Always Something to Be Thankful For

More details were received this week regarding the liberation of Pfc. Willard C. Ross, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Ross of West Broadway, a prisoner of war since the Battle of Bataan. The letters received in this week were written prior to those received last week and stated he was captured on Dec. 17th and had been a prisoner for 99 days. Suffering flesh wounds in the thigh, he was treated at the prison camp and were healing nicely.

He was liberated on March 28, A member of the 99th Division, Willies states he was thankful it was 99 days instead of the 194 indicated by his captors. However, he regarded the experience as unparalleled in his life and that he was feeling fine and lost no weight while a prisoner. He is now convalescing in an English hospital.

Harvey Robinson In Okinawa April 8, 1945

Dear Mom:

I'm sorry I haven't written in such a long time. The reason was we were on our way here. I am now somewhere on the island of Okinawa. We almost got a good Easter egg—a Jap plane crashed about twenty feet from our ship, but we are here and OK. How is everybody around home? Fine, I hope. I took a bath today, the first one in two weeks, and was so cold that my toes froze. It's OK now; I got my clothes on now and feel much better.

Well, Mom, I'll close for tonight, but will write again soon. Tell everyone I said "Hello" and that I'm OK. All my love,

Your son,
(Harvey Robinson.)

Hi, Fellow: Just can't help saying "Hello" to you. Being on that spot isn't a bed of roses, and we're all pulling for you. We just got the news today of Ernie Goff being killed on Je., and it was hard for us to take.

After you fellows clean up the Japs I make a motion that all of the boys from around Plymouth hold a 30-day convention at Hawaii. Sounds good, doesn't it? But believe me, you deserve it.

Drop me a line some time and let me know if the old Advertiser is coming through—I believe Okinawa is the only spot that hasn't reached so far. Best of luck, fellow, and you bet we think of you quite often.—Tommy.

Convalescing In England

Word received by Mr. and Mrs. Jasper Fralick of Shelby from their son S-Sgt. Robert Fralick is quite encouraging and stated that he was flown to a large hospital in England where he is now convalescing.

S-Sgt. Fralick is suffering from chest wounds received in Germany on March 26th. He was serving with the Third Army. Mr. and Mrs. A. Ross of Sandusky street are his maternal grandparents.

Pvt. Robert Meiser, 35-862-722 Co. C, 7th Inf. Reg. IRTC, Ft. McClellan, Ala.

Ill In Chicago

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Penrose of Willard and former New Haven residents, were waiting anxiously for their son, Pvt. 1-c Robert W. Penrose, to arrive home on his first furlough in two years, last week when they got a message that he had been felled as China and was taken to a hospital. He is in the Naval hospital, Navy Pier, confined to bed with a tropical disease. His parents left last Wednesday morning for Chicago to see him.

He has been serving in the south Pacific and left an island there on March 23. The trip from the island to the United States was made by plane and he left California April 6 for home but got only as far as Chicago when he became ill.

At Miami Beach

S-Sgt. Gerald W. Funk, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Funk of Willard and a great nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ross of Plymouth, has returned from 42 months in the Central Pacific as mess sergeant. He was awarded the Asiatic-Pacific campaign ribbon and the American defense ribbon. He is now at Miami Beach, Fla., awaiting reassignment. He entered service March 25, 1941.

Campaign On For Clothing

BRING IN YOUR DISCARDED CLOTHING DURING THE MONTH OF APRIL

Joining in with the nationwide campaign for spare clothing, Plymouth is doing a splendid job so far. Since the announcement last week that unwanted clothing would be received at the Plymouth store, more than 100 bundles have been received. But it is very evident that unless a special effort is made within the next two weeks there will be much clothing which will remain in closets and attics to be unused for another season.

Henry J. Kaiser, national chairman of the United National Clothing Collection for Overseas War Relief, estimates that one hundred and fifty millions pounds of clothing will be needed this month to help care for one hundred and twenty-five million men, women and children in war-torn Europe. It is hard for us to visualize the horrible suffering of refugees who have been torn away from their homes and all earthly possessions . . . who are dependent solely upon the kindness of someone to feed and clothe them. Through the national organization, it is hoped to bring this campaign to the strenuous people of the war areas and keep them clothed . . . yes, even to hide the skin, and to help keep them warm and comfortable.

This week, make it a point to go through your attic, wardrobe, clothes closet and sort out those articles which you no longer need, and bring it to the collection depot at the Plymouth Shoe Store. Clothing should be neatly bundled and cleaned. Arrangements are being handled by Mrs. Mary McFadden, in connection with an organization in Mansfield to gather up the clothing at the end of the month. The campaign closes April 30, so there isn't much time left.

The following list will give you a fair idea of articles badly needed in the drive:

Infants' garments: All types are in urgent demand, particularly knit goods.

Men's and boys' garments: Overalls, toweling, shirts, jackets, shirts, overalls, sweaters, etc.

Women's and girls' garments: Coats, jackets, skirts, sweaters, dresses, underwear, aprons, robes, jumpers, nightwear, etc.

Caps and knitted headwear: Bedding: blankets, sheets, pillow cases, quilts. These are urgently needed, if in serviceable condition.

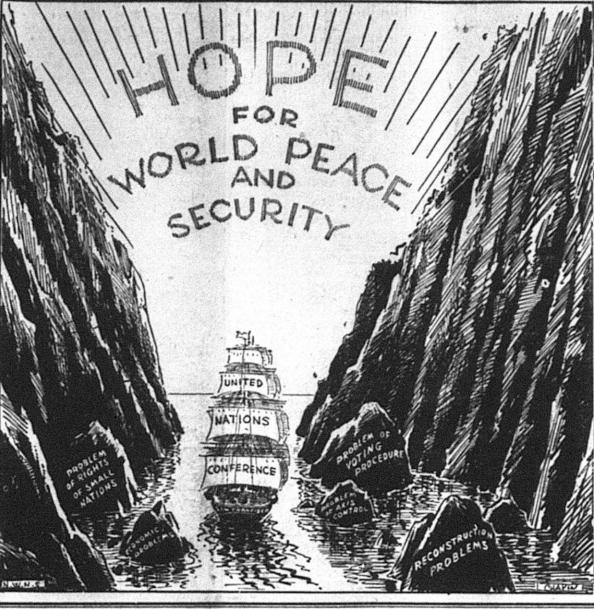

Shoes: Either oxfords or high shoes of durable type with low or medium heels. Shoes with high tops, lace-ups, or open-toed and novelty types, cannot be used. All should be mated and tied securely into pairs.

Knit Ware: Furniture Polish—35c—55c bottle. Best to be had. On sale at McGUATE'S.

John Kote Furniture Polish—35c—55c bottle. Best to be had. On sale at McGUATE'S.

Local Team Opens Baseball Season

PLYMOUTH PLAYS WILLARD THIS AFTERNOON AT FOUR O'CLOCK.

The Plymouth High school baseball team opens its Spring season this afternoon at 4:00 o'clock when they will meet Willard on the local diamond.

The local boys had hoped they would have new suits to play in this Spring, but as there is not enough money in the athletic fund to purchase them they will have to wait until some future date. Naturally the boys are very disappointed and regret they have to continue playing in their old clothes, thus giving spectators an appearance on the field while all other teams they meet are dressed alike in their suits. Needless to say, suits are morale builders for a team and it is hoped that some day the local nine will be able to afford them.

In addition to two games scheduled with Willard, the local nine has games with Shelby, N. Fairfield, New Haven and Shiloh. Dates for these games will be announced later.

The team again being coached by Jim Root, consists of the following boys: Bob Kennedy, Bill Miller, Jake Berberick, Jim Moore, Elden Sourwine, Byron Ream, Leonard Fenner, Bob Hampton, Warren Wirth, Corny Vanderbilt, Clifford Steele, Pete Smith, and Ed Gamble. Ronald Trauger is student manager.

The boys appreciate your support and encouragement so come out and give them a hand this afternoon.

Special Sermon Sunday At Presbyterian Church

Liberty-loving people throughout the world are looking to the San Francisco conference, meeting Wednesday, April 25th, to make possible an organization that will insure an era of peace. Churches are, in many places, devoting this Sunday to prayer for the success of this conference. The sermon theme at the Presbyterian church this Sunday will be "Our Part in Shaping Tomorrow's World." This is a matter of vital importance to everyone and especially to those who are followers of the Prince of Peace.

Around the Square

(By Phineas Whittlesea)

She TURNED green, pink, yellow, red and purple, and was so nervous she could hardly hold the phone receiver as she called to see if members of the family were still alive. Yes, this all happened to Mrs. John F. (Tommy) Becker Root, Sunday morning after she discovered she had served her husband's seed potatoes, which had been laced with poison, to the family group at dinner Saturday evening. She didn't discover the mistake until Sunday morning. It has been a long custom of the Root families, J. A., J. F., and James Root, to alternate a Saturday evening meal, and this added fear and terror to Tommy's anxiety — Well, at any rate, Sunday morning came and no one reported a significant illness, and it's needless to say there was no argument as to how it happened that the seed potatoes got cooked.

JANICE CAYWOOD slipped out of town last week for the West Coast where she is spending a few days with her husband, the former "Jerry" of Jerry's Market. She writes that the weather is swell, and that Jerry may have a few days more of leave. At any rate, Janice is enjoying a wonderful vacation which she rightfully deserves.

IT DOESN'T DO Mary Ann Bevier any good to talk apples with her to work. She doesn't have time to eat it! Well, maybe it's the work, but I incline to think it's the "talk."

RAY McCARTY and Whit Briggs are feeling justly proud these days. Briggs, a few weeks ago, was taken into the Masonic Conistory in Cleveland, and McCarty was up over the weekend and received his degree! Nice going, fellows!

WORD FROM LuVier Barber, former FTH Blue Print boy, informs that he's "passing the ammunition" somewhere in STH ammunition" in France. Barber has been very busy, and we appreciate hearing from him indirectly.

FRANK LILLO is really planning a full summer's work. We are told Frank is going to put out 200 acres in corn, 100 acres in soy beans and some potatoes. Lillo knows the "muck," and with a half-way break in the weather we'll say he'll show some excellent results.

THROUGH the use of waxed paper celery growers at Celeryville are saving time when it comes to getting the tiny celery plants from the greenhouse to the fields.

Already many acres have been planted in celery, and radishes, carrots and onions were put in the ground last week. The folks at Celeryville enjoyed a fair season last year, and they're ready to go into another busy season now.

A SHORT VISIT from Miss Harriet Porter Monday afternoon was cause for reminiscing. We talked about new people in town, the severe winter we've experienced and things in general. Miss Porter is one of the oldest feminine residents in Plymouth. She tells me that she's been taking "vitamins" to help ward off that old-age feeling, but she admits they're not doing much good. In spite of the cold weather that was experienced here, Miss Porter told of an incident when she was finishing her high school. "We were invited to a party in North Fairfield, and the group of boys and girls started out on a horse-drawn sleigh, with the thermometer reading 14 below zero. It was so cold that we were forced to ride the entire fourteen miles with the heavy buffalo robes over our heads . . . it was a real winter, but I don't believe it's just come through."

Miss Porter, despite her age, (and we know it), maintains her personality and a view on the more humorous side of life, but she doesn't "gad around" like she used to. How-

BIRTH OF SON

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Don Hamman, Monday morning, April 16, at the Shiloh Memorial hospital, a son, weighing 9 lbs. 15 ozs.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

The first Cleaver-Review published by J. F. Woltersberger and G. W. Page at Shiloh, was on Jan. 4, 1895.

It was a four-page paper and contained advertisements from all the local stores and from T. A. Curpen, jeweler, from Sol Spear, M. Shield & Son, Tyson Bros. & F. D. Rhodes, dentistry, all of Plymouth, C. W. Sipe of Shiloh, and the Ridgefield Shield & Banner advertised their weekly paper for $1.00 a year.

The local merchants at that time were G. O. Dickerson, city butcher; Fenner & Frame, drugs and hardware; A. W. Guthrie, fresh oysters and baked goods; Jessie Maring, insurance and real estate; William Koerber, the grocer; Backensto & Sons, bargains in dry goods; E. S. Clark's was a salaried man and boys' shirts.

The first-mentioned editor is now living in Pittsburgh, and to be sure that you recognize the second editor named, the children call him our "Chicken man."

A number of items will be of interest to folks who have moved away from this place, and also the community at large, so we will continue the story next week.

The column for copying from the paper of fifty years ago was given by L. D. Woltersberger, the younger brother of the editor at that time.

INTERESTING LETTER FROM JAY SNYDER

Miss Josephine Snyder of Shiloh received a letter from her aunt, Mrs. Garth Snyder of Mt. Joy, Pa., and enclosed was a letter from her son, Jay Snyder. We are pleased to receive this letter as we again come in touch with Lt. Mary Ferrell. Also the Snyder's are another resident of Shiloh and have numbers of relatives and friends here. Jay says:

"I have some news for you and I am sure you'll be glad to hear about it. Well, we had just moved into a new area and looking across the street I happened to see a hospital moving in directly across from where I was working. And sure enough it was the one I had been looking for, for such a long time. I had been working on a vehicle and was a little tired, so I changed clothes, cleaned up, and another fellow and I walked across the street to hospital.

"Finally, we got right on her trail, and the people we asked really did know Mary. Well, of course, I never saw her in my life, and didn't know what she looked like, even if I did see her.

We were directed farther down to a lavish-looking hotel. At the entrance there were half a dozen men in uniform. I asked one of them if they knew Lt. Mary Ferrell and they said "sure, she is upstairs--we'll call her down."

She came down with two other nurses, and as I studied their features I picked out the one that seemed to have a slight resemblance to Josephine and sure enough it was she.

"Of course, she didn't know who I was, and gosh, was she ever surprised! Even more surprised to find out that I was living just across the street."

She came down with two other nurses, and as I studied their features I picked out the one that seemed to have a slight resemblance to Josephine and sure enough it was she.

"We went into the lounge room where some other nurses were and she introduced me to them all. Many of them were from Ohio. We talked for about two hours, then it was time for supper. I wasn't too sure if I'd get to come over again in the evening so I bid her farewell until another time. But luckily, I was able to come back in the evening and got there just as she came up stairs--we'll call her down."

"Most of them were tired as they had been traveling all day. So most of them went to bed early, all except Mary. We talked until 12 o'clock."

"I guess we must have discussed everything, our experiences in England and on the Continent, and on the ship coming over. She has been overseas a little longer than I have. She looks very healthy and was neatly dressed, and indeed, just like Josephine, said she is. She certainly is a grand person."

"The fellow that went along over was from Ohio, and knew some people that she knew." He said he thought Mary and I should be related, for both of us were all the time laughing. Mary said that Jo would be pleased to learn that we got to see each other. I also have a picture of the hotel where we held our conference and some day, when I get back, I will be nice and send it to you. It will be a nice keepsake and I'll want it when I get back. I don't know when I'll get to see her again, although I may have a chance to go back to that location again."

next?

It would be nice if Junior and Ruth could make up their minds. They've called it all off again.

There seems to be quite an attraction in Mansfield for some of the Shiloh boys.

Is Jeanette losing interest in Swartz and finding interest in Casey or Yount?

Has Mary Lou Russell got a crush on Bill Adams?

Does Frances mean what she tells Ernie or does she tell them all that?

Why is Betty Robinson so jealous of that little red-headed girl that visited school? Would Bob Sweet know?

PHONE 16

Recently, we saw a telephone line being strung by heavy enemy fire laid a mile of telephone wire in the record time of one minute. This wire was but a fragment of the tremendous amount of telephone equipment going to the armed forces . . . equipment normally put to civilian use. Naturally, this makes new telephones scarce and expansion of service a slow process. However, with your continued co-operation, we will provide the best service possible.

"When you think of the sacrifices our fighting men are making in this war, it's hard to figure out how we'll ever repay them isn't it, Judge?"

"Yes, it really is, Tom. There are only certain things we can do. Such as... write certain letters often. Send them favorite gifts from time to time. Work harder than ever to provide them with everything they need to finish their job quickly. Buy more and more War Bonds... especially during the current drive..."

pay for the ammunition and fighting equipment they must have."

"All that still seems kind of small compared with what we're doing for us, Judge."

"True, but it's about all we older folks back home can do. Toth! Except one more thing. And that is to be sure our fighting men come home to the same kind of country they left behind. The kind of country their letters tell us they want. Nothing changed that they don't want changed while they're away and unable to express their wishes."

Infantry Wins Navy's Praise

The Army finally admitted that the Army is doing some of the fighting. Lt. Martin McMannis, Jr., Toledo, paid his respects on April 16 to the soldier who battles his way across Java territory on Okinawa.

It was a dispatch from Milton Chase, correspondent on the island, Lt. McMannis suggested that every Navy man should get a chance to see the Infantry in action.

"We've been with the 96th Division for several days now," he told Chase, "We've been under furious fire and they never show a sign of cracking. They eat when they have a chance, they get precious little water, and then sleep in muddy foxholes and against the sharp jagged rocks."

"It's a Navy man and there's rivalry between the services, but my hat's off to them. I've learned to respect them."

The Toledo lieutenant is a liaison officer on the island.

Pfc. Earl Hankammer of Plymouth is a member of the 96th division. Mrs. Hankammer is employed at the Plymouth dry goods store.

Service Men Guests of Community Club Tues.

When the Community Club met Tuesday evening at the Presbyterian church, there were several service men present, who were guests of the club.

Following a very appetizing dinner at 6:30, the members retired to the auditorium of the church where they were introduced to Pfc. Toy Patton, who has been stationed in the Aleutian Islands. Bob Edwards, who has been in the Pacific Area for almost three years; Lt. (G.) Miles Christian of the Navy, who has seen service in the Pacific; G. H. Watts, and Arthur McFarland of Willard.

Each of the service men gave a short talk, which was very interesting, and this was followed by an open forum in which questions were asked by the citizens, and answered by the service men. It proved a real feature of the evening.

Announcement was made of the Cancer Campaign, and $18.00 was contributed for this cause.

Membership is holding up, and attendance at the meetings is on the increase. If you're interested in becoming a member, ask any of the boys around the Square—they'll tell you about Plymouth's Live Community Club.

Their very LIVES depend on you!

THE VERY LIVES of multitudes in war-torn countries depend on the filling of their desperate need for clothing.

The demands of America's armed forces and civilian needs are so great that only a small amount of new clothing can be spared for overseas relief.

But all of us can spare some serviceable used clothing—to provide the 150 million pounds that must be collected this month for that purpose.

In the clothes closets and attics of America's homes is enough usable, spare clothing to help care for the 125 million men, women, and children—in Europe alone—who have given all but life itself toward the same lasting peace we all are fighting for.

Let's get it out—and send it off—NOW!

What YOU Can Do!

1 Get together all the serviceable used summer and winter clothing you can spare. This includes: Men's, women's, children's, and infants' wear, and shoes. Overcoats, topcoats, suits, dresses, shirts, skirts, jackets, pants, work clothes, gloves, underwear, sleeping bags, bedding, hats, mittens, scarves, and all knit goods. Also blankets, bedclothes.

2 Take your contribution to your local COLLECTION DEPOT near or arrange to have your LOCAL COMMITTEE collect it before April 30th.

3 Support your Local Committee not only with your clothing contribution but also with your time, effort and energy.

BONDS FOR MORALE

THREE is probably no more accurate method of taking the public's war "temperature" than to watch the progress of the sale of war bonds.

It is generally believed that, because of the victories in Europe, war "heat" among civilians has cooled considerably. But we can't think of anything that would be more discouraging to the boys fighting in the Japanese islands than to think that the war is practically a thing of the past, at home.

Those boys in the Pacific will get reports on the sale of bonds during the Seventh loan drive. They will know—when they see those reports—whether we are still wholeheartedly behind them or not.

There are plenty of good reasons for every one of us to continue to buy bonds, but we can think of no more important reason right now than to convince the soldiers and sailors in the Pacific that this talk of weakening morale at home isn't true—that we still know there is a war going on and are still behind them 100 per cent.

FIGHTING OVER PEACE

THE arguments which preceded the San Francisco "peace conference" didn't help to build public confidence in the theory that the nations of the world can hereafter get along as one big happy family.

The bickering over how many votes each nation would have in a world governing body made it clear that most of the leading nations will demand all of the power they can possibly get. It also indicates that it is going to take super-human diplomacy, in any world organization, to keep any nation which doesn't get what it considers a square deal from seceding from the organization.

But we shouldn't become too pessimistic over arguments that develop. For the United States we have the best example in the world of how groups of people with different interests and different problems can live together amicably.

The 48 states of the United States have been able to eliminate war as a possible solution to any problem.

BLUFF FAILS IN THE END

SOME years ago a boy who had been born and reared on a farm near Ripon, Mich., got on a train and went down to Chicago to make his way in the world. The boy's name was H. Gordon Selfridge.

He tried two places and finally he got a job in the department store of Marshall Field & Company, in the furniture department. He worked hard, but he didn't do well. At the same time there was another clerk in the same department who was a whiz. He made a showy display of his knowledge about furniture; no customer could ask him a question but he had a chipper answer. Yet he knew very little about furniture. On the other hand the Michigan farm boy didn't know something about it, for he not only had studied furniture and the work from which it was made, but he had also got books on the subject, studied them, asked questions, and tried to master his product. But still the showy salesman put it all over him.

One day the ex-farm boy asked the other salesman how he managed to make so many sales than he did. The showy salesman replied:

"It's really very simple. I bluff. When I don't know the answer to a question, I give one that I think is correct. They never check up on you. If you'd do more bluffing, instead of admitting ignorance, you'd get along faster."

Selfridge said something like, "It seems to me it's better to admit you don't know than to pretend you do know."

The other clerk laughed. "Well, you see the difference between us. I'm getting promotions and you're standing still."

Pretty hard medicine to take, but Selfridge took it and continued his course of learning all about the subject he possibly could and, when stumped, admitting that he didn't know the answers.

What was the result? Well, after a short time Selfridge, in spite of his slow start, was promoted. Finally he was made manager of a department. At last he became a partner in the business.

And the self-confident young man who believed in bluff? Well, in a little less than a year and a half he was fired for incompetency.

Selfridge went to London, England, later, and opened the first London department store. That store made him famous.

The man who bluffs is kicking his own chair out from under himself. Sooner or later he is bound to be found out and then he has to pay for all his bluffs.

Doings in Congress

By Cong. WM. LEMKE

THIS NATION IS RECOVERING from the shock of the sudden death of the President. This is the third similar shock that many of us have experienced. The first was the assassination of President McKinley, then the sudden death of President Harding, and now President Roosevelt. These three presidents had one thing in common. All three had personal charm. No one could meet any one of them without feeling perfectly at home. There was no formality—no stiffness—but friendliness.

THIS NATION WAS ALL THE more shocked because the death of the president was unexpected. There was no suggestion of illness, although there were rumors that he was tired. It was doubly shocked because of the uncertainty of our future—of civilization's future. It was stunned because of the closeness of the San Francisco conference.

MANY PEOPLE EXPECT THAT conference will produce a just and lasting peace. We all hope that justice will triumph over greed and aggression at that conference. The president seemed worried over the Polish, the Finnish, the Roman and the Lithuanian situations. He may have been dissatisfied with the results at Yalta. Disappointment was plainly visible when he addressed Congress upon his return.

NOw THAT HE IS GONE, TIME and history alone will pass upon the merits or demerits of his foreign and domestic policies. What these verdicts will be no one can foretell. There will be many side issues, side lights and facts discovered before time and history render their final decision.

ALL WHO MET HIM LIKED the president personally. Some, because of his personal charm, agreed with everything he did. Others admired him personally, but disagreed with many of his domestic and foreign policies. There is one thing that we can all agree on: that is that the president made this nation, perhaps the world, conscious of the fact that there was an underprivileged class.

VICE PRESIDENT TRUMAN IS now our president. He says that he will carry out Roosevelt's policies. This will not be easy. Like all strong executives, Roosevelt surrounded himself with persons of very ordinary ability—mostly "yes men." Each of these will now claim that he is the sole keeper of these policies.

UNDER THESE CONDITIONS, President Truman will have to make decisions that will affect not only our own future, but the future of the world. If successful, he will have to meet those issues which Roosevelt left him. He has our best wishes in the work that lies before him. We pray that God may give him the light to guide our nation to victory and to a lasting peace.

Nation Mourns Death Of Roosevelt; Vast Tasks Face President Truman

FRANKLIN DELANO ROOSEVELT JANUARY 30, 1882—APRIL 12, 1945.

FRANKLIN DELANO ROOSEVELT JANUARY 30, 1882—APRIL 12, 1945.

ALS THE guns of America's fighting forces sounded ever closer the doom of Nazi Germany and Imperial Japan, Franklin Delano Roosevelt died in Warm Springs, Georgia, where he had been resting for 10 days.

Death resulted from a cerebral hemorrhage at 4:35 p.m. on April 12. Mr. Roosevelt was 63. He had been President for 12 years, one month and nine days. The White House was announced as the site of the funeral, with interment at the family estate at Hyde Park, N.Y.

Less than four months had elapsed since he had taken his historic oath of office for a fourth term. Only a few weeks before he had returned from the Yalta conference where in company with Marshal Stalin of Russia and Prime Minister Churchill of Great Britain he had labored to build an enduring peace.

Fate denied Franklin Roosevelt the chance to enjoy the fruits of victory over the Axis. Yet history seemed destined to enshrine him as one of the immortal American Presidents. And every citizen who mourned the untimely passing of the Commander-in-Chief felt that he was a casualty of the war just as surely as every G.I., Marine and Sailor who had fallen in battle.

Never before had an American President died in wartime. Abraham Lincoln fell under assassin's bullet just five days after the surrender of General Lee's army at Appomattox in 1865. Woodrow Wilson lived to see victory over Germany in World War I, but he fought a losing battle for the League of Nations and died early in 1924, a defeated leader. Many historians believe Lincoln's greatness might have been dimmed in his conflicts over reconstruction had following World War I. Between 1919 and 1924, Wilson's prestige just as Wilson's prestige had suffered in the conduct over the issue that followed World War I. Thus Franklin Roosevelt, dying at the height of his career just as victory was to be achieved over Germany, seemed likely to live in history as a great man.

As the American people from Main Street to Riverside Drive from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from Roosevelt, their prayers went up for his successor, Harry S. Truman. For the shoulders of this slight, gray, 60-year-old Missourian had seen laid a responsibility such as American President had ever known.

Known as a plain, modest man, he has endeared himself personally. President Truman nevertheless has demonstrated on many occasions that he can be a leader of force and determination. His work as chairman of the Truman committee in the U.S. Senate investigating the conduct of the war, in itself, was an example of this. And his conduct of the Vice-Presidency has shown that he can work successfully with political leaders of both parties in getting needed measures passed and in reconciling opposing points of view.

The 33rd President was born in Lamar, Mo., May 8, 1884, although the name of the family for four generations had been our independent Mo.

Served in World War I. When World War II broke out, Truman became captain of Battery D in the field artillery of the 35th Division and saw action at St. Mihiel and in the Meuse-Argonne offensive.

Back in Independence, Truman and a war buddy opened a haberdashery business. He married his sweetheart, Bess Wallace, and they have one daughter, Mary Margaret.

Truman later turned to politics for a career, which started with his election as County Judge of Jackson county, Mo. In 1928 he became the presiding judge of the Missouri state bar association.

In 1932 he was elected to the Missouri legislature. In 1934 he was elected to the Missouri state senate.

In 1936 he was elected to the Missouri state house of representatives.

In 1938 he was elected to the Missouri state senate.

In 1940 he was elected to the Missouri state house of representatives.

In 1944 he was elected to the Missouri state senate.

A Lifetime Of Activity

Unlike the "log-cabin" presidents, Franklin Delano Roosevelt was not born into poverty. When Franklin arrived at Hyde Park, N.Y., on January 30, 1882, he came into a family that was financially well off for many generations. The Roosevelts had been thrifty land-owners in the Hudson valley since the first of the family came over from Holland. On his mother's side also there was a substantial fortune. Among his ancestors were many men who helped to settle the state in various capacities.

Young Franklin attended the very fashionable Groton school, where he prepared for Harvard university. After completing the liberal arts course he entered Columbia U. law school, from which he was graduated in 1907. Two years earlier, however, he had graduated from his cousin, Anna Eleanor Roosevelt. Eleanor was a niece of Theodore Roosevelt, at that time in the White House.

After two years of legal practice, Franklin entered politics, running on the Democratic ticket for the New York state legislature. He subsequently became a state Republican candidate. From the beginning of his career he identified himself with reform movements, opposing the powerful Tammany organization in the statehouse. He was re-elected in 1912, by which time he had become a leader of the anti-Tammany faction.

Woodrow Wilson appointed Roosevelt as assistant secretary of the navy. With Wilson's support, he made out. Roosevelt proved himself an efficient administrator, handling billions of dollars' worth of contracts for ships and supplies. He served in this post throughout the war.

Ran for Vice President.

In 1920 the Democratic national convention chose him as running mate for James Cox. While campaigning for the vice presidency Roosevelt proved himself an efficient administrator, handling billions of dollars' worth of contracts for ships and supplies. He served in this post throughout the war.

Ran for Vice President.

In 1928 the Democratic national convention chose him as running mate for Franklin D. Roosevelt. He was nominated on the first ballot and was elected. He was a strong advocate of the New Deal and was instrumental in the passage of the National Recovery Act.

At the Democratic conventions of 1932 and 1936, he aligned himself with the group supporting Alfred E. Smith, New York's governor. When Smith was nominated in 1932, Roosevelt ran for governor of his state and was elected. At the end of his two-year term he was again elected, this time by the greatest majority ever given to a New York governor.

As governor he continued the reform and improvement policies of his predecessor, Smith. His administration attracted nationwide attention. As the depression that began late in 1929 deepened, his efforts to control the mounting business failures, unemployment and distress in his state revealed his abilities as a vigorous leader in grave times.

Swept in as President.

When the national convention met in Chicago in 1932 Roosevelt was chosen chairman and swept into office by a plurality of seven million votes, carrying 42 states. Both houses went Democratic.

Before he could take office a wave of bank failures threatened the whole economic structure. The famous "bank moratorium" order, one of Roosevelt's first official acts, closed all banks until they could be reorganized on a sound basis. This was a disastrous measure. In the spring of 1932 came the repeal of the 18th, or prohibition amendment. Then came the National Industrial Recovery Act, or "NRA," under which extensive emergency powers were granted to the President. A new deal was authorized to combat unemployment, together with huge appropriations for direct relief.

The numerous executive and legislative acts of this first term were approved in general as necessary in the face of widespread suffering. A platform from one of the Roosevelt speeches, "a new deal," developed into a title for the whole Roosevelt program.

In 1936 the convention in Philadelphia nominated Roosevelt by acclamation on the first ballot. He carried 46 states in the election. This second term majority was so overwhelming that many New Dealers began to call it a "mandate from the people." During this second term a great number of measures were passed to increase the economic security of the individual, particularly the workers, farmers and small business men.
