Joe BeVier Gives Weather Report For California

California suffered a heat wave, February 3, 4 and 5th, according to headlines in the papers out there. "Summary Day Lifts Mercury to 86 Degrees," shouts one headline; another says: "Temperature Hits 83 For 30 Year Mark."

The clippings were sent in by Joe D. BeVier, former Plymouthite, who now resides in Los Angeles. Mr. BeVier has been absent from Plymouth for eleven years. He was at one time traffic-service manager at the Fate-Rook-Health Co. Upon leaving this position he became associated with the LeRoi Co., Milwaukee, and for the past two years he has been located in Los Angeles, representing his firm on the West Coast.

Back in the "old days," Mr. and Mrs. BeVier were among Plymouth's most popular couples, and since Father Time has made them so much changed in almost everything, we find the BeViers still interested in their old home town, and many of their friends here are glad to hear from them through a letter received from them this week. Possibly it was not meant for publication, but we found it so entertaining that we thought it let our readers know what the West Coast is really doing.

The letter follows: Los Angeles 43, Calif. February 6, 1947

Dear Tommie: Yes Tommy, you are right we do think of our old friends in Plymouth very often but with that problem of making a living

Old Willard Store Changes Hands

An old established business changed hands in a quiet Monday day, when Irwin G. Blittkofer, Cleveland, became the new proprietor of the Williams Pharmacy.

The store, which has been in the same location for sixty years, has been successfully operated for the past thirty years by Rollin K. Williams, who acquired it in 1918 from his brother, Dwight O. Williams, now of Galion.

Former owners of the store, all of whom are deceased except the Williams Brothers, were W. C. Mills, E. C. Rettig and Dr. Lydy and Jeffries.

Williams, better known as "Rollie," has no plans for the future except that of taking a much needed rest, he said.

He is a brother-in-law of John Lanlus of Plymouth.

Valentine Box Social Tonight

A prominent society lady approached a newly rich member of the country club group and asked, "Would you like to buy a ticket in the raffle we are having for a young widow?"

"I hope," said newly rich, "my wife will let me keep her even if I won."

But you can keep those super-duper wrapped boxes at the PTA Valentine Box social tonight at the high school auditorium, along with the privilege of eating the lunch with the young, attractive (they all are) lady who packed it.

Can't you just hear John Adams, well known auctioneer, offer the bidding with his "what am I offered for this box with lunch for two." It is really a supper for the girls and women are planning on the evening.

Following this part of the program the guests may dance to the new record player and phonograph combination given to the PTA by Mrs. Eleanor Seagle.

The school has been equipped with a lot of good-out-of-the-machine and are wondering how they ever got along without it.

Rare Book Sells For High Price

The famous Bay Psalm Book, printed in 1640 and sold sixty-eight years ago for $1,200, was sold January 29 for $151,000 to Dr. A. S. W. Rosenbach, book dealer of 15 East 51 St., N. Y.

Valentine Box Social Tonight

The direct underbidder for the book—the person who bid $151,000—was Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, one of the trustees of the Gertrude Vanderbilt Whitney trust, which owns the volume and ordered its sale.

The entire net proceeds from the sale will be given to the North County Community Hospital, at Glen Cove, L. I. by order of Mr. Whitney, Mrs. Miller and Barbara W. Henry, trustees, as a grant pledged by the trust.

Originally the proceeds were to be part of a grant of $94,200, which Mr. Whitney said that the entire net of the $151,000 sale will be turned over to the hospital. The trust itself is a charitable and educational one set up under Mrs. Whitney's will to finance construction of an obstetrical department under the enlargement plan of the hospital.

Mr. Whitney said that he bid for the book because it had been in his family for sixty-eight years and that he had worked out a plan whereby he would lend it to various educational institutions, churches and libraries so that many persons could see the book.

PROGRESS? In general, we approve of the rapid strides of science, but every so often a trick comes along that annoys us. For instance, it's reported that a new movie projector will throw ultraviolet light on a fluorescent screen, thereby making it possible to show movies in a fully lighted auditorium. What will become of the young-love element in the back rows? And how about us stodgier citizens — we won't be able to go to sleep during the B film!

LAYING ASIDE all of her household work and making an extra effort for her face getting red when she could find time to do a sign which said: "Closed, Legal Holiday," she turned away somewhat disgruntled. Wednesday, as you know, was Lincoln's birthday, and Harry and Jake had been generally close on that day. Mr. Bealman forgot to mention to the wife that "he was taking a day off."

GEORGE STEVENS, operator of Steven's Restaurant, called a bluff this week on Harry Hill and Jake Schneider. It seems that Harry and Jake had been kidding the Kingfish about his soups tasting as though they were all made from alfalfa. George took his two disgruntled customers that if they bring in some alfalfa, he'll really make them up some good soup. And what did they do but go out and bring in a half bale of the choicest hay, which they got to be outdone, Stevens went to work and made up a batch of soup using the alfalfa. Jake and Harry finally came in, calling for soup, and when they got the alfalfa soup, they thought it was swell soup, and even after they were informed of what they had eaten, Hills said he felt young and strong. He said he had had alfalfa, it's very good for the system, it contains vitamins X, Y, and Z. Hills thinks he has had enough vitamins for the present!

ATTEND SIXTIETH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY OF PARENTS IN WAKEMAN SUNDAY

Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Nickler of the New Haven Road were in Wakeman Sunday where the sixtieth wedding anniversary of Mrs. Nickler's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence H. Pierce was observed with a reception in the Second Congregational Church.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Pierce are 81, yet both are among the most active in Wakeman's community affairs.

A veteran grocer, Pierce sold his business in 1939 and decided to rest. But he found the world to do, so got himself a job in the Stoll grocery store, where he still works.

After forty years of listening to crackbarrel politics, selling kerosene cans with potatoes, he still finds selling groceries an interesting business.

Keeping an eight room house spick and span would touch some women but not Mrs. Pierce. Because eleven young men working at the Buckeye Pipe Line's pumping station had no place to eat, she took the men and cooks three meals a day for them.

Both of the Pierces are of pioneer stock. His great-grandfather was a soldier in the Revolutionary War.

Three of their four daughters are living and assisted the men their celebration. The one in Wakeman is Mrs. Clarence Bailey and another in Piquette on the Huron-Richland County line, is Mrs. Oliver Nickler, while the third is Mrs. Alex Phelps of Houston, Texas.

Most of their eleven grandchildren and ten great-grandchildren also were on hand for the celebration.

WHAT CAUSES LONG DISTANCE TRAFFIC JAMS

When more long distance calls are placed than our switchboards and lines can accommodate at one time, a traffic jam is the result. You can help relieve this jam by setting until circuits are clear. An important part of the telephone industry's expansion program is an increase in long distance facilities. This can be completed only when material becomes available. Meanwhile, we ask your continued co-operation.

APPLES ARE PLENTIFUL

Honey laked apples, apple trifle, and a baked apple dessert with cereal crumbs are choice ways to serve winter apples.

BY BETTY NEWTON

Apples are plentiful this year and you can be sure there is an apple for every use, and a use for every apple. A good cook can serve apples repeatedly, yet produce new dishes with new flavors. The apple is "versatile," for it harmonizes with many meats, some vegetables, and many other fruits.

Its food value alone is justification for eating the apple. In the packed lunch it is always welcomed, and when eaten raw with the skin on there is no loss of vitamin C. Many will sacrifice some vitamin C, however, for a good baked apple or a cooked apple dish.

Honey Baked Apples

- 4 baking apples
- 1/2 cup boiling water
- 1/2 C. honey

Core apples and remove a strip of skin from around the middle. Place apples in a greased baking dish. Add water and bake at 350 degrees, until tender. When tender, remove from oven, drip honey over apples. The hot apples will readily absorb the honey.

Apple Trifle

- 1 lb. tart apples
- 1/2 C. chopped orange peel
- 1 C. sugar
- 1 C. whipped cream
- 1/2 tsp. grated lemon peel
- 1 Tbsp. sugar

Wash, pare, core, and quarter apples. Add enough water to cover bottom of sauce pan. Simmer slowly until tender with orange peel. Add sugar and stir until dissolved. Press through a sieve. Chill and serve with whipped cream flavored with grated lemon peel and sugar.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh
Lam's Dogs vs Thad's Chickens
Running a newspaper, you get to know a lot about human nature. That Thippo was in the other day, all burned up. Wanted me to run an item on how Tom Martin's dog had ruined his chickens' eggs, and ought to be put away by law. I told him: "Tom was in on Saturday. Sold you shouldn't be allowed to keep those chickens as long as you'll be a member of the club." That's about it. Joe Marsh

Story of the Cross to be Dramatized Sunday Evening at Presbyterian Church

The Inter Church Council is sponsoring an unusual dramatization of the Story of the Cross by Earl L. Heasley, to be given this Sunday, February 16th in the Presbyterian Church at 7:30.

restores one's confidence in the ability of consecrated men to adequately portray the Life of Christ. Russell B. Smith, Supt. Crestline Schools says: "Here is a program well prepared and produced effectively. There was intense interest of our student body. I recommend this program without reservation."

These testimonials can be duplicated many times from both ministers and representatives of schools.

It was only by arranging early last fall that we were able to secure Mr. Heasley for this first dramatization. The free will offering will be taken to meet the expense. We trust there may be a large attendance to enjoy the program and to receive a spiritual uplift from this dramatic presentation of a very old but ever new Story.

Bing Company Leases Building At Ashtabula

The Bing-Ashtabula Company, associated with The Bing Furniture Company of Cleveland, Ohio, has leased a building at 4717 Main Street, Ashtabula, Ohio, for a new modern furniture and appliance store.

The building has three floors consisting of approximately 27,000 square feet and is presently occupied by The Sears-Roebuck Company. The D. L. Davis Department Store occupied this building until the late fall of 1941, a little over a year from now.

The building was leased from Mr. Daniel L. Davis, a lifetime resident of Ashtabula, and was represented by his son, Mr. Raymond L. Davis. Bing's was represented by the law firm of Miller-Daus-Schwenger.

The Bing-Ashtabula Company will be closely associated with The Bing Furniture Company of Cleveland, Ohio, which has been serving many homes in Cleveland and in this vicinity with furniture and home furnishings for over fifty years.

Around the Square

WORD GOT around Tuesday night that the big "red dog" which has no home, was to be shot Wednesday, mainly because it didn't have a home. "Well, it didn't take the kids, who spend most of their evenings at the Hitching Post to come to the rescue of the stray pup. They passed the hat around the square a few hours they had raised $3.00 for the license. Mrs. Willis, manager of the Hitching Post, intimated she'd help feed and house the pup. John Beclman offered a place for it to sleep in the garage. The pup didn't have a master or home three weeks ago, but now it has a home, a license, and a half hundred dollars plus the suggested name of "Lucky." I still say that Plymouth has a swell bunch of youngsters.

DON'T FORGET today at 1:30 to come to The Advertiser office if you wish to go on the tour through the Fate-Root-Health plant. Please be prompt, as the ladies are just as welcome as the men, and we'll try to make the trip a very interesting one for all.

FROM WHAT we hear the Jaycees are in earnest in trying to get Plymouth out of two counties. So plan now to think over which county you would like to receive the Jaycees. Ask yourself this question: "Which county offers the greatest benefit to me as an individual." We hope the Jaycees will have everything in line to force a decision sometime this year, for it's ONE thing that should be done.

A NEW SON Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Redden announce the birth of a seven pound, ten ounce son, born February 10th at the Willard Hospital. The new boy will be named Timothy Wallace. Mrs. Redden is the former Miss Dorothy Sourwin.

Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Daugherty and daughter Kathleen of Kent, Ohio, spent several days last week at the C. C. Crumher residence called here by the serious illness of their sister, Mrs. Doris Gooding.

Restrictions Set Up For "Dump"

According to an announcement made this week by the council committee in charge of the local dump, only three days a week will local citizens be allowed to haul their refuse to the dump. No artificial flowers allowed in decorating the floats and even though they work on them right up to the parade time they will be allowed to stay so fresh. To attend these two affairs is a days work in itself. We arose at four in the morning to get to the parade at five fifteen, then had a quick lunch and right to the game which ended as you know in a lopsided score at about five p. m.

The new measures will go into effect this week, and they were instituted mainly because the dump is becoming well-filled, and too, it has been reported that several parties outside the village limits have been hauling in garbage from this dump. The village, through a contract with Armentrout Bros., furnishes a complete disposal service including the hauling of ashes, and other refuse. The service is very nominal, being only $1.00 per month.

B. & O. Orders 4000 Steel Cars

The Baltimore and Ohio has just placed orders for the construction of 4000 50-ton steel hopper cars. The builders have contracted to start first delivery in July, 1947, and because of the continued coal car shortage orders for these cars have been distributed among a number of the builders so that the B. & O. has the greatest possible number of cars can be obtained in the shortest time.

The Bethlehem Steel Company will construct 2000 of the cars, American Car and Foundry Company 1000, Pressed Steel Car Company 500, and the Ralston Steel Car Company 500. Through their distribution will deliver every one of the cars is expected to be at the rate of about 80 per day, and to increase as deliveries continue.

In addition to this order the B. & O. also has another 4000 hopper cars on order, and since March, 1941, has placed orders for 14,025 hopper cars.

Supervised loans for the purchase of farms are made for a 40-year period at 3 1/2% interest. The purchase price limit and the loan limit are $12,000.00. For myself I have been traveling a good deal the last year or so and have had an opportunity to look over the southern half of the state of California fairly well. I say that with reservations, as this is a big state, and I do not believe even the native born know it too well. Many has been the time when I have asked where I will find a certain road, office or house or even a bad fall around the holiday season that kept me confined to her home on Maple Street. She is speaking of weather I am attaching a few clippings from the L. A. Times to confirm what may seem to you some very rash statements. Of course the L. A. Chamber of Commerce is complaining and they may have been working on the reporters. All joking aside we do have fine weather and after reading of the storms in our second home Milwaukee, Wisconsin, we are glad to be here.

The city of Los Angeles is still booming regardless of the fact that the influx of people has dropped off the last two months. There still is insufficient housing even with the large number of new homes which have been built. There appears to be no falling off of business in any lines, and new business is moving in every day. We are now second to Flint, Michigan in the assembly of cars, second to Akron in the manufacture of tires, first in the manufacture of airplanes, first in the movie industry, second to Grand Rapids, Michigan, in the manufacture of furniture and second to Texas in the production of oil. General Motors is building new plants here as is Willard Storage Battery, Brunswick and Rexall drug (the latter is moving their main office here) and there are many others too numerous to mention. Oh yes we are fast becoming the style center of the country on clothes.

The City proper is too large for a farmer by his myself but some day I hope to be living in one of the very beautiful suburbs of which there are many.

Enough of California and back to Ohio. We still enjoy the Advertiser and now that you have been in California more interested than ever. I know very few of the boys but once in a while you talk of an old timer. Yes, I

Fred Buzzard is like all salesmen goes south in the winter and north in the summer. We do not need that excuse out here. I know I have missed mentioning many of my old friends but to those who inquire, please say hello for me. In case Bill Caldwell does not get in touch with me I would like his address. I have been in Oxford quite often but would like to know exactly where to reach him. As for Bill I can say we shall be glad to welcome a Buckeye into our circle.

Facts About Plymouth

PLYMOUTH is located on State Route 61, a main highway from the Ohio River to Lake Erie, and State Route 88, to the north two miles U. S. Highway 284. Plymouth is served by two railroads—the Akron, Canton & Youngstown and the Baltimore & Ohio. The community is rich in farm lands; a few miles west is found the John Stambaugh farms, which raise onions, carrots, sweet corn and other products. The Hoffman farm is a big producer of turkeys and livestock. Nearby are the beautiful gardens of Celsy-via, which feature celery, radishes and other garden produce.

PLYMOUTH is proud of its name for its only industrial plant, The Fate-Root-Heath Co., manufacturers of locomotives, clay working machinery, Silver King tractors and lawnmower sharpeners, are found in every part of the world.

The community is served by modern stores which make up its Public Square, the Peoples National Bank, and the Plymouth Grain Elevator. It has a trading area of ten square miles.

F-R-H Shop Talk

Due to the gas shortage over the week-end and the first couple days of this week, the boys over in the foundry had a short vacation from their work. The "Old Lamp Lighter," however, went on the job Tuesday night up to see what the boys' happy again. The cold wave forced about half of Ohio's plants down for lack of fuel.

Rambling around the South Machine Room I ran into Charlie Archer, who was watching Reed White set up a big casting on the planer. Reed's working on the big planer which Charlie Wendland operated for years before doing it. Reed's Charlie was on that "old baby" so long until the adjusting wheels and screws would "automatically" start moving when he'd been setting them. Getting back to Archer I was surprised to find him in the "lay-out" department, for he'd been with Silver King Tractors for so many years I didn't think he could do anything else.

Archer occupied most of his time while in the tractor division in the development of the high-way mower. At present he's doing lay-out work on locomotive frames, bumpers and heavy clay castings — and to those of you who do not know what "lay-out" means, it's a very simple operation, if you KNOW how.

To give a brief "exemplar," let's take the top of a locomotive frame — two ends and two sides, all together. The top side of the frame has been smoothed out. Archer looks at his blue prints, and sees a couple of holes here and there; perhaps a half dozen somewhere. Well, it's his job, isn't it? MARK the spot where the holes are to be drilled, and to "draw" lines for any other operations. Not that it has ever happened, but you can readily see where the blame COULD be placed should the drill operator get "off the spot" just a 16th of an inch. Archer just couldn't have an argument, or could he? About the only way I could do his job would be to take the blue prints and stretch them over the top of the frame so I'd be sure of setting the holes in the correct position. And knowing paper as I do, it doesn't stretch that much!

Jim Root, our personnel and office manager, has been off duty a few days due to a slight attack of blood poisoning. A hair about half way between his wrist and elbow, on the right arm, "swelled" and became infected. The infection set in and the poisoning followed. On this writing he seems to be on the road to recovery, but the arm has been rather painful.

The week's mail brought in an unusual letter from Germany, and we're reprinting it word for word. As usual, it's signed by a German. It seems that the writer had talked to an American soldier, and then came across a copy of Popular Mechanics, in which our locomotive was featured. He doesn't doubt he secured the name and address of our firm from the magazine. He writes the following letter:

"Gotha, 4th Jan. 1947.
"The Fate-Root-Heath Co.,
"Plymouth, O.
"Dear Sirs—In May, 1945 American soldiers came to Gotha. With these we got to be friendly. It was pity that the American soldiers had to leave us in the beginning of July to make place for the Russians.
"I particularly there was a Master-Sergeant with whom we got well acquainted. He promised to help us, if necessary. Of course he gave us his address, but unfortunately we lost it during the later Russian garrison. Only through the Popular Mechanics Magazine, January 1946 issue, we found the address our American friend had shown us. The concern to which we shall apply, if we need help. Today, we remind you of the master-sergeant's promise & hope that you can fulfill our job.
"I suppose you know how Germany has to suffer much because we receive only a few goods for eating. We have heard and read that noble-minded Americans send "present-parcels" to Germany. Since 1947 you can send these into the Russian district, too. After they lost the war we German lay-out men expect to see in your rich country you get everything you like. Don't take us for obstructive but it could give us much pleasure if you could send us "present-parcels." As we have heard, there exists an American company which has taken the task voluntarily to aid the Germans.
"Thanking you for the prompt execution of our wish, we are with best regards,
"H. Fischer."

For the past two weeks I've been bragging about "Beanie" and her bowing legs. I've even called her a "soutpaw." And was I disappointed last week when Dolores Bettac told me that "Beanie" employs her right hand to hold the ball. Well, after you see Ford curl that left arm over her neck into writing position, it's no wonder she can't straighten it out enough to throw a ball.

Didn't get over to the foundry this week to "take my own skin," but I did hear that Mackey and his welding crew were putting the boys in the loco assembly in a tight spot. You can't even walk through the place now. In fact, I was almost tempted to signal Craseman Berberick to drop the hooks for me the other day when I had to pass through the room. Whatever it is that's holding up the completion of the loocs will be a welcome relief to Fetters and Donnens-wirt.

Found Floyd Anderson back at his lathe in the tool room Tuesday after a two-week visit in Florida. You'd wonder how he'd doubt he secured the name and address of our firm from the magazine. He writes the following letter:

leave it, as I'm moving the rats south a few miles. Anyway, he got out of Mrs. Hough's Plymouths while there, among them being Mr. and Mrs. John Hough. However, Floyd says Plymouth has pretty nice weather.

To pick or not to pick—that's the question that confronted Walter Chatfield, foundry superintendent over the week-end. Chatfield had to get out of the lemon tree, and now it has come to a full size, and the lemon is fully ripe. Of course, it took a good while to finish growing and ripening, but it goes to show that it can be done!

It's just impossible to believe that Phillip Moore has been in the traffic and service department for eleven years. Checking back over the records I found that Moore succeeded E. E. Balduf, who was then employed in the drafting room. Mr. Balduf left to place back in 1930. He stayed on the table for six years, and when Joe Bevier left the traffic-service dept., Moore succeeded him. That makes a total of 17 years for Moore, and we can't say just how many headaches hit that period of time—we're talking about headaches cut by customers who wanted service of repair parts...and during the four-year war period, those headaches lasted all day. Today, things have eased up a bit for the forty-thousand traffic managers of the country, of which Moore is one. The war is over now, and a department in getting out repair orders or supplying a service man, is not so much of a worry as it was during war, when every traffic-service man felt that he was responsible for all delays, which of course could hold up war production. The biggest worry of any traffic man today is the railroad car shortage...it seems that cars have disappeared overnight, and Moore's department is being somewhat hampered in making shipments due to lack of cars. All other phases of Moore's office seems to be functioning in perfect order, and we're glad to report that Phil is feeling fair, and his appearance is good...a few gray hairs are showing through, but that's natural for any service traffic man.

Chickens have come home to roost with a vengeance. Some of the officers of farm organizations—not the farmers—who a year ago clamored so loudly that Congress extend the Reciprocal Trade Agreements with an additional duty percent cut in the tariff, are now opposing the State Department's proposed agreements with other nations. This extension gave to the bureau- crats a bit for the forty-thousand traffic managers of the country, of which Moore is one. The war is over now, and a deto the credit of the state agricultural commissioners, and the officers of all farm organizations, he said that they saw further ahead, and opposed this extension. These farm representatives and state agricultural commissioners appeared before the State Department the other day to protest against the Reciprocal Trade Agreements about to be entered into with eighteen nations. They charged that these agreements will turn over the farmers' domestic grain, livestock, dairy, vegetable and fruit markets to foreigners.

I am sorry that a year ago the officers of all farm organizations did not see what was in the offing. If they had, the Reciprocal Trade Agreement Act might not have been extended. But, unfortunately, at that time some farm leaders urged Congress to vote for this un-American Act. At the same time that these were urging us to vote for it, we received telegrams from the farmers urging us to vote against it. Needless to say that Members of

by DALTON F. McDUGAL PART IV

Can we be sure that this seventh day that Christ sanctified for man is the day we now call Saturday?

SEE it appears show that Jesus was crucified the day before the Sabbath (Mark 15: 42-44). It is just as much an established fact that Jesus was crucified on the day we call Friday, and rose on the first day of the week, which we call Sunday, as that the American Declaration of Independence was signed on July 4, 1776. Scripture also shows in Luke 23: 54-56; and 24:1, that the Sabbath according to God's fourth commandment—the identical seventh day which Christ the Lord blessed and sanctified for man—came in between the crucifixion on the sixth day, or Friday, and the resurrection on the first day, or Sunday. There has been absolutely no change in the order of the days of the week since the crucifixion of Christ. So just as surely as the day between Friday and Sunday is Saturday, just so surely it is established in the Bible that Jesus was crucified on the day we call Saturday, the seventh day that Christ has sanctified for man, and commanded us to keep holy.

which requires the observance of the seventh day, or Saturday, is binding on Christians today the same as the other nine commandments.

In Part V I will close this topic with the question "Why has Christ Given us the Sabbath?"

Willard Fly Club News

The Willard Fly Club met Thursday evening, at the Airport with thirty-five members and guests present. Ken Heister led a discussion on "Throttle Bend or Crank."

The Club voted to hold the March 6th meeting at the Ashland Airport Restaurant, with a dinner preceding the meeting. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wilkinson and Mrs. Earl McQuate were welcomed into the Club as new members. Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. McQuate.

I believe that these Reciprocal Trade Agreements are unconstitutional. But it is useless to talk constitutionality until the Supreme Court has been unpicked. A state in the Union, if the sure, will be made in the 1948 election.

I hope that the time is not distant when we will change this policy — when our own nation will again be preferred to other nations in the State Department.

I hope that General Marshall will have the courage, and is at liberty to clean up the representatives of the international bankers and manufacturers, as well as the pinks, in the State Department.

hangs on our walls today regarding the days is the same that hung on the walls of the peoples homes forty-four years B. C. It was at that time known that the Julian calendar was being brought into use by Julius Caesar who ruled the then known world. This calendar had 365 days for a year, for three years, and then one year of 366 days. There are not exactly 365 1/4 days in a year, and in the course of centuries the error became appreciable. In the year 1582 it was found that equinox was running ten days late. An appeal was made to Pope Gregory XIII that something be done, as the seasons are ten days off. The Pope decreed that Friday, October 5th, would become Friday, October 15th and the next day was Saturday, October 16th instead of October 6. A leap year rule was formulated at that time and is still in use. The weekly cycle of the calendar has not been tampered with and remains the same as it was in the days of our Lord. He has been on earth. God has kept His eye on His seventh day time. The authentic record of history, the computation of every single year under the Julian and Gregorian calendars for the past two thousand years; the practice of the orthodox Jews in keeping Saturday; and the verifying of the historical records of the eclipse of light on July 23, 54-55; 24:1, the transomper, which show that no time could have been lost, prove conclusively that the seventh day of the Bible is the Saturday of today.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

The "frame" provided by the columns in the foreground gives a feeling of depth to this picture.

THE feeling of depth, as well as length and breadth, which one gets from a well-composed photograph isn't a matter of luck. A few tricks of composition, skillfully used, will give your snapshots "third dimensional" effects. Such effects add interest to almost every picture and are particularly important in social scenes.

Perhaps the simplest method of getting that third dimension in your pictures is by "framing"—using a foreground object such as a tree to "frame" your scene. The contrast between your tree, near the camera, and the landscape spread out far beyond it gives one a feeling of distance.

This same feeling will result from a road that narrows away in the distance. Or a fence, stretching off across a field. Lengthy shadows cast by a fence or a tree serve a similar purpose.

The demand for merchandise of all kinds is still high, but the buyers are becoming a "bit choosy." This is one more reason why the merchant should advertise, and why Advertiser readers still look to the ads for the information they want.

What Being On The Basketball Team Means To A Pilgrim

Believe me, it means long hours and hard drill and practice. It means missing meals and getting in at 10 o'clock every night.

Orchids should go to the coach Mr. Lindsey, for his constant effort in keeping the team up to par.

Then, too, there are the little things that nobody remembers. Like those fathers who drive in from the country every night to pick up their boys.

All these things and many more go toward making the team a team that we can be proud of and cheer on to victory.

Canadians found much to cheer about when new estimates for military expenditures for 1947-48 were announced.
