

Will Start Construction Of Super-Station Here

A business transaction involving the Texaco Station on the east side of the Public Square was closed this week, according to an announcement made late Wednesday afternoon by F. W. Wyrwa of Cleveland.

Mr. Wyrwa states that he has leased the Texaco property and that work on a new and modern superstation will begin on Tuesday of next week. The new station will be of the conventional design, and will house greasing and washing racks and other equipment. The contract for the deal will be signed today in Mansfield.

Present plans call for the demolishing of the old structure east of the office of the present building. The material for outside construction is to be the glazed metal type, finished in conventional Texaco colors. The building will occupy all of the ground except where the office now stands. It will take eight weeks for the completion of the new building, which means that Mr. Wyrwa will operate the gas pumps in their present location. When the new structure is finished the old office will be removed and pumps re-located, which will enlarge the drive-in facilities of the station.

Mr. Wyrwa made a comprehensive study of the possibilities for a new station such as the one which will be built, before he finally decided to locate in Plymouth. He is well pleased with Plymouth, its appearance, and general business conditions and is of the opinion that motorists in this section will appreciate a real super-service station.

For the past twelve years Mr. Wyrwa was a foreman in the cabinet department of the White Sewing Machine Co., Cleveland. He is looking for suitable living quarters for his family which includes Mrs. Wyrwa and two daughters, Bonita seven years and Lois, twelve years.

Messrs. Roger Dick and Dick Wyrwa have contacted the station for about a year, and they have not made known their future plans.

JULY HOT, DRY MONTH

While July, 1949 did not have the highest maximum temperatures on record, the thermometer hit 90 above on 11 days. The highest was 97 on the 5th; the lowest 55 on the 11th and 31st. The average for the month was 76.6 or 3.3 degrees above normal.

On July, 1933, there were seven consecutive days when the thermometer hit 100 and above, with a high of 105, so we shouldn't complain about this July.

Rainfall in July, 1949 totaled 3.41 inches, a deficiency of .22 inch. However, 3.19 inches of the total fell on five scattered dates, so there were long, hot dry spells in between.

At the end of the month, wheat and oats were all harvested and corn—due to the hot nights—never looked better nor taller.

Another "bumper crop" seems to be in the making—J.A.R.

If It Doesn't Rain, Band Will Play Saturday Night . . . For Sure

If it doesn't rain Saturday night the Ganges Band, composed of twenty members, will play its first concert of the season here Saturday night on the Public Square.

Inclement weather which prevailed last Saturday morning and afternoon somewhat upset the appearance of the band. The outdoor stage was not set up because of weather conditions.

However, arrangements are being made this week to get the platform erected and ready, regardless of the weather, and the band will appear Saturday night. This attraction has proved popular with the folks in this immediate community, and the merchants feel that their support is warranted by the enjoyment and pleasure the band concert brings to town.

Those who drive to Plymouth will find ample parking space on the new parking lot east of the Plymouth Theater. The lot is well lighted and police protection will be given during Wednesday and Saturday nights. So plan now to come to Plymouth to visit friends and do your shopping.

Wm. Priest, 87 Buried In Polk

Funeral services for William M. Priest, prominent Jackson township resident and former president of the Polk State bank were held Friday at the Denbow-Bear Funeral home in Ashland. Burial was made in the Polk cemetery.

Mr. Priest passed away at the age of 87 at the Aber rest home on the Savannah road Tuesday afternoon, after a lingering illness. He had been in Plymouth, where he made his home in Plymouth with his son Guy and wife, and will be remembered by many here.

An organizer of the Polk State bank in 1916, Mr. Priest was as president until his retirement two years ago on account of ill health.

During his earlier years, Mr. Priest had been a farmer. Later he became a breeder of trotting horses and was the owner of the world's pacing record in 1903. For several years he was manager of the Ashland county fair board and was active on the speed committee.

He was a life long resident of Ashland county and was born on the old Priest homestead, east of Polk, December 16, 1861, to Andrew Jackson and Dian McFadden Priest. He was married to Carrie W. Finley of Ganges township on Nov. 9, 1886. She preceded him in death in 1945.

Survivors include a son Guy, Plymouth, a granddaughter, Mrs. Monica Bachrach, and three grandchildren. A sister, Mrs. James Kauffman of Polk preceded him in death.

Funeral services from Plymouth were held by Mr. and Mrs. Guy Priest, Mr. and Mrs. David Bachrach and family and Mrs. Mabel McFadden.

Area Cannery Closes Doors

The community cannery at nearby Sulphur Springs has been temporarily closed.

The cannery has been closed because it failed to pass an inspection by an insurance company representative. Earlier this year the plant was given an official check by an inspector of the State Health department.

Cannery officials said Saturday an effort will be made to purchase a building and equipment. The cannery has been located in the rear of the Sulphur Springs consolidated school building.

Last year about 10,000 cans of vegetables and fruit were produced under a non-profit arrangement, a number of local people taking advantage of its facilities.

HAMMERMILL INSTALLED

Farmers in this vicinity will be interested in knowing that a new hammermill went into operation this week at the Plymouth grange. The mill is of the most modern design and has a much greater capacity of grinding than the old mill which had been in use many years.

Those who wish custom grinding done can be assured of prompt and satisfactory service at the local elevator.

Fogleson To Move Soon In New Location

After five years in his present location on Trux Street, Robert Fogleson announces this week that his dry cleaning business will move to the Curpen store room on the Public Square.

Negotiations were closed over the week-end with Edw. B. Curpen, who owns the building, located next to Robby's Home Appliance shop on the south side of the Square. Glenn West will do the interior decorating. The wallpaper is being removed, and the entire store will be given a complete renovation.

Mr. Fogleson states that it will probably be the first of September before the plant will be in its new home, but that every effort will be made to get in before that time.

Mr. Fogleson has maintained his pressing and finishing department at his home on Trux Street for the last five years. He purchased the home from the Holtz brothers when he came to Plymouth to open his dry cleaning establishment. Prior to that time Fogleson operated a Nickles bakery truck route.

In making the change Mr. Fogleson stated that the new location will be more convenient for his customers, and that he will have more room for expansion.

Bound Over To Grand Jury

Earl E. West, 21, has been bound over on $500 bond to the Huron County grand jury on a charge of breaking and entering and was taken to the Norfolk Jail Thursday morning following his arrest and hearing in Mayor C. A. Robinson's court.

West was recently sentenced to sixty days in the Richland County Jail for this offense. His wife had been released upon request of his wife and her attorney in order that he might work and pay alimony. He returned only last week to Plymouth.

He had been sleeping in an old car parked in rear of the Texaco Station and some time between 10 and 10 o'clock last Wednesday night is said to have entered the station through a hole and taken $121.50 from the cash register.

Chief of Police Meiser picked him up early Thursday morning and he signed a confession after being charged with breaking and entering at night. A piece of his shirt had caught on a nail when he entered through the hole and was used as evidence.

Young West has been in trouble a number of times and has previously served at the Lancaster Reform school.

Robinson Announces Candidacy For Mayor

Responding to the appeal of his many friends in Plymouth to enter the forthcoming election as a candidate for mayor, Carroll Robinson made it known after council meeting Tuesday night that he will officially file for this office within the next few days.

Robinson was elected mayor of Plymouth in November, 1947 and took office the first of January, 1948. During his tenure of office he has appointed Robert Meiser as chief of police, and filled other important appointments in the village government. He has cooperated in completing the sewage disposal survey, which will not be completed until further action within a couple of years.

Present Councilmen to Run

It was also revealed that five members of the present council will be re-elected again. Those councilmen who are now serving and who will enter the race in November for seats on the council are: Elmer Burkett, Harry Trautman, George Whitney, Robert Fogleson, and Ben Smith. Robert Fogleson, present council member, will not seek re-election.

Others who will make the race include Scott Hartz, Mairy Bachrach, Wallace Redden, Robert McIntire, and George Cheesman.

The deadline for filing petitions for council and village offices is Wednesday, August 14 at 6:30 p. m. This gives less than a week for those seeking office to get their proposed petitions filled out and signed by twenty-five voters.

More Candidates

Scott will file their petitions next week for posts on the board of public affairs. Paul Root and Glenn West will also file a petition for a seat on the same board. W. Wirth may also file a chance to serve on the utility board. Donald Fetters will also file a petition for the office.

The board is now in session for three vacancies and it is reliably reported those filing petitions are Dave Bachrach, Jerry Miller, Harold Cashman, Paul Stoodt and J. F. Root.

Shiloh — Mayor, $500; clerk, $150; treasurer, $125; councilmen, $72; board of public affairs, $72. Township trustees, on the other hand, are paid for the number of days worked, at the rate of $3.50 a day. However, the number of days allowed is limited in accordance with the township's budget.

If the budget is less than $10,000, then the trustees may be paid for work up to 100 days during the year. If the budget runs between $10,000 and $20,000, they may be paid for working up to 125 days a year.

In cases where the budget is over $20,000, the trustees can be paid for working up to 150 days a year. Township clerks, in cases where the township budget is less than $5,000, may receive up to $350 per year. Small townships usually pay salaries at $100 or $150 per year.

Board May Buy Truck

At its August meeting held on Monday night the Board of Public Affairs took under consideration the purchase of a new utility truck for the light and water department.

The action was caused by considerable repair bills to the present truck the past few wmonths. The service truck now in use is a 1936 Ford, which is now over twenty years old. It is greatly underrated in efficiency for present day demands.

Supt. Ernest Rooks turned into the board the necessary accessories which would be desirable for the new truck, which is to be a 1 1/2 ton job. The truck chassis will carry a utility body equipped with wench, pole rigging and possibly a post hole digger, also a high-powered search light mounted on the roof.

In checking over specifications the board was advised that the cost of the truck will be somewhere between $4,500 and $5,000. The board set up a resolution requesting the expenditure of the money for the new truck. Clerk Guy Cunningham was requested to contact the village engineer, Joe Smith, who will prepare necessary legal legislation for the purchase of the truck and the publishing of specifications.

Bids on the truck will be received up to noon Saturday, Aug. 27th, and will be opened at that time.

Supt. Ernest Rooks advised the board Monday night that parking lights had been installed on the large parking lot just east of the Plymouth Theater. The lot has been rolled and crushed stone placed on it, an dis now ready for use by the public. The cost of installing poles, lights, and wiring totalled around $300.

Monthly bills were read by Clerk Cunningham, and they were approved and ordered paid by the board. Several new applications for water have been received the past month, including Raymond Brooks, who is running a 900-ft. well on the farm, and one application in order that water may be obtainable for the farm and home.

INJURED IN ACCIDENT

Samuel Robertson of W. Broadway is recuperating from injuries sustained early Sunday morning in an auto accident.

Robertson and Glenn Hass were returning home from Conger's Grove where they had been assisting in preparations for the picnic. They were on their way to Roast. Hass, driving Robertson's Chevrolet, was towing his own car in which Robertson was riding when they failed to make a curve about 1 1/2 miles north of New Haven on Route 61 and the towed car turned over damaging it almost beyond repair. Robertson was thrown out of his car and lacerations and bruises on both arms. Several stitches were required in his head. Mr. Hass was not injured.

HAD A NICE CHAT with Koukie Buurma, a member of Buurma Bros., Celeryville. He tells me that despite the splendid rainfall last Saturday, the ground is still dry, and that the celery fields could use more water. The gardens this year are producing large quantities of beets, radishes, beans, onions and cabbage as well as the usual amount of fine celery.

A NEW WRINKLE in roasting an ox was used over the week-end for the American Legion and Police and Firemen's ox roast which was held Sunday at Conger's Grove. Leo Barnes furnished 650 pounds of choice steer meat, one steer weighing 450 pounds dressed and a half of another steer was used. Barnes also assisted in roasting. The method used in preparing the ox was under supervision of Herbert Link of Attica.

IT SEEMS LIKE going back to primitive days of cooking, but it must be all right for many complicated dishes expressed over the excellent taste and flavor of the roasted sandwiches. We are told that a pit is made in the ground and filled with red hot embers which require an area 3 feet wide, 10 feet long and 18 inches deep. The meat is wrapped in cheese-cloth and burlap bags; the coals are covered with sand about two inches deep. The meat is placed on top of the sand. A piece of sheet metal is placed over the pit and then covered with straw. The meat is roasted for twelve hours and in this method of roasting the flavor and juice are retained, making a real delicacy.

STOPPED IN at the Peoples National Bank the other day and my eye caught several old photos hanging on the wall, conveniently for the public to peruse. I was really thrilled at two of them showing the old Plymouth Stone Quarry in operation in 1892 and 1893. I was born in 1905. This was the old L. L. Bevier. One showed the old coal fired engine pumper in action with a full crew at work, and the other gave a very prominent picture of the quarry itself. Judging from the depth as shown in the pictures the quarry must be several feet deep . . . almost a hundred, I would say.

ANOTHER VIEW which caught my eye was the picture of the old Cuykendall Mill Dam taken in 1895. This was the dam built by Sam Nimmmons of Saginaw, Mich. The dam is very beautiful with its winter coat of ice and resembles a miniature of Niagara Falls. I have seen several old timers talk about this dam, but I never had a fair concept of it until I came across it. Now I can understand why it was popular in its heyday. The photo shows ice forming in the dam waters, and there's a heavy coat of snow and ice on the banks . . . which isn't hard to look at these warm days.

SAM NIMMONS took two more interesting views. One shows the Decoration Day parade on Saturday, May 29, 1899 headed by the band and followed by the veterans. The picture was made in Greenlawn cemetery, but you'd never recognize it today. The other shows the funeral of Sam Nimmmons, known at that time as the Ohio Celery Co. I am assuming the picture was taken at the start of the celery gardens some fifty years ago, as the type on the back of the picture is September, 1896. The road leads through a row of homes some of which are possibly still in existence today. The next time you're in the bank, show it off to look these views over.

FOUR CARLOADS of choice celery arrived in Plymouth Wednesday morning from the western markets over the B. & O. They were for Dave and Bob Bachrach. The report that feeder cattle sales are holding up well, and that the cats were unloaded in record time, being taken to pasture fields and livestock barns. They were long on their way to the west.

ON VACATION Maurice Bachrach, met center at Sandusky, is now enjoying a week's vacation. During his absence Vincent Taylor is substituting.

NEW DRESS FOR THE ADVERTISER

This week The Advertiser comes to you in a "new dress." It has taken many hours of deliberation to choose from the many faces offered, and we selected "Times Roman," because of its legibility and pleasing appearance. It is the newest design out, and The Advertiser is the first in this section to adopt this type. We think you will like it, for you'll find it easy to read and with a minimum eye strain.

There is a feeling of pride in this issue of The Advertiser for the publishers have worked untiringly in selecting the typeface best suited for "easy reading and eye appeal." We adopted the larger type face because it is the trend not only in the metropolitan field, but also in the smaller communities. Survey after survey shows that people like the bigger face, and brief stories. As a result the "meat of the news" can be set in the new size type and at the same time the paper loses no value in space.

Along with our new news face, we have adopted new head lines and a new style of type faces. We have taken great care in changing over The Advertiser from "the old to the new," and we trust that you will find it favorable with your reading habits.

DON EBRIGHT FOR GOVERNOR

It has been very gratifying to note that several county Republican executive committees throughout the state have voiced their opinions and have given endorsement to Don Ebricht as their choice for the next Republican candidate as governor of Ohio.

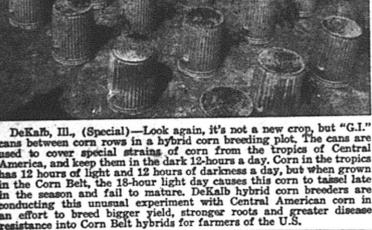

As treasurer of the State of Ohio Don Ebricht has proved himself a worthy and efficient public servant. There is no doubt but what his tenure of office is far beyond reproach. He has handled the affairs of his department in a satisfactory manner or he could never have served the many successive terms under the Democratic regime.

We believe the State of Ohio would grow and prosper with Don Ebricht as governor. We believe he is capable of doing a good job in every phase of state government. Certainly, judging from past records, he is not the narrow-minded politician who would sell a taxpayer's trust down the river for favoritism and personal aspirations. The radiance of his personality carries a sincerity which few men possess. In public speeches his strong, resonant voice goes out to his audience with vibrant notes that command attention on any subject he may talk. His character in private and public life is without tarnish, and his beliefs in America and Democracy are of the highest ideals. Yes, Don Ebricht possesses all of the qualifications the voters of Ohio may require in choosing their governor, and we hope that the Republicans and his many Democratic friends will have the pleasure of voting for him as their leader in the next gubernatorial election.

CAP CORN WITH "G. I." CANS

As between corn rows in a hybrid corn breeding plot, the cans used to cover special strains of corn from the tropics of Central America, and keep them in the dark 18-hours a day. Corn is a 12-hour light plant, and when grown in the dark it produces a special type of corn called "G. I." corn. The 18-hour light day causes the corn to tassel late in the season and fall to mature. DeKalb hybrid corn breeders are conducting this unusual experiment with Central American corn in an effort to breed bigger yield, stronger roots and greater disease resistance into Corn Belt hybrids for farmers of the U.S.

Behind The Scenes

NEW YORK, Aug. 1—Like everything else, business is affected by the heat. And all over the country the heat and the humidity have been keeping people out of some stores, sending them into others.

A big metropolitan department store staged a major promotion that ordinarily would have packed the place. But the heat kept people away. On the other hand, the temperature and the drought have boomed the sale of garden hose. One company which recently introduced a new type and colorful type of hose suddenly found itself three weeks behind in deliveries and its dealers' shelves bare. Kerosene wading pools for children also have been a popular item all through the past few weeks. Electric fans have been whirring off the counters in the northeast just about as fast as merchants could get them into their stores.

It is pleasant and cooling too, to note the continued sales rise in deep-freeze units. Last year about 800,000 units were sold; this year the industry expects to top the million mark. One enterprising publishing house has recently issued a cook book devoted exclusively to frozen food recipes. It's an ill, hot trade wind that blows nobody good.

CHEER PAYS OFF—Providing the right words for people who want to be friendly and say so has spawned an industry that produces some three billion greeting cards annually. Behind the amazing success of the industry lies a simple philosophy which, says the current issue of Coronet magazine, is probably best reflected in the policies of its parent, the Hallmark greeting card firm of Kansas City, Mo. The area within thirty miles of Fort Loramie, at the junction of Routes 66 and 705, has been of utmost importance in turn to the Indians, the French, the British, the pioneer Americans, the early builders of our canals and roads and those modern Ohioans seeking outdoor recreation.

This highest land in western Ohio holds the headwaters of the south-flowing Great Miami and the Solito Rivers, the famed Washburn River of Indiana, and the St. Marys and the Auglaize Rivers that roll north and northwest to form the Maumee River whose waters flow into the western end of Lake Erie.

Here also are the great reservoirs that supplied water for lockage on the Miami and Erie Canal—Lake St. Marys, Lake Loramie, and Indian Lake where state parks accommodate vacationers in large number. This year the state, in preparing for these vacationers, has cleared and dredged the lakes, stoned the drawways, planted new trees, converted fallen trees into firewood for the many outdoor fireplaces in the parks and prepared increased parking facilities for motorists.

Built in 1769, the French-Canadian trader, Peter Loramie, sank his post and stockade at this busy crossroads, and gave his name to a creek, a town and a lake twenty years earlier, in 1749, the first point of British occupation in the country was established as an English trading post at the Indian village, Pickawillany on Route 66 at the junction of Loramie Creek and the Great Miami River above Piqua. This spot was famous to the military leaders of Paris and London two centuries ago.

The destruction of Pickawillany by the French, reported in the real start of the French and Indian War that ended bycession of Canada to the New England states, Britain, by the Treaty of Paris in 1763.

WHITE ROCKS TAKE HONORS IN CONTEST
 Ohio growers of White Rocks walked off with most of the blue ribbons in the contest, Chickadee-of-Tomorrow contest just concluded on the Ohio State University campus.

Mahlon Sweet, Ohio State Chairman of the contest, reports that White Rocks won all but one of the blue ribbons in the senior division of the district contests, and took both the junior and senior blue ribbons in the state finals.

The one exception in the district contests was at the central district, where Mrs. Helen Logsdon of Millersburg, took top honors with her Cornish-White Rock cross entries.

Here are the rest of the top place winners: Northwest, Holtz-aple Poultry Farm, Elda, senior division only, White Rocks; southwest, Mrs. Clarence Dunham, Lebanon, senior division and Don L. Smith, Xenia, junior division, White Rocks; southeast, Russell & Cooper, Pleasant City, senior division, White Rocks, and Gerald Davis, Caldwell, junior division, New Hampshire; central, Mrs. Helen Logsdon, Millersburg, senior division, Cornish-White Rock Cross and Don Carr, Marysville, junior division, White Rocks; northeast, Mrs. Elsie J. bs, Elyria, junior division, White Rocks and Dorothy Stoner, Canton, junior division, New Hampshire.

Sweet says the heaviest birds in the show averaged a slight more than four and one-half pounds dressed. But he points out that the heaviest birds didn't win first place because of poor feathering.

THINGS TO COME—Somebody's doing something about the weather. A manufacturer announces a new plastic-covered outdoor chair, which, because of the lowheat-conductivity of the plastic, will not absorb the heat of the sun, but will remain cool to the touch. While you cool off in new aluminum shower stalls you can also take comfort in the thought that they're corrosion-proof. . . For those who like to lie cozy in bathtubs during hot spells, a gadget can be attached to the back of the bathtub where it serves as a comfortable headrest. . . A new cocktail glass has a tinkling bell in its base. The manufacturer's announcement doesn't say whether this added feature is a warning bell or just for fun. . . The British have come up with a good idea to promote additional use of natural rubber, namely the addition of rubber latex to cement to produce a stronger material for flooring and mortar-making purposes. . . Gadget of the week: a tool that looks like a hoe but can be adjusted to serve as an edger, a trencher, a sickle and an axe.

LIGHT HOUSE, LAKE ST. MARYS (GRAND LAKE)
 Near the boulder monument on Route 66 which marks the site of Pickawillany can be seen the brick residence of Col. John Johnson, who was the Indian agent in charge of the Indian Reservations at Ft. Loramie, St. Marys, Defiance, Maumee and Toledo which were created under Gen. Wayne's Treaty with the Indians at Greenville in 1795. The Miamis, Wyandots, Ottawas and other tribes that fought with the French and the Delawares, Shawnees, Muncys, Senecas, Cherokees, Catawbas and other tribes who fought on the side of the British in the early frontier days often visited Col. Johnson and set up their camps along the Miami River near his home. In Greenville can be seen the Greenville Treaty monument on the site of old Fort Greenville. North of this town, on Route 49, is the most perfect reproduction of an Indian war fort of Gen. Wayne's day, old Fort Recovery which interests travellers today. One of Ohio's earliest roads ran from Toledo along the Auglaize and Miami Indian Trails to Cincinnati. Modern highways follow this same path: Route 24 from Toledo to Defiance, Route 66 to Piqua, and Route 25 to Cincinnati. The Miami and Erie Canal also traced this same route. The wilderness road followed by the army of General Anthony Wayne on his way to the Battle of Fallen Timbers at Maumee was along the Washburn Trail of the Indians and was marked in its day by a string of forts—Fort Washington at Cincinnati, Fort Hamilton at Hamilton, Fort St. Clair at Eaton, Fort Jefferson, Fort Greenville, Fort Defiance and Fort Meigs. All of these locations are points of interest for motorists. COURTESY—THE STANDARD OIL CO. OHIO.

John Grove Finds Plane Useful In His Daily Farm Operations

John Grove, 56-year-old farmer of Auburn township, and well-known in Plymouth, finds his Piper Cub plane very useful in his farm operations, according to a story appearing in last week's Tiro World. The story goes on to say:

Among the many distinctions of Tiro community is that of having one of the few flying farmers of this area, and he is one of the oldest men to successfully adopt flying to his business. The local flyer is John Grove, 53 year old Auburn Township farmer, who recently purchased a Piper Cub airplane. He is now putting the finishing touches on a new combination garage and hangar near his home on the Auburndale Farms at Auburn Center. The garage will house the family automobile while the hangar will provide shelter for the new airplane. The new building stands on the site of a garage building wrecked by the windstorm which struck the Auburn Center community in 1947.

While flying is his main recreation, the Auburn farmer says he only flies in the evening, except for business reasons, and he reports that he finds his plane a great help in expediting farming operations. For instance on the day while combining oats something broke on the self-propelled combine. Grove flew to Willard in about five minutes, secured a needed repair part and flew back in a few minutes. In case he would have driven in an auto considerably more time would probably have elapsed before the combine was back at work.

Mr. Grove is a member of the Flying Farmer organization and last Saturday he flew his new plane to the Ohio Flying Farmers meeting held in Columbus. He was accompanied by Clayton Albright, Monroeville, farmer and seed corn grower. Approximately 150 flying farmers were present at the meeting.

Mr. Grove flies around the area every Sunday evening, spending about two hours in the air. It is

Mrs. Roe has purchased a home in Phoenix and will teach in the Roosevelt school. During their residence here, they have made many friends who regret to see them go, but wish them well in their new home.

Dr., Mrs. Searle Return From English Trip

Dr. and Mrs. George J. Searle returned to Plymouth Sunday afternoon to spend the summer in their home here after a visit to Doctor's old haunts in London. Dr. Searle, born near Buckingham Palace, played in Hyde and Green parks when a boy and remembers Queen Victoria well.

Making the trip by plane, they took off from Idlewild, N.J., from the Atlantic at an altitude of 25,000 feet and a speed of 400 M.P.H. They reached London in 9 hours the following morning. Breakfast was served on board the ship. They were thrilled with all the sights, wonders and immensity of the city, 30 miles square. The old buildings, some dating back centuries, including Westminster Abbey, cathedrals, the Tower, House of Parliament, palaces, are all built of stone, and St. Peter's church, where Dr. Searle sang in the boys' choir was built in 1238. The school which he attended in connection with the church is still functioning.

On their return flight, they disembarked at Shannon, Ireland, and had dinner while the plane was refueled. At dawn the cruiser landed at Gander and breakfast served while the plane was again gassed and checked.

The plane landed at Idlewild where their daughter, Mrs. C. V. Whitney met them. The remainder of the trip was made by train to Mansfield where they enjoyed dinner with their son, Dr. Geo. J. Searle Jr. and family who brought them to Plymouth.

New Weapon In Undulant Fever Fight

Foremost in public interest is the undulant fever menace which strikes 40,000 new victims every year. Health authorities agree that raw milk is a dangerous carrier of undulant fever, bovine tuberculosis, typhoid and other diseases. Pasteurizing milk is the only safe way to check such milk-borne diseases, they say. This new Safard home milk and cream pasteurizer offers an easy way to combat the disease for it makes pasteurizing milk at home a simple task. It is completely automatic so that anyone can operate it.

Here's How New CCC Crop Storage Loan Program Works:

One of the Nation's first farmers to purchase new crop storage facilities through the CCC financing program is Irvin McKibben of Maddock, N. D. Steps which he completed the transaction form a pattern of experiences which will be shared by thousands of wheat and corn growers this Summer and Fall as their own applications are processed. They are shown in the photo-story above.

1—After pricing the building he wanted, McKibben submitted application for the loan to his County Production Marketing Committee. Such loans may be for as much as 85 per cent of the desired structure's cost. Members of the Benson County PMA Committee which approved McKibben's application are three fellow farmers who meet once a week, and who are assisted by a full-time secretary. They are (left to right) K. B. Sandven of York; Margaret Scott, secretary, of Minnewaukan; Albert Thompson, chairman, Shenyne, and I. J. Leter, vice chairman, Emmond.

2—His application approved, McKibben arranged with Agco Steel Buildings, Inc., Quonset dealer at Grand Forks, to construct one of these multi-purpose farm buildings on his land. Upon its completion some 10 days later, the structure is inspected by PMA Committee member Leter (at left, with McKibben). Leter certifies that it meets CCC requirements for crop storage.

3—The first truck load of McKibben's wheat crop is dumped into the newly-completed building, which can be used for other

4—A few days later, a check payable to the building supplier is handed McKibben by V. A. Helberg (right) president of the Farmer's State Bank at Minnewaukan. The check represents proceeds of the bank's loan to McKibben, who is to repay in five years at 4 1/2 interest.

World-Citizen Counts Home Countries of Daily Devotional Booklet Authors

Nobel prize winner, Dr. John R. Mott, searches the globe to enumerate the countries represented by contributors to the first international issue of The Upper Room, the world's most widely used devotional guide.

Honorary president of the World Council of Churches, this famed Christian layman was chosen to be the only American among the 60 overseas contributors to the September-October number. Two million copies are being printed, including editions in Portuguese, Spanish, Chinese, Armenian and Breille.
Dr. Mott is familiar with every land where Christianity is preached, having made 110 Atlantic and 18 Pacific crossings.
He holds that Christianity will never be fully understood until believers of all races and cultures have made their contribution to its interpretation.

POULTRY HOUSE STYLES CHANGE

Styles change — even in poultry houses.
D. D. Moyer, extension poultry specialist at Ohio State University, says the narrow type poultry house 15 to 20 feet is giving way to houses 30 to 40 feet in depth, built long enough to house 500 and more birds. These newer houses can take care of up to several thousand birds in one room without partitions.

Moyer sees a number of advantages in the new style housing. First of all — it cuts down wall space and thereby reduces heat loss.

Another angle is that a house at least 30 feet deep gives room enough for a center drive. This makes cleaning easier, and it's less trouble to move equipment and birds in and out of the house.
It also makes for better inside arrangement. Moyer points out that in the new style houses roosts can be placed along the driveway. When that is done, more wall space is left for nests.

Moyer also points out that the gable roof on the new style house allows for a storage loft for feed, litter and equipment.

Finally — the larger house is easily adapted for other uses if the farmbusiness changes from chickens to other stock.

The ex-fire fighter's estate totaled $28,983. After payment of debts, it was estimated that each institution will receive $10,729.
Sadler was one of identical twins. His brother William Sadler, a retired policeman, preceded Willis to death by two years. The pair shared a bachelor apartment
