

W. W. WIRTH ANNOUNCES SALE OF PLYMOUTH STATION TO OHIO OIL

Transaction Will Probably Be Completed Within Ten Days, When New Owners Will Take Over Long Established Bulk and Retail Station.

After a few months of negotiations one of the biggest business transactions in some years in Plymouth will probably be completed within the next week or ten days when The Ohio Oil Co. of Findlay will take over the Plymouth Oil Co. Office.

The Ohio Oil Co. has been in Plymouth at frequent intervals the past two months checking the transaction step by step. The deal will no doubt be completed shortly and will involve several thousand dollars.

No statement from officials of the Ohio Oil Co. was available for publication, but reliable sources indicate that the new owners will carry on the business in its present manner, maintaining the same personnel as now employed, and the servicing of rural customers of Plymouth Oil Co.

In announcing the sale of The Plymouth Oil Co., W. W. Wirth, manager of Plymouth Oil, stated that negotiations were started several months ago, and final transactions closing the deal will no doubt be completed within ten days.

Started in 1927

The Plymouth Oil Company was opened here in January 1927 by J. E. Wirth, who came from Spencer, Ohio. In February of 1928 Wirth was joined by W. W. Wirth, a son, who assisted his father in the business up to the time of Mr. Wirth's death in 1937. Taking over the entire operation of the retail and bulk station at that time, W. W. Wirth has built up an enviable reputation and extended the territory of his company with its Cities Service Products.

Since its opening in Plymouth, the Plymouth Oil Company under the ownership and management of the Wirths has grown in volume of business, and its Cities Service Products, have proved popular with hundreds of patrons here.

News of the transaction will be received by many as a surprise, but patrons of the Plymouth Oil, who are to remain in the business, indicated they will remain with the new management.

Remaining in Plymouth

In speaking of the sale of his firm, Mr. Wirth said that he expects to be out of the oil and gas business soon, the Wirth family will continue to make Plymouth their home. Mr. Wirth expects to be a local representative for deep-freeze units, conversion oil furnaces for heating homes, and small space oil heaters. The management of future activities will be made at a later date.

New Owners Well Known

The Ohio Oil Company is one of the oldest and biggest producers of crude oil in this country. Their home office is located in Findlay, Ohio, and they feature the well-known Marathon gasoline and oil. They maintain various district branches and offices including Mt. Vernon, Bucyrus, and are represented by stations in Mansfield, Wooster, Norwalk, and many other cities. The same policies as used by Plymouth Oil will no doubt be adopted by The Ohio Oil Company when they take over, and the same personnel will be retained, which include: Esther Worthington, bookkeeper; Harvey Pagel, Glenn Haas and Worley D. Reed.

While business associates around the Square expect to give up Mr. Wirth as a gas and oil dealer, yet they wish for him much success in his new enterprise. At the same time, the business men and community wish the new owners, The Ohio Oil Co., much success in their new venture here. There is every reason to believe that the Ohio Oil Company will find Plymouth and its rural district a very valuable asset to their business, and we know that the cooperation between the new owners and the community will continue.

COUNCIL HAS A LIGHT SESSION

Officials Not Altogether Pleased With Recent Street Improvement.

Reports turned in at Tuesday night's meeting of the village council members, indicate that the village officials are not entirely satisfied with the new highway recently completed by the Mansfield Asphalt & Pavings Co. A resolution was passed requesting the district highway engineer to come to Plymouth and view some of the defects of the new road. One councilman stated that chips of the newly laid asphalt, measuring several inches long, can be picked up along several yards of the highway. Although the roadway improvement was done under a street contract, the village officials felt that inasmuch as the city contributed $350 toward the improvement, that such defects should be brought to the attention of the highway department.

The council also has under advisement the placing and marking of safety zones for the school district, so that school children may have adequate protection. It is very evident that motorists like to speed for the school zone, which are violating speed limits. To combat this tendency of speeding through the school zone, the officials are taking under advisement necessary measures to curb this practice.

In addition to Sandusky Street traffic past the schools, the council is also mapping plans for the construction of a sidewalk on Maple Street so that the children do not have to walk in the road. This is a hazard which has been pointed out by the council many years, and one which the council hopes to overcome as soon as possible.

The mayor's report was read, and payment of bills approved with adjournment following. The session Tuesday night was a light one, with only a few complaints being registered.

IMPROVEMENTS MADE IN WATER SOFTENER AT WATER PLANT HERE

Iron Removal Filters Replaced; Zealite To Be Added At Early Date; Board Transacts Regular Business At Monthly Session.

Plymouth water patrons, especially the housewives, can take a long sigh of relief, for soft water is back in the water mains. Supt. E. L. Rooks, at the Monday meeting of the Board of Public Affairs reported that two new iron removal filters have been installed, the first renewal since the plant began operation here.

The water chart at the plant before the new filters were placed read as high as 180 grains, but a sharp decrease was noted Monday when the hardness was reduced to around 90 grains, which should make the water supply more desirable for home use.

The Board voted to purchase an additional supply of zealite, a chemical necessary in the water softening process, and as the supply has been around one-third short, the additional zealite will increase the softness of the water. The cost of the zealite required is estimated around $300.

In his report to the Board, Supt. Rooks pointed out that the recent tree-trimming done in the village ran approximately $1,900. The estimated cost of the job was set at $250. The result of the tree-trimming is shown on charts at the light plant by a decrease in line voltage.

The water main extension south on Plymouth Street, which was approved and a contract awarded in July will probably be held up for some time due to a shortage of pipe. At the time the contract was let, Mr. Fauber, the successful bidder of Ashland, stated that only a pipe shortage would hold up the project, and up to this time he has been unable to secure the necessary pipe for the half-mile extension.

Supt. Rooks told the Board on Monday night that many items that are needed for continued improvement of light and water facilities still remain on the "hard-to-get" list. Light and water meters are not available, as well as many sizes of galvanized pipe and fitting and numerous electrical items. However, he stated that within the next six months many of these items will once more become available.

She was born in Cass township, Jan. 13, 1902, the daughter of John and Eva Keimath. She lived in Richland county her entire life and was a member of the Christian church at Shenandoah.

Survivors include her husband, two daughters, Dorothy and Shirley and three half sisters, Mrs. Ray Cook of Jackson township, Mrs. Jack McGovern of California and Mrs. Richard Lippert of Tiffin, her stepmother, Mrs. Rose Keimath of Greenwich, three half brothers, Foster Keimath, of Plymouth, John Keimath of Greenwich, three half sisters, Mrs. Lloyd Marks of California, Mrs. Ross Latimer and Miss Madge Keimath both of Greenwich.

JULY WEATHER

The month of July, 1946 was only slightly below normal in temperature, the average being 72.2 degrees as against a normal 72.3. The thermometer hit 90 and above on eight days, the highest being 96 on the 11th. On five nights it dropped to 50 or below, the lowest being 45 on the 27th.

Rainfall totaled only 2.62 inches—a deficiency of 1.01 inches. Of the total, 1.02 inches fell in one day—the 11th—leaving only .60 inches spread over the rest of the month. Even so, crops made good progress, with excellent weather for haying and combining.

What is turned out to be of exceptionally good quality and a splendid yield. The average was about 30 bushels to the acre but a good many fields ran much higher. Oats are also very good, although a good many acres had not been harvested at the end of the month due to lack of farm machinery. Corn, planted late, made rapid progress and may still beat the frost line. Soy beans never looked better.

Farmers, we might add, are working hard and long, and it will not be their fault if we don't have a record-breaking crop, so desperately needed in this year of 1946.

J. A. R. THOMAS LAWRENCE STOFFER, 23, Homewood, Ohio, student, and DONA R. RUPERT, 24, Greenwich, teacher, Dr. R. N. Bollinger of Greenwich to officiate.

DELPHI MAN'S KILLED BY AUTO

MELVIN HOWARD, 75, STRUCK BY AUTO SATURDAY NIGHT DIES EARLY SUNDAY.

While on his way home Saturday night, Melvin Howard, 75, was struck by an auto driven by a neighbor. Mr. Howard was fatally injured by the accident and passed away at the Willard Municipal hospital early Sunday morning.

The mishap occurred Saturday night at 8:00 o'clock, about one-half mile north of U. S. Route 224 on the Delphi road. It is reported the driver of the car, Mr. Blockert, was on his way home, driving north when the headlights from an oncoming car blinded him momentarily. Mr. Howard, it is thought, was struck at this instance, and the driver continued his way to his home nearby.

Mr. Howard was born in Delphi and had lived in this vicinity all of his life. He was well known in this section as a mason, and has built many fine residences and store rooms in northern Ohio.

He is survived by two sons, George of Delphi, and Oil of Louisville, Ky.; one daughter, Mrs. Sylvia Little of California; two grandchildren and two brothers, Marvin of Sidiho and Sherman of Delphi. He was a member of a family of eight children, and only the two brothers now remain.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 in the McQuate funeral home, Shiloh, with Rev. Stewart, pastor of the Delphi church, officiating. Burial was made in the Edward Grove cemetery.

The tragic passing of Mr. Howard brought much regret to those who knew him, for he was held in high esteem as a citizen, husband and father. He will be greatly missed in the Delphi community, for the long number of years he has resided there, and left him a part of the community.

HURON COUNTY FAIR OPENS ON AUG. 27TH; MANY ATTRACTIONS

The twenty-fourth annual Huron County Fair will be held at the Fairgrounds, Norwalk 40 days and nights, Aug. 27th to 30th inclusive.

The fair this year will include some new departments and additions and minor changes in others. The entertainment program has been expanded with a new and different type show to be presented each evening.

Among the new stock exhibits added to the fair this year is a separate fair for goats. Due to increased interest in goat raising in this district the past few years fair officials decided to open this new exhibit and are offering premiums in four classes.

School exhibits and the exhibits of home made farm machinery which proved so popular at last year's fair will be continued this year. A special building will be erected to handle the school displays and also the Junior fair exhibits. Arrangements are also being made to give the rabbit and poultry departments additional room for exhibits.

The third annual saddle horse show will again open the fair on Tuesday evening, Aug. 27. Last season, the saddle horse show attracted a record opening night crowd. This year, officials in charge hope to see new classes have been added and the number and amount of prizes in each class has been increased.

Horse pulling contests and a tractor pulling contest headline the morning events at the fair. The horse pulling contests for light weight teams weighing 3000 pounds and under, will take place Wednesday morning, Aug. 28. The heavy weight teams, pairs of horses, will weigh 3000 pounds and under, will take place Friday morning, Aug. 30.

The tractor pulling contest, a new feature of the fair, will be held Thursday morning. This contest will be for standard equipped farm tractors and run in the same manner.

A complete new program will be presented at each evening session. The show show Tuesday evening will be followed by the regular cattle parade plus two performances by the WLW Sohio Hayrides.

Thursday's evening's session will include the draft horse parade plus two performances of the Klein Variety Show.

Friday evening, Aug. 30, B. Ward Bean will present his thrill show as the closing feature of the fair. Bean's thrill show will include automobile hurdling, crash driving, car jumps and motorcycle acrobats, and other special acts.

Around the Square

(By Phineas Whittlesgoad)

IF THE COMMUNITY CLUB or business men really want to help the town, they can do so by purchasing a few waste paper containers and place them at strategic points around the Square. The old town, especially on Thursday and Sunday mornings, looks like... well, what do you think? You've seen paper and rubbish an inch thick on the Square, and you can't blame the public. Think it over. Let's keep our front door clean.

JUST SAW SOME "snaps" of Dr. Faust taken on his fishing trip into Canada last Fall. He's been about the Square from public view for a long time, but I had the privilege of seeing him "at home in the North Woods." In some of the most interesting photos was the one where he was fully dressed in his heavies... with breakfast being served to him in bed. There were the one taken while he was asleep... on his "all-fours" crunched up like he was making a start on a track trail... maybe he was seeing a dream? I'd like to see a call. Anyway, Doc... I can truthfully say I saw fish caught by you as "long as you're tall" and the worse some might find it like to ask this: "Don't you ever shave while on a hunting trip?" Listen. Don't feed me the pink lies that you tell at Ray's Carry. He showed me the pictures.

HARRIS POSTEMA, new member of the Board of Education, has the children's interest at heart, but he needs make it so realistic... he's home with the mumps.

IT TAKES MORE THAN A big pink ribbon tying up a new combination radio-victrola to attract the attention of Jacob Schneider. The children are seeing Mr. and Mrs. Schneider with the gift in observance of their twenty-sixth wedding anniversary Saturday and invited them to the home for the night. It stood, all bright and shiny and tied up with pink ribbon. After sitting down and waiting for something to happen, he calmly said, "What am I supposed to do now?"

A NUMBER OF HOUSEWIVES are quite exasperated because Plymouth is closed up tighter than a drum on Thursday afternoon and it is out of the question to purchase a loaf of bread, quart of milk or a pound of butter should the specific goods drop in. The suggestion that the store take turns and at least one store remain open for convenience. It is pointed out that it would only be once in every six or seven weeks and would be quite an accommodation.

"MAZIE" a year old pedigreed black and white bird, number of the Haines household. She is a gift to Rev. Haines and wife from their son in Cleveland and replaces one lost some time ago.

THIS ISN'T EXACTLY OLD Home Week down on the farm, but pets play an important part in the lives of the younger folks of Plymouth and Ida Mae Babcock is grieving her heart because one of her pet goats hung him. Tied to a stake, the goat managed to "wind" himself up and was dead when found.

ANOTHER CASUALTY! The past week work was "Shaggy" the small black Terrier belonging to the three Roy boys—Jack, Louie and Larry. Spot has been some close calls when he crossed the street way back in "Croger's" Street and an auto struck him. This is the third pup that traffic has taken for the boys. They are now getting acquainted with another dog.

L. Z. DAVIS was quite surprised Monday morning when down at his "shack" underneath the starway on the back of the square he reached into his box for some cord, to find instead a ball of fur. Investigation proved that Rumpus the "Kroger" dog had a litter of kittens some time Sunday or early Monday. Rumpus is quite friendly and often visits Mr. Davis when he is working with his papers at "Shaggy" and makes his home on a bundle of papers. Locking up Sunday noon, Rumpus was locked in unnoticed by Mr. Davis. She has taken her

NOT ON YOUR TINTYPE!

Grandma looks calm and collected as she poses for posterity, but she wasn't—not on your tintype! Getting her family ready for this picture was a long, weary business.

The day this photo was snapped, Grandma was up at dawn, wrestling with the old wood stove, coaxing the kettle to boil, cooking breakfast. And the day before, she ironed the mountain of clothes that had needed such hard scrubbing. The day before that—

But that was Grandma's life. She didn't know any other kind. Her way of housekeeping took lots of time, lots of elbow grease. In Grandma's gayest dreams she never imagined the time would come when a woman would have dozens of electric servants daily for the cost of a bar of soap.

Electric service—ready and willing around the clock and calendar—is a modern miracle Grandma missed by being born too soon. But electrical dependability (and cheapness, too) didn't happen by accident. Not on your tintype! They're the result of plenty of hard work and practical experience on the part of your neighbors who operate this company.

Carl Sponseller Receives A Very Interesting Letter From "Buddy"

Here's the letter that Carl Sponseller received from his friend over in New Zealand. Problems of the ex-G. I. over there are about the same as in the U. S., and it is interesting to note how they are faced.

Carl is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Sponseller of Shelby, Rt. 3, and a member of Ohio's 57th Division. He previously had sent from the Pacific Theatre, while stationed there, a number of unusually interesting letters, and we know our readers will enjoy hearing from his former friends:

Dear Carl:
Thanks very much for your welcome letter. I was very pleased when I received your card etc., in the mail the other day. As a matter of fact I was beginning to think that maybe I wouldn't be able to get in touch with you chaps again.

Last Christmas I did a very silly thing. While in a store buying some cards to send to you, and Russ, and Hoyt, I dropped the piece of paper on which were your addresses and could not locate it. However I thought I could remember Russ's address and sent him a card care of Mrs. E. Trapp, Susquahanna Falls, O. I don't remember the street number I used, but I feel that somehow I got the whole address balled up, as I have had no reply. I made some inquiries at the U. S. Army Post Office here in Auckland and asked them if it would be OK to write care of your Division and they said—no, they would not be able to read dress mail as they had so many other cases of people trying to write to American Servicemen of doubtful domicile. Consequently you can imagine how pleased I was to get the letter from you and Glenn, the other day. I do hope that, that letter will serve to establish a really first-class communications system between us. I think it would be a great pity if that friendship, started under such rigorous conditions was allowed to disintegrate in these days of peace.

You ask if I remember you distinctly? Now look here, Carl, I don't know how I am supposed to take that. As if I could forget any of you chaps, after the fine hospitality you showed me when I used to come up to your area. Believe me, I never forget when I say that, after leaving you chaps, I often thought of you, and wondered how you were faring. I was back home in N. Z. when I read in the newspaper the report that your division was on its way or already in Manila. I remember I was rather surprised at the time, that such news was published in a newspaper. But I suppose McArthur's headquarters were fairly confident by then. It is wonderful that I all came out of that OK, as it seemed pretty tough going to us. How's your health, Carl? And Glenn's? I hope you are all well and not suffering any ill effects after your service overseas. How is Russ? I hope he is fit and well and the same for Hoyt. I wonder if you would send me the other addresses, so I could like to write to them.

Yes, I am a civilian once more and have been out of the Air Force since August 1945. It is a great feeling to be a free person once again, isn't it? I am afraid I have not very much news for you, as regards to travels, etc., after leaving Bougainville as I went straight home from there and was with my people again in about two weeks, if my memory serves me right. On arrival in N. Z. I was given a free period of a month and when that expired was transferred to an Air Station where I must have stayed close to being discharged.

After my discharge I found I was in a position to take on something which I have had a yen for, for years. That was to go to a University and study medicine. That is what I am doing now, Carl, and in about five years time I hope to get my Degree in medicine and become a doctor. I must have a lot of hard work ahead of me. I already had a taste of it, but it doesn't deter me a bit. If I didn't get very much out of these past years, do you know one thing I learned, and that is—the true meaning of the word Patience. I suppose you have learned the same thing, but to a greater extent though. I don't know how you fellows managed to stick out your long spell in the Pacific? How long did you have to serve, Carl? I was back home at least four years, wasn't it?

I suppose you are back in your old job now, too? How do you like it? If my memory serves me the 57. If my memory serves me the 57.

when I met you, were you? Have you taken the big plunge yet? And what about the other boys? Glenn was married, wasn't he? As for myself, I am still single unfortunately, in one way. I had a little trouble with the lady friend when I got home. I think you would call it "if" trouble. However I realize now it was all for the best. I intend making a trip to the States, when I qualify. So you know, I may meet some of those young ladies whose praises I heard you and Russ and Hoyt singing so often.

I don't suppose there's any chance of your chaps coming out here for a trip now or in the near future, is there? I suppose you won't know how to spend your gratuities or deferred pay! I don't know whether that is what you call it. Here in N. Z. and the same applies to all of the Armed Forces of the British Commonwealth of Nations, the discharged Servicemen are given a lump sum of cash assessed on the total length of overseas and home Service. The rates are 3/6 (approximately one-half dollar) for every day of home Service. To get back to the point, if any of you should have any ideas about traveling out this way, don't forget to look me up. However as with us here, I suppose all discharged Servicemen are concentrating on getting established as successful civilians again, in the States.

I suppose living conditions in the States are now as bad as they are here. Servicemen are having a lot of trouble getting houses to live in and decent clothes to wear. Since the war finished, prices, for the most commodities have soared, and clothes are almost three times as dear as they were before the war.

Motor cars, or should I say automobiles, are a terrific price and so far the only new cars coming into N. Z. are from England. We still have petrol rationing, here also, as well as food lines, such as butter, sugar, and meat. However, the rationing system for the last three items is fairly good and we do not go short. Cigarettes are not rationed, but it is very hard to get although just a few of the stores have had some Canadian brands in stock. They are soon rused through. I haven't been doing any radio work lately, I have been too busy otherwise, but I have seen quite a lot of equipment from the States on sale. Gosh—I hope I am not painting too grim a picture, Carl. You will be thinking I live in Berlin. Really do you pretty well here in N. Z. I am sure in comparison with the rest of the world over in Europe. I feel very sorry for some of those folks. They must be having a really tough time just now. However, I suppose some of them deserve it.

Well, Carl, this has developed into a really long letter, but I hope I am not boring you. I had better finish it for this time.

I am enclosing a few photographs for you, and hope you find them interesting. We are just starting our winter here now and in a few months, quite a few people, here in N. Z. will be thinking a lot about winter sports. My brother and I have just finished a short trampy trip up to the Winter Sports Area—National Park, and these photos were all taken up there. This National Park Playground is an area which has been set aside by the Government as a National Playground. There are no commercial interests allowed in the area, no farms, etc. The only buildings are Ski and Tramping Huts, and believe me we really have some great country there. It is absolutely unspoiled by man! I would like to send you a few photographs more interesting than my traps, so I will leave you to study them.

Well, I am afraid that is about all for now, Carl. Please send me Russ's and Hoyt's addresses, won't you? And once again thanks very much for the card and the kind and thoughtful message. It was very good of you and Glenn to remember me, and I can only say, I am sorry I was unable to send you all cards with similar thoughts from New Zealand.

Cherria for now
Very sincerely
Trevor H. Bierre
P. S. I don't know whether you have done any skiing or trampy Carl, if you haven't and have any friends who are keen on either, I would be glad to be pleased to exchange information and ideas, and would like to hear all about American skiing, etc. Best of love,
Trevor

Words are the most powerful weapons in all the world. The daily danger is that evil influences use them just as much as good influences. There is nothing more horrible than words of gossip. When we speak we must always be sure we can back our words with truth and good.

Six Inch Sermon

† REV. ROBERT H. HARPER †

Jesus and Home relations.
Lesson for August 11: Exodus 20:12; Mark 7:1-13; Luke 2:51, 52; Ephesians 6:1-4.
Memory Selection: Exodus 20:12.
In addition to the commandment to honor father and mother, we have in the lesson text several passages from the Gospels and the Epistles.
From Mark we learn of the Lord's reproof of the scribes and Pharisees for their wicked evasions of the law to honor parents and the example he gave of permitting a son to go free of aiding his father or mother by declaring that the gift he should make to them had been consecrated as a gift unto God. In the teaching of Jesus a gift made to parents is accepted as a gift to God.
The childhood of Jesus is a beautiful example unto all children. He "was subject" unto Joseph and Mary, and parents and children alike should profit by considering the results achieved by a good home and a good child. For Jesus "advanced in wisdom and stature, and in favor with God and man."

SCOUTS ENJOY CAMPING TRIP

Twenty-one scouts and their adult leaders returned late Saturday evening from the annual Summer Camp held at Conger, on the Huron River. The final day was brought to a fitting climax by an indoor game with Troop One of Shiloh, the local scouts winning 23-5.

Highlight of the week was the overnight hike, with pack, to Suicide Cliff, located on the river about four miles down stream. All but three of the group participated in the adventure and good weather made it an adventure to forget. The party of 20 freshly popped corn finished the evenings doing, following a two hour camp event which proved unsuccessful.

Monday evening the group was taken on a compass by hike by Rich Moore, covering a great deal of territory about the river. The group gathered about ten quarts of blackberries.

Thursday evening, visitors nite, found approximately twenty-five parents and friends around the campfire. Danny Eby and Larry Hampton were sworn in as Tenderfoot Scouts and presented their Tenderfoot badge of rank by Scoutmaster Don Einsel. Larry Hampton gave the formal welcome to the gathering. THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON

The 70th congress is dead, a dead unless President Truman sees fit to bring it back into special session between now and January 3 when the new 80th congress convenes.

The speculation here, with food prices, summer prices and all prices except rents, showing a steady rise, a rise which is expected to continue despite the efforts of a crippled and impotent OPA and promises of leaders of the National Manufacturers' association, is just how high must they go before the President and his advisers consider dangerous inflation is here and a special session necessary to curb it.

However, in spite of the general feeling of relief that this congress is over, it has been marked by fealty, bickering, filibusters, intolerance and selfishness, log rolling and a general feeling of domestic issues. Probably never before in history has a legislative program of a President been treated with such contempt and defiance as the program sent to the congress by President Truman shortly after his accession to the Presidency upon the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Adjournment sine die gives the congress the longest respite since the 70th American Legion congress adjourned on June 18. Since that date, the affairs of war and peace have kept the members close to their desks.

As a matter of fact, however, the closing days before adjournment saw barely a quorum present.

Many of the members having already left to mend their political fences for the coming congressional election . . . an election so important that the outcome will almost surely forestall the Presidential election of 1948.

And with these empty desks, the last hours of the congress saw such important measures under consideration as the G.I. terminal leave bill and the necessary legislation to finance it, legislation to freeze the social security payroll tax at 5 per cent through 1947, and the administration backed Taft-Ellender-Wagner long-range housing bill.

In spite of the many failures and few accomplishments of this congress there are two bright spots in an otherwise black picture on the domestic front . . . one, the McElahon bill creating a civilian commission for the domestic control of atomic energy, and two, the congressional reorganization bill which seeks to reform congress itself. The importance of these two measures and their effect upon the future is incalculable. This latter bill, passed largely through the skillful handling and long hours of work by Sen. Robert M. La Follette, Wisconsin, and Cong. Mike Monroney, Oklahoma, will cut away a lot of deadwood in the congress, will seek to streamline its obsolete machinery and make it more responsive and responsible to the people of the nation.

MIGHTY SUB-SURFACE BLAST . . . The atomic bomb was said by observers to have shot a column of water more than 5,000 feet into the air, or about four times higher than the Empire State building in New York City, world's tallest building. The burst shown here, with the New York skyline superimposed upon it, was photographed immediately after the bomb was detonated and the column of water had not yet reached its full height.

Connie Mack thinks that Boston is doing so well because players on other clubs are not hustling. They are dissatisfied over many things . . . some want pay for spring training and for exhibition games . . . others don't want to play on Mondays.

Tournament golfers are turning to heavier putters. Some now weigh 28 ounces, an increase of some 10 ounces over the old standbys. The trend began in 1940, after Jug McSpoden suddenly spurted into the big money winner class by using a heavier iron.

West Point may lose its mighty fullback, Felix "Doc" Blanchard. It is rumored that the All-American wants to go to Tulane and study medicine, as his father did, rather than become an army officer. Speaking of football recalls a startling prediction by Ed McKeever, ex-Notre Dame grid coach, who is now at Cornell. McKeever is reported to have told a Canadian rugby coach that "Notre Dame is due for a downfall on the gridiron this fall. There are too many schools out to win from them this year."

Lew Fonseca, former baseball star, is now official scorer together for both leagues. This year he and his crew are making a series of reels on outstanding hitters. Next year he says they will cover pitchers and catchers in action . . . after that, infielders, and so on. These films will be available to schools and colleges.

SELLING WITH A REAL SMILE

THIS TRUE STORY has been sent me by Miss Ednah E. Hill, who has an office in Turks Head Building, Providence, Rhode Island.

One day she was sitting in her office when a boy about ten years old came in and asked her in a sad, mournful voice if she would buy a copy of a weekly magazine he was selling. She said no, and turned back to her desk. But something about the boy caused her to look at him more closely. His sad, gloomy, dejected manner struck her most forcefully. He had an attractive face, but his speech and personality was a churchyard at midnight. Surely here was a little lad who lacked encouragement.

Well, Miss Hill proved that she knows something about psychology and human nature. She decided she would perform a little experiment. She would see if she could build up this unhappy little boy into a real salesman. She struck up a conversation with him; encouraged him to come back again. Then she coached him in the simplest and most effective trait in all the world. The habit of smiling. She impressed upon him the value of a smile; she taught him that he must approach his customers with a smile.

The boy shook his head. A smile wouldn't sell anything, he said. The people wanted to buy a magazine, or they didn't, and that ended it.

"Will you try it for just one day?" she asked.

"Well, all right," he said interestedly.

"Smile right now!" she urged.

He worked up a thin smile. She kept after him until she got him to smile naturally and easily, and then sent him into an office down the hall. He had a more cheerful voice, and he smiled; but he didn't make a sale. In the third office he did!

This opened the boy's eyes. There might be something to this idea after all!

Next she drilled him into a cheery "Good Morning," "How do-you-do, sir?" and lo and behold! he began to make sales. Up to this time he had had the lowest sales record of any boy in the district. The company had been on the point of taking away his badge.

Now he began to climb. And the more he smiled, the better he liked it. Customers took an interest in the cheery little fellow who made the office seem a warmer and more friendly place.

His sales continued to increase. He climbed higher and higher in the estimation of his boss. At the end of three years he stood first in his district. He is now helping support the family and has a savings account of his own.

Doings in Congress

By CONGRESSMAN WILLIAM LEMKE

Defeating the G. I. out of terminal relief. It's the same old story. We trusted the G. I. to defend the nation. We trusted them to fight and die for other nations. Now that the war is over, the end of Pennsylvania Avenue has become suspicious. They do not trust the boys with cash. They claimed that that would bring about inflation. They insisted that Congress pay them bonds. I regret that the Senate submitted to their wish.

We gave Great Britain four billion four hundred million in cash—not in bonds. We cancelled thirty-four billion that she owed us. We should have given this for collection to the G. I. who saved the British Empire in World Wars I and II. This would amount to $3690 for each. In addition, we made Britain a gift of six billion of war installations in World War I. We should have given this to the G. I. It would more than have paid their terminal leave.

Then we gave one billion three hundred million cash to France, but bonds to the boys who returned here. We gave and are giving billions in cash to these and other foreign nations, but bonds to the G. I. We paid the officers for their terminal leave in cash, but not so with the G. I.

We pay three million civil Federal employees and members of Congress with cash, but give bonds to the G. I. who offered their lives, limbs and health on foreign battlefields. We paid billions in cash for subsidies to help pay the board bill for the stay-at-homeers, but we have only bonds for the nation's defenders.

It is claimed that the G. I. can pay his insurance premium with these bonds. Yes, and in the end he will lose both his insurance and his bonds. The bureaucracy in the Executive Department says that if the boys get cash they will buy everything in sight. They do not tell you that Great Britain, Ital-

France and other nations are buying everything in sight with the taxpayers' money.

It is the same old story. Cheers for the G. I. when they were inducted, and manipulations, shady deals and run-arounds when they come home. We give them surplus to buy war surplus property, but they were generally juggled out of it by some clever manipulator. We give them priorities to homes but the building material is on the ocean shipped to other nations. We give them priorities for tractors, automobiles and harvesting machinery, but the priorities are on the way to foreign nations. Fourteen thousand tractors alone to one of Russia's puppet nations.

In conclusion, let me say to the G. I. that I am sure that Congress will change the recent law from bonds to cash when it reconvenes. It cannot honorably do less.

The Story of The Sprouting Telephone Pole

Can you imagine a telephone pole that sprouts like Jack's fabled beanstalk? The tall telephone pole shown above did just that . . . only it did it sprouting in cost. The two poles shown in the picture are actually the same size and serve the same purpose. However, one was bought four years ago, the other this year. And this sprouting telephone pole is typical of the climbing costs of all labor and material required to provide you with telephone service. Will the pole stop sprouting? Who knows? But we do believe you should know how difficult it is to continue good service under present conditions of higher operating costs.

The Golden Lamb—Lebanon

For those who like the scenery well seasoned with history, or their history well seasoned with scenery, a drive through the area around Lebanon in southwest Ohio will prove well worthwhile.

West of Lebanon on Route 350 are remains of those prehistoric Ohioans—the Mound Builders.

At Fort Ancient, a fortified area surrounded by 2 1/2 miles of continuous embankments, the Ohio State Historical and Archaeological Society has constructed a museum. This shows modern-day Ohioans the handwork of the long-ago inhabitants of the Buckeye State.

The fort itself is on a flat, open tableland overlooking the little Miami River. It served as a refuge for the people of the entire valley from powerful foes.

In Lebanon itself on the Cincinnati Pike is the newest acquisition of the Ohio State Historical and Archaeological Society. It is The Durbin Ward House, an architectural treasure which contains an authentic document of the community and the times.

Built more than a century ago, it has never been remodeled or modernized.

The house was constructed by J. Milton Williams, the prosecuting attorney of Warren County, and later an Ohio legislator. It was later occupied by Durbin Ward, the first man in Warren County to answer President Lincoln's call for volunteers.

In the house are many of the possessions of early Ohio settlers. The building and its contents serve to carry us back to the early days of the state.

In Lebanon is the Golden Lamb—Ohio's oldest hotel. It opened in 1808 as a 2-story log-cabin tavern. In 1815 a new brick building was erected, which is a part of the present hotel.

The guest register includes the names of ten presidents of the United States and many other famous personages.

The building itself is listed in the historic American Building Survey of the United States Department of the Interior.

From Lebanon it is only a short distance south to Cincinnati with its fine parks, its interesting zoo, its great Union Terminal, its art galleries, and other attractions.

Northeast of Lebanon is the tallest mound in Ohio—Miami-burg Mound—68 feet high. And only a little north of Miami-burg is Dayton, with its world-famous Wright Field, where so many of the airplane improvements of the last war were developed and tested.

NOT CONVINCED
An eastern go-getter spied a lazy Indian chief lolling indolently at the door of his tepee somewhere out west. "Chief," remonstrated the go-getter, "why don't you get yourself a job."

"Why?" grunted the chief.
"Well, you could earn a lot of money. Maybe 30 or 40 dollars a week."
"Why?" again asked the chief.
"For gosh sakes!" shouted the exasperated go-getter. "With a big savings account you could retire, and then you wouldn't have to work any more."

"Not working now," pointed out the Indian.

A REAL BRAWL Reports coming out of Willard indicate that a real old-fashioned brawl occurred on Highway 224 Monday night, when a couple of Norwalk youths were battered around by three Willard boys. It is rumored that three Plymouth musicians drove out to the scene and became engaged in the fracas. As a result the "tribe" was rounded up, and a hearing was held in Mayor Vetter's Police Court in Willard Wednesday evening. Details of the final bout will be given next week.

DIES AT 84 YEARS Death came quietly Thursday morning, August 1st to Miss Mary Hills, the last in her generation of a pioneer family which settled in this community early in the nineteenth century. Although in failing health for several years she insisted on staying in her own home and looking after her needs until two months ago when she went to Cleveland Heights to make her home with relatives, and where she passed away in her 84th year. In young womanhood, Miss Hills went to Salt Lake City and then to her brother, and shortly thereafter became affiliated with the United States, including Nome, Alaska, where she lived for several years. She was making her home in Seattle, Wash. in 1904, when she was called home by the illness of her mother. Although she never returned to the West she never did, but remained to care for her parents until their death and thereafter stayed on at the family home, three miles south-west of Plymouth. Miss Hills will always be remembered by those who knew her in the days before her health began to fail, as one ever ready to help, no matter how difficult the task, and always willing to carry more than her share of the burden. Early in life she became a member of the First Lutheran Church of Plymouth. She was preceded in death by her father and mother, three brothers and three sisters, and is survived by one niece, Myra Hills of Cleveland Heights and three nephews. Harold of Akron, Virgil Hills of Cleveland Heights and Ford Hills of San Francisco, Cal. Also one grand niece and five grand nephews. The funeral service will be held at the McQuate Funeral Home Saturday afternoon, with the Rev. M. P. Paetnick officiating. Burial was made in Greenlawn cemetery, Plymouth. (Continued from Page One)

Service Men MUST REPORT ALL EARNINGS COLUMBUS, O., August 8 - Servicemen receiving readjustment allowances under the G. I. Bill of Rights today were reminded that they are required by law to report any earnings from either full or part-time jobs, and warned that failure to do so may result in loss of further benefits and make them liable to prosecution under the federal law. Penalty in such instances is a fine of not more than $1,000 or imprisonment for not more than one year, or both. Charles H. Jones, administrator, of the Ohio Bureau of Unemployment Compensation which handles the payment of the readjustment allowances for the Veterans Administration, said that 111 cases of apparently fraudulent claims had come to his attention in the last three months and were now under investigation. These include thirty-six cases in Cleveland, thirteen in the Cincinnati area, eight in Toledo, seven in Columbus, six in Youngstown, six in Athens and thirty-five elsewhere in the state, he added, most of them being cases in which investigation indicates the servicemen have received earnings from jobs while drawing readjustment allowances of $20 per week for total unemployment. So far, twenty-one cases have been certified to the Veterans Administration for further action. The BUC administrator pointed out that although the number of alleged fraud cases was at present very low in Ohio compared with the total number of readjustment allowances claims, a timely warning now might prevent a loss of benefit rights later. During June an average of 76,118 returned veterans per week were receiving readjustment allowances in Ohio.

Round The Square Ethel Reed, manager of the Koger Store, feeling they will get better attention there. CARD ODDITIES - There are fifty-two cards in a full deck of playing cards and the sum of all the cards in the four suits plus one for the joker, is 365, the number of days in a year. RAY McCARTY is resting up a little this week in anticipation of going down to Vandalla next week for the big National Trapshoot. Ray has made some very fine scores in these events, and he hopes to get a few prizes at the coming shoot. CELERYVILLE CHURCH BANQUET AT TIRO SCHOOL, AUGUST 13 The Tiro school auditorium will be the scene of a banquet honoring the returned veterans of the Dutch Reformed Church of Celeryville on Tuesday evening, August 13th. The banquet will be held at the Celeryville Hotel. The dinner will be served by the Ladies Aid Society of the Tiro U. B. Church.

CAR WRECK; FOUR INHURT

Two New Washington brothers, a Shelby girl and a Willard girl, had a very narrow escape Saturday night between 9:30 and 10:00 o'clock when the 1941 Ford V-8 in which they were riding, left the road at the foot of Morse's hill, and overturned three times. The young people were driving north toward Plymouth, and the car left the road for at least 200 feet, destroying eighty feet of fence before coming to a stop. One of the young women was injured to the extent of being treated at a local doctor's office, but the remaining three occupants escaped with minor cuts and bruises. The car was towed to the Ford Repair Shop, where it is being held by orders of the State Highway Patrol. It is reported that the car was traveling at an unusually high rate of speed, and only a miracle kept the four young people from being fatally injured.
