NO REGISTRAR FOR SHILOH, O.

Village To Be Eliminated of Service For Licenses and Plates.

For the first time in seven years the Village of Shiloh will be without a local registrar, according to an announcement made this week from the Office of Bureau of Motor Vehicles. In a communication to George W. Page, who has acted as deputy registrar for seven years, Frank M. Quinn, State Registrar, states that there will be no appointment for the village. The communication follows: Dear Mr. Page:—

In reply to your letter of Aug. 28, 1945, with reference to an appointment as Deputy Registrar in Shiloh, Ohio, we wish to advise that it is desirable that the number of appointments be kept to a minimum in every county. A study of the sale of licenses and plates indicates that by eliminating Shiloh, ample service can still be rendered to the public.

Therefore, with the consent of your County and the State, we have eliminated the town of Shiloh for the sale of drivers license in Richland County.

Very Truly Yours,
Frank M. Quinn, Registrar
Bureau of Motor Vehicles

Unless a last minute change is made by the State Registrar, motorists in Shiloh and vicinity will have to go to Greenwich, Ashland or Mansfield. During the time he served as deputy registrar, Mr. Page has sold a high number of license plates per year and approximately 500 drivers' licenses.

It is regretted very deeply by the community that local motorists will be forced to drive several miles for licenses and plates, especially during the harvest season when time is so valuable.

Won't Serve as Registrar

In an announcement in last week's Advertiser, it was stated that David Bachrach would again serve as deputy registrar for Plymouth. Mr. Bachrach advises that this is untrue, that he has not expressed a desire to continue to serve in this capacity this year, and as yet no appointment for Plymouth has been made. So, unless an appointment is made, it is likely that Plymouth will be without a place to purchase drivers' licenses and auto tags.

APPOINTMENTS MADE ON NEW COMMISSION

The month of August, just ended, was almost normal in temperature, the average being 72.0 degrees while the normal is 72.2 degrees. The highest was 93 degrees on the 31st; the lowest 44 on the 28th. Incidentally, 93 degrees was the highest temperature reached this summer and was equaled only once on June 29th. A year ago in August there were fourteen days when the thermometer hit 90 and above with highs of 98 on two days.

Rainfall for August of this year was decidedly deficient, the total being 2.39 inches or 0.97 inch below normal. Furthermore, 2.13 inches of the total fell in 2 1/2 hours during a heavy thunderstorm on the evening of the 14th (V-J day) leaving only .26 of an inch for the rest of the month in five widely scattered showers.

As a result of the freakish and scanty rainfall, pastures and meadows were drying up at the end of the month. Corn and soy beans, planted late and retarded by the drought and cool nights, are now in the critical stage, but can still produce a good crop provided we get a good rain and frosts hold off for three to four weeks longer. — J. MINOR SEEKS DIVORCE

The retiring members of the old Relief Commission who have served faithfully for a great number of years are Oliver M. Cartwright, president and J. Albert Noll, secretary. Judge Martin expressed his thanks and appreciation at the meeting for the faithful services of these comrades.

Around the Square

(By Phineas Whittlesed)

THERE'S NO doubt but what Labor Day proved to be a "flat tire" for a lot of people.

SOME ONE should tip off Congress to accept the 50 cents on the dollar. Englers proposes to settle for Lead-Less. Even at half the price it's more than we expected, and probably more than we will get.

RECONVERSION, Labor, Production, Demand, Distribution... all rolled up together causes a headache for any manufacturer... and civilian.

THOSE OF OUR readers who have been enjoying our Column, "Doings In Congress," by William Demers, should enjoy the pleasure of hearing him Sunday, Sept. 9, when he delivers an address at the farmers picnic at Mary Fite Park. This will be his fourth consecutive appearance in Plymouth, his talk will be well worth listening to. Lemke is an anti-New Dealer, but is fighting for farm cost-of-production and a Square Deal for the American G. Make it date and come out Sunday. Everyone is welcome.

JOHN ADAMS, who lives halfway between Shiloh and Plymouth, was in town Wednesday morning, to tell me about some of the Hazle Grove Grange activities. John was hard up for an alibi for not coming to Plymouth more often, so he tells me that he's been so busy he hasn't been there yet. It's a good thing Mrs. Adams can get to town once a week or John wouldn't eat.

FARMERS MEET ON SUNDAY FOR ANNUAL PICNIC

The fourth annual Farmers' and Business Men's Picnic will be held Sunday, Sept. 9th at the Mary Fite Park in Plymouth, with a basket dinner being served at 1:00 p. m., and speaking to start at 2:00 o'clock.

The event is being sponsored by the Ohio Marketing Quota Producers' Association, of which H. Fackler is state chairman. Fackler states that Wm. Lemke, well-known Congressman from North Dakota, will be the main speaker, and that there is possibility of other prominent men appearing on the schedule.

Lemke, who has opposed the New Dealers for the past several years, is well-known in Plymouth and vicinity. He has presented several notable bills before Congress, and at present is making a great stand for the full rights of the service man. He favors legislation which will give the farmer "cost-of-production," and an abandonment of needless government spending.

Fackler states that a real program has been planned and matters important to the farmers will be discussed. He also states that everyone is invited to attend the picnic, and that the general public is invited to the speaking even if they are unable to attend in time for dinner.

A report of the Ohio Marketing Quota and Protest Association will be given, and an outline of its future policy will be made known.

This picnic will probably bring one of the largest crowds in years, since gas rationing has been lifted and preparations are being made to handle from four to five thousand farmers for the day. There is plenty of parking space at the park, comfortable benches, and plenty of shade, so plan to come out Sunday, Sept. 9th, for a real get-together with your friends and neighbors.

Ice Cream Social At Hazel Grove Grange

An ice cream social will be held Thursday night, Sept. 13, at the Hazel Grove Grange, 4 1/2 miles south of Plymouth. Besides ice cream, it is announced that watermelons, sandwiches and other refreshments will be served, starting at 5:30 o'clock.

The public is cordially invited to attend, not only for the enjoyment of the food, but to listen to the Grange Band, which will furnish a program of music for the evening.

It is also announced that Booster Night for the Hazel Grove Grange will be held on Sept. 16, this is an open meeting and the public is invited. A luncheon will be served.

THERES A CERTAIN GI (very handsome and attractive) who's been eating double sundae at the Boy Scout News. An itemized account will be given at the next Community club meeting.

THOMAS A. McARTY, proprietor of the Plymouth Theatre, announces that a total of $155.00 was overcast for five years, and in that time he hadn't tasted any of the frozen delicacy, and that's why he was eating the "double sundae." But a fellow can't occupy the time it takes to consume a double sundae without catching a glance of a pretty girl. And he's been rightfully attracted by a certain little "red head," who muffed his first attempt at a date. Conscientious, these Plymouth gals.

24-HOUR WAR

The Japs say that the two atomic bombs which we dropped on their nation killed, injured or made homeless almost 500,000 people.

If two such bombs will disrupt the lives of half a million people, it would only take 200 of them to cripple the lives of 50,000,000—a job that could be done in one day's concentrated bombing.

The same fearful destruction, if waged against our own cities by an enemy nation, could mean the wiping out of all our industrial centers within 24 hours. No nation could stand up under such an attack.

Our scientists are working on methods to counteract atomic bomb attacks, but there is little hope that any remedy can be found. The only way the world can be preserved against the power of the atomic bomb is to end warfare forever.

SECURITY A LA MODE

OUR government is at the crossroads. One road leads to an economic system based on free enterprise, a minimum of government regulation and individual self-reliance. The other leads to a social and economic system under which the people would depend more and more on government for jobs, pensions, medical care, insurance, high wages and the regulation of all business.

Which way we will go will be decided, in all probability, when congress acts on the Wagner-Murray-Dingbelle bill—the measure which proposes to extend our present social security act to include expenditures of many billions of dollars each year to protect us against all emergencies.

This bill, which is apt to come up for discussion this fall or winter, is considered by many people to be the one measure most apt to turn our country from democracy to socialism. The vote on it will effect our lives for years to come. If there ever was a measure on which every voter should express an opinion, this is it.

CONTROLLING TEMPER ALWAYS PAYS

COL. EDWARD S. EVANS is president of the Evans Products company, operating plants in Detroit, Oregon and British Columbia. He is rich and famous. There is a point of land in the south Polar seas named in his honor. It is Cape Evans. There is a flying field in Greenland named in his honor—Evans flying field.

He says that much of his success has been due to an incident that happened to him when he was 26 years old in Richmond, Va. He bought a job-printing office, and purchased a big flat-bed press.

But when his men started to set up the press, they could not get it to operate; too complicated. Finally Colonel Evans sent to Philadelphia to get an "expert." The man arrived, but he proved to be far from an expert. At the end of the week, Colonel Evans told the man he must get the press started in another week, or he would be forced to get someone else. At the end of the second week the man had made no progress, so Colonel Evans told him he would have to let him go, and gave him the money due him.

The man flew into a fit of anger, and swore and cursed at Colonel Evans. And Colonel Evans, in turn, became angry and used words he hardly realized he knew. Colonel Evans was so angry that he leaped over a counter and struck at the man, but the man stopped back and the blow passed harmlessly. By this time Colonel Evans was in a towering rage and he followed the man, striking at him. The man escaped, but turned to thrust his head into the door and say "Boo!" Then the two fought ferociously. At last the man dragged himself away, and Colonel Evans went back to his desk, shaking with anger. He was so ill from his anger that he had to go home. The next day he was ill and could not go back to his office.

While he was sitting at home, he asked himself, "Just what did I gain by this display of temper? What issue was settled?" He had to admit that nothing was gained. Then and there he made up his mind that he could never again lose his temper, and he never has. He said, "I will let the other man lose his. I'll keep mine."

THE PASSING WEEK

Our Sewage Problem Government Fertilizer

The atmosphere in and around the Square the past week has been everything except sweet. The odor has been one that creates a desire for the smell of clover and honeysuckle instead of the rancid fumes of an "otial" department of a meat packing plant. Not only has the smell been obnoxious from every part of town, but the difficulty caused by a plugged sewer has been the worry of numerous residents of the old Smith Hotel and adjoining business places.

Had village officials years ago mapped the town as far as sewers are concerned, much hard work, money and inconveniences could have been saved. The records will show that in every instance where a drain tile or sewer has become clogged, that to remedy the trouble is one mostly of "guess work." The street commissioner has to depend solely on the memory of a few people, who sometimes can't remember correctly, and consequently there is much digging done, that could be avoided.

Village officials for the past several years, more than once, have been notified by the State Health Department to do something about its sanitary condition, but from year to year the warning goes unheeded. For the past two years our present mayor and council have been giving serious thought to a sewage disposal plant. In fact, a set of preliminary plans have been submitted, but as they stand, the plan is not adaptable to our problem. However, it is to be hoped that within the near future, competent and experienced engineers will be employed to draw up plans for a sewage disposal plant that will not only handle sewage but surface water as well.

It is to be hoped that the citizens of Plymouth will get behind this project and throw their support to the efforts put forth by the officials; that, when the time comes, they will support the issuance of bonds which will be necessary for the construction of the plant and its operation.

With a sewage disposal plant in Plymouth, it means that contamination of streams within the village will be eliminated; it will purify the air, and most of all, it will be an end to a world of trouble caused by plugged and overflowing "sewers." The set-up of the plant will call for reroofing and relaying of tile throughout the village; it will give us a blue print of all underground drain and sewer tile, so that if the occasion does arise, we will have something to go by. These factors alone will be worth many thousands of dollars over a period of years.

As far as utilities are concerned, Plymouth can be justly proud of its waterworks and light plants, and it can also feel, to a certain degree, as being lucky for its school system and telephone service. What we need is a sewerage plant. It offers generally plays a big part in its growth. Although our town has shown no growth to speak of, it still has a certain amount of position to take a forward step, and it is much easier to do so when we have a sewerage plant.

Therefore, while a sewage disposal plant may cost many thousands of dollars in the beginning, it may mean a great deal of satisfaction to all residents for the results it will obtain.

If we make a modern sewage disposal plant our first and only aim for postwar activities, we are certainly bound to see this dream come true. But it will take the wholehearted cooperation of every citizen and of every organization within the town; it will mean many hours of planning and hard work for the village officials. But to make the job easier will be for everyone to come out openly and support the movement; to begin talking, thinking and acting for a sewage disposal plant, and above all, put it first among all public works.

How Much Longer?
Just why does the government keep on throwing out bait to farmers? We have the experiences of various government agencies, and for some reason or other, under conditions as well as the attitude of the farmer changes and they are put into oblivion. We are tax-exempt Co-ops doing millions upon millions of dollars worth of business each year, and in the face of fighting for existence, the Little Business Man sees the tremendous flow of dollars pass tax-free, knowing deep in his heart that he and the farmer that deal with the Co-ops, are not getting a square deal.

The government has offered subsidies of every kind, but the expense of the taxpayer, but to come out openly in favor of its new plan for building fertilizer plants in two thousand agricultural counties, is a slap in the face to FREE enterprise. Just what the meaning is behind such a move is more than the average farmer can understand, but we are printing a bulletin received this week from Washington, and as a farmer in a farming community, we'll let you draw your own conclusions. Here is the entire text of the bulletin.

More government interference with farmers and farm community businessmen is threatened by the companion Hill-Bandhead and Flannagan bills now before Congressional committees, according to an "emergency bulletin" just issued by the National Fertilizer Association, Washington, D. C.

"The bills propose government construction of plants to supply fertilizer to 75 farmers in each of 2,000 agricultural counties, to the disadvantage of their neighbors and at the taxpayers' expense, the bulletin maintains.

"It also points out that 50,000 fertilizer agents and dealers, most of whom are small businessmen, will be unable to meet this government competition with private enterprise. Moreover, the existence of 1,100 fertilizer manufacturing plants employing 20,000 people is jeopardized by these bills, the bulletin asserts.

"Fertilizer spokesmen state that fertilizer production capacity has always exceeded demand and that more government-built plants and their subsidized government operation would amount to a waste of public money. They point out that under private enterprise fertilizer is priced lower than almost any other commodity the farmer buys, according to U. S. Department of Agriculture figures."

Hildegarde Reveals Her Song Style Secret

SIGN HERE—Hildegarde, NBC's exquisite chanteuse, is an avid autograph collector and every Tuesday night, come Sept. 11, will again have all guests on her radio show sign on the dotted line. She has been gathering theater mementos and autographs for many years and has one of the best collections in show business.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—"Sincerity is the true international language." So says Hildegarde, NBC's singing mistress - of ceremonies who can be heard practicing what she preaches on her "Raleigh Room" series Tuesday nights (10 p. m.) starting Sept. 11.

Hildegarde, who has played many of the European capitals, has captivated audiences who couldn't understand a word she says or sings. She attributes her success to that "something" called "heart" which is an integral part of her success formula.

Sincerity, Hildegarde believes, can be projected by a performer only if he understands completely the song, play or material he is trying to present. That is the reason for Hildegarde's intensive study of a song before she will perform it in public.

The technique has really paid off when the list of songs popularized by Hildegarde is studied. The songs are usually of an emotional nature, and her most recent successes have been with "My Heart Sings" and "I'll Be Seeing You," which cannot be presented correctly unless the singer "feels" the song.

The buffet held a three tiered wedding cake decorated with silver and white. Topping the cake was a floral arch with a silver bell and the figure "25". On the lower tier of the cake was the word "Anniversary." White cards tucked in the silver and white napkins gave the names of the bride and groom, the names of Mr. and Mrs. Rogers and the date of their anniversary.

on one side, and on the other were the names of Miss Rogers and her fiancé.

Parcels for servicemen overseas must be sent between Sept. 15 and Oct. 15. Postmaster Claude Sourwine said today in reminding the public that now is the time to start thinking about Christmas mailing.

35 PRISONERS GO TO SHELBY

Thirty-five German prisoners of war from the Marion depot are working at the Farsel Air Depot at Shelby in a reconditioning project of railbeds and ditches connected with the depot's railroad system, it was announced by Lt. Col. S. H. Raymond, head of the Shelby depot.

The prisoners of war have been "loaned" temporarily to the Shelby depot and are being brought over each day from Marion under military police guard, returning to Marion each night. Lack of housing facilities at Shelby has necessitated the arrangement, Col. Raymond said.

The group was originally assigned to the Marion depot from Camp Perry, prisoner of war camp in northern Ohio.

A PET BLUE JAY

If a saucy little blue jay comes tapping at your window pane, don't get excited or incidentally, don't excite the little fellow. It is only his way of letting you know he would like the little attention and something to eat.

Last May 22nd Eddie Kiekotta found the bird, then about two weeks old, cold and not feathered out. He took it to Mrs. Sam Fenner who with her daughter managed to feed it with an eye dropper until it could help itself and it became quite tame and a real pet. For awhile it had its own little box in the house and later when it was released outdoors would continue to return. They named it "Candy" and it will answer its name, coming immediately if in the vicinity.

It evidently has no fear of people for it can be picked up if spoken kindly to and on several instances it has been reported to come and sit on clothes lines while clothes are being hung out, demanding attention by picking at the pins.

Neighbors up an Birtsville Avenue are quite proud of their pet and assist in feeding it, even tho it is now old enough to take care of itself.

(Farm Journal)
Everybody flies in the Temple family of Buffalo, Oklahoma.

Mr. and Mrs. Arvid Temple and their three daughters. They are members of the Oklahoma Flying Farmers, who met at Stillwater the other day to discuss the place of the light plane on the farm. The Flying Farmers agreed that personal planes are useful to custom machinery operators; handy for spraying or dusting; crops useful on livestock ranges; convenient for long trips and getting emergency repairs, and ideal for killing coyotes. The plane of the future, they said, should seat four, be convertible to carry half a ton of freight, and should cost no more than a good automobile. The Flying Farmers started a national organization.

WE HAD an extremely interesting visit Saturday night with J. Crum of the Shelby Mutual Plate Glass Co. For twenty years we've wondered off and on, of how this nationwide organization started, and within a few minutes Mr. Crum gave a brief history of the Mutual Plate, its origin and its growth. Mr. Crum, who has been with Shelby Mutual for over a quarter of a century, was born and spent his boyhood days in the vicinity of Ganges, and we are inclined to believe he knows day at Gum, between Ganges and Shelby. Shelby and Plymouth being so close together, we won't repeat any of the details, but we can say that we do appreciate the opinion he expresses about our old acquaintance. Thanks, Mr. Crum for the friendly call.
