DEATH ENDS LONG ILLNESS

Following a lingering illness of many months, William Johns, 69, former postmaster and ex-mayor of Plymouth, died at his home late Friday night on Plymouth Street. Mr. Johns had been in failing health for some time, and for the past few months his condition had been regarded serious, and death was not unexpected.

The deceased was born in Blaine, Pa., August 4, 1875, and forty years ago he came to Plymouth to make his home. He established himself well in the community, and served as postmaster here from 1923 until 1936. He was elected mayor, and served one term, and after retiring from this office a few years ago, he took up farming on a small scale.

During his residence here, Mr. Johns won the confidence and esteem of a host of friends and acquaintances. As a member of the Methodist church, he was consistent in attendance, and took an active part in the administration of its affairs. He was also a member of the local Masonic Lodge, F. & A. M., 201, whose members participated in the final services which were held Monday afternoon.

In 1907 he was united in marriage to Minta Bevier, who preceded him in death. On July 2, 1931 he was wedded to Corriella Bevier, who survives.

Funeral services were held on Monday afternoon at 2:30 at the late home, with Rev. E. R. Haines of the Methodist church, officiating, assisted by Rev. Frederick Lambertus of the Lutheran church. Burial was made in Greenlawn cemetery with arrangements in charge of McQuate's, and the Masonic group giving their last rites.

In his association with the public through the postmastership, and in the capacity of mayor, Mr. Johns set up a program of fundamental civic education, which was treated alike. He had his convictions on certain ideals and he stuck by them, for they were generally conceded to be nearly right. He conscientiously directed the public during his thirteen years in the post office, and in the mayoralty he exercised a policy of fair dealing for all.

After his retirement from public life, Mr. Johns interested himself in farming. He had a few acres west of the Square, and day in and day out, he made his trips morning and night to milk the cows and feed the chickens. He liked the outdoors, for it brought him closer, not only to Nature, but to his Supreme Master.

In the passing of William Johns, Plymouth loses a citizen, but one whose memory will be cherished by many, for he lived a life of usefulness in a community which appreciates a citizen of his caliber.

Besides the widow, the deceased is survived by one brother, David Johns, Elizabethtown, Pa.; two sisters, Mrs. E. E. Moore of Lawrence; Mrs. Ora Smith, Maytown, Pa.; and several nieces and nephews.

NBC SIGNS FRED WARING FOR MORNING PROGRAM

In one of the boldest innovations in days, network broadcasting in recent years, The National Broadcasting Company has signed Fred Waring and his entire organization to exclusive contract for half-hour morning broadcasts, five days a week, beginning Monday, June 4th, it was announced Wednesday by Clarence L. Mueser, NBC vice president in charge of programs.

Waring will also be available for an additional night time half hour.

NBC is to be congratulated on its decision to enliven the morning hours of radio with a program of this type, and it is believed that thousands of radio fans, especially the housewife, will enjoy and appreciate this program, for it is far beyond anything of the current soap box operas which now jam the airways most of the mornings.

The Fred Waring program will not be aired thru WTAM, Cleveland, one of the most popular stations in this vicinity.

BROTHER DIES

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday afternoon at the Laible funeral home, Norwalk, for C. L. Ford, 67, former groceryman, and a brother of Frank Ford of Plymouth.

15 SENIORS TO RECEIVE "DIPS"

Twelve years ago eighteen little folks dressed in their Sunday best and with shining faces, some just a little timid, and not knowing just what to expect, met their teacher, Miss Jaffee Squires, for the first time. In their winning manner she immediately put the youngsters at ease and at the close of the first session they were anxious for another day of school.

Those days have turned to months, and the months to years, and the little tots of twelve years ago are now the seniors of the class of 1945. However, only two of the original class of eighteen made up this year's group of fifteen, Paul Scott and Genevieve Jacobs. Several of the class have moved away; one is married, one skipped a grade, one is in the service, several stopped their schooling and others failed to keep up with the class.

Commencement May 18th
Guest speaker for Commencement exercises announced for Friday evening, May 18th, Leland B. Jacobs, Professor of Education, Ohio State University. Prof. Jacobs will speak on either "What the future holds for the Seniors" or "The Anxiety of the Present Economic Situation."

Thomas Cunningham is Valedictorian and Robert Sponseller is Salutatorian, both of whom will deliver addresses in addition to the guest speaker. Complete plans for the evening have not been worked out, but will be announced later.

Those who will receive diplomas are Patricia Bettac, Raymond Bevier, Audrey Daron, Wayne Davis, Thomas Cunningham, Genevieve Jacobs, Bessie Kellerhals, Viola Kessler, James Moore, Mae Reber, Floyd Foltz, Paul Scott, Gordon Seabolt, Robert Sponseller and Clifford Steele.

The Light That Must Not Fail

CLOTHING DRIVE COOPERATION ENDS MONDAY ASKED DURING CLEAN UP WEEK

Monday, April 30th, is the dead line for the United National Clothing Collection for Overseas War Relief. The Plymouth Shoe Store is the local collection depot and so far an unusually good response for clothing is reported.

There has been no house-to-house campaign, but Plymouth has willingly done her share in bringing their used but serviceable clothing, and an enormous quantity will be ready when the truck from Mansfield comes in the first of the week for collection.

There is still time to help the men, women and children in war torn countries, innocent victims of Nazi oppression, who have been robbed of all but life itself. During five long horror-filled years of war, the clothes on the backs of refugees have been worn to pitiful shreds and rags. Production of new clothing has been impossible so their need will continue long after the end of hostilities.

Miss Jessie Phillips' letter to Read Jessie Cole in this issue; he writes of the war-weary people, altho destitute, are happily carrying their pitiful belongings back to their homeland, now free of Nazi rule. Don't put it off, give what you can spare that they can wear!

McGregor's Bill Would Give Vets 30 Days Pay

A bill to give every serviceman free transportation to his home and 30 days leave with pay immediately prior to his honorable discharge from the armed forces had been introduced in congress today by Congressman J. Harry McGregor, representative of Richland county and the 17th district.

"This is a bill to assist the economic stabilization of the post-war period," Congressman McGregor said.

"Under the bill, the serviceman would be given the option of discharge at his place of residence or of remaining in the armed forces.

"I cannot help but feel that when some of our veterans return to their homes and find conditions different from when they entered the service, they will not be anxious to return to civilian life immediately," he explained. "I believe that the veterans who are designated to be eligible for discharge should be given the opportunity to decide whether or not they shall be discharged or remain in the service."

LT. D. A. BETTAC MAIN INJURED IN 'CHUTE' DROP

AN EIGHTH AIR FORCE BOMBER STATION, ENGLAND.—Alone, with all four engines of his B-17 feathered and ice shrouding the windshield, First Lieutenant Bernard W. Carey of Birmingham, Mich., landed his plane safely after returning from a mission deep into Germany with the veteran 305th Bombardment Group. His co-pilot was Second Lieutenant Donald A. Bettac, 23, of 63 Trux street, Plymouth, Ohio.

Over the target, the synthetic oil plant at Ruhland, Carey's crew, who reacted throughout with admirable coolness and perfect discipline, discovered that their fuel supply was already dangerously low. The engineer immediately began switching gas from the tank to another to feed the engines equally.

The B-17 stayed in formation with the other planes of the 305th as far as Frankfur-on-Main, where the dwindling gas reserve obliged Lt. Carey to cut his power setting to the minimum. Dropping behind and below the group, the Fortress crossed the front lines with 85 miles separating it from the nearest emergency landing field on the continent.

They let down through the clouds, picking up a coating of ice on the front windows of the pilot's compartment. "It was as if somebody dropped a black-out curtain over us," said Lt. Bettac. And at the same time, number one and two engines gave a last gasp and stopped.

"I originally planned to crash-land," explained the pilot. "But when the windshield froze over, I decided not to try it." When the Fortress stalled at 2,000 feet, he ordered the enlisted men of the crew to bail out. They did so without question.

Meanwhile the navigator had picked up a landing field and was directing the pilot toward it. About two miles from the field, the other two engines sputtered and stopped as the fuel supply gave out.

The pilot ordered his navigator and Lt. Bettac to bail out, and they jumped from an altitude of only 800 feet. Unable to see through the front windows, the two men managed to spot the runway out of the side panels.

Approaching at a ninety degree angle to the runway, with no power to correct his error if he flew over under the tower, Carey gauged his distance remarkably accurate eye and guided the B-17 down. Making a final sharp turn, he lined the runway up and dropped onto it neatly.

"I don't see how he did it," Lt. Bettac said, commenting on Carey's skill in landing the engineless bomber. Next day, Carey, Lt. Bettac and the navigator flew the undamaged plane back to the 305th's base in England.

With the exception of the engineer, who was hospitalized with a broken leg, all the crew members who parachuted to earth, landed unhurt.

COLLECT SCRAP

Local Boy Scouts will call at homes in Plymouth on Saturday morning in an effort to collect all waste paper and rags. Many of the Scouts have had the necessary poundage to qualify for the General Eisenhower Waste Paper Award, and it is hoped that many will be enabled to complete this project and receive the award.

Due to rain the collection originally scheduled for March 3 was cancelled and if it should also rain this coming Saturday, the collection will be conducted on the following Monday morning.

Your cooperation in this drive will be greatly appreciated. The last drive netted 10,300 pounds of paper.

A drive is also being conducted in the rural districts by members of the Boy Scout Troop.

EVANGELISTIC SERVICE

We are having an evangelistic service next Sunday evening at the Methodist church. Rev. J. Adams will speak. All are welcome. If you wish these services to continue, please come out and give them your support.

INJURED WHEN AUTO TIPPLES

Melvin Dinsinger, 24, of Shelby, and a nephew, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dinsinger of Plymouth, is a patient at the Shelby Memorial hospital, where he was removed Monday after suffering skull injuries and lacerations and bruises when an automobile fell on him at the Sunoco Service Station where he is proprietor.

Mr. Dinsinger had been under the front end of a heavy make of automobile, where he was replacing broken springs. Blocks used to support the car either broke or in some way became dislodged and the automobile came down, striking Dinsinger across the head and shoulders. His scalp was badly torn and other cuts were suffered under his eye and across one ear. Some twenty stitches were required to close the injuries. His shoulders were also badly bruised. His condition is reported as being satisfactory.

At this time it is requested that all trees and shrubs be trimmed, and all yards be raked, and that refuse and rubbish be placed in suitable cartons and containers, and placed at the curb, so that it may be picked up by the village truck.

It is hoped that the next few days will see fair and warm weather so that all may participate to the fullest extent in getting premises cleared and clean, ready for the summer season.

In March, 1911, he sold the store to the late Elmer Taylor of Gibsonburg, and took up farming, for several years on a farm he bought east of Plymouth. He then purchased a dry goods store in Wellington. ### PRESIDENT TRUMAN

THE name "President Truman" still sounds very strange to us. We had become so used to using the name "Roosevelt" with the term "President" that it seems shocking suddenly to use another name.

We do not feel that we know President Truman. Mr. Roosevelt, on the other hand was known to every man, woman and child. We know his policies. We know how he would probably act on any domestic situation. We were getting to know the details of his thinking regarding the postwar world. Both among those who approved and disapproved of his actions, we all felt as if we knew him well. But President Truman? Will he be a New Dealer domestic? Will he be able to lead our nation to a lasting peace? Will he be able to carry the war to a rapid and successful conclusion?

We think that will be up to the people of our nation. It is important that we get to know what he thinks and how he will act in emergencies—but it is perhaps even more important that we tell him, more volubly than we have ever told any President, what we think, what we want, and what kind of a country we are seeking after the war.

We have a new President. But we have the same 130,000,000 people running the country. We should tell him what we want and then give him our full support toward achieving those goals.

A FEW MORE DROPS IN THE BUCKET

WILL we get more gasoline after the fighting ends in Europe?

The answer is "yes"—but the extra quantity we will get will probably be very small.

The most optimistic estimate we have heard—made by Petroleum Administrator Ickes—is that civilians will get 200,000 barrels more per day. At present, civilians are getting an average of 547,000 barrels daily. If Mr. Ickes is right—we would get an approximate increase of 36%. So, if you are getting two gallons of gas per week at present, this might be increased to almost three gallons.

But holders of "A" coupons may not even get that much increase. For the OPA has found that there are many holders of "B" coupons who do not now have enough gasoline to carry on necessary war work.

Before the war our nation consumed 1,750,000 barrels a day. So even though we get a slight increase, we still won't have one-third of the gasoline we had "in the good old days."

And as the gasoline supply becomes slightly more plentiful, it looks as though the tire situation will become more serious. All the signs indicate that this is not the summer for planning any kind of a motor trip.

BACKING A PAYING IDEA

SIX years ago a young photographer in Chicago named Oliver Z. Moss wasn't doing well, so he thought he would try his luck in New York.

Loading every car in an old second-hand car, he headed toward the Brooklyn bridge. Since the car, he jumped from Brooklyn bridge, didn't have any harder going than Oliver Moss. For the city was jam-packed with photographers; many of them better than he was. He decided, after a while, to go into "quantity production," the kind of business where he would make a thousand, or maybe two thousand prints of the same picture.

He was living in a shabby room, doing much of his photo work from there. One night he went to a hotel where a bang-up orchestra was playing. He couldn't afford to go into the room where the orchestra was playing, so he sat outside the door and listened. One of the musicians came over for a smoke and Ollie Moss talked with him. When the musician found that Moss was a photographer, he told him to come and make some pictures for him. Moss made the exposures, but didn't have enough money to buy the chemicals to develop and print the pictures. His first big chance; and he was missing it for lack of money. If he could get a credit of $25 from the supply house he could make the pictures. But how to get that credit? Finally he hit on an idea. He knew that an underling would not let him have it, so he decided to go to the president of the company. He knew that the president would not have to follow ordinary procedure.

He got in to see him. The president was annoyed at first that he should be approached about such a trivial matter. "Why didn't you take it up with one of my office force?" he asked.

"Because I knew they would be held down by convention and that the bigger the man was the more inclined he would be to back his judgment instead of depending on rules and regulation."

The president thought a moment and said, "I think that theory is right. I'll back my own judgment and extend you the credit."

Ollie Moss got the credit, put over his deal, and thus was able to establish the Moss Photo Service, New York. He considered his backer his partner and now he turns over to the man who trusted him about $3,000 a month.

The thoroughly humane story of a couple raising a total of 21 children (only two of them their own) with, to use their own words, "no trouble at all," is told in The American Weekly, the magazine distributed with this Sunday's (April 29) Chicago Herald-American.

Doings in Congress

By Cong. W.M. LEMKE

I HAVE AGAIN INTRODUCED the Cost of Production Bill, H. R. 2861. This bill is the combined work of many Members and farmers. It was first introduced in 1933. Since then, it has been improved and re-introduced several times in every session of Congress. This is the final and streamlined twentieth revision and edition. This bill has the support of over 600 Members of Congress since its first introduction. It, at one time, had as many as 186 Members sign a petition at the Speaker's desk, asking that it be brought up on the floor for final disposition on its merits.

THE FARMERS NOW COMPOSE about one-fourth of our population. Ultimately, in self-preservation, they will have to insist upon the passage of this bill. When this war ends, there will again be deflation—a final collapse—unless Congress gives the farmers cost of production. This, and this alone, is the final solution of the agricultural problem.

THE INTEREST ON OUR $300,000,000,000 public debt will have to be paid. This cannot be done unless the basic industry—agriculture—is prosperous. This bill will taper off inflation, the $18,000,000,000 of new paper money that we printed for the cost-plumbers and the lend-lesers. After the last war, we nearly wrecked the nation by deflating our currency $800,000,000. This time, unless this bill is passed, there will be a deflation of five or ten billion dollars overnight.

THIS BILL WOULD GIVE THE farmers cost of production on many-three main agricultural products. It provides that the Secretary of Agriculture shall ascertain and determine for each year the average cost of production to the farmers of each such agricultural product. Such average cost of production shall be determined after public hearings, participated in by the representatives of farmers' organizations and by other interested parties. It shall include depreciation and soil depletion and all items of cost including production expenses, interest, taxes, wages of farm and family labor, return of a percentage on farm property equity, and compensation to the average farm operator equivalent to the average weekly earnings of the industrial workers. It shall be determined by the Secretary of Labor.

AT PRESENT ONLY A FEW agricultural products sell at the cost of production price. The farmer is again being short-changed. If he received cost of production, he would get $2.73 a bushel for wheat, eighty-four cents a pound for butter fat, $23 per hundred for prime beef and $19 for hogs. What little prosperity the farmer has is not due to the prices he receives, but to four extraordinary good crop years.

GET A COPY OF THIS BILL, study its provisions, and acquaint the farmer, the worker and the small businessman with the fact that this bill will be their salvation after the war. The prosperity of all of us depends upon the prosperity of agriculture. Write your Member of Congress. Write your Member of Congress. Get back of this bill. Insist that it be passed now so there will not be another depression.

HOUSEWIVES MAY NOW APPLY FOR CANNING SUGAR

Huron county housewives can apply for their home canning sugar beginning Monday, April 30, Mr. C. G. Canfield, chairman of Huron county war price and rationing board said today.

Housewives can obtain the easy to fill-out application forms at the ration board headquarters located at 19 West Main street, Mr. Canfield said. However, housewives should mail the completed application to the ration board and her canning sugar coupons will be mailed back to her. The board chairman explained that this would save time all-around because the ration board will not be able to act on requests at the time of application.

Before mailing the completed application to the board, "Stamps 13" from war ration book four, for each member of the family covered by the application, should be attached.

Only one application can be made by a family and applications cannot be received by the board after October 31, Canfield said.

When the applications have been approved, canning sugar coupons good for five pounds and for one pound each will be mailed to the applicant. When the housewife uses the 5-pound coupons, she must sign her name and write the number of her war ration book four on each coupon before giving it to her grocer. She should be sure to take her war ration book four as well as the coupons with her to the store.

Because of the scarcity of sugar, applicants will be allowed as much canning sugar as they actually need for canning up to 20 pounds a person and 160 pounds a family.

The allowance will be on the basis of a pound of sugar for each four quarts of fruits and fruit juices to be canned, Canfield said.

Commands Jap Army

A reshuffle of the Japanese high command has placed Field Marshal Shunroku Hata, right, in supreme command of the Japanese armed forces, "in order to strengthen the defense of the mainland." Sugiyama was war minister in the fallen Koiso cabinet. Hata was removed from the supreme command in China last November. Both are leaders of the Japanese military clique.

Sign New Charter for Labor

Leaders of labor and management gathered in Washington to sign a "Magna Charta" of industrial relations, designed to promote a prosperous America in the postwar period. Left to right are: William Green, president of the A.F.I.; Eric Johnston, president of the U. S. chamber of commerce and Philip Murray, president of the C.I.O.

Up to five pounds of canning sugar for each person named in the family application can be used for jellies, jams, relishes and catsup.

Persons who procure home canned foods for sale will not be permitted to obtain more sugar for this purpose than they used last year.

"Last year" Canfield pointed out, "there was an over-issuance throughout the country of 300,000 tons of sugar for home canning. With the supply the lowest since 1940, the issuance of sugar this year is going to be handled more conservatively so that everyone will have enough."

Here's Real Significance Of Coveted Bronze Star

MEDAL RANKS BETWEEN SILVER STAR AND LEGION OF MERIT.

In response to inquiries regarding the Bronze Star Medal, The Advertiser presents the following information:

"The Bronze Star Medal was authorized by President Roosevelt and is to be awarded to soldiers for extraordinary duty which deserves recognition but does not merit the Silver Star or Legion of Merit.

"It ranks in order of precedence between the Soldier's Medal and Purple Heart and may be awarded for gallantry or meritorious service in combat or in support of combat operations.

"Under the President's authorization it is not awarded for aerial flight and thus provides another medal for ground service to balance against the Distinguished Flying Cross and Air Medal. It ranks after the DFC but ahead of the Air Medal.

"The Bronze Star may be awarded to anyone in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard, also to airmen, but not for service in the air.

"The ribbon is red, with a vertical blue stripe in the center; both the blue stripe and the ribbon ends are piped with white."

OPA Now Preparing Ration Book No. Five

WASHINGTON—The office of price administration is preparing ration BOOK NUMBER FIVE for the printers.

An OPA spokesman said today that present ration books can last through September and possibly October.

In general design, BOOK FIVE probably will be similar to NUMBER FOUR, it was said.

It is believed that the entire food program will be shifted to the new book when NUMBER FOUR runs out. OPA has rejected the idea of going back to BOOK THREE, when BOOK FOUR expires because it was decided this move might lead to confusion.

Tentative plans for a FIFTH book are passed on official estimates that meat, dairy products, canned fruits and vegetables and sugar will continue to be short after V-E Day.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Judge, remember that place up in the mountains where we went trout fishing last year?"

"I sure do, George. We had a great time up there didn't we?"

"I'll never forget it. But this will interest you, Judge. I heard just yesterday that the revenue men raided a big still right near there. Guess that's where all that high-priced moonshine we heard about has been coming from."

"Wouldn't be a bit surprised. I saw in the paper the other day where the Government has raided thousands of such stills during the past year."

"Sounds sort of reminiscent, doesn't it, Judge?"

"Exactly and it's not hard to figure out. As soon as the distillers stopped making whiskey and devoted their entire facilities to the production of industrial alcohol for the Government... the racketeers muscled in again."

"I hate to think of how that might have spread, Judge. If the Government hadn't found it possible, without interfering with our war effort in any way, to permit a short resumption of legal whiskey production recently."

Roy Rogers And His Horse "Trigger" Now At Cleveland Arena

The Wild West in its working clothes is now at the Cleveland Arena where Al Suthpin's competitive championship Rodeo is now in full swing.

Headlining the 250 cowboys and cowgirls is the smooth-voiced hard-riding Roy Rogers and his famous horse, "Trigger," whose 43 successful sagebrush movie sagas has earned for him the title of "King of the Cowboys."

Indians and outlaws are a thing of the past but the rough-riding cowboys and cowgirls, the brave men who wrestle with 'teers and try to ride them and the lads who are the last word in trick and fancy roping and a host of other performers from west of the Mississippi are on hand in Al Suthpin's "million-dollar" Arena this week.

There will be $5,500 in prize money and this rodeo will be more than a show as it is an actual competitive contest for cash.

GARDEN CLUB MEETING

Mrs. Eva Smith entertained the members of the Garden Club at her home on West Broadway last Friday evening, April 20. Mrs. Eva Keller, the president, directed the business meeting. After the routine business was taken care of, a letter from the nursery was read, expressing their regrets, but due to the unusually advanced season, the red Buckeye tree was too far advanced for spring planting. It was decided to plant it in the fall.

It was also decided that the Garden Club should inform the community that in the future the club should not be asked to contribute to worthy causes such as Red Cross, etc. The club is not a money-making group, the dues being only 25c a year. Any community work they can do, they are willing to consider.

Mrs. Smith was the program leader for the evening, and her subject was "Cereals and Kindred Grasses." This was very interesting and dealt with the possibility of eating grass in the future instead of feeding it to the cows and drinking the milk.

At the close of the program, the hostess served delicious refreshments.

The next meeting will be held on May 4th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Robinson.

COUNTY SHARES IN ROAD FUND

FEDERAL AID TO AMOUNT TO $26,000 YEARLY AFTER WAR IS OVER.

Richland county may expect to receive $26,000 annually from the federal-aid highway act of 1944 for the improvement of roads for three years, according to the announcement by County Engineers and commissioners of Ohio Friday at Columbus. This amount would be the equivalent of bringing improvements to 30 miles of Richland county roads annually. County Commissioner C. L. Shoup also attended the meeting. It would be necessary for the county to match the federal funds with an equal amount of money of its own.

The money to be granted the county is figured as ten per cent of the combined 1940 income of the county and its townships from the gas tax and auto license fees. The county's share, Rusk said, can be taken from its road fund or the post-war program fund.

In addition, the federal government is willing to allocate more money to counties if they have other postwar projects planned and have funds earmarked for them, Rusk reported.

Because the federal-aid highway act becomes effective on proclamation of the president after the end of hostilities, county officials throughout the state are moving rapidly to prepare their share of the needed plans, Rusk indicated.

Rusk, as director of the county engineers association of Ohio in district two, has called a meeting of the engineers of each of the central Ohio counties for May 2. He has not decided where the meeting will be held.

As set up, the entire program of improving farm-to-market and other secondary Ohio highways, with the aid of federal money, is to function on five separate levels which must be implemented in the following order:

1. Selection of all roads, by county engineers and county commissioners, to be improved in each county.
2. Chronological selection by county engineers and county commissioners of the roads to be improved in each of the three years.
3. Construction plans to be drawn up and approved by the state highway department.
4. Active supervision of construction by state highway officials.
5. Construction by private contractors awarded the jobs by the counties.

Rusk estimated that the county plans should be ready to submit to the state and federal Public Roads administration for approval by May 31.

WE THANK YOU

We came here weary and friendless
So tired of having to roam.
We only expected a shelter
But bless you, we found a home.

We have traveled miles in our transfers
And been in many a city
We've met hundreds of people
We never found welcome, just pity.

friendless,
But you took us right to your bosom,
You opened your doors and your heart
And oh how we dread to leave you,

For it's with friends we must part.
So we want to thank you, good people
For we leave here, with a sigh
Will always cherish the memories
Long after we've said goodbye.

Yes, sir! The long hours and hard work the folks at home are putting in makes them long for an "easy chair." But we have a job to do, and there's no time to rest... so, we'll have to wait until the war is over!

And speaking of easy chairs brings to light one firm that knows well the demand of home owners in the immediate community. Almost a hundred years of selling furniture -- McQuate's generally has what the housewife wants... chairs, lamps, tables, magazine racks, springs, beds, and complete outfits for the home. Right now, as in all other lines, furniture manufacture has been somewhat restricted... but you can feel assured that McQuate's will have just what you need and what you want, at prices you will look upon as reasonable... after the war.

LETTERS FROM OUR BOYS IN THE SERVICE

A Letter From Jim Phillips
Miss Jessie Cole, ex-teacher of New Haven school, Hill managers to keep in touch with a great many of her former students and derives a great deal of pleasure from the letters she receives. This week she received one from James Phillips, son of Mrs. Edw. J. Phillips of Route 1, Plymouth, and written somewhere in Germany. He is a brother of Lt. Eugene Phillips, now a prisoner-of-war in Germany, and mentions him in the letter. Here is the letter:

Dear Miss Cole:
I was more than pleased to receive your newsy letter of March 2nd, and also surprised. It is odd how a person may be able to recognize handwriting after you've seen it. I knew without looking at the return address that it was from you.

I think you must have had quite a gruesome winter, from the letters I received and the accounts in the Plymouth paper, which I receive each week. It certainly is nice to see that familiar first line; and in reading it, I entirely forget where I am and a picture of the "old home town" pops into my mind. One doesn't realize the meaning of home and all it stands for until you're far from it.

I think back to the peace orations you used to spend so much time coaching us on, and how to give the point and rock and feeling into it. Well, I only wish that I could tell the people what I've seen and I am sure I will be able to draw in their mind a picture of what they would see. I've done a lot of thinking on the subject and I've come to the conclusion that words will never be able to describe the shocking cruelty of war, but I would like to believe it, but then it is too late.

Yes, it would be wonderful to be able to meet Eugene over here, but due to the conditions I'll probably have to wait until we return home again. As I sit here writing I can look out the window and see for miles down the road. And on each side of the road you can see carts, pulled by oxen, horses, men and women, with their belongings, returning to their homes in Poland, France, and all the other countries Germany had occupied at one time. They are the slaves of nations that have been liberated and they have seen some hard treatment. Most of them are lucky to have shoes that have a sole on. They are gaunt and pitiful to look at but you can't imagine how happy they are to be going back to their country. I could go on for hours with different large and some of the towns I don't have the time now, so some day when I come to visit you will have a real long talk I do hope it will be soon.

I was very astonished to see your nephew's address as it was not so long ago that we were with that organization in some combined maneuvers. If I had only known then I'm sure we could have had quite a talk. I have not as yet met anyone I've known from around home. I do meet a lot of Ohio boys, but then Ohio is quite large and some of the towns I don't even know of. I may get a pass into Paris some time soon and I hope to see Paul Burdge. I was formerly with him when we were in the Air Forces and since have not seen him. We will have a good time recalling old memories if we do meet.

I have been considering the possibilities of further schooling under the Soldiers' Bill of Rights. At the time of entering the army I was only 19 years old, and now I have almost three years in the army so until the time that I am finally discharged, I figure I will have four years service or more which will entitle me to an equal amount of college training. I'm ready have credits for my freshman year of college, so I won't be entirely a beginner. But things are so indefinite now that it is hard to make any thing. But I do hope to have a good education in the end if at all possible.

Well, I've written almost a book without realizing it and I hope I haven't bored you excessively. It is getting rather late and the time has been set back an hour again so I really must close now and thank you very much for your letter. I'm sure any following ones will be very much appreciated. With best wishes, I remain, Your friend,
Jim.

Dear Folks: The main intention of this card is to assure you that I am well and taken care of after being evacuated to this camp under extraordinary conditions. A newspaper clipping in French evidently could give some clue as to the parade, but the Hunter family are unable to translate it, and are looking for someone who is able to read French.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT
In memory of Brother Wm. M. Johns, who died April 21, 1945, "Leaves have their time to fall, And flowers wither at the north wind's cold blast; But Thou, oh death, hath all seasons for thine own."
Once again a Brother Mason, having completed the designs written for him on life's trestle board, has passed through the portals of Eternity and entered the Grand Lodge of the New Jerusalem, and hath received as his reward the white stone with the new name written thereon; and, Whereas, the all-wise and merciful Master of the Universe has called from labor to refreshment our beloved and respected brother, and he having been a true and faithful member of our beloved Order, therefore be it

Resolved, that Richard Lodge Jr., F. & A. M., of Plymouth, Ohio, in testimony of his loss, draple its Charter in mourning for thirty days, that we tender to the family our sincere condolence in their deep affliction, and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family.

MANY MAGNETIC PLUGS ARE BEING INSTALLED
Plymouth motorists are going strong for the new magnetic plug recently introduced by Sohio, and on sale at Jud Morrison's Sohio Station on Sandusky street. Mr. Morrison reports that more than two hundred plugs have been installed on cars in this vicinity.

The purpose of the magnetic plug is to catch all the microscopic metal particles that work into the oiling system of a car, thus preventing further wear on piston rings, cylinders and bearings.

The magnetic plug replaces those commonly used on the bottom of the engine oil pan, differential and transmission cases. The plugs are usually installed when a motorist has his car made ready for summer driving, which is known as "Sohio's Spring Change-Over." When a "Spring Change-Over" is desired by a motorist, these three plugs may be installed at this time at a cost of only 33c per plug; the regular price without the change-over is 86c per plug.

Come into Jud Morrisons Sohio Station and see what this plug really does in keeping your motor clean.
