JAMAICANS ARE GOOD WORKERS; THANK HIGHLY FOR UNITED STATES

"America is a great and enchanting country," so said John Russell, chief cook at the Jamaican camp, west of Plymouth, in an interview Tuesday of this week...

strange to me to have to watch my step in cooking for the lack of it. From his description of Jamaica, it is one of the most beautiful places in all the world...

Russell was asked how they came through the intense heat waves recently experienced here, and he replied: "The heat, it was very warm... in fact, hot. Down home the temperature runs close to 85 with cooling ocean breezes all the time..."

While the complexion of the Jamaicans is similar to that of the Southern Negro, there is no comparison to his "brogue," actions and general make-up.

WORKERS ARE NEEDED AT THE SHELBY DEPOT

The number of Army Air Force planes in the United States grounded for lack of parts dropped to an all time low in the month of May, due to a new supply system inaugurated by the Air Service Command.

John Russell, who is a tall, heavy set fellow, commands a wonderful vocabulary and speaks English very fluently. All Jamaicans speak the English language in a way which is somewhat difficult to understand at first.

Around the Square (By Phineas Whittlesod)

ITS THRASHING time around Plymouth. Field after field of ripe wheat is in shock, and farmers are busy with thrashing. Of course combines that do cutting and thrashing at one operation, were used in some of the fields.

I OFTEN think of the farm boys who are in service... in France, England, Italy, and the South-west Pacific. You, who were brought up on the farm, and now away from home, can only visualize the beauty of the acres...

THE FOURTH was really a quiet one in Plymouth. Didn't hear a firecracker all day long. But that's no indication that some of our boys didn't hear some shooting.

NO BITES! Mr. and Mrs. Harry Trauger and son, Ronnie, spent Sunday at Cedar Point fishing. Ronnie reports: "No fishing—not even a bite."

WAYNE DAVIS returned Wednesday to his work at the Parsons Shelby Depot. Didn't hear of duty since last Thursday. Assisting on a truck, he was accidentally thrown when the truck stopped suddenly, injuring his head, shoulder and knees, and breaking his glasses.

NO FOOLIN'—The boys in the drafting room certainly did a swell job on Roy Johnson's big birthday cake. It was a two-layer cake, with candles dipped all around the top. Well, anyway, natural until it even fooled me at a close distance. When I picked it up I thought: "What kind of flour did a woman use to bake it with? That's how natural the dummy looked!" Well, anyway, Roy couldn't eat it, but with the 250 pennies, he can buy a number of ice cream cones.

COOL AS A CUCUMBER—Out in New Guinea a squadron observer was called in by his commanding officer after an air raid and asked whether he had been nervous during the attack.

"No sir," the soldier replied, "I was as cool as a cucumber."

"Swell," the CO smiled. "I was afraid you might have been a little bit rattled when you called in that there were 27,000 bombers coming in at 18 feet."—Successful Farming Magazine.

MARY FATE PARK was a popular spot on the Fourth. It is estimated that more than 600 visitors enjoyed the park grounds on that day.

In a letter to Mrs. Butner from Dr. C. O. Birnie, the "D" day was more than strenuous. All he had time for the entire day other than duties was prayer, and for his wife and little daughter. Not a moment that he wasn't helping someone, as a doctor and as a surgeon. The tension had lessened somewhat, although there was trouble from German bombers day and night. They had reorganized the Red Cross hospital and respected it.

Neal McEwen of Camp Smeiling, Minn. was here to see his family on a few days' leave.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"The men overseas don't mince any words about the way they want to find this country when they come marching home... do they, Judge?"

"They certainly don't, Herb... and they shouldn't. They're doing a masterful job fighting over there to protect our rights and they have good license to expect us to protect their back here at home. One thing they're mighty clear on is their stand on prohibition."

"Their position on that subject was stated very emphatically in a poll taken recently among American service men in England by the British Institute of Public Opinion. When hundreds of men were asked point blank how they would vote on prohibition, 85% of them stated, in unmistakable terms, that they would vote against it. There's no doubt about it, Herb... the men overseas don't want any action taken on that subject while they're away."

"And they're 100% right, Judge, because I know how I felt when I came home after the last war—only to learn that we had been over there fighting for so impractical a thing as Prohibition."

WILLARD BOY HELPS DROP 2,300 SHELLS IN RECORD BARRAGE

Member of an expert mortar section of the 45th Infantry division, Pfc. Kenneth Sisinger, son of Mrs. Hazel Sisinger of Willard, formerly of Plymouth, recently helped throw one of the heaviest mortar barrages on record in smashing a German attack on the Fifth army front in Italy.

When the Nazis tried a push at night, Pfc. Sisinger and his comrades dropped 2,300 shells on the "Krauts" from two mortar tubes in four hours. At one height of the barrage, his gun crew had 12 shells in the air at one time.

The weapon, used in support of infantry troops, is fired by dropping shells by hand, down the large, short barrel.

Yes, a letter from home means everything to any boy in any part of the world. There are 500 soldiers and sailors from Shiloh, New Haven, Plymouth and vicinity that should get a letter a week. It doesn't matter any difference from whom he receives mail — just so it's a letter — from Uncle Joe, Aunt Susie, Sister Mary or Brother John — perhaps you're just a friend or passing acquaintance — it's "a letter from home" no matter who writes it — the important thing is to keep the letters coming!

TELEVISION STILL FAR OFF

It may be worth while to start saving your money now to buy a new FM radio set after the war to take advantage of the broadcasting which eliminates all static and all interference.

Television will expand rapidly after the war, but because of the complications of broadcasting it, only those people who live within 50 miles of a metropolitan city will be in the range where they will be able to have television programs reach their living rooms.

Some experts say it will be ten years at least before television reaches rural America. The people in rural areas will hear a lot about television from now on but, during the next decade, they will probably have to visit their city cousins to see it in operation.

SAVING LIVES IN WARTIME

A recent report on the causes of death from April, 1943, to 1944 shows that, even in wartime, many more people die from diseases and accidents than are killed on the battlefield.

The figures show that during the past year 29.4 out of every 100,000 persons have died as a result of enemy action whereas 122.5 out of 100,000 have died from heart trouble, 109.3 from cancer, 74.0 from cerebral hemorrhage, 69.5 from diseases of the arteries, 53.3 from pneumonia, 53.3 from chronic nephritis, 43.2 from tuberculosis, 33.3 from diabetes and 53.5 from accidents.

All of these causes have proven to be greater enemies to life than the Germans and the Japs.

Although war is a needless waste of life, and we should do everything possible to prevent its recurrence, over the years it is not nearly as hazardous as germs. If we could ever find the answer to wiping out cancer alone it would save many more lives than have ever been lost in any war.

Dale Carnegie Author of "HOW TO WIN FRIENDS and INFLUENCE PEOPLE"

WARTIME CHAIN LETTER

Here's a helpful idea that I want to pass along. And it is especially helpful during wartime.

The idea was sent to me by Mrs. Bessie Hoagland Bianchi, Gonzales, Calif. During the summer of 1919, Mrs. Bianchi went to Minnesota and while there visited some relatives she had never seen. She found she liked them and wanted to keep up relationship with them. But California and Minnesota are a long way apart.

She wrote a letter to her father in Raymond, Wash., and told him about the trip and told all the news about Aunt This and Uncle That. Her father was delighted to hear the news, and, on the spur of the moment, wrote a letter of his own, put it into an envelope with her letter and sent them to a relative. This relative was delighted, added her mite, and sent the letters on their way to another distant relative.

It wasn't long before the letters got back to Mrs. Bianchi, and she found herself warmly praised and thanked for the idea. Then and there she started the "Family Letter," and it has been going for 24 years.

The letter is a time-saver and helps hold the family together. She says there aren't many people who will sit down and write individual letters to half-a-dozen people each month, but they will write one letter, push it in an envelope, and send it on its way.

The letter is of special value just now, when there are so many of the younger members of the family in service. Thus they are able to know whom they have in the armed service.

Mrs. Bianchi recommends this "Family Letter" to others, and so do I.

I have a letter in the mail this morning from a young man asking what he should get interested in. Well, I don't know. But I can tell him one thing that is important. It is not what he gets interested in so much as it is what he does with his interest, and how deeply he goes into it.

About 40 years ago a man born at Diamond Grove, in the good old state of Missouri, got interested in a peanut. Yes, in a peanut. That man was an ex-slave, the famous Dr. George Washington Carver. He began an intensive study of the peanut, the more he studied it, the more amazing it became. The result of all that experimentation and study has been exceedingly gratifying. He derived from the humble peanut 272 products.

So that is my answer to the young man who wants to know what he should get interested in. The important thing is: how consuming is your interest. Charles Darwin studied the common earthworm for 20 years. When he was an old man someone spoke of this and he said: "I have really only gotten started. I wish I had 20 more years to spend on it."

RECENT RULINGS HANDED DOWN BY STATE'S ATTORNEY GENERAL

County commissioners must appropriate sufficient funds to meet reasonable expenses of the juvenile judge and probation officers in attending to cases which juvenile and welfare problems are discussed, Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert ruled this week in an opinion to Joel S. Rhinehart, Lucas county prosecutor.

However, before such money may be expended, the commissioners must find that attendance at the meeting is necessary, and must approve the expenditure. The judge and probation officers must submit written applications to the commissioners before making the trip. Juvenile judges and their deputies are county officers and come under the state, requiring that the majority of the board of commissioners approves convention trips before they are made.

A municipality's share of gasoline tax and license tag funds may be used for the maintenance of storm sewers used for the drainage of streets, including the salaries of employees engaged exclusively in such work, Attorney Thomas J. Herbert held this week in an opinion to the Bureau of Inspection and Supervision of Public Offices.

A municipality can not, however, use gas tax or auto tag funds to construct or maintain a sewer not used in connection with street drainage.

Both gas tax and license funds may be used for the purpose of installing traffic signs whether the signs are erected inside or outside of the traveled portion of the streets.

Delinquent lands, omitted from foreclosure by the board of revision, when the action has been confirmed by the Common Pleas Court, and the lands ordered forfeited to the state, may be sold by the county auditor at any time up to the first day of July next following, by giving the published notice required by law.

That was the ruling this week by Attorney General Thomas J. Herbert, in an opinion to Deane McLaughlin, Stark county prosecutor.

NEPHEW OF MRS. K. I. WILSON HELPED FLY FUEL FOR BOMBERS

Mr. and Mrs. K. I. Wilson expect to go to Elyria Saturday where a family gathering and dinner will be held for Sgt. Robert Holmes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Holmes of Canton, recently returned from overseas duty. Mr. and Mrs. David Kochenderfer will be the hosts for the affair. Mrs. Holmes will be remembered as the former Miss Bess Wyandt of Plymouth and still has many friends and relatives in the community.

The following article, taken from the Canton paper, will be of interest regarding his work and experiences in foreign countries:

"The Super Fortress raid on Japan, which electrified the American public last June 15, was anything but a surprise to Sgt. Robert Holmes, who had supplied the secret China bases with gasoline for the last four months.

"After completing 500 combat hours and 150 missions over the 'hump', Sgt. Holmes, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Holmes of 1201 Auburn rd. NW, arrived in Canton last week from India, where he served as radio operator with the air transport command.

"The air transport command is the only life line to China," Sgt. Holmes said. "The Burma road is blocked by the Japs and the new Ledo road is not yet complete. Without the ATC the American 14th air force could not possibly operate and the Japs in 1943 could never have started their historic flight to Japan. We flew nothing but gasoline for the last four months.

Sgt. Holmes, who ferried bombers to Alaska, Hawaii and Australia for eight months prior to joining the air transport command in India, was not at all hesitant to say that he was scared every time he flew the 'hump'.

"I was just lucky," he said. "I have been shot at many times, lost over Jap territory and once crash-landed with a load of gasoline, but I managed to escape injury. My buddies, however, weren't so fortunate. I left the States in March, 1942, with nine other men. Today only three of us remain."

Sgt. Holmes declares that stories about the "hump" haven't been exaggerated. "The mountains are jagged peaks, reaching as high as 21,000 feet," he said.

"The planes are unarmored and the pay loads carried vary from gasoline, bombs, other ammunition, and, of course, supplies. The Japs are always a threat, but even the monsoon can't stop the fliers."

Sgt. Holmes wears the presidential citation ribbon, Distinguished Flying Cross and Air Medal with an oak leaf cluster. The DFC was awarded after his plane while over the "hump" was attacked by Jap Zero fighters. A running fight, with the transport dashing into clouds for its only protection, continued for half an hour. With one motor knocked out by Jap gun fire and the plane seriously damaged, the crew continued its mission and landed its load of vital gasoline at the Chinese base—even though the transport was on fire when it arrived.

His most memorable experience, Sgt. Holmes explained, was on Easter Sunday in 1943. With Auburn rd. NW, arrived in Canton a thunderhead, a gray colored cloud filled with ice. The ship was immediately coated with ice an inch thick and both motors failed. The plane was dropping 1,800 feet a minute and the jagged mountain peaks were not far below. Working frantically with the engines, the pilots finally succeeded in getting them started again and the plane descended to a safer altitude. Sgt. Holmes' radio equipment was not functioning and because the area is still not too accurately charted, it wasn't long before they were lost. They discovered their position over Mandalay, which is held by the Japanese, but returned to their base only three hours overdue.

Another close call, when his plane ground-looped on a take-off, found Sgt. Holmes crawling from the wreckage seconds before it was engulfed in flames.

Sgt. Holmes, who will report to Nashville, Tenn., for reassignment July 12, entered the service in January, 1942. He received his training at Scott Field, Ill., and then joined the Pacific wing of the ferrying command at Hamilton Field, Calif.

ROY JOHNSON GUEST AT SURPRISE PICNIC

Last Wednesday evening Roy Johnson was invited to the Mary Fate Memorial park to enjoy a picnic supper with his family, but upon arrival found not only his family, but practically all of his co-workers and their wives from the local factory.

The affair had been arranged as a surprise by his wife for his birthday and a tempting meal was enjoyed. Members of his department, who were in on the secret, presented him with a two-layer birthday cake, beautifully decorated in white and with white candles tipped with red, the entire cake and decorations being made from wood and painted.

Inside the cake, a row of pennies was concealed in a very clever manner, and by releasing two screws in the main the pennies could be exposed and at the same time maintain their position—they were a gift from his guests.

Guests at the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Markley, Mr. and Mrs. Thor Woodworth, Mrs. Robert McMichael and daughter, Mr. & Mrs. Phillip Moore and daughter, Mr. & Mrs. Joe Slocum and daughter, Mr. & Mrs. Donald Alexander, Mr. & Mrs. Lyle Grabach, Mr. & Mrs. George Hershiser, Mr. & Mrs. Donald Shaver, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Carter, Mr. & Mrs. Francis Guthrie, Messrs. OBSERVE RUBY WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

A very pleasing and delightful affair was the open house held last Wednesday at the home of Dr. and Mrs. G. J. Searle, when they celebrated their ruby wedding anniversary. A large number of friends and acquaintances took the opportunity of calling.

Among the guests present, who were at the wedding party forty years ago were Mrs. Charles Fenner and Mrs. Frank C. Fenner.

The dining room table was centered with a large silver punch bowl at either side of which were tall red tapers in silver candleholders. Silver plates held individual weddings cakes, and casseroles were filled with candies and nuts. A small table held a large wedding cake decorated in red and white. Big bows of ruby-white tulle were placed about the cake.

Mrs. Searle wore her wedding gown which was made of sheer white batiste trimmed in ruffles and embroidery. The home was beautifully decorated with arrangements of deep red roses and gladioli, all gifts of friends.

Dr. Searle was the recipient of a beautiful stick pin set with rubies, while Mrs. Searl received a set of ruby ear rings and matching pin, gifts from their daughter, Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney and Dr. George J. Searle, Jr.

Assisting Mrs. Searle at open house were Mrs. John Root, Mrs. Nettie Motley and Miss Jessie Trauger. Dr. and Mrs. Searle, Jr. also assisted.

Out-of-town guests who called included Mr. and Mrs. John Wiers, Mrs. A. J. Brooks, Mr. & Mrs. G. Wiers, and Mrs. Ed Wiers, all of Willard, and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Hankammer and Mrs. Maud McCormick of North Fairfield.

The third petition in the Lord's Prayer points to the Kingdom of Glory. God's will is done at all times in the kingdom of glory. But this petition demands our obedience also here on earth. What are the requirements laid down in this petition upon which our obedience to the will of God is based? These are questions we ought to consider most carefully. SERVE CANTEEN

Next Thursday, July 13th, the members of the United Workers class of the Presbyterian church will serve at the Crestline canteen. With more and more boys in the service granted furlough before overseas duty, the trains carry between 900 and 1000 boys daily through Crestline. To feed these boys enormous quantities are required including cup cakes, cookies, doughnuts, sandwiches, and of course cash to purchase the necessary supplies.

Anyone in Plymouth who wishes to donate to this cause may get in touch with Mrs. D. L. Smith of West High street or Mrs. Raymond Steele. These ladies will also collect baked goods if they are notified. It's a good cause and the boys will surely appreciate the "hand out".

America — This is it!

He's doing his part . . . We must do our part!

For him the terrifying grand climax of the war is at hand.

The supreme military risk—bound to be bloody, costly, in American lives.

Our boys know this. They don't have to read the heart-rending headlines or casualty lists to know what is expected of them.

They are in it.

But they are not flinching . . . not holding back.

They will see the grim venture through to the bitter, victorious end.

And if, for your boy, or some boy you know, the price of Victory is death, you can be absolutely certain that he made the supreme sacrifice courageously . . . for the cause of Freedom.

For us, too, the terrifying grand climax of the war is at hand.

This supreme, desperate call for American dollars—16 billions of them—is to enable our fighting men to carry through the grim, bloody assault to a successful conclusion and Victory.

Not just American dollars—but the dollars in your pocket—in your savings account.

You must buy War Bonds—now! At least twice as much as you bought last time. If you are already buying Bonds on a payroll savings plan, buy EXTRA Bonds during this Drive.

Your Government is counting on you. Your boy, and your neighbor's boy, are counting on you . . . just as you are counting on them in this fateful hour.

▶ Don't let them down! Do your part—as they are doing theirs. Dig down, America—dig down deep! While there is still time. This is America's Zero Hour—Civilization's Zero Hour!

And here are 5 MORE reasons for buying EXTRA Bonds in the 5th

1. War Bonds are the best, the safest investment in the world!	4. War Bonds will help win the Peace by increasing purchasing power after the war.
2. War Bonds return you $4 for every $3 in 10 years.	5. War Bonds mean education for your children, security for you, funds for retirement.
3. War Bonds help keep prices down.

1917 ADS SHOW FOOD PRICES

Memories of living costs during World War I no doubt have been a little dim in the passing years. But for comparison sake let's look at some of the prices back in July, 1917, when there was a war on, and we had no rationing and price control.

In the July 30, 1917 issue of The Cleveland Press we find that Fisher Bros. Co., of Cleveland, featured an 8c loaf of bread for 6c, and the 15c loaf for 12c. It possibly didn't have thyon, soy meal and other health-building ingredients, but it at least, was made of wheat. Fisher's also featured creamery butter at 42c, new laid eggs at 45c a dozen, and California onions, 3 lbs for 10c. (Can you smell 'em now?) Laundry soap was selling at 10 bars for 42c and Golden Spike Salmon, 20c for a tall 1-lb. can. Corn flakes, crisp and fresh, were selling at 7c, while oleomargarine brought 30c per pound.

Meat Was Cheap
At a market on Prospect we see by their ad a very sizeable list of meat specials being offered which included all the choice cuts at unbelievably low prices as compared with those of today.
The ad offered sirloin steak, very choice, 19c per pound; hamburger steak, 14c; porthouse steak, 19c; choice boiling beef, 10c; regular hams, 23c; regular bacon at 32c, and pork loin roast at 22c.

I happened to be in a restaurant the other day and the menu featured "T-Bone steak, $1.50." I don't know what the price of a T-bone steak in a market happens to be for they seldom have them

-and I do not have the cash nor the points to make a purchase.

Yes, prices might have been out of line back in 1917, but in comparison with today's cost of living they look low to us. Of course, we didn't have lend-lease.
We didn't feed Russia, England,
France or Italy back in World War I to the extent in which we are doing it today.

The economists would have a hard time figuring out the many whys and wherefores of the ups and downs of commodity prices if they were to start figuring out the cause of actual price differentials between War I and War II, don't you think?

MRS. N. COLE, 72, DIES IN WILLARD

She was in the hospital here for tack then went to Marion to make her home with her daughter, Mrs. Edward La Beau.

Mrs. Harley Smith of Delphi, and one brother, Martin Willoughby of Willard.

WALLACE REDDEN WRITES HOME FROM HIS BASE ON NEW GUINEA

Hello Tommy: It has been quite some time since I have written to you. Guess I had better let you know I still think of you and the folks at home. I am now at New Guinea, you know where the jungles are, and boy, I mean jungles. It isn't fit for a white man to live here. There are only 640 different kinds of diseases known here. No telling how many others. It isn't quite so bad where I am at present, but don't know what I will get in when I leave here. Guess all the folks and yourself are ok. I wish I could have gotten home to see each and every one of you before I came over here, but I didn't have the luck to do this, so now I will have to wait until the war is over. Guess who came over with me on the boat? It happened to be Donald Dunham, the gym teacher at Plymouth. We had quite some time together, talking about the people at home. I was sure glad to see him. He is getting along fine and so am I. I haven't received a paper in quite some time. I sure would like to have one that is, if you can spare it. I send my best regards to all. One of the boys from Plymouth—the best town in the States, Wallace Redden.

WORK BEGINS ON SCOUT HUT

With enough voluntary contributions in the treasury for a beginning, and sufficient faith in Plymouth and community that the balance will be forthcoming, the Plymouth scout hut has actually begun construction.

The past week the building committee had the plot laid out which is located in the south end of the Mary Fate Memorial park. The building is to be approximately 28x40 or comparable to the shelter house now at the park. Thursday evening, Pvt. Willard C. Ross, jr., home on furlough from Camp Maxey, Texas, turned the first shovel of dirt. Willie is the oldest registered scout of Plymouth, a six year veteran and a star scout, and it was just a coincidence that he was on leave when the construction began. Don W. Einsel, scoutmaster, and Mr. and Mrs. and W. C. Ross, sr. were present for the actual beginning.

The foundation is now taking form—the work of digging is under the supervision of D. W. Einsel. Clearing is the next kind of work to be done. It is almost impossible for the small acreage to "dig in" and the greater portion has had to be done by the older scouts and Mr. Einsel. This week Mr. Einsel announces that work will be done on Monday, Tuesday and Friday evenings and will appreciate a cooperative hand in the work. The boys are anxious that the greater share of the work be completed before winter sets in and the more help the quicker it will be done. "Mister can you spare an hour?"

Of course, living conditions at the temporary quarters on the farm lands west of here, are not up to their standard, yet they are making the best of it, with the hope that they are doing something worth while for the war effort.

VETERAN HITCH-HIKERS RETURN TO PLYMOUTH AFTER 5000 MILES

After traveling five thousand miles on less than $100 each, Plymouth's two veteran hitch hikers returned to town early Sunday morning well satisfied with their thirty day trip.

Paul Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Scott and Gordon Seholts, son of Mrs. Bertha Seholts left Plymouth on May 27th for the state of California. Having a fixed plan and ideas as to route they were very fortunate in being able to carry it out almost to the letter. While traveling is considerably less than several years ago due to gas rationing, the boys had little difficulty in obtaining lifts.

One of the highlights of the trip was the Grand Canyon and Paul says "it is so large that it can't be described, sheer drops of 300 feet. The water tower is 150 feet so you can imagine how we felt when we went out to the side of one of these and peered over. You feel weak all over and you want to run away but have to wait till you get your breath. The canyon is thirteen miles to the other side and we were 7000 feet in the air; you can tell it because after doing a little climbing about the rocks, it made you pant hard and the least little wind will tire you."

At one place they saw snow capped mountains that rose to the height of 12,000 feet and could be seen almost 100 miles away—that is further than from Plymouth to Cleveland, so perhaps that explains why everything is done on such a big scale.

They were quite fortunate in getting long rides and at one time rode from Amarilla, Texas, to their destination, Palm Springs, California where they visited Paul's brother Ralph. While in Palm Springs they experienced two earthquakes which were quite a thrill.

Good Workers On Muck

The Stambaugh Farms management and the celery growers at Celeryville state that at first glance you could easily get the opinion that the Jamaicans were slow, as the action indicates no speed at all. Yet, at the end of a day it can be easily ascertained that they are exceptional workers in the field. They are slow but very steady, and their effort is seen at the end of each day's work.

The growing of celery, corn, onions and other crops on such a large scale as found in the muck lands west of here, is new to the natives of the island, but they catch on fast and are making rapid progress in doing the various operations on the truck farms.

Large Acreage In Onions

On the Stambaugh farm a most beautiful sight is in store for the visitor when he approaches an immense field as level as plate glass, with a vivid hue of green holding the eye as far as can be seen. In this field two hundred acres of onions are growing to a tall slender height, which in the fall, will be harvested, graded and put on the market. Adjoining the immense onion field is a "potato patch" of fifty acres. Besides these two crops there are 70 acres of carrots, and scores of acres of sweet corn.

In the Celeryville district, mile upon mile of celery can be seen—ranging in various stages of growth. Celery started to market some weeks ago, and each day growers are busy with this, their main crop. At night trucks are loaded with celery which take it to principal markets in all sections of the state.

So, with such vast operations in mind, the labor department of our government made it possible to bring in the Jamaicans to help with the crops, and it is help which is greatly appreciated by the producers, and which is gladly performed by our neighbors to the South.
