

DISCUSSION OF CEMETERY WAS HELD BEFORE MAYOR TUESDAY

As a result of the action filed July 10 against the Plymouth cemetery board by J. E. LaDow of Mansfield, the hearing, which was held on Tuesday, July 24, turned out to be more of an open discussion of the cemetery problem than expected.

The village was represented by Solicitor Robert Vetter of Willard, while Glenn Marriott appeared for LaDow. The discussion was opened by Solicitor Vetter, who outlined the points of law as far as the action filed by LaDow was concerned.

Marriott briefly went over the terms of the land grant, which comprises six acres on the south side of the present cemetery site. He pointed out that Messrs. LaDow and the late Brumbach had turned over the village the six-acre plot with certain stipulations. The grant was made to the town in August, 1934, and LaDow claims that the village has expended on the improvement of the tract.

In response to the claims by LaDow, members of the board pointed out how they have had to operate the present cemetery with a minimum amount of money. During the present depression no extra cash was available for extra work, or improvement on the new addition and that the cemetery fund was always "in the red." The board recalled how the first attempt to get the voters to support an extra levy for the present cemetery's upkeep failed. The financial structure of the cemetery fund has been one of much concern for the past few years, up until the time when the board once again asked for a levy for the operation of the cemetery. The levy was passed, and as a result there is an operating fund of approximately $2,000 yearly. It was also pointed out by the board the many items of upkeep and expenses incurred in keeping the cemetery in its present condition, which has been very high throughout this section of the state.

After a thorough discussion by both sides, Mayor Wirth, who presided at the meeting, indicated that there was no doubt but what the board would make improvements from time to time as funds would allow.

The shortage of manpower, the inability to secure material and other obstacles that have confronted the board for the past two years, are given as the main reason for the delay in improvements on the new site. However, a water line has been placed and trees will be planted along the driveways as soon as possible.

It was revealed at the meeting Tuesday that board members had returned their salary to the cemetery fund, and had also donated such items as sprinkling cans, paint and fertilizer, which aided in the improvement of the present cemetery. Board members feel that they have exerted every effort in the way of keeping up the beauty and attractiveness of the present burying grounds, and that any great improvement to the new addition would have to be necessarily postponed until after the war.

The meeting Tuesday proved to be a round table discussion rather than one of a legal nature. Mayor Wirth acted as chairman, and president of the cemetery board, W. M. Root, was a member. Mrs. Josie Root and M. F. Dick were present, representing the board.

AWARDS MADE TO PARENTS

The Purple Heart was awarded posthumously to Gerte Cornell, who was killed over England on June 10, 1944. Gerte was a Staff Sergeant, and had made an enviable record since his entry into the armed forces.

In addition to the Purple Heart, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Cornell, parents of the young soldier, have received a beautiful scroll, signed by the president of the United States, Franklin Roosevelt. The scroll is suitable for framing and the text reads as follows:

In grateful recognition of Staff Sergeant Gerte F. Cornell, A. S. No. 35512234, who died in the service of his country in the European War, June 6, 1944. He stands in the unbroken line of patriots who dared to die that Freedom might live, and grow, and increase its blessings. Freedom lives, and through it, he lives—in a way that humbles the undertaking of most men.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, President of the United States of America.

MAKE PLANS FOR MEETING

H. H. Fackler, state chairman of the Ohio Marketing Protest Association, states that plans are being formulated for holding the annual business meeting and picnic of the farmers and mechanics.

He states that the date of the meeting will be Sunday, Aug. 13.

The program committee which consists of Fackler, Gilbert Myerl of Sandusky, Rollie Myers, of Atlea, and Walter Cummins, Willard, is busy making the arrangements for the event. Several nationally known speakers are being contacted, and several outstanding state figures. The Ganges band has been signed up for music on this date.

Program announcements of the business meeting and picnic will be made when the program shapes up to a final point.

CATLETT QUILTS

John L. Catlett, Republican candidate for a third term as Richland county representative at the Ohio general assembly, last week withdrew from the race to accept a commission as ensign in the U. S. Naval Reserve. Neil S. Robinson, Richland county auctioneer and former member of the county school board, was chosen by the Republican central committee to fill the vacancy. At the same time the committee selected Mrs. Russell E. Moore to replace Catlett as county recorder.

CHANGE OF ADDRESS

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Seraphel will move at an early date to 1215 K. Street, near the Main street. They now reside in the Weaver property on Sandusky street.

MCGREGOR TO MAKE VISITS

In order to better acquaint himself with the problems and suggestions of the people of the 17th congressional district, Representative J. Harry McGregor (R) will be in the court house from the various county court houses from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m. on the following dates: a round table discussion, Tuesday, August 14-15, Coshocton; Wednesday and Thursday, August 9-10, Mansfield; Friday and Saturday, August 11 and 12, Mount Vernon; Sunday, August 13-14, Shoshone; Wednesday and Thursday, August 15-17, Newark; Friday and Saturday, August 18-19, Delaware.

The congressman followed this plan last year with splendid results and hopes even a greater number will meet with him this year to discuss national problems. Owing to the gasoline shortage, Mr. McGregor is using this method of contact with many people as possible and it is hoped he will be able to receive the benefit of the suggestions of a great number of his constituents. Cordial welcome is extended to all.

Hopeful Nesting

STRUCK BY CAR

George Kuntz, partially blind, and for the past several years proprietor of a soft drink, candy and tobacco stand in the lobby of the city building in Mansfield, is in the Mansfield General hospital with injuries received when he walked into the side of a moving auto Saturday evening.

Richard Merton, 51, of Parma, Ohio, was exonerated after an investigation, and released after questioning.

HARRY CURRAN INJURED IN AUTO WRECK EARLY SUNDAY MORNING

A fire, which started in a straw field on the Sadie Barral farm south of town Saturday night, caused an auto accident in which two cars were badly damaged, and severely injuring Harry Curran, driver of one of the machines.

The field of wheat is located near the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. The wheat had been harvested in early July by Henry Fackler, who plows the 12-acre tract. The straw was left on the ground awaiting the arrival of a blizzing outfit. At 7 o'clock Saturday evening Fackler was notified of the blaze in the straw field. He and Floyd Hettler rushed a tractor over to the burning field and plowed furrow to stop the spreading blaze.

VISITS ENGLAND

Ohio's Congressman Frances P. Bolton, representing the 22nd District, is the first woman member of Congress to visit a war theater. She sets out this week alone on a trip she describes as "an official" one. It has the approval of Gen. George C. Marshall and high ranking officers in the Army Medical Corps, but the job was originally suggested to her by the worries of families back home in Ohio.

PASTOR DIES

Rev. A. L. Baker, 63, Pastor of the Willard Grace Methodist church, died Wednesday morning following a heart attack. He is survived by his widow, Elizabeth; one daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Baker, living with her husband, who is stationed at Jacksonville, Fla.; one son, Staff Sgt. John Baker, Wellington, New Brunswick, Canada; one daughter, Mrs. Sae Baker, Amsterdam, and two brothers and four sisters.

ESCAPES SERIOUS INJURY

Richard Lowry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lowry, was struck Wednesday afternoon by an auto while driving papers on his bicycle. The accident occurred in front of the Miller Furniture store about 4:15. He was given medical attention, which disclosed no broken bones or serious injuries. The driver of the car which struck him was from Willard and the impact broke his windshield, while the bicycle suffered no ill effects.

Around the Square

J. E. NIMMONS exhibited in the bank window Wednesday and for the rest of the week, a copy of the old Cleveland leader, featuring the news of "Spain Suing For Peace." The paper was preserved throughout these many years by Sam Nimmons of Saginaw, Mich., who two years ago, sent it down to "Chub." The headlines are outstanding, and you'll enjoy stopping for a few minutes to look it over.

THOSE MEN who made last year's straw do for this season too, will be interested in knowing that there is a 25 per cent discount on all straw hats at Jumper's store. Max says: "I'd rather cut the price than store them—so if you're looking for a real bargain, stop in."

JERRY CAYWOOD, who is in boot training at Great Lakes, has written letters to several of his friends here. We're not saying anything, but it's a safe bet the secret of his boot camp at Plymouth, Aug. 3, his first furrow.

THINGS TO COME—A new and better water-proof match—perfected to help make sure our fighting men can get a light despite the weather or immersion—the secret of its water-resistance has not been divulged, and probably they'll be available only for the war fronts for quite a while yet. . . . A chewing gum base other than the standard chicle—it's a latex extract from which a process patented by, of all people, the American Chicle Co.

THINGS TO COME—FIRE-proof ironing board covers, which will eliminate hot iron scorching during telephone "chats" burn-proof pot and panholders—the secret of its water-resistance has not been divulged, and probably they'll be available only for the war fronts for quite a while yet. . . . A chewing gum base other than the standard chicle—it's a latex extract from which a process patented by, of all people, the American Chicle Co.

PAINT makes anything look better, and Ray Dinger certainly improves the look of properties next to his garage. Three houses have a snow white freshness that only paint can do. It is improvement in look—shades that go to make Plymouth have a clean wholesome appearance, and which attracts the eye of visitors.

L. W. WHARTON, who operates a tinning and plumbing shop on the east side of town, has spent two hours this week for making the most outstanding improvement in appearance around the town. He has had the front of his paint brush, and at the place looking like a million dollars, and we'd say well worth the effort.

DR. EWING DIES

Dr. Homer H. Ewing, 72, Willard physician for 40 years, died Tuesday morning at the Willard Municipal hospital. A native of Beaver Falls, Pa. he was a teacher and high school principal before practicing medicine at Grafton, O., for several years. He was the president of the Huron County Health board for 28 years and a former official of the Presbyterian church.

He is survived by his widow, his one son, Cpl. Harold Ewing, Camp Bowie, Tex.; two grandsons; one brother and two sisters from Beaver Falls.

PURCHASE PROPERTY

The Weaver property on Sandusky street has been sold for $10,000 to E. F. Mitchell real estate agency to Howard and Blanche Beck of Ripley.

Mr. Beck is the new custodian of Plymouth schools and will move his family here in time for the opening of school. The Beck property in Ripley has been sold to Ed King of the same place through the Mitchell agency.

RELEASED FROM HOSPITAL

Tom Bascom was released Friday from the Willard Municipal hospital where he received treatment the past week.

Mrs. Joan Eckley, a patient at the Willard hospital since March 30 suffering from a fractured hip, was able to return to her home in Greenwich Friday.

LAST THURSDAY while the Democrats were trying to nominate a young woman to replace a local young woman, a local young woman exclaimed: "I'm really surprised at Main going Democratic! And I might add that we are too—if it does!"

DESPITE the dry weather which has somewhat halted growth of corn, C. Dinger, son of Plymouth, has about the finest acre of corn ever seen in this neck of the woods. Tall, green, with a few ears of corn showing, it presents a picture of which any farmer can be justly proud. An added attraction to the field of corn is the presence of a small melon—an two of them—and the same number of watermelons—both doing as they say and not fair to steal 'em, but come to the house and eat all you want!

LETTERS FROM OUR BOYS IN THE SERVICE

Thanks Plymouth Friends

A letter received this week from Allen F. Norris, Jr., from somewhere in England, thanks his many Plymouth friends for their kindness during the illness and death of his father. We reprint his letter:

Somewhere in England July 11, 1944

Dear Tommy:

Here comes another letter your way. There isn't very much that I can tell you about. I can say a G. I. should see everything over here that he can. That is if he is over here. I have seen many interesting things while I was in London. I also have gone through the valley that pictures "How Green Is My Valley," was made in. That is one of the most beautiful parts of the country; also have seen many other places you would only read about in story books.

Say, Tommy, is Sid in the Navy? You know I have my hat off to the Senior boys who enlisted in the Navy.

It doesn't seem possible that they are big enough to be gone from home. I guess I feel like Ben Smith does about them. Only thing he could put it in words and I can't.

From the talk in my letters from home the old home town is very dead. Is that true or just a rumor?

I get the old home town paper and I read that from cover to cover. You know, Tommy, I am hoping that this letter gets over there to you.

Say, Tommy, I would like to thank you and everyone who helped during the time of the sorrow there at home. I only wish I could be there at home to say that to every one, but I guess that is something of the impossible.

Well, I guess that is all of the news I can think of for now.

Your friend,
Pvt. Allen Norris, Jr.

Dear Junior: Just a line or two. Nope, Sid didn't make the Navy as yet. He's waiting to be inducted to the army or the navy. The old home town isn't dead—stays are doing more business than they ever did—just new faces make the change; but we do miss the boys that are away.

I know you must be seeing a lot of interesting sights, and that is one thing about going over—you do have the opportunity of enjoying new and strange country, but most of the boys who come back to Plymouth on furlough are quite satisfied with the beauty we have around here, and we're glad it's that way.

Lots of luck, and write again. Sincerely, Tommy.

Up in the Clouds

Hal Myers writes to Mrs. Frank Gleason and family from far-away India, while on a 15-day rest furlough. From the tone of his letter he must be "way up there" somewhere:

Hello Mrs. Gleason, Karl and Dorothy:
Will write a few lines this afternoon. I am at Darjeeling for a 15-day rest up in the mountains—seven thousand feet. Can see Kin Chow Jung, most every morning which is the second highest in the world; Mt. Everest is close. Have to ride horse back eight miles to get a look at it. Sure are some nice sights to see here. Am well and having a good time. The hills are too steep to walk, so we hire ponies for the Indian boys and ride when we want to go. Darjeeling is where the Indian and English come to get out of the heat and rest up. The climate here is swell where we are staying. We are in the clouds most of the time.
Sincerely,
Hal Myers.

NEW HUNTING REGULATIONS ARE AOPTED BY COMMISSION

Ohio hunters will have approximately the same period of hunting this year, but the rabbit and hunting season will open two days earlier than last year, and close two days later, according to tentative regulations adopted on Wednesday, June 14, by the Ohio Conservation and Natural Resources Commission, following a state-wide hearing on Tuesday. Few other changes were made in the game regulations for next Fall and Winter.

The rabbit and bird season will open at noon, Eastern War Time, on November 17, with the pheasant, Hungarian partridge and grouse seasons ending on December 2, and rabbit hunting continuing through January 13.

The squirrel season in northern and southern zones, under the tentative regulations, were left as they were last year. The dates established were: Northern zone, Sept. 22-30, inclusive; southern zone 15-30, inclusive.

Trapping and hunting of coon will be from 6 p. m. to 6 a. m., Eastern War Time, from November 17 to January 20.

The mink, muskrat, opossum and skunk seasons in the inland district, will run from November 17 to January 20 and the closed season on skunk in Conservation District No. 7, was removed.

The Lake Erie trapping district will have a season on mink and muskrat from November 17 to March 1, inclusive.

The red fox season will be from November 17 to January 13 in counties of the Seventh Conservation District, plus Noble county. Hamilton county was removed from the closed counties on fox, as were the townships in Perry county.

No changes were made in last year's regulations on bag limits and possession limits after the first day on any game species.

A tentative open deer season in Adams, Scioto and Pike counties, Dec. 4-9 inclusive, was also adopted, the season having been shortened from the two weeks period of last year. These regulations are tentative subject to final adoption at the next meeting of the Commission, to be held on July 14.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Mary and I were just saying, Judge, how lucky we are here in America that we have so many natural resources to help win the war."
"That's right, Jim. When war broke out we had oil, we had steel, we had food, lumber, aluminum...practically everything we needed. There's one thing we didn't have...rubber. The enemy had that."
"But that didn't bother us for long. Soon American brains and industry had synthetic rubber by the tons rolling out of plants. That filled a critical need...you can't win a war without rubber."

"I was very much interested the other day in reading a statement made by a high government official on synthetic rubber. In it he said 'It is fair to regard the rubber manufactured to date as being almost solely the product of the beverage distilling industry.'"
"He also said that, in his estimation, the tremendous contribution of distillers' industrial alcohol to the synthetic rubber program had not received the recognition which it deserves."
"We certainly learned something today, didn't we Mary?"

CAPT. C. O. BURNER IN FRANCE, WRITES ABOUT HIS PATIENTS

France July 19

My Dear:

Today was my big day in France. I delivered my prize patient. Baby was a girl weighing in France 4.25 kilograms, or 9 pounds and 5 oz. Her name to be Cecile, can't even spell the family's last name. She was an ideal patient. Fortunately we had no complications for my equipment was, 1 pack sterile towels, 1 pack 4x4 sponges and 1 small bottle mercuriolate and my instrument kit of 2 hermetists and a pair of small scissors. For cord I cut the edge off the sponge wrapper. Had intended using mink field tape, but had none there. Had a Sgt. give me the anaesthetic and a private as interpreter.

Afterwards the secretary of the village and his wife, the butcher and his wife, and the mayor and his wife came and we drank congratulations of very old champagne furnished by the proud papa.

This was the second baby born in our little town since D-Day. The first was born in a fox hole on D-day. The people were all rejoicing to see this new life among all the death and destruction. This morning all the townspeople were going to the American cemetery to pray. Tomorrow the French national day (July 14, Bastille day). You should see the way the graves are decorated with flowers, especially those of the reguise roses Normandy is famous for. I told the parents of the new baby I would return in ten years and see this little baby, and they replied that in ten years they would be dead. Incidentally the little town is about like Shiloh, same size and all neighbors. Being on the beach makes it so picturesque. On Sunday morning they all march to mass, almost in formation to a church with the roof blown off, but none of the graves or statues touched.

The priest is so cute riding his bicycle up and down the roads with his cloak and hat. The other day I kissed him on the Paris-Cherbourg road and he let loose of the handle bars to wave and almost fell off his bicycle.

Darlings, I've written all about my baby case, knew it would improve, and somehow that job has put my mind back in the groove and I feel much better, just like the world is all at peace once more, even though as I write the sound is reaching my ears, which say, "foxtrot time" is approaching. This is such a life. I will never get over all of it. My first writing so again.

All my love, Daddy

Nothing shows civilians to put forth a greater effort than letters from our boys.

PRE-WAR PROBLEMS

As we remember it, there were a lot of national problems still unsolved when our nation went to war. Since then they have become rather vague, for we have been tackling a problem so much bigger than any of them.

But before we go on, as we recall it, there was still a good deal which needed to be done about unemployment, relations between business and government were in a terrific tangle and farmers had found no permanent solution to making a profit out of the food they raised.

It is the hope of a good many people that the war will somehow end with these problems solved. But we see no reason, at present, why this will happen. It looks very much to us as if, as soon as the war ends, all of the pre-war problems will quickly congregate on our doorsteps and be just as puzzling to handle as they ever were.

We can't escape from the pessimistic philosophy that war doesn't solve problems—it just makes new ones.

10% FOR THE DURATION

Because the war loan drives are carried on for a few weeks and then stopped, a lot of people seem to have come to think of patriotism as a sort of seasonal affair. Just as some of us confine our religion to Sundays, a lot of good Americans will chin in during the bond drives, help their town reach its goal, and then, when it is over, take a vacation from thinking about the cost of war.

Because of the temporary nature of enthusiasm, the total sale of bonds is probably greater, as a result of these spurts, than it would be if an attempt was made to keep us continually worked up about bonds. But the high sale during drives may also have a lot to do with the increasing number of bonds which are being cashed in each month.

The 10% plan—whereby we all make up our minds to put at least 10% of our weekly earnings into bonds for the duration has more lasting value than the "drive" plan. As long as the war goes on there is no reason why each of us cannot consider 10% of our wages as money to which we are not entitled until the war is won—and which will then be handed to us with interest.

SOLDIER MAKES HIS OWN JOB
This is the true story of a soldier returning from the first World War. John Spencer Redshaw, returning to Granville, Ill., near where he was born, looked around for an opening. None was to be had. So he made an opening.

One day he was in the post office when he saw a man trying to fill out a money order with an old rusted pen—you know the kind of pens they have in post offices. The man became disgusted with the pen and reached into his pocket and hauled out a fancy-looking pen and filled out the money order. Redshaw stared at the fancy-looking pen and finally he asked the stranger where he got the pen. The man told him, so ex-Soldier Redshaw sent to the company and bought a dozen for three dollars.

He traded those fountain pens to the men he knew for any old thing they wanted to offer. He found he had a natural ability for trading. He ended this swapping spree with a shotgun and $15.

He rented a little hole-in-the-wall place and got some other odds and ends and swapped them. Then he established an astonishing principle; he didn't want money; he just wanted to trade; and that's exactly what he did. Traded. Traded with anybody who came along.

Pretty soon he became known as Trader Redshaw. People outside of the state heard of him.

He prospered, bought an old bank building. One day an opportunity came along to swap for some diamonds. He didn't know any more about diamonds than a dog does about Deuteronomy. But he swapped. And he made money.

He has grown rich by just swapping. Only 15 per cent of his business is money business. His knowledge of human nature is what makes him a success. But one day he got taken in. A man appeared with a cote of nice-looking pigeons and said he wanted to swap 'em. "Trader" Redshaw told him to look around and what he wanted. "Trader" chose a shotgun and the exchange was made. But the pigeons were homing pigeons—and in a few days "Trader" Redshaw didn't have any pigeons.

Redshaw has owned 16 yachts—and has never seen one of them. He'd trade for them on description and photograph, and then sell 'em. Each time he made money. Now the richest man in the county, he has so many diamonds and jewels in the vault in his store that he has to keep an armed guard day and night. In one day he received letters from 11 different countries. On top of this he's had a wonderful time.

Here's an example of a soldier who returned from the war without money or job, and then made a job for himself a hundred times bigger than he ever expected. Of course it's taken push and steam. So I say give a hand to "Trader" Redshaw who set up in business with a dozen fountain pens.

Doings In Washington
By CONGRESSMAN WILLIAM LEMKE

Congress will convene next Tuesday, August 1st. We have been listening to convention oratory—criticism and self-laudation. We received an unprecedented amount of hot air and explosions of self-laudation and assertions from our Democratic friends. Listening to them one would conclude that this global war, Democratic war. Why should our intelligence be insulted. This is America's war. It is the sons of Americans who are fighting and dying on all the battle fronts of the world. We also listened to a lot of criticism from our Republican friends. A greater deal, however, of this criticism was justified. Honest criticism will give us better officials, and those in power if honest should welcome such criticism. However, false criticism is to be condemned—give us more constructive criticism. The campaign will be won or lost, not only on foreign policies, but on domestic as well. The American people believe in and prefer their own nation to that of any other. The election returns in my own state show that the soldiers are not internationalists, that they will not substitute a mongrel flag for the stars and stripes. I get this information from the boys on the battle fronts.

Some of the questions that the bureaucrats will have to answer are: How come that you paid $52,000 for 57,000 cases of eggs and sold them for $2,850? What's wrong? Of course that answer is that in their ignorance they piled up domestic eggs and created a scarcity, then later wrecked the home market, and then by using the tax payer's money, tried to cover up their blunders.

Again, they will have to answer why in 1943 they ran the price up to $10.00 a hundred pounds on potatoes? This by creating black markets. They will have to answer why later they destroyed 3,000 carloads of potatoes. They will be asked why in two years they permitted 250,000 bushels of wheat to spoil, and so on down the line. No amount of "mouthing" will cover up these blunders—this stupidity.

The small businessmen used to demand to know why their business was all but ruined. The wool growers will want to know why a billion pounds of foreign wool was accumulated and their market disrupted. The livestock men will want to know why their market and their industry has been all but destroyed. It will take some real planning to explain these blunders of ignorant bureaucratic regimentation. Planning is all right if done by experienced intelligence. It is wrong if done by inexperienced ignorance. The American people will do their own planning. As American citizens—not as partisans—we demand honesty and frankness. It is admitted that mistakes have been made. We will overlook some of these, but we will scorn an attempt to cover up. We demand assurance that these mistakes will not be repeated—that planning by an ignorant bureaucracy will be abolished.

RENT FORMS ARE NOT YET READY

Landlords and tenants desiring to make application for rent adjustments under the new amendments to the Rent Control Regulation, were requested today by G. H. Blecker, Area Rent Director, to wait until the proper forms are available at the rent office. All applications must be filed on special forms in order to receive consideration. The new amendment provides that a landlord or tenant may file for adjustment, if it can be shown that the rent in the base period was materially affected by peculiar circumstances that resulted in a higher or lower rent than that generally prevailing for comparable housing. Final discretion as to the justice of the appeal will rest with the director.

Application may also be made in those cases where substantial hardship has resulted since the maximum rent date, from a substantial and unavoidable increase in property taxes or operating costs.

As soon as the forms are ready an announcement will be made, said Mr. Blecker. Those interested may then secure applications by writing to the Area Rent office, 58 1/2 N. Main St., Mansfield, Ohio. Meanwhile, it will facilitate matters if no applications are made out until the forms are ready. Applying now will merely mean a duplication of effort.

PROPERTY SOLD

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Barnett have purchased the Forrest Chessman property near North Auburn and will take possession in the near future. The sale was made thru the J. E. Nimmons real estate agency.

CLUB GIRLS TO SHOW HOW TO USE PRODUCTS

Rural girls are taking advantage of an exceptional opportunity to gain experience in public speaking and in being of community service—both important phases of 4-H Club training—by participating in the 1944 National 4-H Dairy Foods Demonstration Activity.

In this activity they learn how to demonstrate to others good methods of preparing dairy food products, particularly in relation to the nationwide "Food Fights for Freedom" program.

Outstanding achievement records will receive recognition in the form of special awards provided by the Kraft Cheese Co., which include a silver medal to the county champion demonstrator, and gold medals to each member of the county top ranking demonstration team. From these county winners, state champion individual and team demonstrators will be selected, each of whom will receive a $50 War Bond.

The proudest title in the Army

It consists of two simple words. Yet every soldier who's worth his salt covets it. This title is simply: "Good Soldier."

It isn't just happenstance that so many women in the WAC have earned this title—the proudest in the Army.

For wherever Wacs are working, both here and overseas, there you find a job well done. And done with a spirit so gallant and fine that high Army officers everywhere say of the WAC... "They're soldiers. Good soldiers!"

THE GOLDEN EAGLE

A full-grown gold eagle, rare in Ohio and this part of the country, was released a few days ago by Ollie Neimeyer, game protector in Marion County, who not only set the broken wing of the bird twice, but also cared for it until it was strong enough to care for itself. Neimeyer obtained the bird when some hunter, disregarding the fact that eagles are protected by Federal and State law, wingtipped it last Fall.

The bird was treated and given the freedom of a pen large enough to give him plenty of exercises. Freedom would have come a lot earlier, but in attempting to make a flying turn inside the pen the nearly-healed wing was injured and had to be set over again. When liberated, the bird circled a time or two and flew off, a little heavily, but still able to fly. Golden eagles are longer and stronger than the bald eagle, our national bird, which is native to the watered areas of Ohio.

OPA HELPS BLACK MARKET

Beef producers have lost many of their legitimate markets for cattle, thanks to OPA. Inequalities in price ceilings and other controls, penalizing big and little meat packers and processors alike have forced hundreds of firms to close up shop this summer. In Detroit alone, 31 packers have been locked up and gone home, after average losses reached $20 to $30 for every steer they bought. So, OPA forces cattle-growers either to (a) deal with black market—Pathfinder Magazine.

DESTRUCTION BY LOCUSTS MAY BE STOPPED

Scientists Find These Insects Can Be Prevented From Developing Into Devastating Swarms.

After thousands of years of men contending with destructive hordes of locusts, there appears considerable promise that the ravages of this insect may be brought under control. After years of field work, B. P. Uvarov, International Anti-Locust Research Center, London, England, discovered what became of the locusts or grasshoppers in the years when they are not evident in destructive swarms.

The insects are Doctor Jekyll and Mr. Hyde creatures, which spend a year or series of years in solitary meditation and, then, develop an urge to congregate in uncountable millions which become a travelling unit of devastation. During the solitary phase, the grasshoppers or locusts remain in definitely known areas. When migrating, the insects have ability to make sustained flights of at least 1,500 miles because a swarm of locust originating in Africa was observed at that distance out in the Atlantic Ocean. The migration is not always impelled by hunger, as the insects have been known to leave fertile areas to travel into the desert. Every one of the five continents has its plague of locusts and grasshoppers. In the Roman colonies of Cyrenacia and Numidia, 800,000 people starved after a locust invasion in 125 B. C. In 1940, damage to crops in Morocco amounted to nearly $5,000,000. The United States and Canada have a continuous battle with grasshoppers; and poison bran bait, as used here for control, is the most effective method found. Mr. Uvarov advocates spreading the bait in the breeding areas whenever observation of the insects shows they are changing from the solitary phase in preparation for migration.

DEMAND FOR STRAW

Huron county farmers who are marketing one of the biggest wheat crops on record, have begun to realize that they will cash in on the unusually heavy growth of straw. This week, buyers are offering $5 a ton for straw in the field and $14 a ton for baled straw. Demand for straw is heavy because of war and other uses.

LOCATED IN RUSSIA

It has been learned that P. M. Gibbons, Norwalk dentist, is now serving with the eastern command of U. S. strategic air forces in Europe, somewhere in Russia, with a contingent of picked American troops that now staffs U. S. bomber and fighter bases in the soviet union.

THANK DONORS

It was a busy day for the ladies of the Lutheran church on Thursday when they served over 900 men in service at the canteen in Crestline. Large quantities of sandwiches, cookies, cake, coffee, chocolate milk and other good things to eat were dispensed with a few moments' delay from morning till late in the evening.

Train after train rolled in and new groups hurriedly came in to partake of the delicious treats that were served. It is not an easy task but a service that compensates in expressions of thanks and pleased looks by those who are on their way to camp. They served are mostly those who are on furlough and pay their own traveling expenses, or those who are on their way to camp. They appreciate such kindnesses and their morale is heartened and for a few moments they realize that the folks on the home front are interested in them. Many of the service men readily recognize this and confidently ask that their letter might be mailed, letters that go to all parts of the states.

There was ample diversion for several trains passed through that carried prisoners, said to be transported from the eastern coast to their destination. They were said to be German prisoners taken captive in Normandy. One train had as many as fifteen cars. Needless to say that these men are not served. One dares to speak to them but to the contrary they are closely guarded, lest they escape. What a world of difference there must be in the minds of those who come into our country and those who are on the way to enter actual service in our land.

Those who served at the canteen on Thursday were Mrs. Chas. Beaver, Mrs. Earl Cashman, Mrs.

E. L. Earnest, Mrs. F. Lambertus, Mrs. Chas. Miller, Mrs. John Root, Miss Dana Stine, Mrs. Wilbur Shields, Mrs. D. Scaffold, Mrs. Lillian Voisard. Others who gave unstintingly of their service be- forehand to solicit funds deserve thanks with those who served. The expenses for this service raised by donation from individuals, gifts by organizations and friends, be it in cash or in baked goods and otherwise, have been cheerfully contributed. Our church is expressing hearty thanks for all who in any way have lent a helping hand to make this service a success. And all others who are keeping up this service will feel rewarded for their friendly and most needful work.
