PILGRIMS WIN SECOND STRAIGHT AS THEY DEFEAT BUTLER BULLDOGS 40-36

By JIM SHUTT
Piling up a big third quarter lead and then withholding a final period surge by the visitors, the Plymouth Pilgrims won their second straight game of the waning year as they dropped the Butler Bulldogs 40-36 last Thursday night in a game on the Pilgrim hardwood. This was the final game of the 1950 part of the local schedule and set the Pilgrims record at two victories against five reverses. Their Richland County league record is two against three. After spurring into a 11-6 first stanza lead the Pilgrims were still in the van 20-17 at the halftime after a hectic second quarter which saw the lead change hands four times.

Louie Root took over for the Pilgrims in the third 8-minute set and personally escorted them into a 35-26 lead at the outset of the final period as he soared home 11 of his team's 15 markers in that game winning period.

Butler outscored the hot club in the last quarter 10-5 but the Pilgrims had the game already put away. Louie Root and Larry Schreck hit for 12 points apiece for the victorious Pilgrims while Bill Oswalt counted 12 for the visitors.

The Plymouth Reserves lost 30-24 to the Butler seconds in the opening game. The young Pilgrims racked up 12 points in the first quarter but could manage no more than that total throughout the rest of the game. The score by quarters was 12-2, 17-13, and 20-13. Eby hit for eight markers for the local club while Rudrick had 15.

Saint Nicholas was still the favorite Christmas tree in Belgium and the Netherlands both young and old still celebrate his feast day. A picturesque procession of the saint rides through the streets on a white donkey. The Dutch settlers in America brought the custom with them to New Amsterdam (now New York). English settlers eagerly borrowed the legends and festivities surrounding the kind and generous saint. English speaking children tried to pronounce the Dutch name for the saint, San Nicholas, but they said it quickly and excitedly and soon the name changed to Santa Claus.

In 1809 Washington Irving wrote of Saint Nicholas as the guardian of New York City. He wrote of him as a jolly fellow with a broad brimmed hat. He wore high breeches and carried a long pipe. He rode across the troughs in a wagon and dropped presents down the chimneys.

In 1822, Moore wrote for his children a jolly story of Saint Nicholas, which gives the picture of him as we know him today. This poem is the one we know as "The Night Before Christmas." He had become a round and jolly figure with twinkling eyes, a red snuff nose and a white beard. The long pipe became a stumpy of a pipe and his wagon became a sleigh. His Dutch costume changed to a suit trimmed with fur. At one point also the legend developed in America that his sleigh was pulled by reindeer. The reindeer appear in Moore's poem. Probably Scandinavian settlers in America added this detail to the story. Thomas Nast, the cartoonist gave the first picture of Santa as he is imagined today, in a cartoon in 1860. In other countries Saint Nicholas has taken other forms. English children believe in a Father Christmas who brings them gifts. To them he is a gentleman dressed in a long tail coat and a squarish beaver hat. German children speak of Kringle and the French of Pere Noel (Father Christmas). But to all the children in Christian lands he stands for the same thing, the kindly spirit that the Christ Child brought into the world.

THE ORIGIN OF SANTA CLAUS
Do you believe in Santa Claus? Did you think he was only a legend? Well, he isn't, for he originated from a real man called Saint Nicholas. Santa Claus is the patron saint of Christmas and the most beloved figure in the legends of childhood. The modern mythical Santa Claus developed from the real person Saint Nicholas. Saint Nicholas was a bishop in the Roman Catholic Church. During the middle ages he gradually became the patron saint of schoolboys. European schoolboys celebrated his feastday on Dec. 6th, by electing a boy-bishop. Dressed in magnificent robes he led a parade which would through the streets and sometimes into the churches. On the whole the occasion was solemn. Later this custom died although house. There was a lovely decorated Christmas tree in the living room of Mary's house and the gifts were placed under it. The evening was made lively by Leonard Smith, Neil Kennedy, Durward Vogel, and Ruth Barnes, who were on the entertainment committee.

Now ... A NEW SERVICE TO PROVIDE MORE BLUE CROSS BENEFITS WHEN HOSPITALIZED AWAY FROM HOME ...

Blue Cross Inter-Plan Service Benefit Bank!

IT'S MORE IMPORTANT THAN EVER BEFORE!

Always carry your Blue Cross card when you travel away from home — here's why — The Blue Cross Inter-Plan Bank makes it possible for you and your family to enjoy greater benefits when in an emergency it is necessary to be hospitalized in a Blue Cross hospital in another area.

THIS IS THE BANK!

The Inter-Plan Service Benefit Bank is the reciprocal program of most of the Blue Cross Plans across the nation which provides to subscribers of one Plan the service benefits of another Plan.

THESE ARE THE BENEFITS!

When hospitalized in a member hospital of a "Bank" Plan you will be treated exactly as if you were a subscriber to that Plan, and you will receive the service benefits provided by that Plan for the number of days to which you are entitled under your own Akron Blue Cross certificate.

THESE ARE THE PLANS THAT SUPPLY THE SERVICE

The Blue Cross Plans which belong to the Inter-Plan Bank represent most of the Blue Cross member hospitals in the United States. Virtually all of these hospitals provide "Bank" benefits to Blue Cross subscribers of other "Bank" member Plans. Because it is impractical to list the names of thousands of hospitals, we have shown below the location of Blue Cross Plans which are members of the "Bank." This list is arranged alphabetically by states for your convenience.

THIS IS HOW YOU OBTAIN "BANK" BENEFITS!

When you are admitted to a hospital in another area, present your Blue Cross card to the admitting clerk . . . ask if the Plan in that area is a member of The Blue Cross Inter-Plan Bank. If it is, you will receive the benefits outlined above without fuss or red tape. The Akron Blue Cross simply verifies your membership and tells the other Plan the number of days' care to which you are entitled. It's as easy as that!

BENEFITS AVAILABLE IN NON-BANK HOSPITALS

When, in an emergency, you are admitted to an accredited hospital which does not participate in the Inter-Plan Bank, you will receive the benefits as outlined under the emergency clause (Section II) of your certificate. If the hospital is not familiar with the Akron Plan's emergency benefits, ask the admitting clerk to write or wire Akron Hospital Service, 65 W. State Street, Akron 8, Ohio.

Listed below are the Blue Cross plans now participating in the Inter-Plan Service Benefit Bank:

LETTERS FROM ENGLAND

A correspondence with a young lady in Plymouth, England, brings interesting letters to Holly Pitzer, who received a holiday letter this week. She began the correspondence through Mr. Jason Murlin and received the letters through a school teacher in the English city.

CHRISTMAS IN FLORIDA

Mr. and Mrs. Verne Cole and Mrs. Nancy Gandy, of near Plymouth, left Thursday for a Christmas vacation trip which will include a romantic winter stay in Florida. Nancy and Gary were wondering if Santa came to call in Florida, but will wager he will visit the youngsters there, all right.

Christmas Service Solemnly Beautiful

Those who were seeking in these bewildering times, a little rest and peace and encouragement for the tired mind and spirit, found these in the very beautiful Christmas Eve midnight service at the Lutheran Church. It was one of the loveliest services we have ever attended, and we shall always be thankful that we took time from the busy season, to go.

To the director, Mrs. John Armstrong, goes much of the credit, as the chorus work, solos, duets and all, were evidence of much practice, and hard work of preparation. Mrs. Francis Guthrie was the organ. Mr. Paul Mumford at the piano and Lanny Gooding assisted at the piano for the opening Christmas Prelude.

The lighting effects of both church and home were beautiful. The committee on decoration, Mrs. Margarita Anderson and Mrs. R. Eckstein used the Christmas carols, and the Christmas story and plan to make the room more lovely.

COURT NEWS

Raymond C. Franklin an employee of the Shelby Seamless Tube Company, was given a hearing Saturday evening before Mayor Briggs in the Municipal Court. He was charged with driving 15 miles an hour in a 25 mile an hour zone. He was arrested by Sheriff of Police Robert Meiser on Plymouth Street. He was fined $10.00 and costs.

LIBRARY TO BE CLOSED ON NEW YEAR'S MORNING The Plymouth Library will be closed on the evening of January 1, next Monday evening, and will be open on Tuesday at the usual time, 9 o'clock, on Tuesday night, Jan. 2nd.

The beautiful Christmas decorations in the library rooms were kindly arranged by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Catfield. If you have not already been in to see them we know you will enjoy doing so. In the reading room the first of the mantel is attractive with Christmas greenery and a Madonna and child statue, and on one of the tables are the Christmas story and lighted by a large red Christmas candle. In the children's room there is a Christmas tree, which especially pleases the youngsters.

HOSPITALIZATION "BANK" AIDS SUBSCRIBERS AWAY FROM HOME

The Blue Cross Hospitalization Plan recently announced the organization of a "bank" from which subscribers can draw more benefits than heretofore when hospitalized away from home.

Robert C. Jenkins, executive director of the Akron Hospital Service, said the "bank is a reciprocal program among members of the Blue Cross Plans." Its purpose, he said, is to provide subscribers of one plan with the benefits of another plan when away from home.

Mr. Jenkins said, in providing subscribers of one plan with the benefits of another plan when away from home, it is a reciprocal program among members of the Blue Cross Plans. Its purpose, he said, is to provide subscribers of one plan with the benefits of another plan when away from home.

"WHY BE 'UNCLE SUCKER'?"

Never in history has any nation proved more willing than the United States to come to the aid of others in distress. When an earthquake or other disaster struck a foreign land, America has always been quick to extend a helping hand. In the first World War, we loaned Europe billions—then forgave practically the entire debt. Since the last war, we have sent more billions abroad to help countries wrecked by war. And our help goes to our former enemies—Germany, Italy and Japan—as well as to our allies.

It is not unreasonable to expect those we are helping to help themselves, and to regard Marshall Plan aid not as a windfall from a too-rich uncle, but as a contribution toward world economic stability and peace. Greece is an example. Since the war, American taxpayers have poured over a billion dollars in gifts into Greece—plus our military aid.

For months officials of the Economic Co-operation Administration have been urging the Greek government to eliminate the inexcusable waste, to institute reforms in its tax system, to reduce its bureaucracy, to speed up recovery of industry and agriculture. Little was done as long as Uncle Sam continued to give lavishly and without strings.

But our resources are not limitless. Nor is our patience. Recently the ECA lost patience and made a substantial reduction in Marshall Plan funds for Greece.

We are able to help others because we first helped ourselves. The assistance we give other countries is a product of our self-reliance. It must be paid for by the energies and efforts of our people—in taxes.

America never hesitated to give when the need arose. But we can be righteously indignant when, as in Greece, our material aid is wasted, or when we help re-arm Belgium's army and then are told that Belgian munitions makers are shipping arms to China's Reds to be used against our own boys in Korea.

We should not be expected to carry for evermore the burdens of the world. Others must do their share, according to their ability. We should emphasize that. The time has arrived for Uncle Sam to say "uncle."—Graham Patterson in the Pathfinder News Magazine.

RECIPE FOR A HAPPY NEW YEAR

Take twelve fine, full grown months; see that they are thoroughly free from all old memories of bitterness, rancor, hate and jealousy.

Cleanse them completely from all clinging spite; pick off all specks of pettiness and littleness; and in short, see that these months are freed from all the past—have them fresh and clean as when they first came from the great storehouse of Time.

Cut each month into thirty (or thirty-one) equal parts. This batch will keep for just one year. Do not attempt to make up the whole batch at one time (so many persons spoil the whole lot in so doing), but prepare one day at a time as follows:

Into each day put FAITH, COURAGE, WORK. (some persons omit this ingredient and so spoil the flavor of the rest) HOPE, FIDELITY, LIBERALITY, KINDNESS, REST. (leaving this out is like leaving the dressing out of the salad—don't do it.)

Be sure to include a generous quantity of CONSIDERATION, PATIENCE and LONGSUFFERING.

Don't forget a pinch of the salt of CANDOR; season well with GRACE, not forgetting a sprinkle of GOOD HUMOR.

Pour into the whole LOVE without measure, and mix with a vim. Cook thoroughly in a fervent heat. Garnish with smiles of THANKFULNESS and sprigs of JOY; then serve with Quietness. UNSELFISHNESS—and a Happy New Year is yours.

By Leo West
BEAUTIFUL NOLA HAMPSHIRE was alone for the second successive New Year's eve. As the hands of her plain electric clock in her room moved to the point down the novel by Mary Jerpit and looked at the sleepy flames in the grate.

Someone in the party on that New Year's Eve 24 long months ago had suggested charades. Nola's soft grey eyes filled as she remembered how on nights she had thought of reenacting a scene in Jerry Pitman's college life which had anchored him ever since, preventing any real progress in his chosen field.

"Maybe," she thought, "it will wake him up, make him know that he can't go on forever living in the past."

The word she chose to dramatize was "hero." She could do the "he" easily, with a borrowed hat and coat, and she could pretend for the second syllable to row a boat—Would it be too strong for Jerry? She looked across the room at his dark, good-looking hair, his black wavy hair. His ready smile.

That decided her. Jerry had never stopped living the moment when his Harvard roommate had defeated Yale and he had been in the Number 2 slot. It was simply a case of arrested development she had been fighting vainly during the year of their engagement. He couldn't even settle down to what he claimed he wanted to do—write; whereas she was a highly paid laboratory technician in a steel plant. She flushed angrily, what he needed was a shock treatment. What he needed was a charade.

When she had finished rowing madly in Jerry Pitman's most exhausted style, an odd electric sibilance built up in the small audience. Quietly, fighting the tension in her body, Nola slipped back to her chair. Jerry was staring at her, a weak, sickly grin on his handsome face.

"Oh, forgive me, Jerry forgive me," her heart cried out, wishing desperately that she had chosen another charade. Furtively, she looked around her. Everybody present, it seemed, understood. Oh, it was too, too awful. She put her head in her hands.

THERE WAS the sound of a chair crashing to the floor. She looked up. Jerry had risen, resentment burning in his brown eyes. That had been exactly two years ago. She had not heard from him since.

Nola Hampshire sighed and looked at the clock. Soon it would be another New Year gone. She had hoped that she might seriously take up writing but although she had watched the new writers one by one appear in print she had not once encountered his name. But moved by some mystic presentiment, she had reserved each New Year's Eve for him. He might not overlook the dramatics of returning on the anniversary of his self-banishment. Not Jerry Pitman!

(When the buzzer sounded, and she had opened the door and stood face to face with him, she couldn't believe her senses.) This tall, handsome man with the new, purposeful shape to his mouth and jaw couldn't be Jerry Pitman.

"Thanks for the charade, Nola." "Come in," she said huskily. "I want to get a good look at you." "Something inside her built up during the two years he'd been gone collapsed then. "I don't care if you're a tramp all your life, Jerry—but without you is no fun—no fun at all, Jerry."

She'd support him herself if she had to.

Snuggled, he turned from her and picked up the novel she had dropped.

"Scramble the syllables in Jerry Pitman. What do you get?"

"Pitman's Ryman," she said wonderingly.

His grin widened. "Try again." "Many Jerpit—Jerry Pitman—Oh, no, Jerry!"

He nodded. Outside the night was suddenly filled with the sounds of bells and whistles.

"Happy New Year, darling," they said together and watched the hands of the electric clock touch.

WILL FARM SUBSIDIES END? BEAUTY PRODUCTS SAVE TIME, MONEY THINGS TO COME HOWARD HUGHES GIVES MOVIES A BOOST "WHITE COLLAR WORKER" IN A SQUEEZE

New York, Dec. 25—Is the end of farm subsidies in sight? This stronghold of pressure-economics is beginning to crack a little but it cannot be concluded that the whole system of price supports will collapse.

It may be a little inconsistent for the government to be sponsoring price supports on one economic front while cracking down on prices elsewhere, but consistency has little to do with it. Support for farm prices has long been fundamental in the credos of both parties.

True, price support for eggs will be discontinued after December 31, and the potato program, which resulted in the Commodity Credit Corp. buying $100 million of the 1949 crop, and $500 million over a seven year period, practically collapsed of its own weight. These may be straws in the wind.

The proponents of price supports are embarrassed but are not yet ready to abandon farm subsidies altogether. Some prices are sufficiently above the support levels to make the matter academic at the moment, but the government's record of nearly $64 million dollars on its price support program in the first four months of the present fiscal year is bringing some demands for abandonment of this costly venture. Best guesses are it will take years for sentiment to swing completely away from supports.

BEAUTY AND EMERGENCY
Alert manufacturers of cosmetics and beauty aids see the national emergency creating new merchandising trends for their products. Higher living costs and higher taxes have already made the average American woman more budget-conscious than ever before. At the same time, some 18,500,000 women are already at work, and the total may soon exceed the all-time record of 20,400,000 set at the war production peak of 1944. This combination of factors is seen as "tremendous merchandising potential" by Martin L. Straus, who during the last quarter of 1950 introduced Tintair, the first hair coloring manufactured exclusively for home use. "Previously, most hair color preparations had been sold in beauty shops but Tintair transferred a substantial percentage of this business to drug and department stores, and that total is steadily increasing," he declares. "With home hair coloring and home permanent waves, manufacturers see the women workers of the new rearmament period establishing spectacular market potentials for beauty products that save time and money." Straus estimates that sales of hair coloring will come close to $70,000,000 in 1951—about equal to sales of the now well-established home permanent waves.

SALARY SQUEEZE
White collar and civil service employees in many instances have not recovered from the cost-of-living and salary squeeze of World War II, and as new war mobilization pressures arise there is a demand for scientific job evaluation studies by member firms of the Association of Consulting Management Engineers to head off a loss of valuable manpower to other jobs. Judge Letbowitz in New York this week pointed out that the inadequate $39.34 a week take-home pay of policemen does not contribute toward efforts to maintain a police force free from corrupting influences. Throughout the whole range of civil service employments and in some business institutions, strange inequities have grown up. These often require recommendations and study by management consultants to bring them in line not only internally but with prevailing rates in the local community.

MOVIE-MAKER EXTRAORDINARY
Amid the jitters in which many a civilian industry has operated recently there has been a striking demonstration of faith in 1951 by the colorful Howard Hughes, West Coast aviator-industrialist-movie-maker. Hughes has announced that RKO, which he controls, has a program to make 10 of the most feature films, 10 of them in color. This dramatic announcement is the more remarkable since it comes at a time when many bigwigs are concerned about the growth of television and real or imagined jitters are already completed, the remainder being before the camera or in preparation. Industrial Film Daily hailed the move for its "confidence and resolution, quantities which far too many in this industry seem to be finding elusive." Hughes' RKO program also calls for 88 short subjects and releases of a number of independently-produced pictures.

LETTERS To the Editor

Editor Plymouth Advertiser:
According to the daily newspaper Mr. Robert F. Black, President of the $50,000,000 White Motor Co., addressed the East

Cleveland Kiwanis Club on Monday, Dec. 11, and in the course of his reported address he lauded the growth of the heavy trucking industry in recent years, he demolished the deteriorating and inadequate condition of the public highways and complained that the trucking industry, especially the heavy trucking industry, is blamed for said poor condition of highways, "with few, if any, facts on which to base the claim that trucks are destroying our roads." A friend of mine suggests that it must be the little passenger cars, such as the Austins and Crosleys, that are breaking nine inch thick concrete highways into rocking slabs, humps and holes. Somebody better investigate.

Yours,
Dunk N. Fife

OUR DEMOCRACY

A FRESH SLATE
AT THE END OF THE OLD YEAR, IT IS AN ANCIENT AND HONORED CUSTOM IN AMERICA TO CAST UP ACCOUNTS AND TAKE STOCK OF WHERE WE STAND—AND TO START THE NEW YEAR WITH A FRESH SLATE.

OF COURSE WE CAN'T ALL, AS INDIVIDUALS, COMPLETELY BALANCE OUR ACCOUNTS—BUT WE CAN START WITH A FRESH SLATE TO WORK OUT BETTER, BRAVER PLANS FOR OUR FUTURE—TO PROVIDE GREATER SECURITY THROUGH LIFE INSURANCE AND SAVINGS FOR OUR FAMILIES—TO GAIN FOR OURSELVES GREATER OPPORTUNITIES AND SATISFACTIONS IN THE NEW YEAR.

WHICH WOULD YOU CHOOSE?

Which of these four house styles do you like best? Cozy Cape Cod—Ranch-Type—Colonial? Or functional Modern?

Most people prefer one of the traditional styles... yet everyone wants the most modern convenience there is—electric service, built-in and available in every room, in any quantity, at any time!

It's a modern miracle that even the most modest American homes do have wired help, ready at the flick of a switch, for washing, cleaning, sewing, cooking—for refrigeration and entertainment and a host of other jobs.

Within a man's lifetime, sound, business-managed companies have electrified an entire nation. And the cost to you? About the cost of a pack of cigarettes a day! You'll admit that's a power-full bargain!

Statewide Poll Shows Public Favors Improving Organization of School Districts

Columbus—A large majority of those who are interested in Ohio public schools favor improving the organization of its administrative school districts, wherever possible. A recent poll of school people and other citizens, made by the Ohio Citizens Commission for the Public Schools, reveals that there is strong sentiment in Ohio for better district organization.

Practically all of those polled (96%) believe that each district which has no public schools within its boundaries should be abolished and its territory joined with a neighboring district or districts. State Department of Education records show that there were thirteen such districts in existence in July, 1950.

Almost three-fourths of those who responded to the questionnaire believe that every effort should be made to establish school districts with sufficient population so that at least one teacher can be provided for each district. That is, how to grade each school building. In some instances this would require the union of neighboring small school districts in order to include enough children within the territory.

A substantial number indicated further that each administrative district should maintain at least twelve grades of public school education. Over 72 per cent of the school people and 58 per cent of the other citizens answering the poll favor the abolition of school districts which do not, or cannot, because of limited pupil population or finances, maintain twelve grades of schooling. In October, 1949, there were 468 school districts which maintained only elementary schools. Those polled believe that, in most cases, such districts should be joined with a neighboring district or districts.

Subsequent articles will discuss the response to questions dealing with the size of rural high schools and popular vote on proposals for school district reorganization. Copies of the complete survey may be secured by writing to Dr. A. J. Klein, executive secretary, Ohio Citizens Commission for the Public Schools, 245 North High St., Columbus 16, Ohio.
