LEAVES STOLEN CAR IN WILLARD

Apprehension of the driver of a car that came into Willard last Wednesday night, and who, minutes later, stole the Pontiac coupe belonging to John F. Root, has not been made, according to Marshal Clay Hubert.

The crash, which involved a stolen car from Willard, occurred at 7 o'clock in front of Diner's garage. There were two buses on the run from Sandusky to Newark, and it happened that some of the passengers and the owner of the first one, and the bus was empty when the crash occurred. The Plymouth coupe, belonging to John Fields of Willard, had been left in front of his Willard residence with the motor running. John Fields had just come to his second floor apartment to be joined by his wife. When they came down, the car was gone.

James Gullette, attendant at Jud's Soho station, observed a car passing the station on Sandusky Street. A few seconds later he heard the crash. Gullette stated that he was attracted by the sound of the crash and passed. Evidently the bus did not observe the bus which was double parked. There is some belief that the Christmas lights, which have many red colored bulbs, confused the driver, as the high rear end of the coupe struck a glancing blow on the left rear side of the bus. The car was badly damaged, and the bus body was somewhat caved in by the impact.

Immediately the driver of the stolen car climbed out and left the scene of the wreck. Passers-by who saw the man leave the auto, stated that he made his way up Main Street and went down Portier Street. It is believed that the culprit tried to enter various cars which were parked on the drive way connecting Sandusky Street and Portier Street.

Steals Another Car

John F. Root, who with his wife, Mrs. Root, and Mr. & L. E. Becker, had parked his Pontiac coupe in the driveway at the Becker home. Mr. and Mrs. Becker were hosts for a pre-Christmas dinner to Mr. and Mrs. Reed Smith of Columbus, and Mr. and Mrs. John F. Root and family. Both the Smith and Root cars were parked near the front entrance inadvertently. Mr. Root had the key in the ignition switch.

There is quite a bit of assumption on the part of local officials that the man "knew his way around." For in the way he circled the Square, entering the Root car and driving away with only the parking lights on, it is evident the culprit had everything figured out for a complete get away. Mrs. Becker, who was upstairs following the dinner, observed the Root car missing and inquired of her son-in-law as to where he had parked his car. A few minutes prior to her inquiry, Becker had been passing the window, but he never became suspicious. Within a few short minutes Mr. Root made an investigation and found his car missing.

Police and state authorities were notified and the theft was put on the air. In the meantime local authorities had reason to believe the wrecker of the Pontiac coupe that was involved in the stolen car from that city, but Willard authorities had not been advised of the stolen Root car, which had been taken from the Becker home around 7:30.

It was quite a coincidence that Harry Cullen, who was in the hotel where the Root car was parked, had parked his car in front of the Brunswick cafe with the lights on. He stepped over and cut off the lights, not knowing that the car had been stolen from Plymouth. Not until two youngsters who also sat in the Root car in Willard, observed the car was parked in front of the Brunswick, Officer Lowery immediately checked with Plymouth police and advised them the car had been located. The stolen car was recovered about 11 o'clock, but was held over until the morning, so no criminal record could be made. However, due to the extreme cold weather, it was impossible to secure them.

The stolen car was returned to Mr. Root, apparently unharmed, as it was abandoned in Willard shortly after being taken.

LACK OF TIME cut short visiting with Plymouth friends by Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bevier of Los Angeles, Calif., who spent a few days in town recently. Mr. Bevier's parents, they made the trip back to Shelyb a mid-September as part of their Christmas vacation. "Grandpa Joe and Grandma Wanda" didn't even have time to go to Syracuse, N. Y. to visit with their daughter, Jean and family. So she came with Shelyb with a very happy smile. All in all Mr. and Mrs. Bevier had a very happy stay despite the rush. A note from Joe tells me the "old town" looked good of what he saw of it, and was regretted he could not lengthen his stay in Plymouth. Well, Joe, imagine L. A. would look good to most Plymouthites during January, and we long will be Spring again in Ohio, and well once more be glad.

seen like a fairy dream to present day prices. Jim Swind brought in a post card issued by N. J. Shiloh, Shiloh and mailed to John H. Hobart, Shiloh, who was an agent for buying of farm produce, and we're reprinting the entire contents of the card, which was dated Shiloh, July 1, 1885.

"Sir: I am glad to say that I can give you 10¢ for fancy butter, packed in stone jars and I will furnish the jars by calling at Shiloh. This butter must be choice or I can not pay you such prices; it must not be over-salted.

"I am buying spring chickens yet, by the dozen but it will not be long until they will be sold by the pound. For chickens weighing 1½ lbs, each, $2 per dozen; 1½ lbs. $2.50; 2 lbs. 75¢; old chickens dull at 6¢.

"These prices for spring chickens may not last this week, so bring them in at once. Turkeys 7¢; eggs dull at 11¢.

"If you are in need of any kinds of lumber, shingles, doors or sash, call and see me before you buy, and I will give you bottom price for cash. Yours truly, N. J. Shiloh, Agt."

"P. S. I do not want the butter over-salted or even streaked in color, then there will be no trouble in getting 10¢ per pound, but if it does not fill the above instructions do not bring it to me."

ROBBY ROBERTSON, local economist, politician and erstwhile business man, who left Christmas Day with his family to spend two weeks in Florida, has no doubt, by this writing, been out on a fishing trip. Robby proved a real angler on Lake Erie this summer, and his catch of fish was the largest ever taken for a season. FLASH.

Just had word that while on a fishing trip in the Gulf, Robby hooked a fish so big that the boat was towed five miles from shore. FLASH. FLASH.

Henry Wallace made his annual return to Robby's plan to enter the real seat of democ - the solid south - he's a stronger Democrat than ever. In fact, he's seriously thinking of buying a Georgia mule and riding it back to Ohio.

ARTHUR SCHNEIDER, son of F. A. Schneider, was seriously injured last Wednesday night as he was on his way home in Bellevue. The car which he was driving hit an 18-ton spot on the high way, and skidded, overturning several times. Arthur received injuries that will keep him in the hospital for several weeks. He had planned on joining his father in business here the first of the year.

If YOU have a headache on the morning after New Year's, you can get a FREE aspirin, according to Jud Morrison's ad in this issue. The only "catch" is that you have to buy some gas.

WONDER what the boys down in Washington will do about inflation and taxes in '48? Tax reductions to the working man would be a year round Christmas present.

NEW YEAR'S DAY is more generally celebrated throughout the world than any other day despite the fact that the new year does not begin January 1 in many countries.

Advent of the new year is hailed universally with good will, celebrations, hospitality, and in many countries, religious observances.

Origin of the New Year's celebration is lost in antiquity. About 3,000 years before the birth of Christ the people of Babylonian "kept a New Year's festival which lasted for 11 or 12 days.

In the days of the Roman Empire the year had only 10 months, beginning with March.

When the months of January and February were added to the calendar, January was chosen as sacred to Janus who, according to mythology, had two faces. Romans believed Janus had power over the past, present, and the future.

With one face he turned the other face to the future. When the Romans became Christians, the festival was kept although it was observed as a day of prayer and fasting.

The modern trend of festivities and merrymaking has heralded the new year for thousands of years for three or four hundred years. In America and throughout most of the world celebrations began on New Year's Eve.

Mr. Flynn states that TVA has a net income during the year of $191,460 or $72,000,000 in power sales. But TVA's entire overhead is $57,000,000 worth of interest on the power debt which the taxpayers—the Treasury—paid. This curious method of bookkeeping has drawn comment from the United States General Accounting Office, which said: "Unless all costs for TVA's power operations are included in its income statement—it cannot be conclusively shown that the power operations are self-supporting."

Mr. Flynn cites many other instances whereby TVA ignores standard accounting practice

THE TWO-FOOT YARDSTICK

One of the most searching analyses of the financial operations of the Tennessee Valley Authority appears in the December issue of Reader's Digest. Written by John T. Flynn, it is entitled "The Hidden Red Ink in TVA's Books." Mr. Flynn was a strong advocate of TVA when it was proposed, but he now believes it is time to create a yardstick to measure the propriety of electric rates. But, he asks now, "What sort of a yardstick is it that leaves out a whole foot?"

The point of the matter is that TVA accounting completely disregards the cost of power production expense which are required by law for all private enterprises—including, of course, the electric utilities which TVA supplanted. For example, TVA has stated that from 1933 to mid-1944 it earned a net profit from sales of power of $36,000,000. But this left the $63,000,000 which was paid in interest, by the Federal government, on the money which was used to build the power plants. So TVA really had a deficit of $15,000,000 during the long period covered. It is an interesting commentary on the way TVA goes about its business.

TVA's reports said: "The net results stated for this program do not include any charge for interest."

Mr. Flynn states that TVA claims a net income during the year of $191,460 or $72,000,000 in power sales. But TVA's entire overhead is $57,000,000 worth of interest on the power debt which the taxpayers—the Treasury—paid. This curious method of bookkeeping has drawn comment from the United States General Accounting Office, which said: "Unless all costs for TVA's power operations are included in its income statement—it cannot be conclusively shown that the power operations are self-supporting."

Mr. Flynn cites many other instances whereby TVA ignores standard accounting practice which the law forces on private industry. Then he writes: "Just as we had to have commissions to stop private utilities from soaking the customers, we should have some authority to prevent publicly-owned power projects from soaking the taxpayers." And day by day, as more hundreds of millions of public money goes down the rathole of socialized enterprise, TVA is a dishonest yard stick—a fact which the 140,000 people who are paying the bill should realize.

That Clinched It
"Why didn't you say 'Get thee behind me, Satan?'" asked the clergyman when his wife told him she'd bought a new dress because the devil tempted her.

"I did," she answered, "but he said, 'My dear, it fits you beautifully at the back.'"

He was about to leave for the office when his wife handed him a small parcel.

"What's this, dear?" he asked.
"A bottle of hair tonic."

"Oh, it's not for you!" she replied. "It's for your typist. Her hair is coming out badly on your coat."

SCIENTIFIC CATTLE FEEDING IMPORTANT

The American Meat Institute has launched a campaign designed to provide American consumers with a maximum quantity of meat—and at the same time help conserve grain for shipment to foreign countries under whatever European aid program the government finally adopts.

The plan is based on making the best possible use in 1948 of the available supply of cattle.

In a statement it cannot be conclusively shown that the power operations are self-supporting.

It is not generally known how excellent job the Meats Institute is doing in maintaining an abnormal demand for meat—and a profit to themselves of less than a cent per pound. They are vitally interested in the grain problem, as are farmers and the public at large. The best efforts of every one involved, and careful conservation of our resources, will be needed to solve it.

NEW YEAR

AMONG other things, New Year superstitions are designed to aid the lover.

Unmarried women are advised to peek out the window on New Year's morn, and if she sees a man's sign, he will be worth more than your mate. If they see a horse, they can make a wish, which is sure to come true. But if they see a cat-kang, watch out!

If a young lover wants to sweep up his/her—courtship, there's a superstition to cover that, too. Put on the left stocking before the year is out.

Cook white beans on New Year's Day and you will not be "broke" during the year.

Fry cabbage for breakfast on New Year's Day and you will have money all year.

Don't eat fish on New Year's Day to have luck for the coming year.

If the first person you see on New Year's Day is a female, you will have bad luck throughout the year.

Young brides who receive a man's gift should satisfy hubby's discriminating taste. They should say "Rabbit" as the first word when they wake before anyone has a chance to speak to them.

Juts before midnight on New Year's Eve set a tub of water out in the yard and drop a penny in it. You will be lucky in money matters for the next year.

Sweep the parlor backwards on New Year's Eve while looking into a mirror, and in the latter you will see your future husband.

Always have food cooked in your house on New Year's Day, or you will be hungry to eat before the year is out.

Good Fellowship and Good Cheer Linger On

GONE is the gallantry and chivalry of the gay nineties, but it's still nice to talk about it.

Nothing reflected the decor or the glamour of those halcyon days more brightly than the socials of the Twenties. Day parties were held in the better homes of the land. In them, good cheer, good fellowship and—of course—good manners abounded, all in keeping with the times, the good old days.

Months would be spent in preparation for the occasion and when the fateful day arrived the homes would be decorated, the finest foods and drink spread on the table, and the gayest coquettish lined up to receive Happenings That Affect the Dinner Pails, Dividend Checks and Tax Bills of Every Individual, National and International Problems Inseparable from Local Welfare.

THE BENEFITS given American veterans since World War II are the most extensive in the history of this or any other country. A few countries, notably Canada, gave their vets a larger amount of cash on discharge. But none went so far as the United States in attempting to provide the ex-GI with a good send-off when he returned to civilian life. News records of the United States News, "First phase in postwar care for World War II veterans appears to be passing. The readjustment programs—unemployment pay, job training, schooling—are at or past their peaks."

IN JULY OF 1946, some 1,700,000 veterans were members of the much-discussed G.I. Club, which the government offered them for one year if they were unemployed. The figure is around 500,000 now level now. That decline was to be expected—hundreds of thousands of the recipients have exhausted their allotments, and relatively few healthy veterans who have jobs have been unable to find them. Again, the number of veterans drawing self-employment pay—which provides a maximum of $100 a month—has declined to 40 per cent in a year. There are probably two main reasons for that—many men who decided to go into business for themselves found the going too rough and gave up, while others who have put their enterprises on a paying basis and no longer need the government help. In addition, the veterans' program and the government had anticipated that it would all tuition for a period of time which depends on how long each vet wore the uniform. It also gives monthly subsistence checks. This is the most costly part of the veterans' program and it was expected that enrollment in institutions of learning of all types will reach a peak of 2,500,000 in winter and then start down. As the United States News observes, however, enrollment might start up again in a period of industrial depression and unemployment, which would force veterans to go to school to get an income.

THE BIGGEST impact of the veterans has been felt in the universities and colleges. Millions of them came home with a desire for higher education, and the government had anticipated that it would all tuition for a period of time which depends on how long each vet wore the uniform. It also gives monthly subsistence checks. This is the most costly part of the veterans' program and it was expected that enrollment in institutions of learning of all types will reach a peak of 2,500,000 in winter and then start down. As the United States News observes, however, enrollment might start up again in a period of industrial depression and unemployment, which would force veterans to go to school to get an income.

GI EDUCATION has been a terrific strain on our educational facilities. But, by and large, college officials have done an excellent job in handling it, and the vets and their families have cooperated. The temporary housing afforded certainly isn't luxurious, but it is comfortable. And, according to all the authorities, the ex-service people have made excellent students. They know what they want, and they are working hard to get it. They are serious-minded, with little of the rah-rah spirit. They have done much to change the complexion of our educational campuses. A New Yorker cartoon, showing a graduating exercise before an audience made up almost entirely of wives and small children, accurately caught the spirit of today's colleges with the GI enrollees.

ONE OF THE MAJOR questions marks in the veterans programs is home loans. At the beginning, it was believed that these would total an astronomical figure, as many ex-service men and women rushed home and began looking around for a place to live. However, it didn't quite pan out that way. A great many home-seekers were staggered by the cost of building or buying homes in the postwar market, and reluctantly decided to put off their

REAL ORIGIN
January, the first month of the year, derives its name from the Roman god Janus.

Because Janus was a two-faced god, represented by the Romans as looking backward as well as forward, the ideal of a two-faced state symbol for the turn of a new year. Standing firmly at the juncture of the new and the old, Janus could look back on the past years and look forward to the new.

World Calendar Would Stabilize Holidays

Important dates would be stabilized by the 12-month world calendar, with precision made for the extra day over the year, the 32nd week in ordinary years and the two days in leap year.

Easter would be stabilized as Sunday, April 8, each year, one day removed from the date of the Resurrection, April 9, A.D. 30. Christmas would be pegged on December 28, a Monday, to provide a long week end.

Wherever feasible, holidays would be established on Mondays to prevent disruptions caused by their observance in various weeks.

The extra day in ordinary years would follow December 30, the end of the year, and be known merely as Year Day, January I would then follow. In leap years, January 1, 1949, would be followed by Saturday, June 29, then Sunday, July 1. Many business interests have favored the world calendar because of the contention that it provides for a better distribution of business days in each quarter.

THIS YEAR

Build on resolve, and not upon regret.

The structure of thy future. Do not grope.

Amidst the shadows of old sins, but let us go.

Thine own soul's light shine on the path of hope.

And dissipate the darkness. Waste no tears.

Upon the blighted record of lost years.

But turn the leaf, and smile, O, smile, to see.

The fair, white pages that remain to thee.

NEW "HAWKEYE" SOYBEAN IS GIVEN APPROVAL FOR PLANTING IN OHIO

COLUMBUS, OHIO (Special)—A new variety of soybean, called "Hawkeye," has passed five years of testing and is now ready to take its place among the varieties approved for Ohio.

It will be another year, however, before "Hawkeye" is available for commercial use in Ohio, according to Dr. Lewis C. Saboe, U. S. Department of Agriculture soybean breeder at Ohio State University. Next year will be needed to build up a seed supply.

In Ohio about 300 acres of foundation "Hawkeye" soybeans were grown in 1947, under the direction of the Ohio Hybrid Seed Corn Producers. From these plantings a fair supply of foundation seed will be available for the production of certified seed in 1948.

Applications for this seed should be sent to J. E. Van Fossen, Manager, Ohio Hybrid Seed Corn Producers, Croton, Ohio. Seed increases annually, and exceeds 10 percent.

"Hawkeye" soybeans have been extensively tested from 1943 to 1947 in Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, and Iowa. In over 70 yield tests, during this period, "Hawkeye" has been outstanding in its performance.

"Hawkeye" soybean, Dr. Saboe reports, has about 10 percent greater features than both "Richland" and "Lincoln," and in some respect has advantages over both.

Here's the comparative score-sheet:

As compared with "Lincoln," "Hawkeye" yields within a bushel, stands better, is five to six days earlier, is about three inches shorter, and is equal in percentage of oil and slightly higher in protein.

However, Dr. Saboe says, "Hawkeye" soybean seed is larger and has characteristics different from those of other grain varieties commonly grown in Ohio. The seed is rounder, and flatter, and [redacted] has a dark brown-almost black-center, surrounded by a reddish brown border. The "Hawkeye" variety produces purple flowers, gray pubescence, and light brown

Dr. Lewis C. Saboe inspects and selects seed of "Hawkeye" soybeans from a field of test plots.

"Hawkeye" yields better, by three bushels or more, is as early, stands well, is about three inches taller, and exceeds 10 percent.

"Hawkeye" was developed by the Iowa Agricultural Experiment Station, in cooperation with the U. S. Regional Soybean Laboratory of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and by 24 state agricultural experiment stations.

RECEIVES GREETINGS FROM THE NEW YORK CENTRAL

Mr. Earl White was quite pleased on receiving a Christmas greeting with a few personal lines from the Supt. of the New York Central Railroad, Mr. L. A. Chamberlain of Springfield, Ohio. It will be recalled that the last train wreck occurred just six months ago, on June 25th.

While the wreckage was being cleared Mr. White was asked to set a sum for damages and it must have been to the astonishment of the railroad officials, he replied that he would not put his driveway fence to be put in as good condition as they were before the wreck. Folks like Mr. White are all too few, and his attitude was much appreciated by the Railroad representatives. Mr. White was born and had lived all his life on the farm along the rail road and the railroad is as much a part of his life as his farm.

His uncle the late Mr. Seabury Rose was operator and agent in Shiloh for the Big Four many years before another uncle the late Chas. H. Rose succeeded him and in the same capacity worked for the next fifty-two consecutive years.

Several games were played, then sleigh bells were heard and the appearance of Santa himself sent each child scurrying to a chair. After shaking hands with and interviewing each child, Santa presented each with a gift and said his departure. The children sang several songs and were served refreshments of ice cream, pop and cookies, and were given candy canes as favors.
