

$52,500 IS PAID MONTHLY IN THIS DISTRICT

In a discussion recently, Edward P. Blonston, Manager of the Mansfield office of the Social Security Board, stated that "as we approach our 10th complete year of operations more than $52,500 is being paid to individuals residing in the area serviced by our office." This is very significant of the purpose for which the program was designed, drafted and made into law on August 14, 1935. The original effective date was January 1, 1937 and the first benefit payment under the amended law was in January, 1940. The primary purpose of the Old Age and Survivor's Insurance System is to "replace, in part, those wages which the wage earner loses when he is compelled to retire due to old age, or to his dependents when he dies."

The Mansfield office serves the area including Richland, Ashland, Crawford, Knox and Morrow counties.

This is truly a family insurance plan as more than three out of every four beneficiaries are women and children.

As of July 1, 1946, 2956 individuals were receiving benefits at the rate of $52,564.64 per month, Blonston continued and these benefits are broken down by groups as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Category and Amount. Includes Retired workers 1131, $26,829.08; Widows of retired workers 422, $1,472.21; Children of retired workers 770, $889.41; Aged dependent children 524, $1,078.90.

Lump-sum payments made during the quarter ending June 30, 1946 totaled $16,105.36. In certain cases, widows who received a lump-sum payment at the time the beneficiary was killed receive a monthly benefit at age 65.

In explaining the regulations, Blonston pointed out that whenever a person who has been insured in a job covered by law, reaches age 65 he should go to the Social Security Board and find out how to protect his rights even though he does not plan to retire at the present time.

When a worker dies, a member of his family or a friend should communicate with the nearest Social Security office. This is the only way to make sure no benefits are lost.

DEADLINE NEAR MANY ATTEND BURIED HERE

UNEMPLOYMENT REPORTS DUE JULY 31st. COLUMBUS, O., July 25.—Employees subject to the Ohio unemployment compensation law were reminded that the deadline for sending in payroll and contribution reports to the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation, here, is midnight, Wednesday, July 31. These reports cover the second calendar quarter of 1946.

In calling attention to the reporting deadline, Charles H. Jones, administrator of the Bureau, said that 58,586 Ohio employees, the greatest number in the history of the agency, are liable for contributions to the Ohio unemployment trust fund this month. A record increase in number of businesses in Ohio has occurred since the end of the war, he explained.

New employers pay contribution at a rate of 2.7 percent of their taxable payrolls each quarter. Those who have been in business for three or more consecutive years during which their accounts with the Bureau were chargeable with benefit payments are eligible for experience or "merit" rating with variable rates depending in part on the stability of their employment.

Benefit checks for each covered employer, containing his BUC account number and contribution rate, were distributed by the Bureau several weeks ago.

The last Sunday in October will be observed as "H" (Elyria home) day, throughout the churches of the Northeast Ohio conference.

Scouts, Brownies Thank Donors

Nineteen Girl Scouts say a big Thank You to everyone who helped with their transportation to Day Camp at Shelby the last two weeks. Their leaders also wished to thank the ones who helped in the leadership. Miss Mohr, Mrs. Robertson and Betty Hutchinson, making it possible for the girls to attend.

We hope every girl is a better Scout for having participated, learning to live the Girl Scout laws through co-operation, acquiring some new skills. Many of the girls learned to swim for the first time, others developed new skill under competent instruction.

And now, we have a little surprise for you? Or is it? It's probably leaked out. But now the girls have longed for a home of their own! How they have envied their brothers their cabin in the park and have even felt a little jealous thinking the comrades were more natural.

They say, "haven't we sold puppies and for-get-me-nots? Haven't we sold T. B. seals and paper tags? Haven't we collected clothing for overseas and waste fats? Haven't we visited the Children's home with gifts and fun? We've gone to our Juliettes through co-operation, relief and gave a book of her life to the local library. We've worked for our ranks and tried to be Growing Girl Scouts. No wonder we're proud."

And now, the reward of the faithful seems about to come. We have found a building. We know where we may move it. We want to work and help ourselves as much as possible but we do need stronger arms and a chance to make some money. We think the community will help. We know our Dads will.

A Brownie asked, "How about us?" Why, of course, aren't you our dear sisters? Come on and help us.

A display of the handcraft of the Girl Scouts during the past week is now in the Brown & Miller Hardware window.

Brownies Grateful Too!

The thirteen Brownies from Plymouth who took advantage of the Day Camp in Shelby, are also grateful to the drivers of cars which made their trips possible. They wish to thank Mrs. Roy Cooper, Miss Mary Sheely, Mrs. Mabel McFadden, Rev. Bethel, Elton Robertson, Mrs. Wilbur Shields, Mrs. Gordon Brown, Mrs. C. M. Lofland, Mrs. J. E. Hodges, Mrs. John Lottus, Mrs. Ruth Brinson, Mrs. F. B. Stewart.

The group took advantage of the Seltzer Park's facilities and enjoyed the swimming pool. Mrs. Lottus successfully passed her swimming test and the others enjoyed the water too. Friday was guest day and among those who were with Mrs. Mabel McFadden, Miss Jessie Cole, Mrs. Ruth Plitzen, Mrs. Roy Carter and Mrs. Harold Farrar.

Announcement is made that there will be no more Brownie meetings until school commences. Date will be released later.

LEAVING PLYMOUTH

Miss Elizabeth Mohr who recently resigned as teacher of Home Ec in the local schools will leave Friday for her home in Van Wert, Ohio. She will spend the week-end with Miss Eula Lecher at Pandora, Ohio, another former local teacher. Miss Mohr will teach in the Bluffton schools.

Miss Florence Daner of Mrs. Harry Briggs will accompany Miss Mohr visiting over the week-end with relatives in Willshire, Ohio.

MRS. BEN WADDINGTON

who recently operated a white rock hen to save its life because it didn't have sense enough to stop eating straw, performing another operation. This time it was her husband's false teeth. Benny, her husband, who is totally blind, dropped his "china clippers" and they broke in half. Not finding a dentist to do the job immediately, Mrs. W. glued them together with maulage and so far, they are still in service.

AS BIG AS "LIFE" itself

Elton Scarle Whitney looked out from the cover page of that magazine the past week. Featured with Mrs. Whitney was the coachman shown in the cab of the Coach, while the story itself was featured in the magazine with pictures of Mr. Whitney, his barns and cattle. Mrs. Whitney is hoping to make a hurried trip to the home town of Plymouth this fall.

"POOH" THE SMALL terrier

THEN THE LITTLE RAT terrier

brought to the States by Edward Babcock from Italy is having the time of his life perched atop the crossbar of his mistress' bicycle, Ida Mae Babcock. He has a cushion to sit on and with his paws on the handle bar, looks as tho he enjoys it.

BET MOST POSTAL employees

hadn't the slightest idea that the price of stamps had anything to do with their pay checks, guess over to price of Silver, but they know now. Local postal employees pay checks were held up because of arguments in Congress over the price of Silver. In the congressional conference a compromise price was agreed upon, the act was passed, President Roosevelt signed it and the employees got their checks.

MR. AND MRS. PHILIP Moore

attended for the Mansfield Air show Sunday afternoon, but never did get there. Because the driver in the third car in front of them suddenly decided to stop to pick up a passenger, the car had to step on the brakes, and the Moore car crashed into the one ahead of them. Mrs. Moore was thrown from the car and was taken to the Mansfield Hospital for observation and released. The car fare was, of course, the damage was considerable.

DALE CARGINE

CASHING IN ON YOUR LIABILITIES
ALMOST anyone can cash in on his assets, but to be able to cash in on your liabilities is the supreme test. If you can do that, nothing can defeat you. This column today tells the story of a girl whose misfortune drove her almost to suicide; yet every night this season she is applauded by audiences as one of the hits of Broadway.

Her name is Doty Remy. Doty's ambitious mother prepared her for children early for a stage career. In fact, when Doty was three and her brother Dick was two, they were on the stage, blackened up, singing "Swanee River" while standing on their heads.

D. CARGINE

That kind of performance got across the footlights in a big way as long as they were cute babies.

But as they grew older, it wasn't so funny, and they had to change their act. So after years of practice, they became trick roller skaters—two of the best.

But this was the calm before the storm. Doty, who had always been slender, now began to gain weight. A glandular disturbance. She dieted; she visited the best doctors; she starved herself; she wept. But her weight steadily mounted until she tipped the scales at more than two hundred.

Then one night Dick and Doty were giving their act in Chicago on a floor that had been highly polished. Every time that Doty roller-skated across the floor, she fell and skidded across the waxed stage, her feet high in the air. She was a riot! The audience almost rolled into the aisles. When the curtain went down, a torrent of applause such as she had never before received swept the house. The manager of the theater could hardly wait to get back to her dressing room, all smiles and congratulations.

In a flash, Doty Remy saw that her two hundred and four pounds could be turned into cash. In a flash, she realized that her stage career after all wasn't over.

Successful Parenthood

PREVENT TROUBLESOME FEARS OF CHILDHOOD

MOST baby fears are outgrown but some remain to plague a child into his school and even adult years, when he often has the butt of practical jokes because of them.

Prevention of a child's fears is your first concern, for many of them are merely imitations of your own ill-concealed anxieties. No matter how brave your words or actions, a child will pick up on your voice or expression your fear of lightning, dogs, spiders or whatever hold-over from your own childhood makes you fearful. This doesn't mean that you should try to ignore or act as if you were over-bold in the face of things which you have a genuine element of danger. Instead, while concealing your own fear, point out that you don't stand under a lightning tree in a storm; that you don't pet strange dogs because they may be shy of children they don't know; or pick up spiders to play with.

You can, of course, rouse fears by too zealous attempts to prepare against danger. A person's experience of a new situation illustrates this. As a child I grew violently afraid of Mother's sewing machine, which became a horrible accident which might befall us if we came too close. I could feel the needle pricking my fingers and could see myself being scalped if my hair caught in the wheels. Naturally, some of this was necessary caution, but the most frequent mistake done lies in the fact that to this day I can not go near a piece of machinery when it is in motion, the timid around a vacuum cleaner or an electric iron, and neither I nor my sisters can drive a car. The fear of making or acting in a really crippling one in our lives.

But the most troublesome fears of childhood are the ones that result from an unpleasant experience, which the child may or may not remember, but the ghost of it really cripples to you. For example, if your child screams at the sight of a piece of newspaper or a book, he may be really terrified by the hands of a familiar adult, perhaps at some time when he was asleep in his carriage in your yard and had been blown a stray paper into his face and frightened him.

The most frequent mistake parents make in handling such imaginary fears—that is, fear of things in which there is no element of danger from the adult point of view—is in expecting a child to overcome them just by your saying that they are harmless and gradually from observation; and your casual comments that it won't hurt him. If you wait patiently until he has mastered the thing for himself, it will take its place as part of the learning process and will likely be forgotten.

OCULIST OPTOMETRIST OPTICIAN

An oculist is a graduate in medicine and surgery who has made a specialty of the condition and needs of the eyes. An optometrist, while not a graduate in medicine and surgery, has qualified himself for college entrance and spent an average from two to three years studying the amount of vision actually present and what to prescribe to bring vision to or near normal.

An optician gets the prescription from oculist and optometrist and grinds the glasses according to the prescription.

An Ex G. I. Replies to Article on Patriotism

The following letter was received the past week from an Ex-G. I. in reply to the article printed on Plymouth's patriotism the preceding week in the Advertiser.

Plymouth, O.
July 16, 1946

My dear Citizens:
I am writing this letter in answer to the one that appeared in last week's Advertiser. Let me inform you that the Fourth of July is a day throughout our great country in which we celebrate, (not pay tribute) the Declaration of Independence. The Colonies were transformed into states and causes were cited which justified the American Revolution. Now we Americans celebrate an occasion of this sort in many ways too numerous to tell of at this time. The local factory shut down two full working days. People have planned on a vacation for years. I have planned a vacation of my own for five years. Yes and I wasn't working on this side of the world either. Most of my time being spent on the other side. Why you couldn't even get fire crackers in this great state of ours.

Now my friend if the people of this beloved community would be spent on the ball so as to speak, may I ask why was not this fitting ceremony held on Decoration Day or Memorial Day? That is the day we pay tribute, respect and honor those that made the supreme sacrifice. Why wasn't a Community Day declared and I am sure it would have been well attended.

Now citizens let me tell you something. I marched in the Memorial Day parade here in Plymouth. There are none better in the way of a speaker than the man that gave the address. I have heard him speak since being a small boy about this community. But did any one get up and thank him for his efforts and wonderful speech so that it could be heard by all? No! Was there a P. A. system installed? No! Yet there are two P. A. systems in the community that I know of. I even hear the one around the Square a lot.

However this was one Memorial Day Service that should have been fitting and most appropriate.

No hard feelings Citizens.
An X-G. I.

Mrs. Brodie BALANCES the budget

"You have to be a trained seal to balance a budget these days!" complains Mrs. Brodie.

"Everything costs so much! Take clothing—when you can get it," says Mrs. Brodie, "and look at the price tags! And food—that's simply skyrocketed! Housefurnishings—if you can find a house to furnish—are way up!"

"But not electricity!" says Mrs. Brodie. "No, indeed!" says Mrs. Brodie.

"Electricity has been coming down steadily for years!

"Electricity," says Mrs. Brodie, "is just about the easiest thing in my budget to balance!"

If you have a budget to balance—and who hasn't?—you'll appreciate that the low cost of electricity is no accident. It took plenty of practical planning and experience on the part of the folks in this company who—like Mrs. Brodie—have budgets to balance, too.

(Don't take Mrs. Brodie's word for the rise in living costs. The U. S. Department of Labor will furnish you the figures, if you're interested.)

Doings in Congress

By CONGRESSMAN WILLIAM LEMKE

The betrayal of our nation—now looks as if Congress, having passed by the international bankers, manufacturers and Anglophiles in key positions, is about to vote another gift of four billion four hundred million to Great Britain, and cancel the thirty-four billion she already owes us. This will enable our international bankers to get their hands paid for the money they have already given us. It will enable the international manufacturers to further deplete our natural resources—to denude and loot our country for foreigners with our own money.

This when our own people are denied farm machinery, repairs, wearing apparel and food—when prices are already going skyward because one-fourth of America's needed goods are on the ocean-headed for Europe and the Orient. I am sorry but a majority of Congress, many of whom are better judgment, feel that they cannot resist the pressure of the international horse traders.

We hear a great deal about foreign trade. Let us remember that trade is not wealth. Trade does not create wealth. It exchanges wealth. If any nation gains by foreign trade, it is because it is a better horse trader. To make a gift of billions to foreign countries to buy our goods which is not trade. It is just stupidity. If continued, it will destroy us. It verges on treason. Such trade may enrich a few internationalists, but to the extent that it enriches them, it impoverishes us.

Dean Acheson, one of the Anglophiles in the State Department, said, "We are willing to bet three and three-quarter billion dollars that we can get the British to make the agreement work."

Whose money is this Anglo-philic betting? Not his or his multi-millionaire comrades in the State Department, but that of the American taxpayer. He says further, if it did work, three-quarters of the world's trade would be conducted in British dollars and dollars, compared with one-half of it prior to the war.

Is that what our sons fought and died for all over the world? If this is not laying the foundation for World War III, for world domination by the Anglophiles, then I do not know what it is. It is time to think before we are snared into World War III by our own Anglophiles, who Hitler like wish to dominate the world.

Ninety-four percent of our trade is with ourselves. Their boundary line to this 94 per cent is the Atlantic on the east, the Pacific on the west, the Canadian boundary on the north, and the Gulf of Mexico and Mexico on the south. Why not develop our own—market the 94 percent? Why make a gift to Great Britain with our taxpayers' money, so that they can buy bonds and manufactured goods from our international manufacturers and bankers?

America is sailing unknown seas. Just where we are going no one knows. There is no cry-

CHOPIN'S REAL LOVE STORY

talized public opinion. For the first time in our history, we have surrendered to mob psychology. We refuse to reason or think for ourselves. We let George do our thinking. We listen to false propaganda and accept it as gospel truth.

The result is the wasting of hundreds and thousands of dollars in telegrams and letters to members of Congress requesting them to vote for some bill. Usually, the sender has not the slightest idea of what the bill is, except that some commentator or columnist gave it a high-sounding name or slogan. He is often the victim of deception.

May I suggest that hereafter you refuse to become a cog in a blind machine—a machine which if successful may liquidate you and your Government. There are a few individuals, scattered throughout the nation, whose purpose it is to destroy our Government by creating confusion. Therefore, you should only request your member of Congress to support or oppose a bill when you are familiar with its contents.

I appeal especially to the younger generation. They are the hope and future of our nation. They must gain the reins of the real builders. I know we are not going back to the dark ages, yet I wish to make sure that we will not follow false prophets and accept a Hitler, a Mussolini or a Stalin. I am confident that they will go forward and build a greater nation and a better republic.

In the meantime, other things are happening at the other end of Pennsylvania Avenue. When the President signed the British loan-gift—the British Ambassador's proposal to look on, so was also the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. It would seem that the British Ambassador and the Chief Justice were the sponsors of this legislation.

I have also suggested before that some members of Congress were wined and dined in the British Embassy, and others befriended by Lady Astor. Lady Astor especially befriended some of our Hollywood beauties. Perhaps under these conditions, it is no wonder that the British Ambassador should have witnessed the President's signature.

However, I am confident that this performance does not represent the sentiment or ideals of America. I know that but a short time ago, it was considered almost criminal to admit that you were an American. If you did, the world isolation was hurled at you from the house tops. The truth is we never were isolationists. Our international banker always chased the dollar down every sea and in every land.

We fought three wars for other nations. We always have met our full responsibility in world affairs. But we will not sell America short. We will not continue to tolerate foreign ambassadors to wine and dine public officials. We will not permit foreigners of little note to address Congress. That privilege must be reserved for Americans.

A REAL TREAT

During the hot weather this week-end you'll have an opportunity of enjoying something different at the Black & Gold. This well-known "summer spot" is featuring "Newberry Shortcake with soft ice cream," a delicacy that has all the flavor one could wish for. It's different, to be sure, from the regular summer menu at the popular place.

Seldom does one risk buying boxed chocolates during the hot weather, but at the Black & Gold you can buy your favorite candy and be certain of freshness, for all boxed candies are kept in a refrigerator, which keeps chocolate at the right temperature.

And while we are calling your attention to these delicacies, you might also be interested in knowing that the Black & Gold also serves ice cold watermelons and cantaloupe.

Lose Softball Game to Shelby Troop Three

Plymouth Troop One lost its first softball game to Shelby Troop Three by a score of 14-10. The local lads were in the lead 8-1 in the second but a thorough collapse of the infield and outfield turned the tables and Shelby's heavy hitters brought the score up even to 10-10. In the sixth Shelby scored four runs to clinch the game. A return game is contemplated but no date has been set.

WHAT AND WHERE IS PART I

By Dalton F. McDougall

In the book of 2 Cor. 12:2 we read these words, "I knew a man in Christ above fourteen years ago, (whether in the body, I cannot tell; or whether out of the body, I cannot tell; God knoweth) such as one caught up to the third heaven."

Since there is a third heaven there must be a first and a second. The first heaven is the aerial heaven, where the birds fly (Rev. 19:17), where the clouds form, and from which the rain and snow come down. It consists of the belt of air, or atmosphere, that surrounds the earth, which God prepared on the second day of creation, Gen. 1:6-8.

This atmospheric heaven is the heaven that Peter declares will pass away (Rev. 21:1) when God sends a new heaven and a new earth. He will make a new, pure atmosphere or new first heaven to surround this new earth.

The second heaven is the stellar heaven, where the sun, moon, and stars move in their orbits (Ps. 19:1-6). The third heaven is Paradise (2 Cor. 12:4), where the throne of God is, and where the new Jerusalem, described in Revelation 21, is now located.

Part II will tell of the new Jerusalem.

HURON HAS FINE REPORT

Huron County Treasurer, H. B. Collier, reports a most satisfactory collection on the last of 1945 as recently closed. Settlement is now in process and distribution will soon be made by the Treasurer. He reveals that the total outstanding delinquencies on Real Estate amount to $38,862.62 as compared to $119,867.65 in 1941 and a total delinquency of $4,016.39 in Special Assessments as compared to $69,733.90 in 1941.

Continual work on this matter together with foreclosures and forfeited land sales has done much to bring about this improved condition. The reduction of unpaid taxes has been of great benefit, not only to the county but also to the various subdivisions, namely the towns and townships.

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, D. C. (NWSN)—It looks like the federal budget for the fiscal year may be passed after all. Back in January President Truman estimated that $35,800,000,000 would be required to cover the expenditures during the 1947 year, but since then new appropriations and higher costs have knocked off an amount of $10 billion. When the President sent his budget message to congress he assumed on the basis of figures from his experts, that revenues would come to about $31,500,000,000. The difference between this and $35,800,000,000 amounting to $4,300,000,000, was to be financed by a bookkeeping shift, transferring enough from the treasury's huge cash balance to cover the anticipated deficit.

Quite unexpectedly, however, government income has run way ahead of hopes. It now appears that federal revenues from all sources will total between 41 and 42 billion dollars by the end of the fiscal year. If the expenditures side of the ledger weren't increased, the government could possibly end the year with a tidy surplus. This sound financial condition so achieved soon after the enormous fiscal disturbance of the war would be an impressive feat.

High costs that anticipated in the army and navy departments are blamed for the necessity for boosting the budget. An upward revision of 10 to 15 percent in the $35,800,000,000 early estimate is now likely, according to John Steelman, director of the office of mobilization and reconversion. Mr. Steelman's statement was the first official indication that a good deal of money would have to be provided to run the government.

Expansion of veterans' welfare programs, higher military salaries, and certain deferred expenses were cited by Steelman as reasons for the greater army and navy budgetary estimates. He did not mention the proposed pay increases for the people drew for enlisted men. This item would probably be financed so as to make the least possible addition to the current year's budget. That is, assuming, as experts do, that terminal leave pay will cost the government $100 million more this year, then half a billion dollars would be paid in cash this year, and the remaining two billion as a balance at the end of the year, to be settled with five-year maturity bonds.

Farm good luck then the government should come out about even in revenues and expenditures during this fiscal year, and would strike a balance at about 41 billion dollars in both income and outgo. Sharply higher prices could wreck this hope; so could sudden decisions by congress. But as it looks now, a balance budget, so long merely a memory, is a distinct possibility.

Holdings of war bonds are not cashing them in huge volume, as was predicted about a year ago. Over 71 per cent of bonds are still held by the original owners. For the first six months of this year sales of all types of war bonds exceeded redemptions by half a billion dollars.

More than many people have felt the pinch in the last year, from work shutdowns resulting from strikes and other strikes, apparently they did not all turn to cashing their bonds as a way out of financial stringencies. It would seem that war bonds are being retained as long term investments, whenever it is at all possible.

According to the treasury's figures, total sales to date of all war bonds amount to 42 billion dollars. Of this, twelve billion dollars' worth has been turned in for redemption, leaving 30 billion dollars' worth still outstanding. (These figures are all maturity values.)

Contrary to expectations, it was not the new four days each, hardest hit by earnings losses through strikes and other shutdowns who cashed in the largest amounts. The biggest redemptions actually were lower during the period of stringency than during the war boom. Apparently the people drew on bank accounts.

This Isn't News, . . . But

Looking across my typewriter I see long straight rows of green corn plowed across the road on the Peiffer farm. . . . Mrs. Benedict gave us two tiny grey kittens the other day made six cats now on our farm. These two explored my writing table but didn't find anything interesting in the Shiloh news. . . . Last week my husband's brother, Henry received a huge fish by express from his daughter in Washington. It was a salmon all packed in ice and although we weighed and measured it I can't recall the specifications. Anyway it was bigger than the biggest one in your favorite fish story. My husband, who inherited his French mother's flair for cooking, fried it and it was a beautiful sight all delicate pink, crispy garnished with lemon and lettuce. . . .

Some day I'm going to peek when my husband makes his mother's eggplant sandwiches and give you the receipt. I did learn his trick with potato soup. You boil the potatoes (about six) in salted water until they are soft and give your cream. Pour the potato water into the cream. Mash the potatoes and add plenty of butter, a little more salt and some pepper. Add this to the soup cream mixture. Keep it very hot while you prepare toast (the breaks the toast right into the soup dishes). Pour the soup over the toast and you have one of those um-m good dishes. . . .

Now that picnics and reunions are popular I thought the little trick of tacking the paper plates to the table with thumb tacks is clever and worth remembering. . . . Mrs. Walter Cluff has been dressing dolls to send to friends in Ireland. She has the most interesting hobbies. . . . Pearl Darling offered us a piece of strawberry pie from strawberries she raised in her own garden. Her skill as a cook is well known around here. . . . One of the women at the Get-Together Club was handed an edge on a handkerchief with regular mercerized sewing thread and I had to try it. It turned out fine but Oh my aching eyes. . . . Cherries are ripe but who wants cherries without sugar? The birds, I guess. The big storm blew down the Oreole nest in our pear tree and the beautiful little birds have disappeared. . . . It was kind of fun entertaining guests by candle light during the edies. . . . One of life's little tricks is to buy the little material that lovely white eyelet material at the Plymouth Dry Goods store for a blouse, and then find that two yards wasn't enough for the pattern I'd selected. Has any one got any clever ideas?

NEEL DEAN FAUBER UNITED IN MARRIAGE TO MISS EVELYN NEWLON, SUNDAY AFTERNOON

On Sunday afternoon at three o'clock Neel Dean Fauber took as his bride Miss Evelyn Newlon of Kokomo, Ind. Mr. Fauber a former 1st Lieutenant in the Air Corps is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray A. Fauber of near Shiloh and the former Miss Newlon is the only daughter of Mr. Ray Newlon of Kokomo, Ind. The First Methodist Church at Kokomo was the scene of the formal double ring ceremony with Rev. Fifteen minutes of nuptial music preceded the ceremony.

Immediately following the ceremony relatives and intimate friends were received at a reception at the home of the bride's father. Refreshments were served from a table decorated with red and white flowers and candles in crystal holders.

When Pharisees and scribes asked Jesus why his disciples despised the traditions of the elders by eating with defiled hands, Jesus rebuked his questioners for faithfulness in minute observances, while mistaking entirely the spirit of the law. Last in the lesson we find Jesus calling upon his hearers to value and reverence for their own souls. Reverence to God demands reverence toward the immortal soul he has given every man. "What shall it profit a man if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul?" There can be but one answer to this question.

KROGER STORE
HOLDS PRICES

Credit for taking the lead in holding the line on food prices following lapse of OPA legislation is given Joseph B. Hall, President of The Kroger Company in the current issue of Time Magazine. "The sad fact that Kroger changed its prices on meat and butter 'only the amount of the lost government subsidies—seven cents on beef and 15 cents on butter' admitting that 'Kroger's able friendly President Hall said' admitted that the company had taken heavy losses on these items to hold the line even this much. It was also having a hard time replacing its depleted stocks at ceiling prices. 'Unless there was overall OPA revocation soon,' said Grocer Hall, 'Kroger would have to abandon its policy or have no foods in many lines to sell.'
