

COUNCIL TALKS SEWAGE PLANT; PLANS FIRE TRUCK PURCHASE

The first step toward a sewage disposal plant for Plymouth was taken last Thursday when the village council passed a resolution appointing Alden F. Stilson & Associates of Columbus to be the design engineer...

In appointing the engineers the village assumed no financial responsibility, inasmuch as under a special federal grant, the government pays all engineering costs...

If the application for engineering funds is approved by state and federal agencies, work will begin on making siting plans and a general lay-out for the sewage system...

Plymouth has faced the need of a sewage disposal system for many years and at various intervals the State Health Department has threatened to take action.

Root was appointed by council to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Park Meiser. Root was sworn in as chairman last Thursday afternoon.

With money available for the purchase of a new fire truck, much discussion was heard at Tuesday night's meeting.

Lawnmower Sharpeners, Product of Local Plant, Make 'Extra' Dollars For Owners Throughout The World

Most of us who live in Plymouth probably think of our town as a "little spot in Ohio, situated on the County Line Road that divides the Richwood and Richwood Counties..."

While a large portion of the male population of the village is employed in the plant of The Fate-Root-Heath Co., it is safe to say that a few of the other residents do not realize or know just what our local plant manufactures.

pointment of a committee to work in conjunction with Fire Chief Stewart to draw up specifications and advertise for a fire truck. The necessary legislation will probably be completed within the next week or ten days.

The fire house, a wooden frame structure on Porter Street, has received a coat of paint, and will preserve the wood at least for the time being or until a new fire house is available.

Traffic signs and markings also received some consideration, and new signs will be painted on the Square. Slow signs have been painted on the pavement at both the north and south approach to the school building on Sandusky street...

Athletic Group To Reorganize

A reorganization meeting of the Plymouth Athletic Association was held Monday night in the Jaycee Club rooms. The meeting was presided over by John P. Root, vice president, who appointed a nominating committee...

At Monday night's meeting, a representative group of last year's membership was present. Meetings with the group were Supt. P. J. Van Brunt, and Coach Lindsey, who discussed the possibilities of the coming season's athletic activities.

At the meeting scheduled for Tuesday, October 1st, the nominating committee will make known its selection of prospective officers. The public is respectfully requested to be present at this meeting which will be held at the high school auditorium.

The association last year proved to be a booster Club for Plymouth High and its athletic activities. As a result bigger attendance was noted at every game, and more enthusiasm and interest prevailed throughout the season.

Through cooperation of the athletic association, transportation to out-of-town games was coordinated and furnished to many people who had no way of attending out-of-town games. Transportation problems, game attendance and general plans for the coming season will be discussed at the meeting scheduled for Oct. 1st.

The association asks the cooperation of the community by attending the meetings. It is always a willingness to support Plymouth's basketball team this year.

Fate-Root-Heath Co. took over the manufacture of these machines, and from the time the first one was built, up to the present time, thousands have been shipped all over the world.

At this point the question might arise in your mind, "what is the 'curved blade'?" Frankly, it is one of the "cutest" little machines you ever saw. It stands about 24 inches high, and to sharpen a lawnmower, all you have to do is simply take off the handle of the mower, place it in the Ideal Grinder and with a few simple adjustments, you can grind the "curved blades" or reel knives, so sharp and accurately that every blade of grass they pass over it cut clean. I have seen the Ideal Sharpener set up in a machine that a wet grip on a paper could be cut by the sharpener, and to those who are mechanically inclined, this is really precision sharpening for a lawnmower.

This being the first article which will explain the products of The Fate-Root-Heath Co., we are taking the Lawnmower Grinding division this week of which we will try and tell you something of a machine that is not only sold in every state in the United States, but Canada, Mexico and other distant countries. Many years ago, W. H. Peters, one of our local residents, entertained the idea of a machine that would sharpen lawnmowers accurately.

EMPTY MEAT COUNTERS AND BARE SHELVES MORE EVIDENT THAN EVER IN LOCAL STORES

Plymouth is in the same position as other cities and towns in Northern Ohio as a result of meat shortages. A check-up of stores last Saturday morning revealed that all meat cases were empty by 9 a. m. and only one local store had a small supply of fresh meat.

One of the bigger stores here, which has always catered to a large volume in its meat department, has been out of meat for many days. The manager of the store, reports that he is about ready to entirely suspend the meat department. All stores reported Tuesday that final calls were made this week by packers, and that the meat outlook for the coming weeks is very dark.

Over a half hundred meat dealers in Mansfield have voiced their decision to suspend business. An OPA employee (a woman) in Mansfield had her bluff called, when she accused packers in that city of not cooperating with OPA. The packers offered her a fabulous reward if she would take over the plants, operate them for thirty days, and show one small percentage of profit. She didn't take the job.

In a general discussion with grocerymen and marketmen in Plymouth, it was revealed the past week that had Congress allowed business to operate without OPA restrictions, that the law of supply and demand would have straightened out the situation, which in the past few weeks, has become critical.

Farmers as a whole over the nation, aren't worried about the food situation, for a large portion of them have frozen food lockers well filled, which will answer their immediate needs for fresh meats and vegetables.

As a substitute for meats, local stores report heavy buying over the week-end in fish and poultry. One store reported fish sales last Friday and Saturday, totaling almost 100 lbs. Hundred of chickens were handed out over the counter the past week-end.

Unless the situation changes soon, Plymouth residents will be confronted with a harder problem than ever "what shall we eat?"

There will also be election of officers for the coming year. Don't forget Monday, Sept. 23 at 6:30 p. m.

Notable Visitor Returns Home

After a week in Plymouth visiting her parents, Dr. and Mrs. G. J. Searle, Eleanor Searle Whit my left Tuesday night for her home in Old Westbury, Long Island.

Mrs. Whitney, who is a well-known international figure, spent the most of the week here visiting her former friends whom she knew while residing here.

Last Sunday she pleased a capacity house at the Lutheran church where she sang several selections during the morning service.

As a friendly gesture she gave a very impromptu appearance last Monday evening at the Lutheran church more than half hundred friends who had received a personal invitation for her "song fest." Mrs. Whitney entered the church and personally greeted her friends.

Her selections were varied, including folk songs, and other notable songs. She was assisted at the piano and organ by Marie Peters Guthrie, who also rendered several selections at the organ for an intermission. John A. Root pleased the audience when he accompanied Mrs. Whitney at the piano for one selection.

Mrs. Whitney, on her departure, stated that she had enjoyed every hour of her stay here immensely, and hopes to return again in the not too distant future.

SAFE DRIVING

Ladies and gentlemen of the teen-age bunch, speaking for the Ohio State Safety Council, here's a hunch for you: think it's big stuff in a gasoline jittersbag to go tear'n around town—your own top is let down! Maybe you get a bang-up thrill out of a sloppy jaunt, but you might get a bang-up AFTER THE THRILL. You don't bet your life you will! Even in a snappy convertible you're definitely hurtable! So, ladies and gentlemen of the younger set, you can add a lot of fun and a lot of years to your teens—that's what safe, driving means!

Around the Square

(By Phineas Whittlesed)

JACK GIBSON and the Pioneer group at Willard who so doubt be interested in knowing that their gloves serve more than one purpose. Thru the "grapevine" we learned this week a group of men with whom Betty Brown is acquainted, went hunting over in Bavaria for wild boar. The boys didn't bring home a boar, but they did take over a baby mouse. The little fellow had no mother, and someone had to figure out a plan to feed it. So Betty Brown put her head to work, sent down for a pair of rubber gloves and manipulated one of the gloves in a manner that it was used as a feeding bottle. After serving dinner to the baby mouse it was discovered that the meat was from The Pioneer Rubber Co., in Willard.

AFTER A LAPSE of five years Lawrence "Pinkie" Becker, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Alton Becker, paid a visit to Plymouth over the week-end. Back in his high school days, Pinkie was a real basketball fan and player. He's known now, and manipulated some what in the research department of General Motors, at Lansing, Mich., and from what we hear he continues to be very studious... even in his work.

JUST AFTER the "death of OPA"

In June, we saw pictures in the papers of thousands of hogs and cattle, over-impulsively slaughtered. Now that OPA is back, we see pictures of empty stalls. Most of us are wondering where the hogs and cattle went so fast... certainly not in the markets of the country. Do you really suppose the farmers have gone on a strike?

HERE IS A REMINDER rhyme from the National and Ohio State Safety Councils to those persons who take chances absent-mindedly or impulsively. Of all sad words in sound or ink, The saddest are these: "I didn't think."

AT LAST summer has arrived, according to the way the thermometer shot up Wednesday. Now that we have had a little bit of rain, we wouldn't have anything to worry about but the OPA.

DON FISHER, who operates the next Texaco Station on the Square, says that he'll almost be forced to get a fire chief's hat and a raincoat, when the new village fire truck comes to town. Guess Fisher thinks he has to live up to that "Fire Chief" reputation of being on the job!

Turkeys Plentiful For Thanksgiving Dinner This Year

Ohioans should have an ample supply of turkey for Thanksgiving dinner this year despite the fact that the Ohio crop of the holiday bird is smaller than last year it was disclosed recently.

Ohio farmers are raising 1,097,000 turkeys this year, five percent less than last year, and farmers throughout the United States are raising 4,013,000 turkeys, nine percent less than last year's record crop, the federal-state crop reporting service said.

Farmers, however, plan to send more turkeys to market in time for Thanksgiving than they did last year. There will be less turkey going to market after Christmas than a year ago.

CORN CROP CUT BY DRY AUGUST

PRODUCTION STILL EXPECTED TO EXCEED LAST YEAR.

COLUMBUS—Cool, dry weather in late August led the Ohio cooperative crop reporting service recently to predict a 185,612,000 bushel corn yield for the state, a slight reduction from earlier forecasts.

The 1946 corn crop still was expected to surpass last year's yield of 176,913,000 bushels, the service said.

Southwestern Ohio showed the best yield prospects as of Sept. 1, with the northern third having the poorest outlook, the report said. Some corn will not ripen properly unless killing frosts are late.

Soybean production was estimated at 18,089,000 bushels, compared with 20,072,000 last year. The wheat crop was placed at 52,735,000 bushels (60,993,000 last year); oats 67,030,000 ($3,532,000); barley 540,000 (630,000); rye 360,000 (558,000), and buckwheat 324,000 (396,000).

Egg production during August totaled 182 million, compared with 200 million eggs in August, 1945.

Incidentally, we recollect one owner of an Ideal during the depression, who earned well over $2,400 in one year, and the average income over the country by Ideal owners will run around $1250. Although lawnmower sharpners have been manufactured in Plymouth for many years, there seems to be no saturation point. During the years of the depression, 1930-34, the sale of sharpners held up, and even in the normal years that followed, lawnmower sharpners were still in demand.

The Ideal and Peerless lawnmower sharpners in past years were sold mostly to those men who wanted to earn extra money in spare time, but in the past decade there seems to be a tendency for repair shops of various kinds, such as key shops and bicycle repair shops, to buy these machines and offer a complete lawnmower service. Incidentally, we recollect one owner of an Ideal during the depression, who earned well over $2,400 in one year, and the average income over the country by Ideal owners will run around $1250. So you see the Ideal and Peerless Sharpners, made in Plymouth, is a machine that has started more than one man on the road to success.

During the war, owing to material shortages, the manufacture of grinding or sharpening machines, was at a standstill. It was only the past season, since January 1, that orders received last year, began to flow through in a piece-meal manner on the part of many of our customers. Machines were shipped without motors.

However, with the opening of the season next year, it is hoped that the supply of material will be sufficient so that orders may be shipped promptly.

P. H. Root, vice president and treasurer of The Fate-Root-Heath Co., has made the lawnmower sharpening machine a study of many years, and all of its refinements and improvements are credited to him. Mr. Root knows every type of mowing machine manufactured, and the new ones that are being put on the market today, different in style than the old ones, are giving him something to think about. For his job to see that the Ideal and Peerless sharpen about every make of mower made.

Now that the demand for lawnmower sharpners is increasing, steps have been made by the management to facilitate production.

One of the biggest improvements in years was the removal of the assembly line of the grinder division to Plant 4, (the brick building near the B&O station.) Last fall, workmen started a comprehensive repair program to this structure. The outside brick walls were pointed up, the interior was plastered, latest type of lighting fixtures installed, and the entire building inside was given an attractive coat of two-tone green, a light shade for the upper half of the walls and ceiling, and a darker shade for the lower portion of the walls. Rest rooms, wash basins and other facilities have been installed, and the building, with its many windows and new paint, makes an ideal place in which to work. Large, comfortable, airy offices end-of-office space for the "business end" of the plant. Half of the office space is occupied by the clerical staff while the other portion gives office space to Paul Root, sales manager, and P. H. Root, designing engineer.

It is needless to say that the employees who assemble the machines enjoy working in their new "quarters." Bins, tables and racks neatly arranged, as well as convenient to the job of work, give grinders. Very little noise is heard throughout the plant, as there is no machinery operating other than an occasional drill press or grinder.

Why do Ideal and Peerless Grinders have the reputation for being the BEST lawnmower sharpners on the market? It could be the design of the machine or the method in which a lawnmower is sharpened, but in my opinion, the men who build the machines should be given a large part of the credit, for the machines have to be "put together" right, for if they aren't neither the design nor the method is any good.

And who are the men that make the Ideal and Peerless? Well, starting down the list we find Alexander Mitchell of North Fairfield, who has charge of the Peerless division. "Mitch" has been "throwing" Peerless Machines together for twenty-six years. By "throwing" I mean just that... he's just so good at knowing where every little part goes, that he "tosses it into place." That's what practice and experience does for you.

Merton A. Benedict, "Benny" to the gang, has been in the grinder business for thirteen years. He's in charge of the entire assembly plant, and his job is to see that all parts and materials are on hand, and that the orders are shipped as they are received. Benny lives in Shiloh, and he even has an Ideal at his home on which he sharpens mowers for that community.

The list of employees includes F. G. Barnes, Clayton C. Pugh, C. E. Rooks, Warner E. Charles, R. Noble, John Jacob, Claude Hunter, Burton E. Eastman, Fred R. Ross and Raymond R. DeWitt. If you don't know these boys, I can say you'll never meet a finer bunch of men. And they're just the type that when they do a job it's done right. They see that every bearing shaft and pulley fits properly—not too tight, not too loose... which in the aggregate accounts for a perfect lawnmower sharpener.

The "office girls" are Zanette (Briggs) Fackler, Cindy Burrer and Lois Berberick. It's their job to keep the flow of correspondence in the clear, to fill out orders, and shipping instructions. It's quite amusing and interesting, their work in replying to letters from all over the States and a great portion of the world, and they are very adept at "getting on" to the necessary terms when referring to a grinding machine.

It is needless to say that the past two or three years P. H. Root and Paul Root have had some very large headaches, due to the many orders for grinder repair parts, as well as trying to fill orders for new machines. However, they state that they hope the situation will ease up by next Spring, and that they will take a different slant on life.

With the summer season practically over in Plymouth, and lawnmowers have once more become silent, just remember that during the winter months, down

Grateful—For What?

When Robinson Crusoe was shipwrecked off his lonely isle, he took time to reflect on his fortune. He drew up a list of the evil and the good of his position. He thought long and sorrowfully on his loneliness and apparent misfortune in being so far from any civilization and even his remote chance of ever seeing his loved ones again. But when he thought of the fact that he alone was alive of all his companions, and that there was a friendly climate and food close at hand, he concluded that there was not any condition in the world so miserable but there was something negative or positive to be thankful for in it. Take time to think of God's goodness to you in whatever position you may find yourself, and you will not fail to see that God tenderly cares for you.

Attends Japanese Party P. C. James Moore had a little difficulty at first with his chop sticks when he attended a party recently in Japan, but before the meal was over, he could handle them quite adeptly.

Jim with seven other enlisted men and their Lieutenant were the invited guests of the Chief of Police at Bihoro. The affair was held at a hotel in that city and before entering, the boys were instructed to leave their shoes outdoors. The hotel room was bare of furniture, but each guest took from his suitcase a little which they set cross-legged. Contrary to the American custom, tea was served first, then before each guest was placed a small container of hot charcoals upon which was placed a bowl. Servings were made from a larger dish containing chopped chicken, cabbage and green onions mixed with a Japanese sauce, and then placed over the hot charcoals to keep warm. It required about two hours for the meal. Pictures were taken of the party.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Moore received them Tuesday. Jim also wrote that he sees Jim Kennedy, another local boy, several times a week.

Pfc. Moore expected to be transferred on the 21st of this month to Tokyo where he would take a six weeks water landing course.

Facts About Plymouth

PLYMOUTH is located on State Route 41, a main highway from the Ohio River to Lake Erie, and State Route 98; to the north two miles U. S. Highway 224. Plymouth is served by two railroads, the Akron, Canton & Youngstown and the Baltimore & Ohio. The community is rich in farm lands; a few miles west is found the John Stambaugh farms, which raise onions, carrots, sweet corn and other produce. The Hoffman Farm is a big producer of corn and livestock. Nearby are the beautiful gardens of Celeryville, which feature celery, lettuce, radishes and other garden produce.

PLYMOUTH is proud of its name for its only industrial plant, the Fate-Roody-Heath Co., manufacturers of locomotives, clay working machines, Silver King tractors and lawnmower sharpeners, are found in every part of the world.

The community is served by modern stores which make up its Public Square, the Peoples National Bank, and the Plymouth Grain Elevator. It has a trading area of ten square miles.

ALWAYS DO YOUR BEST

IN 1869 Susan B. Anthony was on a speaking tour across the United States. She was trying to convince people that women should be allowed to vote. Seems queer today, but at that time it was a tremendous issue.

She found that one of the places listed on her schedule was Cheyenne, Wyoming. She had never been in Wyoming, knew little or nothing about Cheyenne. She was tired and it did not seem worth while to make a speech there. She was about to wire ahead and tell them that she would be unable to speak, when a motto came to her. It was her own motto, but it was a hard one always to follow. It was: "Always do your best."

D. Carnegie

So instead of wiring on ahead, she got off at Cheyenne and went to the hall where she was to speak. When she looked the crowd over she was discouraged; for it was composed chiefly of cowboys and prospectors and "floaters"—people who didn't want their names known, or anything about them.

She thought: "I'll spare myself. There's nobody of consequence here. I'll just slide through my speech."

Then she remember her motto and did her very best. After the speech was over, some of the men came up and talked to her and she talked to them earnestly and sincerely.

Then she left.

After she was gone she asked herself, "Was it worth it?"

A few months afterward she got an astounding telegram. It said: "The territory of Wyoming, through its legislators, has voted to extend to the women of the territory the right to vote." That was one of the most astonishing telegrams she ever received. For Wyoming thus became the first territory, or state, in the whole world to extend full suffrage to women.

She got into correspondence with a "worker" in Cheyenne and found that the speech she had made that night, when she did not feel like speaking at all, was the thing that turned the tide.

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON — The report of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, pointing out the need for a record of achievement made by the nation's farm population in the war years, and predicting a continuation of the factors which contributed to that record until 1950, was an interesting feature of this week in Washington.

With practically the same acreage and with fewer men employed, the farm industry production soared to new heights and the coming four years should even raise this goal by 11 percent, the Bureau reported. Although the report indicated that increased fertilization, development of new disease resistant seeds and such new seeds as hybrid corn and mechanization of farms were responsible, probably the most significant factor was the turning of thousands of acres of land from production of food for animals to food production for man.

On the labor front the question of how and how soon the industry can turn back the coal mines to their owners occupied the attention of those agencies, labor and interior, who are responsible. Both government and John L. Lewis, the mine boss would like to see the mines go back to their owners. Government has operated them for more than three months. As a matter of practical operation, the nation's coal mines are, under present conditions, maintained much as they are in England. The government knows that if it holds on to the mines indefinitely there will be political repercussions. On the other hand, it is afraid that if it turns them back to the private owners before these owners and the miners have reached an agreement, there will be further coal strikes which will slow up the rapidly expanding reversion in industrial machinery.

Faced with this fact, the government called a conference of the mine workers committee and the owners here in Washington to see if they could get together. Interior Secretary Krug has made an agreement with John Lewis. The question is will the mine owners take over this agreement if they do will Lewis be satisfied, since there is a persistent rumor that when the time comes he will ask for additional consideration.

The unions declare they want to get rid of government operation, as they are just as opposed to it as the owners, all of it probably true, since the present set-up does not fit in with John Lewis' philosophy of free enterprise. The Russian situation continues to be grave and official Washington is not sanguine either about the peace conference nor a successful session of United Nations at Lake Success, N. Y., now in progress. Report of a British and Canadian committee urging the establishment of huge naval bases in Korea or in Alaska for fear of another "Pearl Harbor attack" does not help matters, besides an enduring peace talk is concerned. Officials, however, declare that so long as there is the present situation of suspicion and distrust among nations, they would be derelict in their duty not to point out the dangers to this country and to prepare for any eventuality.

RESOLUTION No. 123

(a) 2% of the estimated cost of the project shall be paid to the engineers at the time the general studies, surveys, outline plans upon which to base the approximate estimate of costs and review by appropriate governmental authorities have been completed.

(b) 2% of the estimated costs of the project shall be paid to the engineers at the time the final working drawings, detail plans, specifications, contract forms, together with final engineering estimate and approval by proper governmental authorities are turned over to the Council of the Village of Plymouth, Ohio.

(c) 2% or 3% of the contract price of the project in accordance with schedule of fees of Ohio Society of Professional Engineers shall be paid to the engineers when the Village of Plymouth, Ohio, proceeds with the construction of the project as per the plans, specifications and documents prepared under (a) and (b) above. This amount will be payable in six equal monthly payments. The first payment is to be made thirty days after the contract for construction has been awarded. For this sum, the engineers will receive and tabulate proposals, assist in awarding of contract for construction; furnish general supervision including line and grade surveys, assist in correct interpretation of plans and specifications; safeguard the Village of Plymouth, Ohio, against defects and deficiencies; prepare necessary documents for any additional permits; or other work customary to the owner-engineer relationship.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that this Resolution shall take effect and be in full force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

MOVING TO MANSFIELD

Mr. and Mrs. Quentin Squire are moving this week to their new residence, Claremont Ave., Mansfield. Mr. Squire is employed at the Mansfield Rug & Linoleum Co. Mrs. Squire, the former Betty Briggs, has been employed in the Grinder division of the Fate-Roody-Heath Co., for the past several years. She has resigned her position there and is succeeded by Miss Lois Berberick.

Here is a fact that all parents should heed: Ohio Safety Council records show that three out of every four accidental deaths to children under 5 years of age occur in the home. Mother and daddy, if you have a small child, take an appreciative look at its sound little body—and then take a very careful look around your home for all kinds of hazards. He or her safety is completely in your hands, and he or she trusts your care.

RESIGNS

Miss Martha Jean Boor has resigned her duties as Methodist church secretary in Shelby. Mrs. Richard Shepherd will begin her duties at the same office October 1st. Both parties are known here.
