She passed away Saturday evening at a hospital in Charlevoix, Mich., after a nine-weeks illness, due to complications following an operation. Surviving with the husband and her parents are a son, Theodore Wayne; a sister, Mrs. Helen Kramer of Cincinnati, and two brothers, Sgt. D. W. Parsel, stationed at Salina, Kan., and Staff Sgt. H. L. Parsel of Langley Field, Va.

CURPEN BUYS BANK ROOM

Wednesday morning the Peoples National Bank disposed of the room in the rear of its building to E. B. Curpen, local jeweler. Mr. Curpen states he will move this Fall into his new quarters in time for the Christmas trade.

For sixty-six years, the Curpen Jewelry and Gift Shop has been located at the northeast corner of the Public Square, where it has earned a reputation for square dealing and up-to-date ideas in novelties, silverware, diamonds and watch repairing.

F. A. Curpen, father of E. B. Curpen, conducted business at the same corner for 35 years, where the latter (E. B.) learned the art of repair work and merchandising. For the past thirty-one years, Eddie has been "on his own."

The new room in the bank block is ideally located for his business and Mr. Curpen hopes to put in new fixtures before opening. At present, the newly purchased room is occupied by the Gospel Mission.

More than 900 books were taken out by patrons of the library for the month of April. Miss Jessie Trauger, librarian, reports. While school closing activities for May curtailed the circulation to date for this month, withdrawals are still exceptionally good.

Most of the best sellers are available and more are being purchased monthly. The library board will meet next week with Mrs. Harold Shaffer to check on further purchases.

Swastika With a New Meaning

GENE CORNELL WINNER OF AIR MEDAL, CLUSTER

Winning an air medal and an oak leaf cluster to go with it seemingly isn't nearly as important to S-Sgt. Gene Cornell as the requests in his letter for Double-K-Nuts, candy, and stuff that he included in his letter of this week to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Cornell.

He says, "Yes, I send the air medal and an oak leaf cluster to go with it. I'll send the medal home when I send all the other stuff. You're awarded the air medal for making so many combat missions over occupied enemy territory — Germany, France, Belgium, Netherlands, etc. We've been over about all of them, too."

"I'll try to paint some birthday cards for Danny and Jimmy. Been doing some oil painting whenever I find time and I surprised myself at some of the pictures. Though sure I'd forgotten everything but with a little practice I'll be able to keep my hand from shaking so."

"We took some more pictures the other evening in our long winter underwear — should be some 'hot' pictures. I wrote 'Hard and Wheldon the other night and will write to Grafmiller tonight. Think I should be able to see Wheldon. I never did write to Miss Beaching (sister of Albert Beaching of Plymouth) as she lives in a restricted area and I could not go there to see her. I will write her a letter, though. My foot is OK now — a flying heated boot had a short in it and burned a big blister on the top of my foot while we were over some place in Germany. I went to the hospital and had it opened. After that I got infection and it was so sore I could hardly walk. I didn't fly for several days. Tell everyone I said 'hello' and to write often."

Requests: Does Weldon have any Double-K nuts, candy and anything else that is new in the store or in any other way.

A Tribute to Our Children

TO PUBLISH PICTURES OF LOCAL CHILDREN

Pictures of the children of this city and surrounding community are to be printed in this paper as a special tribute to our young citizens. Tomorrow the responsibility of guiding the destinies of the world will be placed upon their shoulders. All are invited and urged to participate in this featured event. Among our children are those destined to fame and fortune, so let's not omit any of them.

Every parent should cooperate to make this a colorful and inspiring exhibit. You can cut out and keep these pictures of every youngster in the community. They will always be treasured keepsakes and cherished memory records that could not be acquired in any other way.

You are all guests of ours, and all photographs will be taken free of charge.

We have made arrangements with the Woltz Studios, nationally known portrait photographers, to come and take the pictures right here in town. You do not have to order photographs, subscribe to, or be a subscriber to this newspaper, to have your pictures taken and run in this featured event. All that is necessary is that the children be brought by their parents to the photographer on the date and at the location mentioned below. Proofs of all poses will be submitted to the parents, and sets of approved poses will be prepared, identified, written up, and printed in this paper.

The Studio will also take pictures of adults and family groups, and submit proofs without charge, but these pictures will not be published in the paper.

If photographs are wanted for yourself it will be necessary to arrange for them direct with the Studio when proofs are submitted for examination because they cannot be obtained through this paper.

Remember, all children must be accompanied by parents or guardians.

HERE IS THE TIME AND PLACE TO HAVE YOUR PICTURE TAKEN FREE OF CHARGE.

Targets for Our Airmen

Jittery Japan is ripe for bombing. American land invasions are smashing her island defenses, and her fleet and air forces are definitely outclassed. A ring of steel is blockading Jap shipping, to starve out her people, deprive her industries of raw materials, and prevent reinforcements from reaching her troops. Chief threat to Jap cities lies in the ability of carrier-based planes, fueled by 100-octane gasoline produced in American refineries, to raid industrial and military targets.

Round Up

OWI says that after two years of war, the buying power of individuals in the United States has reached the all-time high of $3 billion dollars, in the form of cash and checking accounts—Four thousand used track-laying tractors are needed for work on the farms and in mines, forests and oil fields, WPB says. If sufficient supplies are not bought through Defense Supplies Corporation, WPB may have to use its requisitioning power—Release of an additional 12 million pounds of dried prunes from the 1943 production to civilians has been authorized by WFA—Prices on cotton, jersey, and leather-palm work gloves have been increased, on the average, from one to six cents per pair above former ceiling prices, OPA announces.

Funeral services for Forest Beamer, who died following injuries received while at work on the B. & O. railroad Tuesday, were held at the Secor funeral home at Willard on Friday at 2:30 p. m.

250 SIGN UP

More than 280 Huron county dairymen have signed membership in the local dairy service unit. This service unit will include the testing of milk from individual cows in the herd, as well as marketing service information and artificial breeding of dairy cattle.

At the present time, Ed Kelsor of the Northern Ohio Breeder's association, is acting as the artificial inseminator for the county. Officers of the dairy service unit are negotiating for a man trained in milk testing to start the owner-sampler test and supervised cow testing early in June. The purpose of this association is to determine the productive value of individual cows in the herd; to breed the best cows to purebred bulls from high producing families. The aim of this program is to save replacement heifers from high producing cows and thus improve milking production.

More About Congress

Every day from now until election day most Republican politicians (and some Democrats) will be making speeches about the faults and frailties of the New Deal party. The accusation will be made time and again—as it already has been so frequently made—that the New Deal has usurped governmental powers which our Constitution assigned to congress alone; that it is, and has been, dictatorial in the use of these powers; and that it intends to retain them after the war is over. In other words—that the New Deal is determined to perpetuate itself in the saddle—with or without Mr. Roosevelt—and rule the nation after the totalitarian pattern.

Whether this intent prevails or not—this correspondent does not pretend to know. He is unable to read the mind of the genus Homo Sapiens—which still seems to be thriving even after the President spoke its Swan Song. Few "debut" Mr. Roosevelt with any such reactionary ambition for himself. The great majority of the people consider their President a fundamental American; one who would give his life to defend the Constitution if it were in real danger.

Now, the people look to the congress has from time to time delegated to the administrative branch of the government, powers which, ordinarily, would have been retained by the senate or the house of representatives. But we have been going through violent periods, and in most cases these transfers of power were deemed advisable for extraordinary reasons and were intended as temporary expedients. Congress has the right and power to redeem them at any time and doubtless intends to do so when the present emergency ceases to exist. And now this column returns to one of its pet "haunts," to wit: the apparent—but seemingly little recognized or considered—movement

Doings In Congress

By Cong. Wm. Lemke.

THIS WEEK CONGRESS Raised the debt limit to 240 billion dollars. Please do not try to figure out how much this is or else you will get a headache. It is only $240 for every minute since the day that Christ was born. Every time a baby is born the mother ought to be proud because she gives to Uncle Sam $4,000. That is the amount of the mortgage and interest in the form of taxation that the Government has on the baby.

THE TIME HAS COME FOR US to reason together and get what little light we can out of confusion. Unless we do this we will soon not be permitted to reason out loud. Already men and women are railroaded from one end of the nation to the other and thrown into jail. These are charged with conspiring with others that they never heard of before. Some of these may be guilty, others are not unless it is a crime to be a super-patriot.

WHEN WE STILL LIVED UNDER our Constitution all these were entitled to an honest trial, honestly conducted in their own state and community. Now they are railroaded 3000 miles across the country to Washington where the FBI can take to help select jurors and where the prosecution apparently takes its orders from an international clique.

WE MAY THINK THAT AS long as we are not the victims of such injustices, silence is the better way, but silence may not be for our best interest in the long run. Slavish submission to injustice practiced on others may soon involve us all. If others can be denied their constitutional rights we too will lose ours. I am glad that the Bar Association at Washington, D. C., has finally had the courage to take notice of what is taking place.

THE TIME HAS COME THAT we insist that our courts again follow the Constitution. When executive pressure can be brought upon courts, then, may God have mercy on America. Do you realize that seven out of nine Judges on the Supreme Court were appointed by one man, the eighth elevated to Chief Justice and the ninth sent on a mission to Hawaii. Forty out of the Circuit Court Judges were appointed by one President, only two were appointed by other Presidents. Again, 115 of the United States District Court Judges were appointed by one President, only 78 left that were appointed by other Presidents.

IS IT ANY WONDER THAT sometime over a year ago when I asked a certain Circuit Judge for a hearing, that is, when Mr. Lemke, you are entitled to a hearing. I will give you one, but I am a New Dealer and damn it, why shouldn't I be. He appointed me. That Judge's decision showed that he was a New Dealer because he could not understand the plain English language of the Constitution.

Author of "HOW TO WIN FRIENDS and INFLUENCE PEOPLE"

THE BOY WHO 'LACKS INTEREST'

I have a letter from a mother who complains that her son, 16 years old, does not take an interest in anything. She has tried to interest him in many activities, but he soon puts them aside and forgets them. She is afraid her son will be a "drifter."

It may be that her son has not yet found the thing that interests him. The sort of thing that he is fitted for. And some day, from some quarter where she least expects it, he may find his life work. A few years ago a boy by the name of Phil Johnson was given a chance in Seattle to work in his father's laundry. His father had a good laundry and had made a success of the business.

But he idled and dawdled and played hooky. His father was hurt that his son neglected his work and seemed to have no ambition. His father talked to him, the boy refused to do better. He didn't.

Finally the boy said he wanted to get a job in a machine shop. His father was disappointed. But the boy put on a pair of overalls and went to work, work twice as hard and dirty as he did in his father's laundry.

But he liked it. No longer wanted to play hooky. He made progress, said he wanted to enter the University of Washington and study mechanical engineering. While studying at a manufacturing company in Seattle asked the engineering department to send over three promising students. They sent, among the three, the boy who didn't like to work in his father's laundry. That move changed the boy's life. For that was the Boeing Airplane company.

Young Phil Johnson liked his work and he worked hard. It was not long before he was elected general manager. In 1930 he was chosen president. And he is now making the famous "Flying Fortresses"—this boy who was a worry to his parents and a failure in the first work he undertook.

Almost the same thing happened to a Brooklyn boy. He was such a poor student and was so rebellious that he worried his parents; didn't want to do anything they wished him to do. His older brother studied him, thought he found a clue, built the boy a science laboratory. Immediately there was a change in the boy. He now took an interest in what he was doing. In fact, he became one of the leading scientists in America, for that boy was Irving Langmuir, who was awarded the Nobel prize in 1932 for his outstanding work in chemistry.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS . . .

"Guess we're pretty lucky in our town, Judge, that we don't have the youth problem you read about in other places."

"Don't know as you can call it lucky, Harold . . . we saw it coming with the war and we did something about it before it hit us. We gave our 'teen age youngsters the recreational facilities they needed and really wanted. Those familiar with this wartime problem know that young folks go to places they shouldn't only when the proper places are not provided for them. Young people always want to be with others of their own age . . . want their own type of entertainment. Town after town has found out that once these simple wants are met, the problem is well on its way to being licked."

"Guess I didn't really know how far-sighted our town really is, Judge. If we hadn't looked ahead we wouldn't have had anybody or anything to blame but ourselves, would we?"

SENIOR CLASS WILL
We, the class of 1944, being in possession of all minds are voiding all the previous promises;

First of all we want to leave to next year's Seniors all of the scrap paper that may be on the desks, all the extra paper, and all of the wads of gum that are sticking on the seats.

The High school faculty, the freedom of headaches.

Miss Anna Benton will leave her girls to Doris Brook.

Audrey Henry will leave her soprano voice to Geraldine Moser.

Jim Sheely will leave all of his knowledge and love for the opportunity to Jimmy Reynolds.

Bill Van Wagner leaves his interest in Madison to Bob Swartz.

Betty Hammett will leave her quick temper and gum chewing to Betty Ernst.

Raymond Willett leaves his ability to skip school to Dick Clark.

Jean Hall will leave her grins and pretty finger nails to Frances Feasel.

Donald Laser will lend his musical score to anyone, but prefers to leave it to Joe McQuate.

Dona Hoffman leaves her ability to turn sailors to Margy Bisset.

Harold Daup leaves his sober face to Dick Pittenger.

Avie Miellet will present to Mary Benedict some of her professional poetry.

Joan Washburn leaves her rumbas and jitterbugging to Miss Mayne.

Dick Nelson (serving with Uncle Sam's army in Italy) leaves his ability to stomp chemistry teachers to Denver Shepherd.

Janice Black will leave her pretty hair do's and ability to sing to different boys every night to Bonnie Pennell.

And last of all Dwight Wallen (with Uncle Sam's Navy) will leave his sight to Harry Fortson.

In witness whereof we set our hands and seal, by proxy, and stated scribes, Betty Hammett and Bill Van Wagner.

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

In the Fall of 1940, the new ship, "Class of '44" was lying in dry dock, making last minute repairs. The first of the girls set its voyage — Freshmanport to the port of Graduation. Her crew, consisting of a green but dauntless 31, was just starting their trip, and they were chosen as their CPO, Miss Southwick. Marcella Clark was chosen Officer of the Day, with Bernice Gray in charge of the ship's log. Soon after training had started, sent to another station; Alice Jewel, Bernice Gray, Arthur Bridges, Betty Perkins, Harold Bricker, Betty Waterbeck, and Verlyn Wanaoate. This left the ship's log unsecured. We appointed Harold Zehner to succeed Bernice Gray. As an added feature to our training, our platoon produced the program, "The Lamp Weave Our Shiloh." We returned to find our ship ready and waiting to embark. We retained our same CPO, chose as captain, Harold Daup, and put Dorothy Pudge in charge of the ship's log. Three girls failed to return, but we found two newcomers awaiting us. At last we were ready for our long awaited maiden voyage — disaster lay ahead. Our captain resigned from active duty. Percy Callahan was placed in charge of the ship.

The crew was given a shore leave while the ship was laid up for minor repairs. After a short time we returned to continue our voyage. We were sorry to learn that our former CPO had left us, to direct navigation on the Sea of Matrimony. Miss Edith Howard of Delph and CPO, Sally Clark was appointed captain and Janice Black was in charge of the ship's log. We were sorry to learn that three of our crew members, but two of our able sailors took their place. For entertainment one evening our class produced the play, "Relax Albertus." One of the crew, Richard Nelson, received a transfer to the end of the end of the third lap of our journey, we honored our superior officers by having the annual Junior-Senior banquet. The decorations followed the scheme of a patriotic jam-banquet.

As we slowly nose into the port of Graduation, memories of the last year of our journey come back to us. Again we had Mrs. Huston at the head of our small group of seamen. Sally Clark was still captain and Joan Washburn was keeper of the ship's log. Soon after we had set sail we produced the play, "How Green Was My Valley." In January, we selected our colors, green and gold; Flower, yellow rose, and motto: "We have crossed the bay; the ocean lies before us." May 6th marked the end of the annual Junior-Senior banquet. We were the honored guests of the Juniors at this time.

And so comes the last week of our voyage. May 11th was Senior Recognition Day. We have now been recognized as Senior Officers May 14th is Baccalaureate, with Rev. E. R. Haines as guest speaker.

On the evening of May 18th we will drop anchor in the port of Graduation. Two of our fellow officers were awarded medals for service beyond the line of duty. We have the honor of giving the award of Valedictorian and Joan Washburn was given the award of Salutatorian. And now we shall embark on our greatest journey of all—the journey-of-life.

Joan Washburn

SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY
For a few years of hard work and study at the Mercy hospital in Lone Pine, Calif., I was given a three weeks' vacation. After much thought I decided to return to my home town of Shiloh, O., to look up all my old chums and classmates.

I reached Columbus about 8:00 p. m., and as I was very tired from the long trip I decided to stop off and rest before going on Shiloh.

When stepping from the plane at the airport who should I see but Charlotte Seaton, who was waiting for her plane to warm up. She had become a pilot after all. I was very glad to meet one more of my very old class of '44. We talked a few minutes as her plane was ready to leave.

I then proceeded to my hotel where I had dinner and as it was time to take my car I went to a stage show. I went to the Palace, as one of my favorite bands was playing there, and much to my surprise, who should I find singing the different songs. Next on the program was a short dark-haired dancer who, I found, was Dona Hoffman.

After the show I went back stage to talk to the girls. We were very pleased to see one another and the girls said they were going to a party at an old friend of their's and invited me to go with them. I asked if I knew the friend and they said that I would find out. And I did. The party was given in a luxurious apartment and I found my hostess to be little Avis Lester. She said that she was a nurse and had quite a thriving business. As we were talking I noticed a beautifully dressed girl at the far end of the room. Out of curiosity that all women possess I noticed a striking woman was Avis motioned for the girl to come over, and as she drew closer I was shocked to find that it was Joan Washburn. I asked if I could take in a model and often posed for Avis.

Soon the program started—who should be the solo pianist—none other than Janice Black. I found she had even played at Carnegie Hall, and was now on tour, and had been kind enough to play at the party.

After a tearful goodbye to my classmates I proceeded on to Shiloh. I met all the rest of my classmates of '44.

I stepped off the train and overjoyed to see my close friend, Marcella Clark. Marcella was married to Pudge, who had even invited me to stay with her while I was in Shiloh.

As we walked along Main St., Marcella told me the latest news of the town and I found that she was a nurse. She had been in town. Marcella had always been a leader, even in our Senior Class.

I looked at each of the stores as we walked and there on the corner I saw my gym teacher, but no, it wasn't Elliott's anymore, but instead I was surprised to see the familiar name, Alfred Laser, Owner. Alfred sure had been a cut-up in school.

As we were in sight of Sally's home I saw a very tall man, out of the house besides her's. He had an air corps uniform on. I recognized him to be Dwight Wallen, another old classmate of mine. He had been in the army air force, and that he was home on furlough.

After a good night's rest I decided to go up to see how old Shiloh High was coming.

As we were in the midst of the students that I had known well, gone, but I did find my old friend Betty Seaman, teaching the first and second grades. Surprise upon surprise, Harold Daup was high school coach.

We spent some time at noon talking over old times and happenings. I found that Betty and Harold were planning to get married in June.

Joan was leaving the school the fire whistle began to blow and as I always liked to go to fires I rushed along with the other people and found the fire to be at the mill. Raymond Willet, the owner, had been another of my old classmates. He was helping to fight the fire with the rest of the townsmen, so I didn't get a chance to go to the house he was watching intently. The house was building when I heard someone call my name, and looking around I saw Jean Hall and Bob Hamman. They told me that they were married and I imagine my surprise to find them with twins, a boy and a girl. Bob said they were living on a farm. I told them about seeing some of our old class at the time. I asked them where Bill Van Wagner was. They said he was married and lived on a farm close to them. He was also president of the school board.

The time passed quickly and in no time at all the fire was out and the people began to leave. Spying Sally in the crowd, I went over to her. She was talking to a man and woman. I approached I heard her name, and the first person I thought of was Betty Hammett, and lo and behold, it was her, and her husband, and Boyce. She had gone with him all through her school. They offered to take us home and as they car pulled away from the curb I saw the fire truck, and who should be driving it, but Raymond Wolf. Betty said she was still living on a farm and as yet, was not married.

I made the remark to Sally that I had seen all of my old classmates and she began to name them off. She said I had forgotten Jim Sheely, Betty told me that Jim had taken up his dad's work as a carpenter and he had a business of his own in Shelby. When I went to bed that night, I thought that even if I didn't get to talk to all my classmates I was very glad to hear about them.—Betty Rinehart.

CLASS POEM
Four years ago as Freshman We started to explore,
We were off in search of knowledge,
This class of '44.

We've hit some stormy weather,
But we've each stuck by our oar,
We've kept our little ship aloft,
This class of '44.

We've mostly had smooth sailing
And we've memories galore,
Our work and play together
As the class of '44.

Our voyage is nearly over,
We're pulling into shore,
But we'll always be good ship-mates,
Our class of '44.

HOUSE AND HOME
by Mary E. Dague

One of the most useful adjuncts of a good garden during the spring and summer is a barrel of manure water. Keep it in a shady, out-of-the-way place where it can be covered with a cheesecloth screen to discourage mosquitoes.

It is very easy to make and if the fresh material isn't available, the dried product sold in bags by the garden stores will serve as a substitute. Fill the barrel with water and put in a sack filled with manure and let it "steep" for about a week before using. Add water from time to time as you use the liquid in order to replenish the supply.

As a stimulant for plants of all kinds that need a little extra pushing along, there is nothing quite so good as liquid manure.

When it comes to general, all-over fertilizing it pays to use a commercial fertilizer manufactured especially for garden use.

This fertilizer can be applied to the top soil and raked in a day or two before seeding or there are newer methods that tend to conserve the fertilizer by concentrating it where it will do the most good.

One way is to make two furrows, one on each side of the vegetable row. You will have to use your garden line to mark out the vegetable row. Make the furrows about six inches apart and two to four inches deep. Sprinkle fertilizer in the bottom of each furrow and cover with soil. Then plant the seeds in the center. The plant food is released as the roots so that roots can reach it as they grow.

Another method sometimes used for both flowers and vegetables is to wait until the plants begin to grow and then give them a side dressing by scattering the fertilizer around or on each side of the plants. This is a good way to give second applications to leafy vegetables such as lettuce and spinach or to vegetables that are more tender when grown rapidly like radishes and peas. Be careful not to let the fertilizer touch the plants when using it this way.

There promises to be enough garden fertilizer for essential needs in the future and shrewd gardeners can't be pampered but vegetable gardens can be well taken care of. It is a mistake to follow the fertilizer in different parts of the country due to government regulations. Do well to follow the directions on the package or buy of the particular fertilizer you buy.

Whatever fertilizer you use and however you use it, don't plant seeds for your main crops until the ground is warm and dry and the nights have become warm.

Do you know the trick of putting lima bean seeds into the ground with the eye down? This tends to keep the seeds from rotting in the ground.

Card of Thanks
In appreciation for all the kindness shown myself and my family during my recent illness, I wish to take this way of expressing my heartfelt thanks. To the different ones, who sent me cards, flowers and other gifts, to the neighbors and friends who so graciously assisted my family, I know of nothing better to say, than "thank you" from the bottom of my heart.
