

After publishing The Advertiser for 28 consecutive years, Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Thomas relinquish their duties as editors and publishers with this issue.

With this week's edition of The Advertiser we write "30" as its publishers and editors. We toss the torch to Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Paddock, Jr., who are the new owners and publishers. They will take over with the first edition in May.

It is Saturday night as I sit at the typewriter to point out our farewell message. There is an unusual quietness on the Square. In the shop there is not a sound. The silent linotypes and press seem to sense the change. But I find it rather nice to be alone as we retrospect through the 28 years we have been in Plymouth.

Coming here in January, 1925, we were youngsters then. Just married for a couple of years, young in spirit and full of adventure, we took over The Advertiser in the hope of making it the best paper ever. We were strangers, but you took us in, and through the years acquaintanceships and friendships. Through your help, more than you will ever know, you gave us encouragement year after year. And as time passed we found that The Advertiser had been accepted in practically every home in Plymouth and adjoining territory. The goodwill and interest of our readers placed a responsibility on us as well as our entire staff.

The road hasn't been an easy one over which we have travelled. Quite a number of you will recall that we had inflated back in 1925. We were just getting a good start when we bumped into the depression (the world's worst) in 1930-35. Getting our breath from this catastrophe, we settled down and made a renewed start. Things were shaping up at the start of '36. We expanded our efforts, adding more news and advertising to our paper. It all looked very good and our future was a little more secure. But in 1938 you'll recall that "war clouds" began to appear in Europe. In the years following we had "Peace Missions" to Washington, then "war came." You know the rest of the story. During the war and the years after we had additional burdens on our shoulders due to the scarcity of newsprint and the economic conditions as they are present over the world, we feel that it is time to step down and let younger blood take up the duties that are involved in bringing you your Advertiser.

There are as many sweet memories in our career as there were disappointments and hardships. In living among you we learned to share your joys and sorrows. All of Plymouth has become one big family to us, and one which we will always love and respect. The best years of our life have been spent with you and we have not the slightest regret, instead we feel deep regret in giving up our greatest love and work—that of publishing The Advertiser.

To each and every subscriber, to the local advertisers, and to our many friends and acquaintances we take this opportunity to thank each and every one, not only for your fine support, but for the little things you have done for us. The best years of our life have been spent with you and we have not the slightest regret, instead we feel deep regret in giving up our greatest love and work—that of publishing The Advertiser.

Services Held For Accident Victims

Shock, disbelief and then horror were the reactions Saturday when news of the Shelby police cruiser-automobile collision tragedy flashed throughout the community. The head-on collision on State route 61 south of Shelby left two men dead and a third seriously injured.

Patrolman Walter W. Means, 25, and John C. Nothacker, 42, Shelby, died as a result of the nature involved were killed, and Patrolman Robert Albert 31, also of Shelby, is in the Shelby hospital in critical condition. He is expected to survive.

The patrolmen were investigating a disturbance in Shelby caused by three young men about which a complaint had been made. The cruiser, alerted, followed the hard-top convertible which was going at a high rate of speed on Route 61.

Although the convertible kept on going after the accident, state patrolmen found that the driver, Albert had the license number on the police report in the cruiser. By investigating Police Chief Bob Meisner at Plymouth, it was identified and Meisner radioed Crestline police where the three Plymouth youths were apprehended.

Funeral services were held on Tuesday in the Willard cemetery. Services were held in New Haven at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Sylvia Mitchell. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Melvia Gayford, also of New Haven. She is his only survivor.

Nothacker was buried Wednesday morning in Shelby from the Barkdull funeral home, with Dr. D. B. Young conducting the last rites. He is survived by his wife, Edna, two sons, Jack and James, two brothers, two sisters, and his parents, all of Shelby.

Russell Adkins, 23, formerly with the AF depot, has been appointed success to Means as patrolman on the Shelby police force.

Now that the funeral rites are over there are further reactions. The Shelby police are now keeping the buried victims, and deep disgust of the speed and roistering which sets in motion such sequence of events that lead to tragedy.

Over THE Square

By Phineas Whittless

WE TAKE OUR hat off to J. C. Starbough, general manager and publisher of the Shelby Daily Globe, as he began his 55th year with the paper Saturday, "Carl" as he is known, was known in Shelby, was one of the original four men to establish the paper as a daily and has been associated with it ever since.

A NICE OLD coin collection is on display in the Peoples National bank window which is drawing considerable attention. The exhibit belongs to James Davis, bank employee, who has made it a hobby for a number of years. There are pennies, nickels, dime quarters, and half dollars dating years back. Jim also has some "old-fading money" but this isn't in the collection.

IT'S NICE THAT Plymouth is among those towns that remained the same time we have been using all winter, when the switch to daylight savings time was made Sunday night. There are a few changes, however, not with the change in time, but with the names of various corporations in nearby cities. The Shelby Air De-icing plant, which was in Mansfield, began work an hour earlier this week, thus giving them another hour of daylight after the working hours.

A NUMBER of local fishermen who went to Lake Erie Sunday got quite a thrill out of watching spawning fish and arrow of the taking of rough fish at Resthaven state game reserve near Castalia. The large carp are coming into shallow water of the stocking ponds spawned and for the past several years the game laws have permitted the taking by the use of bow and arrow or spears.

WE'RE ANXIOUS to hear about "the big ones" that Harry E. Sillman caught down Florida-way, while spending the winter months in Bradenton, and is now in town, for he and his "bitter half" expect to be in Plymouth about Saturday. It's nice to go south, but somehow, it is just as nice to come home.

PEOPLE ARE FUNNY: A member of the Outagamie board has demanded the ouster of Sheriff Lyman Clark because olivemarginer was found in the kitchen of the county jail. The county, the member said, ran a dairy farm in the state and 16th in the nation in dairy production and "oleo will not be tolerated." That's spreading it little thin, isn't it, considering the inmates wouldn't have been there, had they obeyed the laws.

THE KENNEDY family in Plymouth can now breathe a sigh of relief for the expected twins have arrived in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Jensen of Nashville, when Mr. and Mrs. Basil Kennedy, and their daughter, were remembered as Olive Kennedy.

WE HAVE DECIDED that in this old Advertiser from the past you can find out about almost anything. In the course of one morning this week, those up front should read and find out about you and a few other minor miscellany. In our opinion, though, at the top of the list is the time a year or so back when we took a long distance call asking if the mayor of the town, What Briggs, was to be at home that evening?

"BUTCH" Caywood, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Caywood, was a mighty proud youngster last Sunday when he took fourth place in the annual race at Delaware.

There were 14 entries and a very good crowd at the pony show, which attracts many visitors from all over Ohio. The outside of town, has a number of fine pedigreed ponies and they attract

Peoples Federal Savings Funds Reach New High

Peoples Federal Savings & Loan Association of 127 Park Avenue, West, Mansfield, Ohio, has just announced through John G. Rutzon, vice president, that savings funds reached a new high for the first quarter of 1954. A total of three million, seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars was received and new funds from customers on savings accounts during the three month period.

This represents an increase of 52 per cent over the same period of a year ago, and according to Mr. Rutzon, is indicative of the increased popularity on the part of the public in investing savings at a good rate of return in insured savings on loans.

Peoples Federal is paying a current annual rate of two and one-half per cent which is the highest being paid in this area by insured financial institutions. All accounts are insured to $30,000.00 by an agency of the U. S. government. It is possible for a husband and wife, or any two individuals, to have a total of $30,000.00 fully insured.

Peoples Federal, with assets exceeding twenty five million dollars is the largest insured savings and loan institution in Richland county—"this sizeable amount of total resources is indicative of our capacity to properly and adequately serve the more than 20,000 customers." Vice President Rutzon stated.

Last month Peoples Federal Savings celebrated their 62nd birthday anniversary, having been founded in the year 1892.

Whitney Letter Describes Indian "Shangri-La"

Eleanor Tells of Grand Canyon Thrills, Beauty And Hardships

Almost like the story of the Hidden Valley is the story sent up to the world from the little-known and deep canyon home of the Havasupai Indians by Eleanor Searle Whitney. After reading her letter we were more than pleased to think she took the time to write to us while actually down in this deep side canyon of the Grand Canyon in the National Park, Ariz.

The Whitneys, while on this western tour, had planned to visit the native residents of this area, and judging by the story sent to us, the visit was a mutually pleasant one.

In this side canyon is a small but verdantly beautiful valley made livable by the ever-flowing Havasu River, and surrounded by high towering red walls. It is described in the tourist bulletin as a virtual Shangri-La of an oasis deep within a crevice of the colorful canyon country.

Eleanor wrote the several pages of the letter at various times and places, some written while on horseback, some in the yard of the camp, some on her knee while resting and viewing these beautiful and astounding places.

From her travel information sent along with the letter, we found these interesting statements: "Bring water as there is none from the highway until you reach the Havasu River at Supai." This trip is one of 65 miles to the canyon rim and eight miles of trail down. "The other road leaves Grand Canyon and travels 35 miles over a rough road that can be traveled in your own car or with the Indian who carries the mail twice a week to Topocoba Hilltop. From here the trail winds down 14 miles to the valley at Supai. "Basic food supplies may be purchased at the Indian-owned store, or food may dians have lived here forever, and never come up to the rim.

"We rode these fabulous Indian ponies down 14 miles of rocky, steep, great boulders, sharp rocks that slip and slide. We rode down drops of 200 feet quickly, at the edge of sheer chasms. Some of the horses jump down little descents with front two feet first. No wild west movie will ever hold any qualms now. We've ridden over much more mountains, streams by water falls, etc., than in any movie. The horses must be part goat. No shoes, and they never stumble or slip.

Smallest Indian Tribe

"From tin to valley is 5,000 feet. Down here lives the smallest tribe of Indians around, the Havasupai tribe, about 200. It's a small but fertile valley. Never snows but does freeze. Corn, melons, squash, apricots, apples, peaches, (the latter in blossom now), beans are things they grow most of all.

"They live some in frame houses, but mostly in hogans. These are frames of logs like a teepee. Over that mud and twigs and adobe is plastered brick. These are cool in summer and warm in winter—the stove in center (oil)—beds at the edges, — one or two windows.

"Much of the activity is in yard and cooking is often done in a separate building. Always several horses are near, plus dogs, cats, donkeys. The Indian people of each side of the canyon do all sorts of fabulous formations going up 3,000 feet or more. I crawled times they lived in cliffs. In ancient times, one Door in the rock and 18-inches high. Some it used for storage of corn. Keeping it dry and safe there by plastering over opening. Many pieces of wood.

"The men have on ritual or past-time. They take Sweat Baths, like our men's clubs. A small round adobe hut is built near the edge of town. Rocks are heated and put in, then icy water put on from stream. After five or six men are inside entrance is closed. They come out and jump in the stream and then go back again for four or five times. Skin nearly steams off, it's so hot inside.

River Means Life

"Havasu means 'blue water' and 'Pai' means 'people'.

"Near the top of the valley a spring appears from the earth. More springs add more water and in a half mile it's a big, rushing stream. The water is so high that all the vegetation is covered with a thick coating of white lime which reflects in the water, making the area green. The stream grows as it rushes on down the valley and a mile below the town is the first water fall—called Cascade or Lucy Fall. At Navajo Falls, about 100 feet high, unbelievable in the blue color. Another mile and the second falls, called Havasu, 150 feet high. This is a double falls and the pool at the bottom is milky blue in color, exactly the color of blue milk glass. The limestone has formed many separate pools and streams and fine swimming places. There is a swing to carry one way out over the water so one can drop in. I tried the swing, of course.

Color Is Amazing

"The color is amazing and unbelievable. Riding a horse up and down beside these cliffs and falls is a feat, too. Then another mile and a half farther is the most spectacular falls of all. Higher than Niagara is Mooney Falls. It plunges off a sheer cliff 200 feet. The blue water races 8 miles on to join the muddy Colorado at the bottom of Grand Canyon.

"This spot is the Shangri-La of the West. Unspoiled beauty of the greatest sights of nature, and the Indians living the tranquil life as they did centuries ago.

"We had driven 40 miles in an open truck over a dreadful road, with Tours from front to back. The frame. It took three and one-half hours to get to the beginning of the trail.

"It was snowing a blizzard, then it would hail, then it would rain. The snow again—one of the coldest, dreariest days imaginable. We ate sandwiches in a shack at the top of the state at noon. There were 12 of us in a tiny, dark, dirty shack. We loaded the pack mule and got on our ponies in blinding snow. Our clothes were wet and slippery.

"The Indians are shorter than we so the stirrups were too short and the saddle they gave me was so narrow from front to back. My high and knee were straight up and down to the ground; then from knee to ankle straight back—parallel to the ground and slipping. My feet were foot pointed straight to the ground. All this and trotting down the steep trail, dropping the first 1,200 feet in 15 minutes, made interesting.

"We had ridden horses with our pack mule, and the U. S. mail on another mule, with Guy Marshall taking care of the mail, plus an Indian guide, Fraser Pava, down unbelievable trails for 14 miles. In other words we started at 9:00 a. m. and got to our destination at 5:30.

"Come For Dinner"

"So when attractive Mr. Harvey said, 'We'd love you to have dinner with us,' I was thrilled. They had taken a cook with them, and I had visions of a hot delicious meal.

"Then, he added, 'We have a can of beans and a can of peaches, and we've got a good soup over that. So it ended by little Eleanor cooking supper for all. Tomato juice with toasted garlic and toasted cheese appetizer, chicken, and the 'Harvey Beans,' mashed potatoes but there was no masher, so we had them boiled; gravy, and I made tomato pudding from powdered milk and we had that with the Harvey peaches and cookies.

"You Bring the Supper"

"Mr. Harvey and his son were both helpful and willing gallop slaves and peeled potatoes, stirred the pudding, opened cans, washed pans, etc. But it's one of the best jobs I ever had. They own and run one of the greatest and best catering and hotel services and they had taken a cook with them, too—then they have no food. He'll really be in for a lot of kidding on this episode as he's too good a sport to keep it a secret.

"They weren't enough glasses, cups, plates, spoons, forks, or anything, so we ate with quite a very strange assortment of utensils. We barely had time to finish the dishes and unpack when the electric lights went out. They have two hours of electricity daily, 7 to 9 p. m. for the few houses that have wiring.

Weaving And Horses
"The Indians are friendly and attractive, and very kind, but they are not talkative. Some of the women weave the best, finest and most beautiful baskets of any of the Indian races. We bought many. They are black and white. No two are ever made alike. The frames are made from young shoots or suckered cottonwood trees. They are cut in the Spring, and bark given off in three and peeled down by using the teeth.

"The boys ride well. There's a rodeo annually and many boys go on to compete in Pecos, Gallup, and other large rodeos and win valuable prizes and cash. Their horses are all wild origin, and must be tamed, and broken. The little Indian ponies which are descendants from the ones the Spaniards brought in the 1700's, are capable of climbing rocky precipices just like a goat, and don't seem to have split hooves or any of the lameness our horses get if they step on a sharp stone.

"We leave in a few more days after a most enjoyable visit with these great Indians.

"You come in to this canyon so if you or any other nature lovers want a real treat, contact Dan Hanna at the Travel Agency in Supai, Arizona, and he'll give you the data. The Indian sub-agent is Vic Collins, also of Supai, Ariz. He and his wife operate business and help the tourist to be comfortable, and the Indians to produce saleable articles. We bought baskets from Minnie Marshall, and a poncho, her sister-in-law. Small, beautifully made and useful sizes. Minnie is making a large one for

145 Sheep Growers Attend N-H Banquet

Richland and Huron county sheep growers marketed a larger number of sheep last season than the Greenwich Lamb Pool, but prices were lower than those of a year ago, County Agent C. N. McGrew announces.

McGrew said 145 shepherds at New Haven school Thursday night were told that 772 head of sheep were sold last season. The previous year, he said, 4,243 head were marketed. Prices for the higher number, he said, dropped more than $3 per hundredweight. In 1952-53, prices averaged $23.68. This past season, the average dropped to $20.45.

Three of five members named to the Richland County Sheep and Lamb improvement committee Thursday night were re-elected, while two new members were added.

Re-elected were Leo Berry, Lucas Raymond Wells, Shiloh, R. D. 2; and Earl Huston, Shiloh. New members are Paul Culler, Lucas, and E. E. Tennis, Shiloh, R. D. 2.

NAME OMITTED FROM HONOR ROLL

We wish to add the name of Arditth Robnolt, student in the 5th grade, to the A and B honor roll list of the local school.

Somehow Arditth's name was omitted when the roll was published in last week's issue of the Advertiser for the fifth grade's 6 weeks period, and we are always glad to correct any omissions. With the next release of the honor roll, it will be the final one for this school term and we'd like to see that list grow at least 50 per cent. How about it, students?

A "Color in the Home" exhibit, together with a "Home Care of the Sick" display planned by Mrs. Eunice Hankamer and Mrs. Henry Chapman of New Haven township, highlighted the Huron County Rural Home maker's day at the Church of the Master, Steuben, last Tuesday.

Nearly 115 women attended the affair, which was featured during the afternoon program by an illustrated talk by Mrs. Guy V. Miller of Columbus. Her subject was "Homemaking in Pakistan."

Teen-Age Road-E-O Planned For Area

The plans and date are set for a Teen-age Road-e-o, driving contest for teen-agers, by the Shelby Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Designed to create good driving habits among the teen-age set and to select the community's most skillful young driver, the Road-e-o will consist of a written examination and a skill test involving through prescribed exercises such as parking, smooth stopping, and other maneuvering.

The local winner in this national Jaycee contest will be eligible to compete in the state contest. State Road-e-o winners will compete for $3,100 in scholarships in a national contest August 10-14 in the city of Washington.

Howard Ross, Shelby Jaycee president, and six sub-committees have been organized under the general chairmanship of Robert Burns to carry out the various aspects of the program. "By emphasizing the rules of the road and the skills needed for safe driving, we intend to give area youths a chance to prove that some of America's best drivers are teenagers," Mr. Ross said.

Dain Domich, National Jaycee president, recently said this Jaycee project is "widely acclaimed" by law enforcement, safety and school authorities as a positive program to encourage teen-agers to become expert drivers."

Last year 80,000 teen-agers took part in over 600 contests. Sponsors of the National Teen-Age Road-e-o are the U. S. Jaycees, Liberty Mutual Insurance Co., and the American Trucking Association, Inc.

The Road-e-o is to be held May 8th at Auburn School, Shelby. The state contest to which the winner or winners will go is being held in Lancaster, Ohio, June 26 to compete for a place in the national contest.

Application blanks for the Road-e-o can be obtained at the Shelby Plymouth-Shiloh High schools, the Plymouth Advertiser, Barkdull Funeral Home, also at the Shelby Daily Globe. Entries will be accepted until the morning of May 8th, the day of the contest.

BRING BACK 700 POUNDS OF SMELT

If anyone in Shiloh doesn't know what smelt taste like, he can find out at the Willard Municipal hospital for x-ray and observation.

The two men returned at midnight last Thursday with 700 pounds of this little silver fish which they had dipped from a small stream near Cheyobgan, Mich., and Friday morning they were distributing by buckets to anyone who wanted them.

According to Garrett, they left Shiloh at about 5:00 a. m. Wednesday arriving at their destination near Cheyobgan about the middle of the afternoon. Moving into a cabin, they rested until about 11 that night when the cabin owner called them and took them to a small stream about 18 miles from Cheyobgan.

The stream was swarming with the little fish, coming up to spawn. Using dip nets, they quickly filled their containers. By 3:00 a. m. they had over 700 pounds packed in ice and were eating breakfast in a restaurant.

The fish are small, averaging about 7 inches in length, and according to an article in a recent "Outdoor Life" magazine, are related both to the salmon and the trout. They spend the greater part of their lives in the waters of the Great Lakes, coming up into the streams of Michigan and northwestern Ohio in the spring to spawn.

They come by the millions, piling on top of each other in their effort to carry out the reproductive urge. "I haven't seen it with my own eyes," Garrett said, "I wouldn't have believed it. You could almost walk across the stream on them."

Fried, the little fish are most tasty. The small bones seem to disintegrate and the back bone can be lifted out in one piece.

IN WILLARD HOSPITAL

Mrs. Ross Sourwine was removed in the McQuate ambulance Monday morning to the Willard Municipal hospital for x-ray and observation.

Mrs. Sourwine had gone down the alley Sunday morning and intended to pick dandelions in the rear of the Johns property when she lost her balance as she stooped and fell over backwards.

Hard luck seems to have been left the Sourwine family lately. Their daughter, Mrs. Wallace Redden has been ill for sometime with Rheumatic Fever, and only returned to her own home on West Broadway Saturday. Sunday she was called back to her parents home.

Mrs. Warren Hollenbaugh was hostess at her home on Franklin Ave. and co-hostess was Mrs. Carl McPherson. The cupcakes which were served later in the evening, were baked and decorated by Mrs. Dorothy Adams.

The affair was a "towel shower" and Miss Mumea was both very surprised and very pleased at the nice assortment of towels which she received from friends and neighbors for use in her new home. Yellow and aqua ribbon bows decorated a card table in the center of the room, upon which the gifts were arranged.

Guests present were Miss Mumea, Mrs. Fred Post, Mrs. Harvey Robinson and daughters, Mrs. Wm Adams and children, Mrs. Scott Hartz, Mrs. Melvin Willford, Mrs. Wm. Enderby and son, Mrs. Lowell Keith and daughters, Mrs. Florence Coe, Mrs. Adam Mumm, and the hostesses and their children. Invited guests who were unable to be present were Mrs. Laura Postle, Mrs. Chas. Robinson, Mrs. Perry McKenzie and son, Mrs. Arthur Nordyke and daughters, Mrs. F. Pitzer and daughters, Mrs. Robert Roberts and children.

Mrs. Madison Stinch gave a report on the religious activities of the Deacons.

It was announced that on Thursday, May 6, the Diocesan Committees on Youth and Family Life, Communications, and Public Relations will hold Institutes at the Commercial Hotel in Toledo, Ohio. The Institutes were formerly set for March 30, but then postponed because of the snowstorm. Each parish should have two women at each of the three Institutes.

It was agreed upon by the Society to receive Holy Communion in a group on the third Sunday of each month at the 6:30 Mass.

Also, plans were started for the summer festival to be held in June. After the meeting a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. Marie Marvin and Mrs. Robert Gray.

Flying Saucer?
For a little while last Wednesday evening, April 21st, Harmon Sloan, 16, of Shiloh Rt. 2, thought he was having a visitor, via flying saucers, from Mars.

Harmon, who is a sophomore in the Shiloh schools, was plowing after supper, when he saw a brilliant light about 50 feet overhead. It frightened him so much, he left the field and returned to his home.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jud Sloan and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond McFadden, and Mrs. Elvera McFadden, all of Rt. 2, also reported seeing three white lights to the southeast of their home, over the trees, but didn't know just how high or far they appeared.

LT. John Swigart of Marion, administrative assistant at the Air National Guard at Mansfield Airport, reported that jets from that base had been flying from 7 until 10 p. m. They were practicing "touch and go" maneuvers landing gear about six miles from the field, which automatically turned on the bright lights of the ship for landing. Jets carry red and blue lights on wing tips and white lights on tail, so no doubt the (flying saucer?) was a jet plane.

Perhaps, in years to come, we will become so accustomed to jets and bright lights that even flying saucers will become a reality and we will board one for Mars, as a matter of course.

GOING TO ROCKY RIVER SCHOOLS
Robert Cowley, Maple Heights, husband of the former Jane Braithwaite, formerly of Willard, has been named principal of the Rocky River high school.

Mrs. Melvin Waltz and son of Spencer, O., visited her mother, Mrs. Louise Miller, the first of the week.

Dr. and Mrs. Raymond Hatch and son, David, of East Lansing, Mich., were guests over the weekend in the homes of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hatch and Mrs. Lulu Norris. Dr. Hatch was enroute - from Louisville, Ky., where he was guest speaker on a

The total enrollment at the end of the six week period was 473. This is one less than the enrollment at the end of the preceding six weeks.

PLYMOUTH IS GOING TO HAVE a new church. The old Plymouth theatre building has been leased by the Baptist Church from Ed Ramsey and announced it is made for the opening next Sunday. There will be Sunday school at 10 a. m., and preaching at 11 a. m. Then in the evening at 7:30 p. m. Rev. John Garden, a missionary from Harlan, Ky., will start a big revival meeting. Baptists and others interested are invited to attend.

NOW WE CAN HAVE a "duck dinner", some time, that is, for Leon Motter brought in two huge ducks, and after hunting with a tape measure, found that they measured seven inches around the middle, and eight and one-half inches around the way from end to end. We haven't decided whether to eat 'em or hatch 'em.

THE STORY about the baby's first hair cut is absolutely untrue. We have proof right in the Advertiser bulletin board that children, well, one of them anyway, do not howl, kick, scratch and cry when they have their first trim. Little Tommy Roe is having a wonderful time, and both his Mom, attractive Mrs. Joan Root, and the barber, Bob Lewis, seem very happy too. All in all, it looks as if it was enjoyed by all present.

NEXT TUESDAY is primary day when citizens choose the men they want to serve them in office - or rather the ones which they want elected. Anyway, Democrats and Republicans have a good selection of candidates to choose from. Raymond Brooks is out for Richard County nomination as County Commissioner, and he has been busy covering the territory. There are others in Huron county who are well known in Plymouth, but the main thing to remember is to get out and VOTE next Tuesday.

Youngsters in Plymouth, and here's the story you get around the Square to confirm our opinion. It seems one of those Second Graders by the nick-name of Ricky, in a schooltime discussion of what they thought of the Three R's, stated that he liked one of them. Did he know what Three R's were the teacher questioned? Well, Ricky liked the last one, and he did know what they were—Reading, Rhythmic and Reeses!

YOU'VE HEARD about it "raining fishes," but Don Roe is telling another version. If you recall a flock of ducks that landed on the area south of Plymouth Tuesday afternoon about 3:30. Don was driving on the Bunker Hill road in a truck loaded with concrete block. Just north of the intersection of Route 96, the rain came, and along with it, came a flock of ducks that landed on the highway. The road at this point was covered with water due to the extremely heavy deluge, and while ducks generally land on a fair day on a spot which looks like water, it is unusual for them to come down during a shower. Roe is in line to duck that landed on the highway. The downpour Tuesday quickly filled fields and streams, and lately Tuesday there was some concern about the Black Fork overflowing in Shelby. Getting back to the ducks, Roe said it was raining too hard, even for them. He failed to get a couple for dinner.
