

COMPLAINTS ARE RECEIVED

DOGS MUST BE KEPT AT HOME; MANY COMPLAINTS MADE TO AUTHORITIES.

License or no license, Fido must be kept at home these days. So many complaints have been turned into village officials that Mayor Wirth has been compelled to call attention to Ordinance No. 162, regarding the situation.

Within the past several weeks Mayor Wirth has been called regarding dogs running over garbage digging them up, barking all night and disturbing the quiet and even tearing up of laundry placed on the grass in the sun dry.

Quoting section 182, on the duty of the police officers of the village to enforce ordinances it is as follows: "It shall be the duty of the police officers of the village of Plymouth to cause to be put to death any and all dogs found running at large in any of the streets, alleys, public grounds within the corporate limits of the Village of Plymouth, which are not securely fastened in accordance with section 179 of this code and the said police officers shall also cause to be put to death any and all bitch dogs running at large in any of the streets, alleys, public grounds or other public places within the corporate limits of said village in accordance with section 180 of this code.

Children Offenders Too
Complaints have also been made against the "young fry" of the town, who persist in running over newly-seeded lawns, trimp gardens and pulling up small plants. With the food situation being what it is, this extra energy could well be used in weeding the garden or mowing the lawn. It is not only discouraging but very aggravating and parents are asked to cooperate.

Her family will gather Sunday for a birthday dinner in her honor.

FARMERS STILL BEHIND IN WORK

If weather conditions have prevailed over a major portion of the country in comparison to that experienced in northern Ohio for the past six weeks, reports on foot shortages coming out of Washington will no doubt prove to be nearly right.

In a check of the situation it is revealed that many local farmers did get all corn and soy beans planted, and that there will be an estimated ten per cent reduction of these two crops.

Farmers will have to work day and night if more corn and beans are to be planted, and the oncoming corn fields are to be cultivated. The set-back caused on farm is easily understood in the following weather report.

Unusual weather for the first eighteen days of June was experienced. Unusual in the fact that Plymouth shivered from the coldest June weather in sixteen years, and along with the cool period, the community was showered with almost five inches of rainfall in the same period of time.

Normal rainfall for the month of June, as shown by J. A. Root local observer, is four and fifty-one hundredths of an inch. This, for June, is for the entire month for the 18-day weather. Root records indicate that four and seven-eighths of an inch fell during the 18-day period in June, or almost twice as much as normal.

The coldest weather of June appeared in the first week of the month, with the thermometer dropping to 38 degrees on June 6th, and setting a 16-year record. The hottest day so far experienced was on the 14th, when the mercury soared to 90.

Getting back to the continual deluge during the first 18 days of the month, Weather Observer Root, points out that on six days this community experienced a rainfall of over a half-inch, while on the 13th of the month almost one and one-half inches of rain fell. The figures for the first 18 days, with the amount of rainfall, are as follows:

June 1	0.10 in.
June 2	0.46 in.
June 4	0.03 in.
June 10	0.22 in.
June 11	0.55 in.
June 13	1.32 in.
June 15	0.64 in.
June 16	0.17 in.
June 17	0.52 in.
June 18	0.56 in.
Total	4.77 in.

NO STICKERS

Car owners with A, B, C, and T gasoline ration no longer are required to display stickers on their windshield.

Motorists who have been complaining that the numerous types of stickers keep their firm having a clear view through their windshield are getting this break from the OPA as a result of an increase in B ceilings to 650 miles per month. Because of this increase many motorists who now get a "C" book to drive 650 miles per month, will receive "B" books. It is estimated that about one out of every five car owners with "B" rations will qualify for increased mileage.

TRACTOR TURNS OVER; MAN IS INJURED

GARRETT VER BERG NARROWLY ESCAPES DEATH IN FREAK ACCIDENT.

While hauling cross ties with a tractor near the A. C. & Y. railroad, northeast of Plymouth, Garrett Ver Berg, 54, miraculously escaped death when the tractor on which he was riding skidded down an embankment, pinning him beneath it for thirty minutes before he was rescued.

As a result of the accident, which occurred around 11 o'clock Tuesday morning, Mr. Ver Berg was in the Willard hospital suffering from a burst right arm, a badly injured leg, and injuries on the left hand. Late Wednesday the extent of his injuries had not been determined, but unless complications set in, his condition is not regarded as serious.

Mr. Ver Berg, who lives three-quarters of a mile south of Ripley Center school, had loaded his tractor with cross ties that had been removed from the A. C. & Y. track which passes near his farm. It is believed that due to the extremely wet weather, the track lay across the roadway to become very slippery—the tractor skidding off the narrow driveway over the embankment.

A. C. & Y. section men, headed by section boss Sherman Hildner who was first to arrive at the scene of the accident, worked frantically for half an hour trying to extricate Ver Berg from the wreck. The tractor, in its plunge, landed bottom side up, and Ver Berg's feet became entangled in the steering wheel in such a manner that he could not release himself.

He was eventually removed to the Willard hospital for medical aid and treatment.

The exercises at St. Joseph's Tuesday brought the first bishop to the pulpit since after 80 years ago. The congregation felt highly honored by Bishop Alter's appearance for the occasion at which he gave a short but inspiring benediction.

Priests from Shelby, Willard, and Toledo were present, as well as Father Geppert of New London, who is pastor of the St. Joseph's church.

APPEAL CASE

The Ohio supreme court is going to be asked a second time to determine whether an insurance firm is liable for damages in the death of Otis Moore, Plymouth village marshal in an accident Feb. 24, 1943, at the village dump in Plymouth.

Notice of appeal to the state's highest court from a Fifth district appeals court finding had been filed Saturday in Richmond county common pleas court.

Reversing an earlier pleas court decision, the district court held that the Home Indemnity company of New York, which issued an insurance policy on the truck which injured Moore, was not liable in the accident and not obliged to defend a $20,000 damage suit which has been filed in the county court as the result of Moore's injuries.

The case will be taken to the supreme court by Atty. C. W. Chorpensing of Ashland, counsel for Pauline Moore, administratrix of Moore's estate. It was she who brought the $20,000 action against Fred Grafmiller, driver of the village-owned truck which backed into Moore, crushing him against a stack at the village dump.

This appeal to the high court follows action by the court last week in admitting for review the appeal of the Village of Plymouth which previously called the case to the state court. But by its action Mrs. Moore were defendants in the action brought by the insurance company.

Mrs. J. W. Hough, who has been a patient at St. Luke's hospital in Cleveland was removed to her home in Plymouth street, Saturday afternoon. She is getting along nicely.

To Reside Here
Mrs. Leslie Couch of McAra, Arkansas, is making her home with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Patton of Trux St., while her husband is in service. He is at Great Lakes Naval Station at present.

TOLEDO'S BISHOP PAYS VISIT HERE

Before an altar banked with an array of carnations, thirty children received the Holy Sacrament of Confirmation Tuesday afternoon at 3:30, at St. Joseph's church, Plymouth. The ceremony was administered by Bishop Kuhn of Toledo, Ohio.

The church was filled to capacity, and scores had to stand outside during the ceremony.

In receiving the confirmation, the thirty members of the class signified their desire to live the fullness of the Christian life as soldiers and disciples of Christ. One of the solemn features of the ceremony was the reading of the public examination of the children which was held just before Bishop Alter administered the sacrament.

The observance Tuesday afternoon brought to a fitting climax the religious vacation school which has been conducted in the parish the past two weeks. The ceremony was enhanced by an all-male choir, from the Sacred Heart seminary, located between Mansfield and Shelby.

The exercises at St. Joseph's Tuesday brought the first bishop to the pulpit since after 80 years ago. The congregation felt highly honored by Bishop Alter's appearance for the occasion at which he gave a short but inspiring benediction.

Priests from Shelby, Willard, and Toledo were present, as well as Father Geppert of New London, who is pastor of the St. Joseph's church.

IS AWARDED BRONZE MEDAL

PFC. ELLWOOD KUHN GIVEN AWARD POSTHUMOUSLY FOR HEROIC ACTION.

With the 82nd Airborne Division in Europe—Pfc. Ellwood J. Kuhn, Plymouth, Ohio, has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal for "heroic conduct in action" during the Battle of the Bulge. The award was made posthumously since Pfc. Kuhn was killed in later action.

Orders citing him stated: "Pfc. Kuhn, acting platoon sergeant, led the assault of his platoon against the strongest point on the enemy front and knocked out every enemy position and destroyed or captured every enemy in the area."

"When an enemy machine gun held up the advance of his center squad, Pfc. Kuhn personally moved forward without benefit of cover and fired at the machine gun, killing three, capturing three more, and forcing the other Germans to withdraw, thus preventing many casualties in his platoon."

"Pfc. Kuhn's courage and ability evoked the admiration of every officer and man who witnessed his work and the performance of his duty, and he is highly commended for his great credit upon the airborne forces."

2 DIE IN AUTO-TRUCK CRASH

William Smith, 60, Bellevue freight conductor, was killed instantly, and his wife, Isabel, 57, died at Memorial hospital in Norwalk Tuesday night, as a result of a car-truck collision late Tuesday afternoon four miles east of Norwalk on U. S. Route 20.

Clyde Cummings, Battle Creek Mich., driver of the truck, was placed in the Huron county jail pending bond.

State patrolmen who investigated the accident, state that Cummings, who was heading east, swerved his truck to pass a light weight truck and in doing so caught the left side of the Smith car, which was going west, causing the death of its two occupants. Huron County Coroner, D. Brillard, returned a verdict of accidental death in both cases.

Around the Square

(By Phineas Whittleseed)

THE PATIENCE of local grocers is being somewhat strained in these days of shortages, caused mostly by the absence of meat and potatoes. A survey indicates that some people in Plymouth can't realize a war is on, and don't believe anything is real or hear pertaining to shortages of certain commodities.

TAKE THE meat situation as an example. Up until a couple of weeks ago sufficient meat was on hand to supply local demands, but when OPA regulations shut down on slaughterers and put quotas so low, it has caused a serious meat shortage in town. Now the butchers have been very nice in saying "We have no meat" but there are a few in town who would like to shout "fearism." This is not true. It is but natural that a customer, in these days, to place his order early for future delivery, and this is the policy of local stores.

IN FAIRNESS to all our local markets, bear in mind that the merchants are doing everything possible to treat every customer fair and if you can't always get what you want, when you want it, don't be disappointed. Courtesy, after all, works both ways.

HARRY CURRAN had a "thriller" Sunday when the boat in which he was boating on Sandusky Bay, went down in thirty feet of water, and Harry, could not swim a stroke. Jerry Moore, who was in the boat with Harry, managed to keep Curran above the water until a passing motor boat came to his aid. Harry will no doubt take swimming lessons before going on the water again.

PLYMOUTH'S LOSING its spirit of hospitality, "Cleveland" sign, which has adorned the old cemetery entrance for many years has been removed. It was taken down in order that a new pole might be installed. Even if it does bid one welcome to the city of the dead, not speaking of Plymouth, but of the cemetery, it should be replaced.

THE FIRST AND ONE of the finest photographic exhibits to be shown in Plymouth this week in the on display this week in the Brown Miller hardware store, sponsored by the Fireland camera club, of which our school superintendent P. I. Van Buren, is a past president. The pictures exhibited are the work of amateur photographers from Milan, Plymouth, Norwalk, and North Fairfield. The exhibit left Wednesday for a tour of the country, and will no doubt bring much good to the members of the Fireland's Camera club and we'd like an exhibit for an entire week at the local library.

IN A LETTER to the Ohio Republican News, Mrs. Ida Page, 12 S. Broadway, Shelby, Ohio, said: "All the Democrats around here are complaining about the meat situation. It tells me that it is no wonder that we have no meat when the New Deal killed the pigs and burned the wheat. You can't fool people, but not God Almighty."

NO MATTER HOW or where they go Plymouth always "gets 'em back." If only for a visit they're something that the old town that still sticks and even the city can't erase it! That's why Mrs. Zella Clark, formerly of Plymouth, where she was employed in the offices of the Fategood Health Co., is back in town. She spent the first of the week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cort Morse, south of Plymouth, and will visit friends here over the week-end. Mrs. Clark holds a responsible position with Jos. T. Ryerson & Co., Cleveland.

CONGRATULATIONS GO THIS week to Mr. and Mrs. Ed Phillips of Dix street, and Mrs. Ed Phillips of Dix street, who celebrated their 45th wedding anniversary Sunday. It was 45 years ago, on a Sunday, June 14, 1900, that they were married at Belleville in the Methodist church. Rev. (Continued on Page Four)

(Continued from past issue) —Stevie. The anniversary was a quiet one, as they talked over the years behind them. The change in Sunday hours is necessitated by a new working schedule of employees, which will allow both the management and employees a few hours' extra rest. The Black & Gold has done a splendid performance of almost uninterrupted service during the three years of war, and the extra heavy demand made upon it by many out-of-town customers. We believe a majority of the citizens of Plymouth feel that Mr. & Mrs. Cornell and the employees at the Black & Gold have well-earned their few hours extra rest on Sunday mornings, and will no doubt accept the new Sunday hours in a spirit of cooperation.

NEW HOURS AT BLACK & GOLD

A change in Sunday opening hours is announced this week by the Black & Gold Soda Grill, which starting with Sunday, June 24, the Black & Gold will be closed on Sunday mornings, but will open for the afternoon and evening at 1:30 p. m. Mr. Cornell points out that these customers who have been calling for their Sunday papers at the store, may secure them until 10 o'clock from L. Z. Davis as his news desk, but after 1:20 p. m. papers may be had as usual at the soda grill.

The change in Sunday hours is necessitated by a new working schedule of employees, which will allow both the management and employees a few hours' extra rest. The Black & Gold has done a splendid performance of almost uninterrupted service during the three years of war, and the extra heavy demand made upon it by many out-of-town customers. We believe a majority of the citizens of Plymouth feel that Mr. & Mrs. Cornell and the employees at the Black & Gold have well-earned their few hours extra rest on Sunday mornings, and will no doubt accept the new Sunday hours in a spirit of cooperation.

The Food Panel of the Huron County Reunion Board wishes to advise the folks of Huron County that due to the decreased quota received by this Board it has been necessary to reduce canning sugar allotments.

The Food Panel of your Board had nothing to do with this decrease. In fact we have tried to maintain the allotments at the figure of 15 pounds. In doing this the District Office was contacted but we could not stop the reduction.

Therefore beginning Monday, June 18th, the Panel approved all applications in the office and will continue to approve them on the basis of an average of six and one half (6½) pounds per person.

History Repeats Itself.
It's funny how history repeats itself. A letter received the past week by Mrs. Robert Moore of Shelby from her husband Pfc. Robert Moore, brought memories back to Bob's father, Phillip Moore of Plymouth, when he described the route he took overseas last January. The route was identical with that of his father in World War I excepting that Bob landed in Austria and Mr. Moore stepped in France on the boat.

Pfc. Sid Thomas who had taken his basic training with Bob at Camp J. T. Robinson, Ark., was on the same boat but was transferred later to the Ninth Army while Bob was placed in the Rainbow Division of the Seventh. Lifting of censorship rules now permits the following to be printed. A portion of Bob's letter is as follows:

I left home and went to Ft. Meade. From Meade I went to Camp Kilmer, New Jersey. On Jan. 6 we left Kilmer for New York Harbor where we got on the boat. We passed the Statue of Liberty at 4 in the afternoon. I won't tell you how I felt.

We landed at Liverpool, England, about 8 days later after dodging subs. We were alone but it was a fast ship. From Liverpool, Eng., we got on a train to Southampton where we boated an LST. We laid in the harbor for 3 days. Then in a huge convoy we crossed the channel to La Harve, France. At LaHarve we walked to a large replacement depot on a large cliff overlooking the channel. It was in the woods and cold as hell. We were there for only a few hours and we got in box cars. Forty & Eighty they call them. Dad probably knows what they are like. They are small. We had around 34 men in a car with full equipment. There was no heat and we couldn't lay down. We were on them for 4 days and 4 nights. I think I nearly died. It was so cold the water in our canteen froze solid. I don't think a man could be more miserable. We had to sit up most of the time or take turns laying down. You may not believe it, but it's true. We ended up in Toul, France, near Nancy at another replacement depot. From there we went by box cars again to Alsace-Lorraine to a town called Falsburg. I think that was the name. It might have been Savarnee or something.

From there we were put in the Rainbow Division in a little town called Lukecourt, France, near Chateau Salins. We were there for over a month training, etc. We left these for Alsace-Lorraine again when our division went on line after a rest. Lucky we were in reserve until March 15 when the big drive came. We pushed to the Rhine. Then to Wurzburg, Germany, Schweinfurt, Nuremberg, to Munich, across the Danube on down to where we are now near Salzburg, Austria. That is it.

Return to Camps.
Joe McQuate of Shiloh who has been spending a 10-day leave with relatives returned Friday to Great Lakes.

To Arrive Home
With the second engineer special brigade, southern Luzon—Staff Sergeant Alonzo Payne, whose sister, Mr. Max Martin, resides in Shelby, is enroute to the United States on temporary duty and a well deserved furlough.

Aboard USS Pillsbury Joseph David Hunter, 21, motor machinist's second class, of Route 1, Plymouth, O., served aboard this battling destroyer, which climaxed a long and successful battle against German submarines in the Atlantic when she received the surrender of the first Nazi U-Boat to give up after V-E Day.

That sub, the U-858, surfaced and was boarded by American sailors some 500 miles south of Newfoundland, and arrived at Cape May, N. J., on May 14.

Earlier in the war the Pillsbury outgauge enemy subs in several actions and on June 4, 1944, captured the U-505, the first prize major-of-war taken by the U. S. Navy since 1815.

Crew members of the Pillsbury are now back in the States to enjoy the liberty and recreation afforded returning veterans before they shove off for new assignments.

CUCUMBER COMMANDOS

DUBBED as "Cucumber Commandos" by their fellow troops, many boys who left their farms to fight the Japs are now being called upon to supply fresh vegetables, milk, eggs and meat to hungry marines. Working under such hazards as finding hand grenades tied to their farm tools, tank battles in their cornfields, countless new varieties of insects to contend with, and raids on their tempting food supply by our own troops, the farmers of the Pacific are said to have done a remarkable job. The plan has been so successful that, in addition to vegetables, they are now busy with cows, chickens and hogs shipped from the United States. Having these fresh food supplies available is said to have been a great aid to morale. To many marines, who have until recently been living on dried foods and rice, the real heroes of the Pacific are the Cucumber Commandos.

DON'T DRIVE ON THE 4TH

WE AMERICANS have a bad habit of celebrating Independence day by running up a record number of accidents. It used to be that the casualties from fireworks headlined the newspapers of the nation on the fifth of July. In recent years, with firecrackers out of the picture, our accident record has been kept high through automobile collisions. But this year is different. This year, with the war with Japan going at a full tilt, it is of vital importance that every one of us be on the job, and not in a hospital, on the fifth of July. None of us feel personal danger about traveling on a busy road, but the statistics, year after year, make it clear that the busy 4th is the most dangerous day of the year for motorists. That's why 130 organizations have joined with the National Safety Council to urge us to stay home on the Fourth. As the council points out: "A Fourth of July holiday that would pile up a big accident toll and thus slow down our war effort would be a better holiday for the Japs."

CARE IN ANSWERING QUESTIONS

I RECENTLY walked up to the information bureau of the largest railroad station in the world—the Grand Central in New York City—and inquired: "Where will I find the 3:15 train for Boston?" The man behind the counter replied: "Track 18." Where was track 18? Naturally, I didn't know whether it was on that level or the lower level, so I had to ask a second question: "Does it leave from this floor or the floor below?" I was informed that it was on that floor. But on what part of that floor was track 18? It might have been almost half a block to my left or half a block to my right. So, I had to ask a third question. This man who makes his living year in and year out doing nothing but answering questions for hurried, nervous patrons of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, does his job about as inefficiently as it is possible for him to do it. Now, what should he have done? First, he should have repeated the time and destination of my train to make sure that he had understood me and that I had said precisely what I meant. Second, he should have given me immediately, and with a little more graciousness, all the information that I had to draw out of him in a series of three questions. In other words, when I asked, "Where does the 3:15 train for Boston leave from?" he should have replied: "The 3:15 train for Boston leaves on track 18, this level, over there to your right," pointing in the direction. Why didn't he answer like that? Because he was not trained to do it that way. And why wasn't he trained? I wonder. Some of the best transportation executives in America are operating this railroad; and why they permit such conditions to exist is difficult to understand. If the general manager of the railway wants to find out how questions should be answered, all he has to do is to stroll over to the RCA building in Radio City and ask the man behind the information counter where to find Mr. A. L. Blank. Then what will happen? In order to be sure he understood you correctly, the information man will repeat the name "Mr. A. L. Blank." Then he will pause and say "Room 1816." He will then tell you what elevator to take and where it is located.

Doings in Congress

By Cong. W.M. LEMKE

HOW MUCH LONGER WILL the farmer be discriminated against? Let us discuss the much misrepresented Senator Wherry Amendment to the OPA. This Amendment in language is similar to Senator Barkley's Amendment. The Barkley Amendment merely provides a profit for the processing industry. The Wherry Amendment gives to the farmer that which the Barkley Amendment gives to the processor.

JUST WHY SENATE LEADER Barkley should be so forgetful of the farmer and so solicitous of the processor, I cannot understand. I am for both Amendments, together they do justice to the processor and the producer. The Wherry Amendment reads: "It shall be unlawful to establish or maintain against the producers of any livestock, grain or any other agricultural commodity a maximum price, minimum price, or commodity which does not equal all cost and expense (including all overhead expenses, a return on capital, and an allowance for the labor of the producer and his family) incurred in the production of such commodity, plus a reasonable profit thereon."

THE BARKLEY AMENDMENT reads: "Provided further, That on and after the day of the enactment of this proviso, no maximum prices shall be established or maintained on products resulting from the processing of such cattle and calves, lambs and sheep, and hogs, the processing of each species being separately considered, which, taken together, do not allow for a reasonable margin of profit to the processing industry as a group on each such species."

WHILE NOTHING HAS BEEN said against the Barkley Amendment, a howl has gone up that the Wherry Amendment is unworkable. If that is true, then the Barkley Amendment is also unworkable. The statements made under the Wherry Amendment you would have to find the cost of production of every individual farm and every farm product are inaccurate and false. The Amendment says "of such commodity."

LET US CONSIDER THE COST of production of beef. Under the Wherry Amendment the farmer would get for choice and prime finished beef steers $22.61 per 100 pounds, for veal calves $19.20, for lambs, $22.90, hogs, $22.25, milk $5.00, etc. There is nothing confusing about this. That does not mean a different price for individual farms or individual steers. It means cost plus a reasonable profit on cattle as a whole. A choice steer is a choice steer in Texas, North Dakota or Ohio. The price is the same plus freight differentials.

THE SAME IS TRUE OF PROCESSORS under the Barkley Amendment. But no one contends under that Amendment that you would have to make a different price list for every processor. Therefore, only those who are misinformed will contend that it is necessary under the Wherry Amendment.

THE WHERRY AMENDMENT does not effect at all products that are now selling for cost of production. It effects only those that fall below. Why not meet the issue honestly and say that you are against the farmer get-

'REDEPLOYMENT' LATEST U. S. WAR PROBLEM TROOP SHIFT TO PACIFIC TO TAX TRANSPORT LINES

By Al Jodicka

Literally rolling up their sleeves and hitching up their belts, both the army and transportation companies of the U. S. have undertaken the huge task of shifting men and material from Europe to the Pacific through this country in the least time possible for bringing the full weight of American arms to bear against the Japs.

Known as "redeployment," the program calls for the return of some 3,100,000 troops and hundreds of thousands of tons of material within three months of V-E Day, with 845,000 men being transferred during the first three months; 1,185,000 during the next three, and 877,000 during the last three.

Because of the tremendous nature of the project, and the need for maintaining ordinary shipments for occupation forces in Europe and advancing armies in the Pacific, the railroads of the country will find themselves confronted with one of the most complex traffic situations in their long history. Already they have put out a call for thousands of additional employees such as clerks, stenographers, brakemen, conductors, engineers, firemen, switchmen, blacksmiths, carpenters, machinists, freight handlers, crossing watchmen and regular track gangmen.

During the peak of withdrawal from Europe, approximately 500,000 men will be shifted to the U. S. It is estimated, with about 50,000 carried by air and the rest by water, American troopships not required in the Pacific along with British transports and more than 400 recovered cargo vessels thus will move the brunt of the men.

The capture of usable enemy shipping will help to speed up the withdrawal by as much as 50,000 during the second three month period, and 117,000 during the last quarter, it is estimated, with time needed to reconvert the vessels for troop service impeding their immediate utilization. Once the hundreds of thousands of G.I.s start pouring into American ports, and substantial quantities of material are received, the railroads will be pressed to handle the load.

Under the army's program, troops landing in this country will be sent to disposition centers close to the embarkation ports. There, they will be broken up into units hailing from the same regions and then dispatched to personnel reception stations, where they will be furnished required clothing. After completing their furlough, they will then return to the reception station for reassignment.

In detailing the movement of these troops, the military-civilian railroad urgency committee figured that each soldier would make an average of four train trips during redeployment, with the total adding up to 10,000,000 for all men. In view of this huge movement and the ordinary military traffic, the public again has been cautioned to travel sparingly to relieve the passenger congestion felt for the last few years.

Simultaneous with the transfer of troops from Europe to this country during the redeployment period, huge stores of material also are scheduled to be shipped to the Pacific through the U. S. At V-E Day, American armies had more than 5,500,000 tons of supplies on the continent, including 700,000 tons of ammunition and more than 1,000,000 separate items, ranging from locomotives to watch repair tools.

Germany's surrender saw U. S. forces with 2,000,000 small arms, 11,000 medium and light artillery pieces, 350,000 automatic weapons and mortars, 23,000 combat vehicles and 371,000 other motorized units.

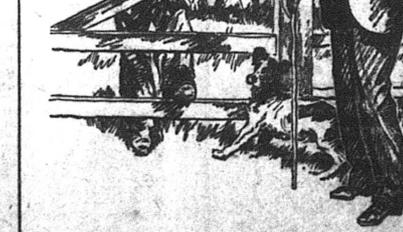

In line with the policy of making the fullest use of available material, the quartermaster corps will repair 84,000 pieces of clothing for shipment to this country, while the ordnance department will rehabilitate 100,000 motor vehicles; the signal corps, 255,000 radios; the engineer corps, 21,000 pieces of construction equipment; the chemical warfare division, 2,000,000 gas masks; and the medical corps, 25,000 pieces of electro-medical equipment.

Despite all of the careful preparation for redeployment, the movement will tax the facilities of the American railroad industry. For one thing, fewer rail lines service the West coast than the heavily industrialized East, and it is estimated that monthly traffic to the area will rise from the present 145,000 cars to 172,000. Further, when war shipping will reach his peak in late summer and early fall, the carriers will have to divert thousands of freight cars to move the wheat harvest. And finally, substantial supplies still will have to be handled in East coast ports for delivery to occupation forces in Europe.

Though army officials declared that every effort would be made to clear most Pacific-bound shipments through West coast ports, East and Gulf coast ports are expected to accommodate any overflows and also load vessels being transferred from the Atlantic to the Orient through the Panama canal.

Cognizant of the magnitude of the task before it, the army was well prepared for redeployment, having drawn up plans as early as last October to avoid the cluttering of East coast ports with freight cars and supplies after V-E Day.

Under the army's plan, European commanders were asked to designate whether supplies they requested would be needed after V-E Day or not. If not, they could quickly be shifted to other points after V-E Day, thus releasing many freight cars and at the same time preventing the accumulation of large stacks of idle materials.

A Grocer's Troubles

(An open letter to the OPA from a small town general store.)

"Sorry my price was one cent high on head lettuce when you checked. I hope you will find that I have taken care of the following: income tax, sales tax, withholding tax, social security tax, excise tax, also license, sausage license, cream station license, tester's license, retail license; price tags on 60 meat items, grade on 23 meat items points on 16 meat items, filled milk sign posted, oleo sign posted, price on 1200 processed food items, 200 dry goods items, 123 shoes, all marked and posted.

"I have our livestock slaughter permit, permit to buy and sell livestock, meat grading permit; we collect stamps on shoes and rubber footwear. I have my car and truck license and my $5.00 stamp for each; have just made application for B gas book and new stamps for the truck.

"Personal property tax is paid to date as is real estate tax; am watching my tires on truck and car (watching them disappear.) have our grade market on eggs, our points are all changed for this month.

"I have my fishing license, hunting license, dog license, car and truck license, and gun permit, driver's license, liquor permit, etc.

"Our scales were tested and found OK; our cream room was reported dirty by the inspector, but we have it cleaned now; our points are all paid up to date.

"I have dropped our price on head lettuce one cent and am sorry you had to drive 30 miles to find that out. Besides I cannot get enough merchandise, I cannot not allowed to pay them enough, and if I could pay higher wages, I could not afford it because our ceiling is too low on merchandise we sell.
