yanks would give them a cent for doing something for them (that is $3.20 in our money)—for with that much money they would take off for the jungles and you can't get them to work. They are millionaires.
The soldiers over here call them Fuzzy, Woodzy Angels; as it's remarkable how they get through the jungles and carry their wounded back. We give them cigarettes for climbing the trees and picking up coconuts and bananas. They all like pipes and trade us Jap souvenirs for them. I have some but we're not allowed to send them out.

The women are "all out" for the clothing shortage and heads seem to be their biggest apparel of clothing. The women are all named Mary and the men Charlie. Last week they were celebrating some kind of an event. They all came down out of the jungles, all painted up and wearing everything from derby hats, to one who was wearing a Salvation army cap. They danced around a big bonfire five or three days and nights. We got a kick out of watching them.
We are lucky still to be together which helps—Jeep (Ed)—Beeching is in my battery, and also some Shiloh and Shelby fellows in the other batteries. We all get together and talk over old times. We still carry on our sports manship rivalry over here. After mail call Beeching and I will see Delmar Nesbitt coming toward our tents with an Advertiser and all smiles. Jeep says: "Well, Shiloh must have been in my battery. But we laid it on the Shiloh fellows when we took them in the tournament."
On the boat on our last voyage—"The Buckman" of Shiloh told me that Lonnie Payne was on the boat. I went to school with his brother, Don. Dave Clark, Simon, and Gil Heubarger of Shiloh were his and the Shiloh fellows. Beeching and myself talked every night to him—he got off a stop ahead of us. I dug out a couple of back Advertisers I had and he was tickled to receive them.
This morning Jeep told me I was getting as yellow as a Jap—it's from taking Atabane. But it's for our own protection against Dengue fever and malaria, which send me to my enemy over here. Mother sends me the weekly paper first class mail and I get them pretty good. We really appreciate them over here. With the paper and Shiloh Globe and what letters we get from home, we keep pretty well up on our news.

I suppose Plymouth is rather quiet with most of the young fellows in the army. We get gum, cigarettes and candy rations every couple weeks. We also usually have an outdoor movie which helps. We pick up radio Tokyo on the radio every night. The boys always telling about sinking our fleet or decorating someone for bombing New York or something. The other night she stated she was going to wipe New Guinea off the map but we are still here. We also get a big kick out of reading in the paper where someone back in the States was fined $5.00 or so for violating a blackout law. Here we are only a short distance from the Japs and the place is lit up like Times Square. But we black out for all air raid alerts.

Well, this is probably a very uninteresting letter, but I thought maybe you would like to hear what it's like over here. I told Jeep I was writing you and he sends his regards to everybody. I must close. Keep good old Plymouth going till we all get back safely.
Vance Hoffman.

GROUP TO SERVE AT THE CANTEN

Members of the American Legion Auxiliary are hoping for better weather next Tuesday, April 18, when they serve for the second time at the Crestline Canteen.

Contributions of baked goods and cash are coming in nicely, and the ladies hope they will have sufficient of both to put the project over nicely.

Anyone wishing to donate cup cakes, donuts, cookies or cash may see Mrs. Dave Scrafield. She will also look after the collection of the baked goods to which they cannot be delivered to her home.

BENEFIT DANCE FRIDAY NIGHT

STUDENT COUNCIL SPONSORING DANCE FOR BENEFIT OF CRESTLINE CANTEN

Won't you buy a ticket to the Benefit Dance Friday evening to be held at the High school auditorium? The student council of the school is sponsoring the project and the proceeds will be given to the Crestline Canteen Service. The price is 50c per person and whether you dance or not, it will be a pleasant evening listening to Camp Millard's Military Band from Bucyrus. Ray Black's orchestra was originally booked, but was unable to come so the substitution was made. The military band will be something new in Plymouth and should be a good drawing card.
Window cards are out and the boys are busy canvassing the town. Invitations have also been extended to neighboring schools and communities.
The Crestline Canteen is doing a wonderful work. Practically all troop trains stop at this town and the boys are given an opportunity of getting off the train and enjoying the sandwiches, cakes, coffee, milk and cookies, etc., provided by the various organizations.
Locally, the American Legion Auxiliary has sponsored a day twice, the Plymouth Grange and a similar church has also served a day. Anywhere from 400 to almost 1000 boys are served daily. Maybe your boy will be one of those served and how they do so depends what the Home Front is doing.

EGG PRICE DROP SEVERE BLOW TO ALL HATCHERIES

SEVERAL IN NORTHWEST REPORTED TO HAVE STOPPED PRODUCTION; FEED SHORT

The slump in the market price of eggs is affecting the production of chick hatcheries in northwest Ohio, it was revealed this week in a survey of eight concerns. Seven of these firms reported that sales were from 30 to 50 per cent below those of a year ago.
Reasons for the sales slump were given as: low price of eggs and high price of feed grains; low price of meat chickens and the loss of customers due to induction into the armed forces.
At the same time producers suggested a floor price on eggs and poultry to insure the producers against the heavy loss which will be incurred when the bottom drops out of the industry.
Twenty-five per cent of the hatcheries will incubate no more eggs this spring since some of the hatcheries are being forced to destroy the chicks which are not selling, it was indicated. Others have hundreds of chicks on hand which they are feeding until possible purchasers appear.
Some sections report that the 1943 corn crop did not mature enough for safe feed for chickens. Farmers who are forced to purchase chicken feeds are purchasing low chicks.
Hatchery orders for the last week in May were the lowest in many years, some of the big producers assert.

CANNING SUGAR NOW AVAILABLE

Applications are now in the hands of all retail food dealers for canning sugar. Get one application for each family and mail it to War Price and Rationing Board, Norwalk, and for Richard and name, mail to the Shelby Board.

List names of all persons for whom you are applying, and enclose one spare stamp No. 37 for each person.
The form will be issued on five pound coupons and each person is eligible to twenty pounds for the year, in addition to the five pounds available by using sugar stamp No. 49.

A NEW DAUGHTER

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Chappell of Berkley, Calif., a daughter, Saturday, March 14th. The daughter will be remembered as usually. This is to be a gala evening and all the men are asked to make this meeting a success.

Decisive Moment in History

DATE SET FOR SCHOOL CLINIC

HEALTH EXAMINATIONS FOR PRE-SCHOOL CHILDREN TO BE HELD HERE.

Boys and girls who enter school next Fall in the Plymouth school district will be examined for physical defects at a health clinic under the supervision of the Richland County Health commissioner. Dr. Wild will examine the children and recommend corrections when defects are found.
On April 18, at 9 a. m. the Cass township children will be examined at Shiloh high school; at 2:00 p. m., Plymouth school district children will be examined at the local high school.
Dr. Wild urges parents of children ready for school next Fall to bring them to school for physical check-ups, explaining that defective vision or hearing and bad tonsils may retard the child in his classes unless steps are taken to make corrections.

CONTRIBUTIONS FOR SCOUT HUT

It is very gratifying, indeed, to know that public spirited citizens are coming to the aid of the Boy Scout organization with many fine contributions.

The goal is $1500 for a Scout Hut to be erected in Mary Fite Memorial Park, and when the job is finished it will be one of the entire community can well be proud of. It's going to take a little sacrifice on everyone in the community, and those away from home, who are still interested in Plymouth, to put this project across, but it is believed it will be done.
Below is a partial list of those who have donated. Additional names will be published next week.
Dr. J. T. Gaskill $5, Mr. & Mrs. H. C. Martin $5, Knight Insurance Agency $5, Nimmons Insurance Agency $5, John I. Beelman $10, Beelman & Lofland Insurance Agency $10, C. M. Lofland $5, Mrs. Anna L. Fate $5, Miss Mary Sheely $5, Miss Grace Trimmer $5, Paul LeRoy Scott $5, Mr. & Mrs. Chris Shesly $5, Mr. George Pickens $5, Mr. & Mrs. Chas. Lookabaugh $5.

BROTHERHOOD Will Hold Father-Daughter Night

The Brotherhood of the First Evangelical Lutheran Church has arranged for a father and daughter evening on Monday, April 17, in the annex of the church. Price per plate for the dinner is 75c. The preparation for this program includes an out-of-town speaker, and other special features. The Rev. Bruce Young of Shelby, will be the evening speaker. Moving pictures, if possible to secure, them will be shown. There will be plenty of good things to eat. Each father is to bring a daughter. Those who have no daughters ought to adopt one for that evening.
Past meetings proved that these gatherings have been of profit and worthwhile not only in a physical sense but intellectually and spiritually. This is to be a gala evening and all the men are asked to make this meeting a success.
The Committee.

NO HOPE HELD FOR M.J. MILLER

LETTER ADVISES PARENTS NO HOPE SHOT DOWN OVER AUSTRIA

Although officially reported as "missing," relatives and friends still held hope that Major William Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Miller of Willard, would be one of the lucky ones to turn up later.

However, a letter received the past week from his commanding officer to his parents, states there is no hope of seeing him again. "Bill" is a graduate of Willard High school, the University of Alabama, and had been in the service about three years. A former member of Plymouth High school faculty and a brother of E. B. Miller of the Brown & Miller Hardware firm, he was well known in Plymouth.

He left the States at Thanksgiving time and had been located in Italy where the fighting was very severe. Besides his parents he is survived by three sisters, Miss Mabel Miller of Elyria, Mrs. Dorothy Carr of Willard, Mrs. Faith Cook of Shelby; two brothers, Harry of Charleston, S. C. and E. B. Miller of Plymouth, besides a number of nieces and nephews.

The following letter, received from his commanding officer, expresses the high esteem in which he was held by his men and officers:
"Dear Mr. and Mrs. Miller: "It is with deep regret that I write to you concerning the loss of Bill. The airplane in which he was flying was shot down by enemy fighters over Steyr, Austria, on Feb. 23, 1944.
While he may have been reported by the War Department as missing in action, I think it is best that you know the facts. Circumstances were such that you must have no hope of ever seeing him again."
"I should like for you to know that Bill was one of the finest Squadron Commanders in the Army Air Forces. The men and officers who served under him, admired, respected and loved him. All I can say is that his loss creates an irreplaceable void in this organization.
"I hope it may ease your sorrow some to know that I, as his Commanding Officer, considered him without equal as a pilot and an officer. He had to a marked degree that characteristic that men call "squareness."
"Please allow me to extend, for myself and the entire organization, the deepest sympathy in our mutual loss."

GOES ON WAR TIME

Norwalk will go on eastern war time at 2:00 a. m., Sunday April 30th, according to action taken by the Norwalk council.

Around the Square

(By Phineas Whitford)

SATURDAY night in Plymouth found many visitors to the old home town... just doing last minute shopping, either for the table or apparel for the Easter Parade. Bud Stewart and Chris Shesly having a conflag by a no parking sign... Mrs. Russ Figley lugging in a big batch of old fat to Jerry's Market—and it was in a jar... pennies of points and pastimes, Mrs. Figley will win the war... caught Charlie Smith in at Jumps in the act of making a purchase, and what I thought was a shirt turned out to be a pair of pajamas—Smitty say's he's going to bed and stay for the rest of the summer—too much work to do, says he... Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Burns all dressed up the night before Easter, and Butch tagging along looking for Easter bunnies. Two city games get off the 9:30 bus—they came to town for Easter, and didn't get up the night before I am without name or phone number... Clayton Williams all 'spic and span' and really having that "Spring" look—of course, the cigar couldn't be left out and the smoke smell good as he passed by. Raymond Brooks was out late, but he went home with a beautiful bouquet for the Mrs. which, no doubt, even things up—and the smoke smell good as he passed by. Raymond Brooks was out late, but he went home with a beautiful bouquet for the Mrs. which, no doubt, even things up—and the smoke smell good as he passed by. Raymond Brooks was out late, but he went home with a beautiful bouquet for the Mrs. which, no doubt, even things up—and the smoke smell good as he passed by.

REV. LAMBERTUS in commenting on the Easter services at the Lutheran church, says: "The solemnities of points and pastimes, their services, its profusion of flowers and much increased attendance is once more a part of past history. The content of Easter itself, the hope and joy the festival brings, ought to be an abiding Easter hope and an abiding Easter joy."

DESPITE inclement weather, all services of the various churches in the community were well attended Easter Sunday, including the early sunrise services. It was a grand day in Plymouth, in spirit and shall we say, "appearance"? Many new striking and beautiful outfits were seen, and where is the woman that doesn't want to make herself just a little more appealing at Easter time?

DON'T miss the letter in this issue from Vance Hoffman, who writes from New Guinea. You'll find it most interesting. I hope some of the other boys will follow with a few lines. The folks at home—not only the parents, are always interested in what our boys are doing. The more we hear, the more you a few lines in the near future. We all send our best regards.

FINAL report of the Red Cross War Fund Drive for Plymouth and Plymouth township showed a total of $1408.58 contributed. Of this amount Plymouth village contributed $1055.31 and the township $353.27. Mrs. Mabel McFadden served as chairman, who with her co-workers, are to be commended for their splendid work.

GLANCING through the pages of the March magazine, I see, which comes with the Sunday Plain Dealer, were were pleasantly surprised to see "Our Eleanor" looking at us from a page ad featuring "Cuties at 'Our Eleanor'." It is Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, who was pictured along side the Dutchess of Windsor, Mrs. Harrison Williams, Mrs. Stankey G. Mortimer, Jr., Mrs. Marshall Field, and Mrs. Vincent Astor. The photographs were released especially on Easter Day on behalf of the New York Infantry for Women and a Chosen Of course, it may be predicted, but we thought she was "tops" of the entire group.

IN A LETTER received from T. D. Davis, assistant superintendent of Cleveland Heights Public Schools, he states he has been reading with interest about the campaign for the Boy Scout Hut. We gratefully acknowledge his interest. Continued on Back Page

CHAPTER II

Dr. Warner upon meeting the postman after the letter to the editor. Monsieur Victor ordered her to hold herself ready to take care of evacuees, unless she could take care of them herself. Mrs. Matrin is much upset over an advertisement in the London Times offering accommodations for four people in a hotel.

He never went anywhere except once a week when he took down the stairs on his way to the bank. A small man, with a dark felt hat drawn down over his eyes and a muffer round his neck. Where he went no one knew for certain, but Mrs. Payne guessed that it must be to the bank, for he always went on the day he paid his bill. He paid her in cash, and she always sent Monsieur's signature on a check.

And as Mrs. Payne went on down the stairs she turned to look at the back sheet of the Times where you find little pictures of houses to let and sell. She had seen one or two lovely houses and had owned several. For one fleeting instant she visualized one of her houses being hers. His dead wife had loved it, his Lucienne. Thank God, she had been before she was ever sent away on her beloved France.

When he arrived at Netta's advertisement she had seen it and read it twice. The wording of it attracted him. "A small private apartment for rent, for four persons. Five guineas a week. Too much! But could you pay too much for a room like that?"

He was still staring at the paper when Mrs. Payne brought in his lunch. She did not as a rule speak when she brought in Monsieur's lunch, but somehow this time she felt she had to. "Don't you feel well, Monsieur?"

"I feel well in my body, but not in my heart," said Monsieur Victor slowly.

And when Mrs. Payne had gone, Monsieur, rising from his chair, contemplated the food on the table and the terror thoughts descended on him again. There were those who even at that moment gazed unseeingly at black bread smashed down on a tin plate. Yes.

"It's a pas de deux," said Monsieur Victor, and then the slender fingers parried in a brief smile. "Ah! Encore un coup, Once again, Monsieur," he said.

Yes. And then as they stood side by side, Monsieur Victor began to talk. He was a good linguist; also he wanted to know what this Frenchman was doing here. Chasing him amiably, he tried to find out.

When the All Clear sounded they slowly slipped out into the sunlight again. John Wynter watched the sad little figure of the Frenchman walk away up St. James Street. Tragedy in every line of it. John Wynter laughed at his flights of imagination as he hailed a passing taxi and jumped into it. He would have to hurry, for he was already behind time for his appointment.

After a night spent in the secure reinforced concrete shelter under her equally luxurious flat, Mrs. Matrin-Follock always felt extremely cross. Especially as those of her friends who had already moved away into comparative safety were always writing that she should do the same.

So, when Mrs. Matrin-Follock saw the advertisement on the back page of the Times, it all seemed to fit.

Joan Matrin got her letter two days later. "Dear Sir or Madam: (Dear Joan), I have seen your advertisement in today's Times, and I am very sorry to hear that you are far from any military objectives. This sounds almost too good to be true and remains to be seen. As I am anxious to leave London at once, will you very kindly send me a note stating whether you will accept of my accommodation, and if so, will you kindly send me a note stating whether you will accept of my accommodation. Yours faithfully, Lydia Matrin-Follock."

"What do you think?" Joan's eyes were about to close when she read the others. Netta replied. "You are afraid of a chest of this newspaper on her knee. This one sounds better."

"Dear Madam: "In today's issue of the Times I see your advertisement. I have been very busy and may perhaps be able to find it with you. Kindly write me at once particularly if you can. I will be glad to oblige. Yours with respectful regards, "Joan Matrin."

"P. S. I am French."

"I should have played and made sure. But they did not see me safe and had gone on ahead. There was no time; the Germans were only a few miles outside Paris."

"Don't reproach yourself," Mr. Paton spoke more urgently than usual. "Answer my advertisement and find out more about it. I will see that you can cash checks wherever you are."

"I thank you," Monsieur Victor got up and the interview ended. Out in the sunshine again, Monsieur Victor wondered where he should go. Into the Park? To a cinema?

"You'll find the nearest shelter in Jervis Street," the warden in the tin hat looked suspiciously at Monsieur Victor.

"Hurry along there, please," the warden in the tin hat looked suspiciously at Monsieur Victor.

"I feel well in my body, but not in my heart," said Monsieur Victor slowly.

And when Mrs. Payne had gone, Monsieur, rising from his chair, contemplated the food on the table and the terror thoughts descended on him again.

"Dear Sir: "I have seen your advertisement in today's Times, and as I am in need of a prolonged holiday it appears to me, I should not be an exacting visitor. All I require is a bedroom facing the sea so that I may have a beautiful outlook, and some means of heating it. Also, I shall be glad to know if you have a garage adjoining the house."

"I like the next much best," said Joan complacently. "It's from the Carlton Club Grand!"

Shiloh School News

Thursday was a great day for the little first grader of Shiloh. This was the day the Home Ec 1 class was giving them an Easter party. Finally, the appointed hour arrived. Naomi Wolford played the piano while they marched into the auditorium. The auditorium was attractively decorated with pink and blue crepe paper. Chairs were arranged in a semi-circle.

While the girls were getting the refreshments ready, the children played drop-the-handkerchief. After a short time, Doris Garrett, acting as hostess, asked them to be seated. They found awaiting them, ice cream, cake, and, they Easter favors. Easter raphs were at each plate.

When they were through eating, Doris told them that there were Easter eggs hidden in the auditorium. The search was on. Erna Jean Dick came out the victor with nine eggs to her credit. The eggs had names of the members of the first grade on them, and the finders had to return them to their owners. The victory was attractively decorated with pink and blue crepe paper.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Quite a stack of newspapers I left you yesterday, Judge. Aren't you in the newspaper business, are you?" "No, I just enjoy reading different papers so my nephew George sees them to me whenever he takes a business trip. I got a big kick out of some he sent me from several counties where they still have prohibition. Particularly from some headlines that read 'Drunk Driving Arrests Rise'."

"Bootleggers must post Ceiling Prices," "Federal Agents seize 'Trick' Liquor Truck." Doesn't that go to prove, Joe, that prohibition does not prohibit? "I watched conditions pretty carefully during our 13 years of prohibition in this country. The only thing I could see we got out of it was bootleg liquor instead of legal liquor...plus the worst crime and corruption this country has ever known."

SCHOOL IMPROVEMENTS

The improvement of our school lawn is progressing rapidly. The boys now have all the top soil carried over onto the grounds, and the trenches have been dug for the shrubbery. Spring rains are making it impossible to work on the grounds this week.

Things We'd Like To Know

What's crazy enough to ride bicycles the rain? If anybody got their Easter bonnet wet Sunday. If Mr. Miley was really working Thursday evening?

Who the sailor was at school, Thursday?

What makes Marilyn Van Wagner so "jumpy"? What's happenin' to the volleyball Wednesday, Boys? If the Easter bunny left Miss Mayne any eggs? If people's eyes can really turn around!

Mapping Developments in Pacific Theater

Units of the U. S. fleet made their deepest penetration of Jap waters recently to shell Palau, one of Nippon's most heavily fortified island fortresses. Palau, shown at right in a closeup, is only 460 miles from the nearest of the Philippine islands and only 900 miles from Manila. No occupation of Palau may be expected, however, until the Carolines are entirely in Allied hands.

Six Inch Sermon

REV. ROBERT H. HARPER

Saul's Early Preaching, Lesson for April 16: Acts 9:13-30; 11:17-18

Golden Text: Romans 1:16

The zeal of Saul as persecutor of Christians also distinguished him as a disciple. Immediately after the restoration of his sight his baptism, and certain days spent with the disciples during which they doubtless instructed him in the Christian way, Saul began to preach "Christ in the synagogues."

At first, though the change in Saul as genuine, the disciples were slow to trust him. But when the Jews laid plans to kill him, the disciples helped Saul to escape, letting him down the wall of Damascus in a basket. Disciples in Jerusalem were "afraid of him," but Barnabas led them to receive Saul. The change in Saul was so complete that he planned to kill him and the disciples were slow to trust him. Saul afterward Barnabas visited Saul in Tarsus and took him to Antioch.

Saul began at once to preach the gospel that had reached his own heart, and with great reputation in Damascus, Jerusalem and Antioch. Many of his hearers were amazed, and the Jewish leaders were so disturbed that they planned to kill him. For a full year in Antioch Saul did some great preaching. The "men of Cyprus and Asia" bear him and Barnabas, and both in numbers and in character the disciples in Antioch increased. Attention that they were called Christians. And so may we live better lives if we recognize that we are Christians.

LUTHERAN CHURCH

One hundred and thirty-eight were present at Mt. Hope Lutheran Sunday school and the church attendance was large. There were 115 in the primary department, over twenty in the beginners division. The two large pots of tulips for the altar in the primary department were gifts from Bill and Judy Patterson. Flowers for the altar in the church auditorium were two large pots of tulips and a bouquet of cut flowers were from the Gilger family. The ferns were from the Sunday school.

During the Sunday school hour the children presented a program of exercises which was appreciated.

The work for the rest rooms which are nearly completed, has been done by the council and the men of the church. At the request of the superintendent, a vote of thanks was given for their splendid cooperation and efficient work.

VERDICT RETURNED

Norwalk—A verdict for the defendant was returned in the case of the Commercial Credit Co. of Cleveland against Ernest Wasen of Willard. A note was involved.

A group of about 20 Greenwich high school pupils was present to obtain educational information regarding court procedure when the case opened.

GETS LARGE VERDICT

One of the largest personal injury verdicts returned by a common pleas court jury in Norwalk in years was the award of $20,000 in favor of James Thayer of Collins. He filed suit for $50,000 against Isadore Bluman of Buffalo on the grounds that he and his 14-year-old son were injured near Townsend Center on route 20 as the result of a collision caused by the driver of Bluman's car, July 27, 1943. The plaintiff and his son were riding on a horse drawn hay wagon.

SENTENCE IMPOSED

Farmer Bill

Real spring will be along pretty soon and Farmer Bill will have to get down to plowing and seeding and won't have much time to spend on the daily chores. He will have to depend on the wife and Junior to do the milking, spray the apple trees, plant and cultivate as large a vegetable garden as they can handle, whitewash the fences and sheds, feed the pigs, cows and chickens, and keep the place looking respectable—beside cooking meals, cleaning house, looking after the baby and preserving vegetables and fruit for the coming winter. Last year Farmer Bill had George to help him, and together they were able to spread manure, plow, keep the barn and cow shed clean, patch the fences, plant the "money crop," cultivate and harvest it—beside doing the milking and helping a little with the vegetable garden. But George has gone now—he's off somewhere in the Pacific, and occasionally he sees a big town newspaper and maybe reads about the farm bloc in Washington and how the farmers are forcing up the price of food and creating inflation, and compelling John Lewis and the poor coal miners to stop digging coal because they must have more money to buy the high priced food and more time in which to eat it. This past winter wasn't very cold and the milk stock came through all right—except for old Bosky who nearly passed out with pneumonia. The wife's bill was pretty steep but Bill made an arrangement to pay one-third cash and the balance after the corn and oats were sold in the fall. He lost a few of the late pigs and one of the four pure blood Angus heifers died. Not bad really—he'd taken much more of a beating the winter before—which was a real cold one, but he and George had raised the biggest crops of both corn and oats the farm had ever produced and he'd got top prices for them. That crop was a God-send to Farmer Bill; he had paid off the loan at the bank which had been dragging along for years and which the bank had never foreclosed because it had had faith in Bill. Everything depended upon this year's "money crop," and Bill and his wife were praying for an early spring and plenty of moisture in the ground. Of course he was used to work even harder than he did last year and for 16 hours a day instead of 12 or 14. But he must get ahead a little, and besides, the nation must have food and more food—and who was he to put his own interests above those of his native land and the men who were fighting for it. It was true he was using up the soil pretty fast what with the poor fertilizers he could get nowadays—but he would have to take that loss. Farmer Bill didn't have much time to listen to the "newscasters," but he knew that the city people had been persuaded that he was the cause of the high cost of living; and that smart union labor leaders were able to place the blame on him instead of upon the processors, the middlemen, and the manufacturers who had to jack up their prices to meet the rising wages, and the short hours and the strikes. But all this unjust abuse and vilification didn't slow Farmer Bill down. He had a job to do. He was an American—in every sense of the word—and he was going to see his country through the war if it ruined his only means of support—his farm—and made an old man of him to boot. If he was paid higher prices for his crops—so much the better; but if not—it wasn't going to slow him down. Maybe the army could do without coal and steel—but it couldn't get along without food.

FILES DIVORCE ACTION

LeRoy Barnhouse, Willard B. & O. Freeman, for the second time has become a plaintiff in a divorce suit against his wife, Carrie M. Barnhouse, whom he first married in Mansfield in 1934. There are four children. After the first divorce action, the couple remarried in Bucyrus last year. The husband in his petition filed in Norwalk through Carpenter and Freeman, avers his wife has been guilty of neglecting to care properly for the children and associating with other men.

WOMEN REFUSE TO RELINQUISH PARTY LINE

Further shame is attached to party line abuses when it was found that after terminating their conversation, shortly, one woman left her receiver off the hook—accidentally, it is hoped.

Three neighbors were contacted before an open line was found. Nearly 30 minutes after the fire was discovered before fire department arrived—but too late. Interior of home was completely destroyed leaving parents and three small children to move in with relatives.

Remember, there's a war on. Many home appliances are irreplaceable. If someone cuts-in to ask you to relinquish the wire for an emergency call—do it, you may be the next person to place a mercy call—who knows! Remember too, on the telephone, courtesy is not rationed.

(Continued from Page One) check for $5.00. Mr. Davis states that although he has received the Advertiser for many years, there are many new names which he and his wife do not recognize. He states also that the Advertiser is still an interesting paper "and it is not uncommon for us to observe our mailman reading our Advertiser as he waves up the street. He has brought it to us so many years that he looks upon it as an old friend and has acquired quite an interest in the Plymouth news."

AFTER 14 years of farming Cecil Boardman has decided to quit, and is offering a splendid line of farm machinery and a large herd of cattle at public sale. Mr. Boardman states that his plans are undecided for the future. He has been suffering considerably the past few years from rheumatism.

resignation of Renaas Stull. Scout commissioner Wilkinson asked the council for permission to build a scout house in the grove south of the hospital on property owned by the city which is just outside the corporation line. Wilkinson explained that the scout organization has plans for an attractive home which will be a memorial to the 150 boy scouts in military service and that the organization believes the property near the hospital would be an ideal location.

BRIT LOFLAND

TAKES PRIZE WITH BIG FISH

Landing a 35 pound Snook fish measuring 44 inches in height, not F. B. (Brit) Lofland as a prize winner in the West Palm Beach (Fla.) Fishing Club contest. In a letter from Mr. Lofland he goes into detail, and we're printing the letter, for we know that many anglers in this section will be greatly interested: "Lakeworth, Fla., Apr. 5, '44 "Enclosed you will find a picture of the fish I had the good luck to catch on March 27, with a Pflueger plug, casting from the shore of Lake Worth. This 'Snook' fish was an extra large fish of this variety. I entered it in the winter contest in the West Palm Beach fishing club and won first prize by a large margin. I am now entering it in the George Rupert Fishing Contest which takes place in all the territory from Maine to Key West and runs from Jan. 1, 1944 to Jan. 1, 1945. Last year this contest was won with a 29 3/4 lb. Snook, so you see I should have a good chance for first, second or third in 1944. I am sending the picture so you can compare the size of the fish, and I wish you would show it to Shaver and Ed Carpen. We get the Advertiser every Monday and don't miss any part of it. Expect to be home about May 10. With best wishes, P. S. The picture of Brit and the fish can be seen at Brown & Miller Hardware.
