Small Nip Gals Look Up to Gaint American Guards

TOKYO—America's tall and specially picked guards around town are making a definite, and apparently favorable impression on the smaller nipponese citizen, particularly feminine.

An Army News service man came back with this report after talking to tall guardians stationed around buildings such as the Dai Ichi, General McArthur's headquarters, Radio Tokyo, and the Imperial Hotel. They range in height from five foot ten, to six foot two, towering over the average like you in America.

Comes Back on Crippled Ship

Donald Pope, of Tripoli, a crew member of the ill-fated Liberty ship Joseph Hooker, which limped into the Brooklyn army base Friday night with more than six feet of water in her hold, stated that ballast shifting in the hold "sounded like tundra."

The Joseph Hooker had sent out a distress signal Wednesday after her skipper said she had sprung a leak due to heavy pounding in a storm. Troops aboard the vessel told how seeping water caused 500 tons of rubber ballast in the ship's hold to shift about in a beam, mud and mire, striking the sides violently, the Associated Press said.

NEWS OVER THE PAST WEEK

That day a week or so ago when you were working on the teeth of a young Lorain matron and you heard a ripping sound and you thought you had been cautiously looked over for fear it was your trousers or shirt or something—you needs have been so concerned about yourself. The patient says it was her wartime girle that cut loose in one of the seams. She has some poker face, huh Doc?"

Promotion For Milton Glick

THE PUBLISHER'S WEEKLY magazine, publisher of the book manufacturers of the United States, in an article in a recent issue gave high praise to Milton Glick, publisher of the Press in Shelby. William Glick, who has been with the Viking Press, one of the large publishing houses, for several years. A picture shows Mr. Glick at his desk and the article says:

"Milton Glick, head of the manufacturing department of the Viking Press, will continue in general charge of the department but will take on new responsibility for planning and policy matters in connection with the acquisition of sales at Viking as well as production. His new title is director of production and research."

Mr. Glick was graduated from Harvard in 1926. He went to England and worked in the printing shop of the London Mercury during 1926 and 1927. He was contacted in November, 1927, by November, 1928, with the printing house of William Edwin Rudge in Mount Vernon, N. Y. He remained there until 1928. He established himself as one of the leading American book designers."

WE HOPE THE FELLOW that has been deaming "Of a White Christmas" will soon wake up. Plymouth has been in the clutch of Old Man Winter for ten days now, and the weather man promises little relief either from the continuous snow or the extremely cold weather. Plymouth is better off though than a great many other cities to the north of us or in New York State where the most severe blizzard and weather in fifty years prevails.

A NUMBER OF THE LITTLE fellows in the third and fourth grades are wondering what it is like to have a Christmas program and school until the holiday vacation. Last year the weather closed the schools and they had again necessary this year, so they never had a Christmas school program.

After making sure that approaching vehicles can stop.

MRS. JOHN NEWMAYER of Willard lost her car keys several weeks ago and practically turned the house "inside out" hunting for them. Imagine her surprise this week when the keys were returned to her in a box from the Netherlands. It was in a pocket of a coat she had sent to her cousin, who discovered the keys—returning them to Mrs. Neumeyer at a Xmas box. Mrs. Neumeyer is the mother of Mrs. Margartha Anderson of Plymouth. Mrs. Anderson was returned with a breast pin made with three ten cent pieces of Netherlands money, and it made a very unique pin.

INSURANCE MAN DIES

WILLARD—Lathin N. Benedict, 53, prominent real estate and insurance agent of this place, died Thursday evening at Municipal Hospital following a lingering illness.

Well known and popular among the residents of Willard, Mr. Benedict, was born in the Elkts to Mrs. Neumeyer, a Xmas Lodge, Moose, Eagles, Eastern Star, American Legion, all local Masonic bodies, Al Koran Shrine of Cleveland, Toledo Consistory, and the Presbyterian Church, and an associate member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

He has no immediate survivors. Services were held at 2:30 p. m. Monday from the Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Homer A. Neff, officiating. Burial made in the North Fairfield cemetery.

IN WILLARD HOSPITAL John H. Neumeyer of Willard is a patient in the Municipal hospital where he was removed last Saturday following an accident. He is recovering in the hospital roundhouse at the home of Mrs. Margartha Anderson of Plymouth.

SOCIETY CLUB NEWS

O. E. S. Officers Are Installed

Installation of the officers of Plymouth Chapter 231, Order of the Eastern Star, was held in Masonic Hall Monday evening, Dec. 17, 1945. It was open installation. Mrs. Janice McQuate, retiring Worthy Matron, Acting Conductress, Inez Shaffer and Acting Marshal Donna Dawson, invited the installing officers to the Chapter room. Installing officers were: Arline Schreck, installing Matron; Margaret Harry and Florence Faust, installing Marshals; Mabel Stewart, installing Secretary; Anona Root, installing Conductress; Harriet Robinson, installing Chaplain; Eva Ross, installing Organist; Virginia Ruckman, installing Warden; Alice Ellis, installing Sentinel; Orva Dawson, Soloist.

The installing officers were being large formal gowns with shoulder corsages of white and green. Special music of Christmas Carols was furnished by the choir consisting of John Lanlus, Harry Dawson and Orva Dawson with Eva Ross as the piano.

The officers elected for the coming year entered the chapter room at the invitation of the presiding officer and were seated in a U formation in back of the chair. The ladies wore aqua formal gowns with white and pink shoulder corsages and the gentlemen wore Tuxedos. After the installation ceremonies, they were escorted to their various stations by the installing Marshals. A feature of the installation ceremony was the beautiful solo "The Lords Prayer" sung by Orva Dawson while Mabel Lanlus stood at the Altar. Also "Sweet Hour of Prayer" while Mabel Lanlus was being installed as Chaplain.

The officers installed were as follows: Worthy Matron—Mable Lanlus; Worthy Patron—John Lanlus; Associate Matron—Clara Root; Associate Patron—James Root; Secretary—Ingeba Scott; Treasurer—Alice Ford; Conductress—Mary Ann Bevier; Associate Conductress—Theora Kennedy; Chaplain—Miriam Hershiser; Marshal—Ruth Ruckman; Ada—Janice Caywood; Ruth—Lavinia Blace; Esther—Edith Roper; Martha—Gladys Bailey; Electa—Martha Metten; Warden—Myrtle Dawson; Sentinel—Harry Dawson.

One of the features of the ceremony was a flower addenda presented by the installing Marshals. They presented the Worthy Matron with a beautiful bouquet of red roses and a nosegay of flowers to each star point, with appropriate verses given by Marshal Margaret Harry. Many lovely gifts were received by the incoming Worthy Matron and Patron. Among the distinguished visitors was District President and Grand Representative Elma Stevenson of Shiloh. Other guests were: Mrs. Arley Gleeson, McKeesport, Pa.; Mrs. Irene Kline Chittenden to Holdsville; Ketter, Willard; Mrs. Rollie Williams, Willard; Miss Carrie Lanlus, Galion; Ethel Marie Bruce, Galion.

Refreshments were served to many friends and guests and the best wishes of all were extended to the incoming officers for the coming year.

Measured by the span of years, it has been a long, long time since that first Christmas night, but it might have been yesterday when we measure the spirit of kindness which Christmas-time releases.

Christmas means happiness, and Christmas happiness is to be shared. We want to share our 1945 Christmas happiness with you.

AT MINISTERS MEETING

Rev. H. L. Bethel, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, and Rev. E. R. Haines of the Methodist Church attended the Huron Co. Ministerial Association meeting held Tuesday at the Methodist Church in Bellevue. Rev. Wm. Williams of the Washington St. Methodist Church, Tiffin, was the guest speaker. Dinner was served at the noon hour.

NORA WYANDT CLASS HOLDS CHRISTMAS PARTY

The Christmas spirit had indeed pervaded the home of Miss Florence Danner as she and Miss Doris Rhodes played hostess to the members of the Nora Wyandt Class of the Presbyterian Church. A lighted tree, candles and Xmas greens all lent a holiday atmosphere as carols and scriptures were sung and read for the delight led by Miss Martha Bowman.

Mrs. H. L. Bethel, the teacher, directed the Bible Study and recited facts pertaining to the keeping with the scriptures, entitled "The Seventh Christmas" by Coningsby Dawson was read.

During the short business meeting a favorable report on the candy sale was made. It was voted to send Christmas greetings and flowers to Mrs. Nora Wyandt for her birthday on December twenty-sixth.

Looking forward to spring, the members decided to ask Mr. Francis Miller to order the shrubs and flowers which will be used to beautify the back church lawn. After the business meeting the members filled stockings for those children to whom they are playing Santa Claus.

At the close of the evening delightful refreshments were served and a Christmas story read by Doris Rhodes "A Pint of Judgment" Mrs. Morrow.

Mrs. Carl Ehret and Mrs. Lois Taylor are new members and Mrs. Marjorie Ehret was a guest.

DINNER HONORS VETERANS
Mr. and Mrs. Ira Ross and sons Roger and Stanley and Mrs. Daisy Reynolds were among the guests present Sunday at a family dinner gathering held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Morton near Bueyrun. Again may you know the fragrance Of hemlock, pine and holly. Again may friendly voices call A greeting warm and jolly; And again may the meaning of Christmas, Deep and still more true Bring faith and hope and gladness To the hearts of yours and you.

WEBER'S CAFE

Chris Weber

Christmas is always a welcome event with us, for two reasons: First, because we enjoy the spirit of friendliness that is always willing; second, because it affords an appropriate opportunity of expressing our sincere appreciation for your valued patronage.

It has, indeed, been a pleasure to serve you, and in sending you our best wishes for a Merry Christmas we do so with the hope that the Christmas season of 1945 will transcend all of its predecessors in real happiness for you.

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS
As the Shadows fall on the close of another year, we desire to express our deep appreciation of your good will and friendship, and to wish for you during the Christmas season of 1945 all the better things that life affords.

★ Of far greater value than the most precious jewels or the most costly gift is happiness and peace of spirit. Could we wish more for you than this Christmas season than its attainment? For your fine co-operation and loyalty to us in 1945 you have our lasting gratitude.

BOB'S BARBERSHOP
ROBERT LEWIS
Plymouth, Ohio

Measured by the span of years, it has been a long, long time since that first Christmas night, but it might have been yesterday when we measure the spirit of kindness which Christmas-time releases.

Christmas means happiness, and Christmas happiness is to be shared. We want to share our 1945 Christmas happiness with you.

Unselfish interest in others is the keynote of happiness at Christmastime. May each gift you receive breathe love and devotion and bind the ties of home and friendship more securely. As for ourselves, we desire to express our appreciation for your loyalty to us in 1945, and wish you a Merry Christmas.

That best part of a good man's life— His little, nameless unremembered acts Of kindness and of love. —WILLIAM WORDSWORTH

Christmas is the season of the open heart and the open door. Let none stand out in the cold or be unremembered.

In this community of good fellows, where each helps share the other's happiness and all do their part towards making the Christmas season enjoyable for each and everyone, it is a privilege to be in a position to serve you. We take great pleasure in wishing you a Merry Christmas.

Soap Flakes May Be Used As Snow on Christmas Tree
The final step in trimming the Christmas tree is to frost it with fluffy snow. There are a number of ways of doing this, but a simple and popular one uses ordinary soap flakes.
Any homemaker can produce all the snow she wants in a short time and it won't melt, either, if it is properly concocted.
Here's the way to make it: Use three or four cups of soap flakes to one cup of warm water. Beat in an electric beater or very vigorously with a hand beater, until it is very smooth and fluffy. Then spread it immediately over the branches of the tree, scattering it with the hands. If you want the snow to sparkle, quickly spread on some artificial glittered snow. Use as much soap snow as you like.

BIG FIRST QUARTER

GIVES LUCAS WIN

Cosch Willis Barger's Lucas team blitzed the hoops in the first quarter to down the Plymouth Pilgrims, 36-19, in the only Richland county league game played Friday night. It was played on the winner's floor.

The Cubs garnered their 17-point margin of victory in the first frame hitting the first seven shots they took at the hoop. The Pilgrims came back to match the Cubs almost point for point throughout the remainder of the game.

Frank Fanello started the Cubs scoring seven of six seconds after the opening whistle and, with the aid of Lyle Berry and Jim Metcalf, boosted their score to 17-0 for the first quarter. Plymouth couldn't get their offense going in this period and were unable to penetrate the Cubs' defense.

In the second quarter the Pilgrims halted the Lucas hot streak and found the bucket to rack up six points while limiting the Cubs to five.

To say that the Pilgrims were cold on the hoop would be putting it mildly as they layed the ball up on the bank boards and shot from out on the floor only to have the ball ricochet off the rim.

Team hit the first Pilgrim bucket in the game and Nealy, tall Pilgrim center, contributed to this second period scoring.

The third stanza nearly itself in the scoring columns when both clubs hit seven markers.

Bob Kennedy started the Pilgrims last quarter scoring and for a moment it looked like the Pilgrims might start a rally. As the tempo of the game picked up, the Plymouth cagers were given a series of trips to the charity stripe. The Pilgrims tossed in four straight free throws to creep up on the Lucas lead 19-31.

Lucas bounced back with the Cubs dumping in three quickies in the fading seconds of the game.

Metcalf and Frank Fanello led the game scoring with 12 points each while Lyle Berry tallied nine.

Nealy led the Pilgrims with three buckets and two fouls for eight points.

The reserve game gave the Pilgrims a thrill as the play became rough with the scoring knotted until the last few seconds of play. Au gave the Junior Cubs the winning basket in the 19-14 see-saw battle.

FEMALE LABOR ACT EXPIRES SAT., DEC. 15th
COLUMBUS—The war was officially over Saturday, Dec. 15 for the thousands of Ohio women and young people who took man-sized jobs when the men filling them went to fight.

The emergency Ross and Corey acts relaxing female and minor labor laws to help meet the manpower shortages expired Saturday after one extension. They originally were to have expired Sept. 15 but Gov. Frank J. Lausche extended them by proclamation when business and industrial interests protested they could not do without the extra help.

J. Harry Moore, state industrial relations director, said that only perhaps 10 percent of the thousands of women and minors who took these jobs — driving taxicabs, working on heavy railroad tasks, handling baggage at railroad and bus terminals, and like — still were working at them.

In addition to prohibiting women and minors from taking a long list of heavy jobs, the basic law forbids minors from working more than 45 hours a week or eight hours a day in manufacturing and 48 hours in other fields.

Appreciation Testimonials Available To Vets

President Truman's personal testimonial of appreciation for honorable service is now available to discharged veterans, it was announced today.

These testimonials are signed by the president. Veterans may obtain them from the local U. S. Army recruiting stations. Any person who served in the armed forces between September 16, 1940 and the date ending the national emergency will be eligible for the testimonial.

The text of the testimonial is as follows: "To you who answered the call of your country and served in its Armed Forces to bring about the total defeat of the enemy, I extend the heartfelt thanks of a grateful Nation."

"As one of the Nation's finest, you undertook the most severe task one can be called upon to perform. Because you demonstrated the fortitude, resourcefulness and calm judgment necessary to carry out that task, we now look to you for leadership and example in further exalting our country in peace."

RABBITS STILL LEGAL GAME
Ohio's rabbit season remains open and many of the cottontails will be bagged between now and the time the curtain is rung down January 12, Division of Conservation officials reminded hunters this week. Pheasants and other game and song birds common to the state are strictly protected.

Hunters may have a chance to bag a cottontail or two for the Christmas holidays if they thoroughly tramp the briar and weed patches near small woods. The small woodlots themselves are good places to look for rabbits. The bunnies usually avoid the open fields where cover is thin during severe winter weather.

Merry Christmas

The Star of Bethlehem shines bright once more on a dark and war-ridden world. The brilliant rays of Peace give hope for a better understanding of mankind... all races... all creeds... an understanding that is destined to make a better world.

Peace this Christmas brings more joy and happiness than anything else, and we join you in your festivities of home and church with the fervent wish that never again may they be marred by world conflict.

We are ever mindful of your splendid patronage and friendship and take this opportunity of thanking each and everyone who helped to make our business prosper during the past year.

With war clouds removed by the shining rays of Peace we cannot fold our hands and drift into a lasting Peace. We must live for the principles of tolerance, good will, cooperation, and faith in God and man . . . the essentials out of which Peace is built. So let us resolve this Christmas to preserve the Peace for which our soldiers, sailors and marines so bravely fought; let us ever remember the price paid for the Peace which we enjoy this Christmas.

It is but natural that a joyous spirit prevails at this season, and we take this opportunity to thank our friends and customers for their patronage the past few months. We at The CLOVER FARM STORE hope that this will be your Merriest and Happiest Christmas, and during the coming year we will strive to maintain the confidence and goodwill you have bestowed upon us.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

☆ TO ONE AND ALL ☆

Business, as business goes, would be a dull monotonous grind here at Page's Shiloh Hatchery if dollars and cents were our only aim. But it's been a lot of pleasure working for you the past year—we've enjoyed it a lot—enjoyed meeting you in the store . . . chatting with you . . . learning your problems and your needs.

We've tried hard to give you good service and honest values, too. We like to meet you with a smile and see one in return when you leave. Your satisfaction and understanding is the biggest "pay-off" we get. Tuesday we celebrate the birth of Him who said, "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you." Reverently, we again bid you

Christmas Tree And Decorations Are Fire Hazard

Fire hazards lurk in your Christmas tree and in the decorations that make it gay. Carelessness is therefore the watchword in order to prevent tragic accidents.

A few sensible precautions, plus the use of fireproofing chemicals, can provide you with insurance against damage.

First of all, remember that a fresh cut tree will not take fire any more easily during the first day or two than would the evergreen shrubs growing outside your window. But the fire hazard grows after that.

So the best procedure is to bring in a fresh tree as short a time before Christmas as possible and remove it as soon afterwards as you can. Be careful in placing your tree in the home. Set it well away from stoves, radiators and other sources of heat. Above all, when you smoke, keep away from the tree.

Use Special Safeguards. If you want to keep your tree from a week or more before Christmas until after New Year's day, special safeguards are necessary. One of these is to see that the base of the tree stands in a container of water. Out off the base of the tree at an angle at least 1 inch above the original cut and see that the water level is always kept above the cut. This helps keep the tree fresh and reduces the chances of fire.

Another and important safeguard is to use a chemical flameproofing solution.

Dissolve one pound of sodium-chloride in one and one-half pints of water. That will take care of a tree that weighs approximately four pounds. If the tree weighs eight pounds, use two pounds of chemical and three pints of water.

Put the solution in the container in which the tree stands. Let the tree soak up as much of the chemical solution as possible. In case calcium chloride is not available, ammonium sulfate will be highly satisfactory.

Turkey, American Style, Very Tasty

Roast peacock is given the place of honor at Christmas dinner in Argentina.

In Medieval England, the peacock was served with all his brilliant plumage in fact; sometimes, when he was baked in a pie, his head appeared from one end of the crust and his tail from the other; more often, he was served sitting upon a large tray—borne to the feast by a lady of the court who was chosen and honored to do so.

To serve him whole, the bird was flayed—skin and feathers together; care was taken to leave the head attached to the skin and the neck bone unbroken.

Having been roasted and allowed to cool, the peacock was wrapped in his feathers and propped upon a tray—as he was wont to sit when alive, showing off his magnificent tail; a sponge, saturated with spicities, was placed in his gilded beak and lighted as the bird was being served—by for all his good looks, the peacock was cold and dry when eaten.

Mrs. Wm. Morrison of Painesville and E. N. Poppert of Mentor were guests over the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cuppy.

Misses Ila and Edna Pettit of Mansfield spent Saturday afternoon at the home of their sister, Mrs. Wood Arnold.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Weingartner of Mansfield visited Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. L. McQuate.

NEW TENANTS

Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Hicks and son of Concord, N. C. are the new tenants in the "Lenny" apartment. Mr. Hicks is an employee of the Empire Steel Company, Mansfield.

Fire in Store Room Causes Big Loss

The store room of the grain elevator owned and operated by Fred Heister at Centerton, three miles north of Willard, was totally destroyed by fire of undetermined origin Thursday evening. Willard firemen were summoned and aided in fighting the flames. Damage has been estimated between $10,000 and $15,000. The building, which was partially covered by insurance, and the contents which included 800 bags of wool, was fully insured, according to Heister.

BETTER BABIES

Scientific studies prove that expectant mothers who eat the correct food have healthier, happier babies, while deficient diets lead to weaklings with serious defects. A "Blueprint For Better Babies," with a sample menu for normal mothers-to-be, will be found in The American Weekly with this Sunday's (Dec. 23) issue of The Detroit Sunday Times.

Eleanor Searle Whitney Writes Interestingly of Washington

In a special request for a story about Washington, Eleanor Searle Whitney has painted a picture that is so interesting to those who have visited our nation's capital, and especially entertaining to the less fortunate who have never viewed there. We feel that the readers of The Advertiser will enjoy the article for it touches upon many historical points which have been and are fundamentals in America's growth and progress. The story follows:

Our home in Washington is located in a beautiful old Georgetown, east-corner from the lovely Dumbarton Oaks, where I gave a concert for United Nations club. Georgetown is the oldest section of Washington and within the past 10 years has been "discovered" anew by avid enthusiasts who have rushed to buy the dignified old homes, polished ancient brass, rattled the gates to secret walled-in gardens (and almost at every home there has such a garden) and have installed the most modern fixtures in the hoariest structures as they strode along. The result is amazing—none of the quiet charm, the true elegance of Colonial architecture has been lost and as you walk through delightful old streets, shadowed by inscurable trees, you can imagine quite easily that a carriage has just jostled your hoopskirt as it rattles along on the cobblestones.

Just down from our home two doors and by friends of ours, Gen. and Mrs. K. C. Davidson, is an imposing red brick Victorian house which once was used by President Grant as the Summer White House. It is almost exactly the same today as it was then, furnished with livable Victorian decor.

Sprinkled all through Georgetown are tiny antique shops with odd names such as "The Little White Poodle," "The Old Iron Pot," etc., and if you peer very closely you may discover real treasures in them. In fact, the whole atmosphere of Georgetown invites you to discover, to browse, to stop easily into yesterday's past.

The 18-mile drive to Mt. Vernon along the peaceful, wide Potomac is a satisfactory preparation for the lovely vista that is the home of George Washington. Or one can take the cool, beautiful boat ride.

The mansion, with its commanding view of the river, built in 1752 and has been restored almost perfectly. You walk up the graceful main stairway with the music room and parlor on the right, the sitting room and family dining room on the left, all furnished as it was when George Washington and his family lived there. The room is probably the most intimate room for it was there that General Washington spent most of his time and it is complete in detail—even a pair of his spectacles carelessly (or so it would seem) flung down on the mantle. The grounds are expansive and include the slave quarters and the brick rooms of George and Martha Washington, all of the numerous buildings that encompassed the huge 4,000 acre estate. We spent almost a day there and felt that we had only skimmed the surface of this historical spot.

Of the many public buildings in Washington, I was impressed especially by the gigantic library of congress—the world's largest library. It contains 5,400,000 books alone and covers the entire floor ground. The decoration of this building, done entirely by American artists, is unusually handsome and you may view such important documents as the Magna Charta, the Constitution (over which shrine there is a constant guard of soldiers), the Declaration of Independence, the Ten Commandments, the Gutenberg Bible, printed about 1450.

Across the Memorial Bridge over into Virginia and you are in Arlington, that most cherished of all cemeteries where sleep our gallant dead. Here it is always very quiet. The only movement is the measured step of the guard who paces back and forth before a grave high on the hill—the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. Only shadows seem to fill the 4,000 seats of the white marble amphitheater, scene of the national Memorial Day tribute each year. On the tip of the highest hill is the old Arlington House, occupied by Robert E. Lee for many years. So faithfully has this historic landmark been restored that you feel as though the Lee family has just stepped out of the door into the gardens and you are peering in at the lovely rooms. This site commands an inspiring view of all Washington.

Another favorite spot of mine is the old Ford theater, tucked on a tiny side street in busy downtown Washington. This, of course, is the theater where Lincoln was assassinated and contains a collection of over 3,000 objects connected with or relating to Lincoln. Just across the street is the Peterson House where Lincoln was carried that fatal night and where he died.

Particularly provoking in my memory are the Watergate concerts which are held twice a week during the summer in an incredibly lovely setting in Potomac park. The National Symphony is seated on a barge which has been towed in and fastened to the river bank and music lovers dot the concrete steps fronting it, the grassy banks, even huddle in the shadows surrounding the shell. All traffic is stopped around the park, the stars overhead seem to be leaning to share in the richness of the music and far off across the river timid lights of slow moving river craft flicker. Music and water and moonlight make an intoxicating combination.

Many other generals, and many who are not generals but who are as honored in our hearts, have come home from the wars since the day Washington welcomed General Dwight D. Eisenhower but that day is as vivid and thrilling to me now as it was then. Each congressman was allowed one ticket for his family though friends, we were fortunate to obtain two tickets in the gallery chamber of the House of representatives. I met Colonel Whitney at the Pentagon and saw the general's entry into Washington with an awe-inspiring escort of circling planes. We drove along the parade route up Constitution avenue to the Capitol, just ahead of the parade, and hastened to our seats. Speaker Rayburn was presiding. He rapped the gavel and everyone stood while he announced the entry of prominent guests into the hall. Members of the senate first, another rap of the gavel, up we stood—the members of the supreme court—the gavel again—the members of the cabinet and then all of the group who flew over with General Eisenhower marched in (and such a magnificent group of young, intelligent, bronzed men this was) and finally the Supreme Court commander of the Army Forces, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Our hearts saluted him in that silent moment. Next was the fine address which he gave and which you all have read not so long ago. It was a dramatic experience and made me even prouder that my husband, too, had performed his duty and contributed to the winning of the Peace.

Well, Tommy, if I have given you and your readers just a touch of the Washington I found and remember, this letter has served its purpose. I hope all of you will have an opportunity to go there one day and taste for yourselves its magic for it is your own Capitol, built solidly on a rich past and looking bravely and confidently to the future.

JUDGE OVERRULES MOTION

A motion for new trial having been overruled by Judge E. H. Seward in the assault case of the state of Ohio, prosecuted by Peter Catri, against Joe Walker, Huron-co., and the latter having been fined $100 and costs, the defendant indicated through his attorney, Herbert Freeman, No. 10, walk, that he will seek a review of his case in the court of appeals.

On Nov. 14, Walker, indicted by the grand jury on charges of committing assault and battery on Jack Shephard, Norwalk, on July 4, this year, and pleading not guilty, was found guilty on the charge of assault only, by a common pleas jury. At that time court judgment was suspended, pending Walker's declaration that he would seek a new trial.

HOLIDAY SEASON
to all

THE QUEST OF HAPPINESS

has ever been the ultimate goal of human beings. Some find happiness in one way; some in another; and many never find it at all. Whatever road you may have been taking in your pursuit of happiness, may your fondest hopes be realized during this Christmas season of 1941.

One other thought: we want every one of you to know that we deeply appreciate everything you have done for us during the past year.

OLD SPIRIT
G. GERTRUDE H. WINOSES

IN THE street crowded with holiday shoppers Mrs. Weston couldn't see the couple behind her but their words added to her musingly. "That was one swell party last night," sighed the man. "Oh, boy!"

"Lady, you have the wrong angle." Christmas tree. There'd be no tree this year. It was worse than childhood of Harry to want one. She wouldn't have it. A package had been sent to Harvey Jr. overseas in October, but there'd be no Christmas at home.

Wicked, horrible, thought Mrs. Weston, that people are going through all the old motions of a Merry Christmas. No one has a right to be so merry.

"You looked so last night," said the man. "You are super-honey. You're so beautiful." Mrs. Weston turned slightly and caught a glimpse of a flat pretty face surrounded by blond curls. "You rate orchids, honey?" The man went on and you're going to have them. The constant ache in Mrs. Weston's heart sharpened to a stab. For such love her husband was giving his life. Another would say, "What a man! Another would say, 'The money squandered on orchids, young man, could buy a good many war stamps,' or, 'This is no occasion for whoopee.'"

"Jack thinks the Army is going to get him this time. It is the girl speaking. 'And is he scared?'" The woman next her got off and another squealed in. "Certainly going to be a big Christmas," observed the newcomer cheerfully. "Were you downtown Saturday? Worst jam I ever saw."

Behind her the young people were still shrieking about Jack and the Army. "Tell him we'll give him a party. Tell him to get shot he'll have a pretty nurse." The man was chortling. "Let's get out of this corner, beautiful. You can buy me a drink."

Liquor, thought Mrs. Weston furiously. That explained their incessant giggling over nothing. She raised her voice. "I don't see how people can think about Christmas. How they can drink and laugh and waste money on silly things. Life is so terrible," her voice broke. Here, she was staring! "My somewhere in the Pacific," she added hurriedly in a low voice. "I'm thinking of him."

"Lady you have the wrong angle." The man behind her leaned forward. Her eyes met compassionate blue ones in a face curiously pale. "I don't help you any for you to have no Christmas. Be as merry as you can. Like as not he'll be back, fit as a fiddle—like me." He hunched to his feet.

Something caught in Mrs. Weston's throat. He was limping to the door. The car jolted to a stop and the girl thrust a steady little hand under his arm. Drunk, thought Mrs. Weston, drunk with the joy of being alive. She sprang to her feet, without apology pushed through the crowd. "Wait!" But they were getting off.

She was halted by the crowds on the sidewalk. Standing on tiptoe she saw the couple turn in at the dairy bar. A drink. They'd laugh and make love over an ice cream soda. "Merry Christmas to you," she whispered. "Be as merry as you can."

Misty-eyed, she walked to the corner rimmed with Christmas trees. "A small tree," choked Mrs. Weston. She wiped her eyes and picked one up, testing its weight. "It must be strong," she told the vendor firmly. "Strong enough to hold up a good sized rubber dog, and see our spirits."
