

Standard Oil Starts Work On New Sohio Station Here

Another improvement for Plymouth was started last week-end when construction of a new Sohio service station was started on Sandusky street. Jud Morrison, who has operated the Sohio Station for several years, states that the completion of the station is set for some time in September.

Some months ago Standard Oil acquired additional land from Dalton F. McDougal. The new station will be set just north of the present small structure and will house a greasing and wash rack, pump facilities, an office, and space for necessary equipment.

The pumps at the new station will be about in the same position, but the "drive-in" will be much larger than the present drive.

The building to be erected here has been in use in Mansfield, but is being dismantled there to make way for a bigger unit in Mansfield. The material for the building is made of glazed metal tile, and so constructed that it can be erected and dismantled without damage.

Mr. Morrison opened up the Sohio Station here thirteen years ago and has enjoyed a very nice patronage since that time. He has been active in civic affairs and his personal and family life and his friends is reflected in the healthy growth of his business.

In announcing the plans of his new station Mr. Morrison pointed out that it is not only for the patrons for their splendid support which enables him to build a new and bigger station and to offer a better service to motorists. All new equipment will be included in the program—new gas tanks, air compressors, pressure grease guns and other accessories which insure automatic owners of the best when they have their car serviced. The station will house modern rest rooms, display racks for tires, batteries and accessories and refreshment stands.

Construction of the new station is under supervision of O. L. Taylor, local contractor. The new station will cost approximately $10,000 when completed, and will give Plymouth a progressive look on this familiar location.

Congratulations are in order to Mr. Morrison and to The Standard Oil Co., in expressing their faith and confidence in the community by the erection of this new and modern station.

Farnwall Rites Held Here Today Second Traffic Fatality This Year

The second traffic fatality for Plymouth within the year was chalked up Monday night when Glenn Lee Farnwall, aged three years and nine months; died in the Willard hospital at 8:30 o'clock.

Chancy Chronister was killed May 1 when he was struck by an automobile on the County line road.

The accident which claimed the life of the Farnwall boy occurred Saturday evening at 6:00 o'clock when he was struck by an automobile driven by Thomas Fulton, Willard, in the left lane of the right hand freight and suffered severe concussion and broken ribs. He was taken to the Willard hospital where he remained unconscious until the time of his death, except for a short period of time Sunday.

Marshall Robert Meiser, who investigated the accident, stated that witnesses informed him the boy had started to run across Sandusky street in front of his home, and then doubled back into the lane of the auto. No charges were filed against Fulton since the accident was apparently unavoidable.

Funeral services will be held today at 2:30 in the Methodist church with Rev. L. E. Smith, pastor, officiating. Burial will be made in Greenlawn cemetery. Arrangements are in charge of the McQuate funeral home.

Surviving are the father, Leor Farnwall, 46, of the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Farnwall, and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Lybarger of Plymouth.

Glenn Lee was born Nov. 8, 1945 in Shelby. He died in the hospital in Mansfield, Ohio, on Monday, August 15, 1949. For several years Mrs. Farnwall was an invalid, and many months before death ended her suffering.

Lasch Out For Mayor

Filing his petition this week with the Board of Elections, Joseph Lasch, former Plymouth mayor, announces his candidacy for mayor of Plymouth in the forthcoming November election.

Prior to taking his oath January 1, 1946, Lasch had served about 10 years as village councilman. During that time he became well acquainted with the functioning of village government.

He will no doubt receive the support of his many friends who urged him to run for this office.

Time is Up
At 6:30 o'clock Wednesday night, the time will go for further filing of petitions for village offices. The official list of candidates as issued by the Richland County Board of Elections, is as follows:

For Mayor: Carrol Robinson, Joseph Lasch. For Clerk: D. G. Cunningham. For Treasurer: Glenn W. Dick. For Council: Ben Smith, Harry Trauer, Robert McIntire, Maurice Bachrach.

For Board of Public Affairs: Gordon Brown, Paul Root, W. R. Scott, Donald Fetters, W. W. Wirth, P. W. Thomas. For School Board: David McBratney, Jerry Miller, Harold Cashman, Paul Stoodt, John P. Baird, Virgil C. Rood, Floyd Steele.

With Lasch entering the mayor's race, Plymouth voters will have to choose between Lasch and Carrol A. Robinson, present mayor.

A late comer for office this week is Ward Wirth, who announces his candidacy as a member of the Board of Public Affairs. Wirth has served as mayor, member of the school board for five years, was chairman, and also on the Board of Public Affairs. He is well-known in the community and will probably pull a large vote.

D. G. Cunningham, who filed for clerk the past week, has served in this capacity for the current term of office. Not only is he clerk of the council, but also clerk of the Board of Public Affairs, the Park and Cemetery boards.

So with the final filing date close, voters will now have a few months in which to make their decision for those who seek office in the November election.

LET'S THINK OF THE KIDDIES

Summer is almost over, and with it will go memories of many happy days for the youngsters. We "oldsters" will agree that it has been one of the longest and hottest seasons we've experienced in a long number of years.

Thousands have enjoyed the facilities of Mary Faye park. This park was started a few years ago through a generous contribution of land by Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Root. Hundreds of citizens have given time and money to make the improvements which have resulted in one of the finest and prettiest parks in this section. Plymouth citizens are proud of its park, and not only that, they use it, especially during the summer season.

Now the thought comes of another feature which would make our park a mecca for the kiddies . . . these tots from two to 10 years of age . . . a wading pool. There is plenty of room for a small pool of this type. The cost of material wouldn't be overly great, and there are a sufficient number of Dads in the community who would donate their time and skill in constructing a pool where their youngsters could cool off on hot sultry days.

For a worthy cause as this, the town could possibly furnish water for three or four sprinkling heads which would be in operation three or four hours a day. There would be no expense of maintaining a life guard or purifying the water. In fact, the cost of operation would be very small, and we believe with the right kind of cooperation the cost of construction wouldn't be too great.

At least the project is such that the Community Club, the Jaycees or some civic-minded group could lead the list as a sponsor for such a worthy cause. And, too, a wading pool would not only bring added pleasure and comfort to the kiddies, but mothers would have more of an incentive of using park facilities for their children. Such a project could be made Plymouth's mark for 1950.

OUR HOME GROWN CELERY

Celeryville growers are meeting some stiff competition these days, which in a way, is a bit disheartening. It seems that California is producing a pascal celery that has "eye appeal," and this type of celery is finding its way more and more into the midwest and eastern markets. It is an exceptionally large white stalk and sells at a premium.

Test after test by experts who know celery say that the celery grown at Celeryville is of equal quality and in some instances is superior in flavor and texture. And because of the indifference of the average housewife, celery is just celery, but when the vegetable display cabinets in food markets show up with an abundance of white-stalked celery from California, there seems to be an extra appeal. She should make a fair comparison with a stalk of our home grown celery and that produced in California.

Celeryville deserves the support of its surrounding towns, for on an average the field work requires around five hundred employees. This industry keeps money in circulation at home and gives employment to people in this area.

We are not making a plea for Celeryville, but ask that a fair comparison of celery be given when making a purchase. In other words, if you want home grown celery, just ask for Golden Rule celery. It's the brand name of celery producers at Celeryville. It's good practice to cooperate with the folks at home, and we are quite certain that if every housewife asked for home grown celery, the folks who grow it will be more than appreciative.

DOINGS IN CONGRESS

The Republican National Committee has held its meeting, elected its chairman and departed. Many of the Republican Members in Congress feel that the National Chairman should keep his hands off as far as the Republican candidate and platform for 1952 are concerned. They feel that the Republicans are capable of selecting their own candidate and promulgating their own platform.

These want as their standard bearer one who believes in America - not a half-breed that owes part of his allegiance to the international gang. They feel that the platform should be written by Americans for Americans. It must be based upon the ideals of Theodore Roosevelt, Abraham Lincoln and Thomas Jefferson. The American people are not going back to the dark ages. Our slogan is "Forward ever, backward never."

The Republican Party has now been kept out of the White House for twenty years. This largely because they had no program. They had no candidate representing American ideals. Their candidates in the last three elections were me-too candidates. In the last election the Republican candidate claimed that he could give our country away faster than his opponent. He too was one warrior.

Eighty percent of the Republicans demand as their standard bearer in 1952 one who believes in the fundamental principles as proclaimed in the Declaration of Independence and established by our Constitution. They demand as their candidate a man who will follow in the footsteps of Theodore Roosevelt, Abraham Lincoln, Madison, Monroe Jefferson and Washington. They demand a candidate and platform that will stop our disastrous foreign policy of depleting America of its natural resources and making it a fifth rate nation.

The American people demand as a whole that we again become the America that we knew—the America of fearless, independent thought, the America that will not continue to give silent approval to the liquidation of other nations' people and the theft of their territory and property. The performance of our Nation for the past seventeen years has not been an honorable one. The weak-kneed, knock-kneed me-too candidates that the Republicans attempted to elect in the past three elections were doomed to defeat before they got started.

This because they had no clear-cut issues. They were me-too followers of the one worlders and Rhodes scholars. Little wonder that the electors did not change animals — the elephant for the donkey — in the middle of the international scam — international lunacy. They wanted the elephant to carry the banner of Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln, not the banner of international intrigue. They refused to disgrace the electors by electing a me-too candidate. They refused to substitute a mongrel flag for the Stars and Stripes.

WASHINGTON REPORT

By SENATOR ROBERT A. TAFT

WHETHER for or against military aid to Europe, anyone interested in sound government ought to be shocked at the terms of President Truman's bill designed to arm the world against Russia. It proposes to give him unlimited authority to give arms to any government in the world which he wishes to strengthen. It is not confined to the Atlantic Pact countries.

The bill gives the President the right to give away any government property if he says it is surplus and since no appropriations are necessary, this power seems to be without limit. It even includes naval vessels. It is not clear whether even atom bombs are excepted from the President's give-away power.

The bill proposes cash authorization for $1,450,000,000 but it admits that another half billion of material may be given away without appropriation.

Think of the tremendous power which this proposal gives the President to involve us in any war throughout the world, including civil wars where we may favor one faction against another! No individual ought to have such power, certainly not Mr. Truman or his Secretary of State.

I am opposed to the whole idea of giving the President power to arm the world against Russia or anyone else, or even to arm Western Europe, except where there is a real threat of aggression. We are stimulating an armament race. We are trying to restore a military balance of power on the European continent. Such policies in the past have always led to war rather than to peace.

FUTHERMORE, as a deterrent to war, the plan seems to me most ineffective. It is said that at least 60 Divisions are necessary to enable Western Europe to defend itself against Russia, and the cost of modern divisions of that type would be at least $20 billion. Russia has deterred from military aggression by the strength of the American armed forces and particularly by our air force with its

3rd August 1949
 Hello to Tommy and the Mrs.

Behind The Scenes

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—The slow but discouraging construction in business activity which has been going on since autumn finally was halted in July. This is clearly indicated by the early statistical returns.

Construction rose contrasessionally, steel scrap prices firmed, employment rose to a high of 1949—at 59,720,000 jobs—and for the first time this year volume buying by wholesalers was noted in some fields. Among other favorable reports was the Commerce Department announcement that the normal seasonal decline in manufacturers' sales was reversed by a gain of $400 million between May and June, and a Federal Reserve Board statement that commercial bank loans to business reversed a 27-week downturn in the final week of July.

All of which last week led one of the country's most qualified observers of the economic scene, who is in close touch with banking and business throughout the country, to talk of the record about a "significant change" he has seen lately in the attitude of business men. Part of the healthier attitude, he suggested, may be the realization by business that it must now go out and get goods in a competitive market instead of sitting back and watching the orders pile up as has happened during the last nine years.

PLUMP CHICKS—Housewives may soon have to change their cooking habits to keep pace with the latest improvements in chickens. This is the prediction of Howard C. Pierce, poultry research director of A&P Food stores, now that changes are being made in the size and shape of chickens.

Formerly, chickens weighing up to two and one-half pounds were called broilers; those reaching three and one-half pounds were designated as fryers, and anything heavier was simply called a "roaster." Nowadays things are different, according to Pierce. Chickens are being produced that weigh four and five pounds at 12 weeks of age and are young and tender enough to broil, fry or roast with equal success. Chickens of the same age used to weigh only two to three pounds.

An estimated 20,000,000 of the new-type birds will reach market this year, complete with extra slices of white meat, large juicy drumsticks, and a thick crust on the wings as some of the birds used to carry on their drumsticks. They are the products of the nation-wide Chicken-of-Tomorrow program, a joint research effort by scientists, colleges, poultry organizations, U. S. Department of Agriculture and A&P Food stores, mile trip to the abandoned city of Circle, located fifty miles from the open circle, all over gravel roads of course, as a "test-run" for the car and found things went okay so are hoping we will not run into any major difficulties on the 2600 mile jaunt to Great Falls, Montana. Hope to arrive there in time for the Labor Day rodeo. I've never seen one, so it would be nice if we could arrive in time for it and still rest up a couple of days from the long drive.

Except for twenty-three days of rain in June, we've been having a nice summer. Days are noticeably longer as it is dark by ten o'clock but by 3:30 it is plenty light again. There for a few weeks it was never really dark at night and a bit difficult to decide when the day really was over.

The fireweed, a famous Alaskan flower, fuchsia in color, was late in blooming this summer but now that it is in full bloom it is really beautiful. Grows wild and everywhere.

Just finished reading the first installment covering your vacation and thoroughly enjoyed it—if I can't get to finish it here, I know Mother will still have the papers when I reach home and can finish it then.

Sincerely,
 Betty Himes

Ohio's Progress Shown At Fair

Just as the economic health of Europe is essential to the world, the health of the United States is essential to the world. But the water-gate against communism, so, in particular, is sound prosperity in the U. S. Facing a deficit of $3-55 billion next year, should we start now on a vast new program of project which may extend itself to the Near East, the Far East and to South America? The limits to the cost of this militarism cannot be foreseen.

In general, I feel that if we have the money to spend, which we do not, it is more effective as a deterrent to war than the strengthening of our own American military forces. I would favor sending arms to a country when it can be shown that the country is really threatened. On the basis of this conviction I vote for military assistance to Greece and Turkey, and I would vote for like aid to China.

But the water-gun blank-check approach of arming anybody in the world of whom the President may approve seems to me the best calculated method of producing bankruptcy of the American economy and tragedy of a third world war.

DIRECTOR A. W. MARION

The 1949 Ohio State Fair August 27 through September 2 in Columbus will be the show-window of another year's advances along many lines, predicts Director A. W. Marion of the Ohio Department of Agriculture.

"Instituted and organized in 1850 to encourage the development of agriculture and industry, successive State Fairs have marked the milestones and mirrored Ohio's advancement up the broad highway of progress," Director Marion says.

Nowhere on the face of the earth is there a comparable land area that even approaches Ohio in the total agricultural and indus-whose officials originated and sponsored the program.

THINGS TO COME—Not to be outdone by the chicken breeders, a Britisher has come up with a streamlined chicken wire—as strong as steel—but completely rustless and only one-third as heavy as ordinary chicken wire. A device for preventing a short circuit from occurring in the wiring system of an auto controlled by a switch installed in the dashboard, this safety feature protects against fires caused by short circuits, prevents children from starting a car while parked, and prevents children from starting a car while parked but gets shorted in public places. A rust-proof agent which makes it possible to rust-proof tools and parts without greasing or air-tight sealing. Should be mighty handy when it's time to put the garden tools away each fall. A new kind of potson for mice with a name that ought to click. It's "Dynamic." Use of television in movie theatres, in two ways. One would be to present regular telecasts of outstanding public events. The other would be to show a film simultaneously in a large number of theatres by means of closed circuits which couldn't be tuned in upon by home (or tavern) receivers.

TOUGHER RUBBER—Here is good news for motorists. There will be considerably more of the new type, tougher "cold rubber" available during the next few months for passenger-car tires. Installation of the necessary refrigerating equipment has been practically completed at the big American rubber plant operated for the government at Port Neches, Texas, by B. F. Goodrich's Chemtco company, and large-scale production is under way there. The plant will turn out 30,000 tons a year. The new type man-made rubber stems from research conducted before World War II by B. F. Goodrich, which turned over its early patents to the government shortly after Pearl Harbor. Continuous research is being conducted in each of the five government-owned, industry-operated plants where cold rubber is produced in an effort to perfect new and better recipes. Although the new material has shown tread wear resistance superior to standard man-made rubber, tests by BFG engineers have shown that it is not satisfactory at present in either the wear resistance of truck tires. But the company's scientists at the new multi-million-dollar Research Center at Brecksville, O., hope to develop new compounds suitable for truck, bus and airplane tires, and also for transmission and conveyor belts.

This is a telephone investor's dollar. It comes from countless individuals or business firms who invest money in telephone company stocks and bonds. This is a different kind of dollar because it is the only kind that can be used for telephone expansion. In contrast, the money received for telephone service is used to pay wages, taxes and other operating expenses. It also helps pay for the use of the investor's dollar. By operating on a sound, business-like basis, we are able to attract the investors' dollars which help to give Americans the world's finest telephone service.
