Friends, Fishing Take Up Time of Root And Hillis On Trip To Florida

Editor's Note: This is the second part of a story written by P. H. Root, while on a recent trip with Coy Hillis to Florida. We know you've found it interesting.

At Bonita Springs is a fine Zoo where they have some very fine flamingos of which I took some nice colored slides. By 6 p. m. we met Mr. and Mrs. Crawford at Ft. Myers Beach. Mr. Crawford was formerly our city electrician. It was sheer luck that we arrived when we did, as all fishing guides were booked solid thru Monday. Somehow Clyde changed his plans (I doubt if he would have done it for strangers) and booked a couple from Atlanta and ourselves for the next day. Friday morning was quite cool and a sweater felt good. By noon it was hotter than Hades, and I got the worst sunburn I ever had. Later my face peed off like a snake shedding its skin. But what a day's fishing! Coy and I each caught six fine King Mackerel and with Clyde trolling a line we brought in 35 for the day. At one time we had fish on all three lines, and in the excitement Clyde was bitten badly. After he hauls them in he bangs them three times on the head with a good club and even then they would bang the lid up and down. The lady who had never fished before, caught the largest weighing 13 1/4 lbs. We later heard from the Crawfords that one day he brought in 63. Clyde gave me the greatest fishing experience of my lifetime. The Crawfords have a nice home with their back yard bordering on the inland waterway. Saturday we proceeded to Sarasota where we called on my old friends, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Nimmons. Sam has not fully recovered from the "flu" which you can catch in Florida as easily as in Plymouth, Coy and I took in the Ringling Circus winter quarters, which is always interesting, and visited with the Nimmons in the evening.

Leaving Sarasota Sunday morning, we went to Bradenton Beach where we met the Burma brothers and looked the place over. Taking the north road to Bradenton, we came into North 26th St. directly in front of Dr. Scaries home. I went to the door with my card and the nurse informed me that the Doctor was sleeping and that this was his birthday. I said I was aware of the fact. From Bradenton, north about 10 miles is the Piney

Pt. Ferry to St. Petersburg, which landed us there about noon. I was agreeably surprised at the nice wide streets and shady park in the center of the city. Mrs. Lawrence of the Plain Dealer dated March 20th said in part—

This is the home of hearty invalids. Here persons under seventy are said to die.

Mr. and Mrs. who left their beds in Indiana Have come to kick their heels and sing "Susanna".

And often find a second life companion Playing CCannata, shaded by a Banyan.

Old folk salute, with waving canes and footsies, The training fests of Cardinals and Yankees;

Or gather on the green-benched sweater felt good. By noon it was hotter than Hades, and I got the worst sunburn I ever had. Later my face peed off like a snake shedding its skin. But what a day's fishing! Coy and I each caught six fine King Mackerel and with Clyde trolling a line we brought in 35 for the day.

And when the hibiscus is full on Williams Park May let their inhibitions down and snark.

I dislike all large cities on account of traffic, but I preferred St. Petersburg to any of the cities we visited. I also prefer the west coast to the east coast. Taking Rt. 19 thru Clearwater we stopped at Weekiwache Springs and took in the under-water diving girls seen thru glass panels. Don't miss it.

Leaving the 4:15 show it was a lovely ride north on an excellent road and we got up to Oldsmar by dark and spent the night on the banks of the Suwannee river. I always thought that the alligator infested river was in Georgia. They specialize on Suwannee river catfish. I hate to catch them and the name takes my appetite.

They allow 60 MPH in Florida, but those Cops are hard boiled if they catch you doing 70 which we often did.

Leaving Suwannee Monday morning we went to Tallahassee with its fine white State buildings. Heading north we were soon in that big State of Georgia with its lovely peach orchards. Those big peach orchards were in full bloom and farmers were busy plowing. We made Atlanta by dark Tuesday and visited Grand Park and took in the Cyclorama depicting the Battle of Atlanta. This is very realistic and well worth seeing. They are building an express highway thru Atlanta and it is nearly completed. They certainly are encouraging the tourists with excellent roads to the South.

We made Chattanooga and took in Rock City which you see so well advertised on auto bumpers. Don't miss it. The view up there on Lookout Mountain is wonderful. It is still nice when you meet Plymouth folks who handle the concessions and sell the tickets. Here were Walter Myers, his wife and mother-in-law. They live up there, something over 2,000 feet above sea level. It was nice to meet folks from home. Leaving Rock City at 3:30 we decided we could make home the next day. Walter advised Rt. 58 which passed thru Kings- ton where the TVA is building an enormous hydro steam plant. The Harriman and past Oak Ridge way up on a hill we made Lake City by 7:30 and home the next day a total of 3369 miles in eleven days.

I think that the latter part of February is the best time for a Florida trip, as the flowers are at their best and the Temple oranges are delicious. It is an interesting trip thru our southern States and much more so by driving. The growth of the South is astounding, mostly on northern money. I would wait a year or two before investing in any Florida real estate. I heard of one realtor who was unloading everything he could. He said it can't keep up. As for year around living, I question it. I hate hot weather as badly as it do cold. Where is it lovelier than up here in Spring and Fall. Summer is lovely no as hot as in the South.

With automatic heat, electric blankets and entertainment right in your living room, winter is nothing like it was some years ago.

I am too deeply "rooted" here to pull up stakes and relocate among strangers. One can't just move away and forget his old friends and associates of 58 years duration. Plymouth will always be "home" to me. I would like to go back fishing with Crawford and spend some time in the Smokies in June. P. H. Root.

RETURNS FROM TRIP James Rhine, Jr., returned home Friday after a four week trip to the west coast. While there he was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Houshaling of Seattle, Washington. Jim expects to leave this week and to resume work with the State Department.

A BIRTHDAY GIFT There couldn't have been a nicer birthday gift for Tom Root than the new son born at the New London hospital on Friday, April 3rd and weighing 8 lb. 10 oz. The new baby will be named Thomas Lawrence. Mrs. Root will be remembered as Miss Joan Lawrence and a former Plymouth high school faculty member.

Hereafter, father and son can celebrate their natal days together. David Sams, member of the Coast Guard at Boston, Mass. is spending a 20 day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sams.

BREAKS ARM

Day Einsel, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Einsel, is nursing a broken right arm suffered last week while practicing baseball. Ray ran into the goal posts on the field and trying to protect himself, threw out his arm striking it against the post with such force as to break it. Since Ray is left-handed, he can continue his school work without too much difficulty.

CHANGE OF RESIDENCE

Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Doyle who have been residing in the second floor apartment of the Brougher home on Plymouth Street, moved Saturday to Shiloh. Mrs. Doyle will make her home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Page until June and will then join her husband who has returned to their former home in California.

LIVING HERE NOW

Mr. Fay Ruckman who has spent the winter months in Lake Wales, Florida, and later with his sister in Toledo, is now residing in his trailer home near the L. R. Fosters home on Sandusky Street.

ELECTRICITY...
partner in Ohio's progress

This is Ohio's 150th year of statehood. It's a time for looking back a little at things as they used to be. At the spinning wheel in the home. At the hand churn on the farm. At the hand forge that preceded our thriving factories. Quaint, picturesque, often amusing—but symbols, too, of drudgery, inefficiency...

In the continuing progress toward a better life for all, Ohio Power and its predecessor companies have been proud partners with Ohio's homes, farms, and industries for nearly half of the 150 long, eventful years.

The next 150? Still better things, undoubtedly. And certainly electricity will play a major role in bringing them about. To see that plenty of electricity is at hand to do the job is our sequentennial pledge.

Water Softening Plant in Operation

Wiring and valve difficulties, which held up final completion of Shiloh water softening plant for a number of weeks, were finally overcome last week and operation started shortly after noon on Wednesday, April 1.

Vernon Moser, who did the wiring, and Ami Jacobs and Joe Gibla of the Board of Public Affairs report, however, that it will take some time to get the thing properly adjusted and that customers should not expect complete removal of iron from water coming from the pipes for several weeks.

The system is entirely automatic, built in pressure and the pumps are properly regulated its operation must be carefully supervised. "Big Mose" has been making regular trips down to the plant ever since it started and has been keeping a weather eye cocked on the stand pipe to see that it doesn't overflow.

Cancer Drive Now On

Local workers connected with the Shelby, Plymouth, Shiloh Chapter of The American Cancer Society are busy canvassing homes and business places here this month soliciting funds to further their research and treatment through out the area and nation.

People are asked to give as generously as possible. Gifts to the American Cancer Society help spread life-saving facts to the frightened—suffering and ignorant—of our people for diagnosis and treatment, and back research in more than a hundred great laboratories and universities throughout the land. The American Cancer Society is the only national organization supported by your gifts which is battling cancer on three fronts: research, education and service to patients.

Mrs. Dewey Reynolds is chairman of the committee in Shiloh and is being assisted by the following workers: Mrs. Harley Nesbitt who will canvass the business places; Mrs. Fannie Scaman, Mrs. J. Bryan, Mrs. Glenn Strong, Mrs. Dan Springston, Mrs. Pluma Gains, Mrs. Fannie Scaman, Mrs. Vera Bell, Mrs. Bonnie Pry, Miss Ollie Zeigler and Mrs. Lois Moser.

Reopens Garage

The Shell Filling Station on East Main St., which has stood idle since Jan. 1, was reopened last Thursday, April 2, by Tom Moore.

Tom, who operated the Shiloh Garage for the past several months has moved his garage equipment to his new location and intends to continue in that business in addition to handling a full line of Shell products.

His quarters at present are rather cramped, but an addition is to be erected soon to the present building, which will give him plenty of room to carry on his operations. He invites all his old customers and friends to drop in and see him at his new location.

Finds Mushrooms

Norris (Goose) Baker is always doing something unusual along the outdoor line, like catching a 12 pound turtle around Thanksgiving time, fishing for suckers in February—going out and finding sponge mushrooms when everybody else in town thinks the season is yet two weeks away.

He did it last Sunday. Yep, he and Kenny Campbell, went out on Tuesday and came back with 22 of the sponge-like fungi. They weren't very large, not much bigger than a man's thumb, but they were "ough" spongy and mushrooms, the black variety. We saw 'em. Kenny brought them down Sunday evening and showed them to us.

KEEPIN' 'EM ON THE JUMP

High school seniors, Misses Beverly Dent and Helen Mae McQuate are very busy little folks these days, working four hours in the forenoon at secretarial chores in the offices of the Mansfield Tire and Rubber Co. in Mansfield and hustling back to Shiloh to attend school classes in the afternoon. Report is that they eat their lunch on the run in order to make connections.

DRIVING NEW CAR

Margaret Clyde makes is now driving a 1953 Pontiac. Report is a siren is being installed on it, so if you hear a siren's wail behind you, better slow down and pull over. The era of drive as you will and where you will seems to be over in Shiloh.

TEARING DOWN BARN

Coming home from doing a little painting down at Bill McDowell's other evening, we occurred hard through the dusk trying to make out what kind of bird or animal it was perched near the cone of a Noble's barn.

Come, to find out it was Billy himself, tearing the slate shingles off the roof. He said he is going to tear the whole barn down, but he was so high up in the air we couldn't hear him say what he is going to do with the lumber.

Sight Deer In Town

Charlie Guthrie, school janitor, thinks a number of local natures who make expensive deer hunting trips each fall into Michigan and Pennsylvania are a little bit foolish when the game they seek can be found right here within the confines of Shiloh.

Around 8 a. m. Friday morning Charlie and the Misses were startled by the sudden appearance of one of the graceful creatures which came bounding across the lawn between the homes of Merion Benedict and Bob Bell, streaked across West Main St. and disappeared like a flash of light between the houses of Floyd Bailey and Pete Henry. It went so fast, Charlie says, that they weren't able to tell whether it was a buck or doe.

Marvin's MUSINGS

By AL MARVIN

INDIANS IN THE OUTFIELD

Of the 24 or so starting outfielders in the American League the Indians are fortunate enough to have two who are very near the top of the list. They are left-fielder Dale Mitchell and centerfielder Larry Doby.

Back in 1948, Lou Boudreau, then managing the Cleveland Indians, expressed the opinion that Dale Mitchell was going to be a great hitter, as well as an excellent fielder and base runner, "because he never stops trying and is always learning."

As plot of the rival Boston Red Sox, Boudreau now has good reason to see the accuracy of his predictions. Mitchell may not be one of the all-time great hitters, but the experts place him as one of the 10 best in the game.

The determination mentioned by Boudreau five years ago was demonstrated during the last two seasons, when the current pilot of the Tribe, Al Lopez, seemed to be convinced that he could improve his outfield by benching Mitchell. But during the exhibition tour, Mitchell managed to get into the lineup, proceeded to thump the ball at a .400 clip and win his job back.

Embarking upon the 1953 campaign, Mitchell thought he had no worries about holding his berth, but the Indians unveiled Jim Friddle, Friddle actually started the season, but on the Tribe's first swing around the circuit Mitchell went back to work. There was no further thought of removing him, for with Dale in the lineup, the Indians won two in Boston and three straight in New York. In mid-May he was batting .382 and around Labor Day, he had .352.

At the finish, Mitchell's batting mark was .323, a scant four percentage points behind the league's champion, Ferris Fain, and the left-handed hitting Indian had rebounded from his only season as a professional when his average dipped below .300. He had attempted to swing for home runs in 1951, and he had hit 11, equal to his total for four previous seasons, but his all-around hitting suffered in the process, as a .290 figure indicates. He resumed his old habit of punching his way in all directions last year, and the Indians have made two resolutions for 1953: (1) To make no further effort to get Friddle's batting style. (2) To abandon the search for an Mitchell's replacement for him. Mitchell's three to one ratio is still there.

NOW ABOUT DOBY

Cleveland mustered the most devastating attack in the American League in 1952, and one of the principal reasons for a run producing machine that out-stripped anything else in the circuit was Larry Doby, operating in his fifth season as the Indian's centerfielder. Voted "man of the year" by the Cleveland baseball writers in 1950, Doby came back after a lapse in 1951, due mainly to leg injuries, to lead the league in homers with 32, in runs scored with 104, and slugging percentage with .541.

Almost half of the Paterson N. J. cluster's hits, 66, were good for extra bases, and many of his four-base walks represented the margin of Cleveland triumphs, notably the one he delivered August 1st in the 10th inning for a 6-5 victory over the Athletics. Equipped with great speed and a deadly arm, Larry likewise rates as one of the top defensive operators in the game. He started the Yankees early in June with a diving sliding catch of a drive to left center from the bat of the Yankees' young 2nd baseman, Billy Martin, and two weeks later he made a throw from deep in the outfield to erase Sam Dentie as he tried to score the winning run in the 10th of a game with the White Sox. Truly a great guard of the outer pasture.

HOPE SPRINGS ETERNAL
About this time of year all great sports writers start the dynamo in their heads and come up with predictions for the coming baseball season. Being a long way from great I will start up the one-cell battery in my thick skull, stick out my neck, and cross my fingers, hoping to come somewhere near the final standings.

men over 45

More than six times as many men of your age will die of lung cancer this year as died in 1933. Our research scientists still don't know why. They do know, however, that over half of those who will develop lung cancer can be saved... if they get proper treatment while the disease is still in the silent, symptomless stage. That's why we urge you to have a chest X-ray every six months no matter how well you may feel.
