

For Alumni Group

The old grads came back Saturday evening for a look into yesterday, a total of 123 of 'em.

They sat down to a tasty dinner in the Methodist church rooms at 6:30 p. m. and swapped reminiscences of the days when they were young and gay, and worried more about flapping galoshes and slicker raincoats than they do today.

Bill Fazio, class 1941, was master-of-ceremonies, and a capable one he was, too. The special feature of the evening was the tribute paid the classes of 1954 and 1929, the babies and the comers-of-age. But it was the class of 1904 that took the cake.

Two of the four graduates in that group presented the alumni fund with $50, in recognition of their 50th year out of the high school.

The two were Miss Margaret Cole, of Plymouth, and Harry Hatch, of Shelby. They said a few words of appreciation, but it was the check that showed their sincerity.

The class of 1929 had three members present. Dr. Raymond Hatch, pastor of Michigan State college at East Lansing; Mrs. Dorothy Spensler Frank and Mrs. Geraldine Smith Preston of Shelby.

Twelve of the class of 1954 were on hand to receive their baptism into the alumni association.

They called the roll of the alumni. And while there were smiles and giggles in memory of the fun that came to mind, there were silent tears, too, for those who have gone on: Carl Frost, Yakima, Wash.; Dr. William Sykes, Shaker Heights; Mary Kirkpatrick, Charbonneau, Detroit, Mich.; and Arch Leroy Ellison. Word of the death of Miss Wilhelmina Gebert came too late to be printed in the program, which was a sensation and a blunderbuss outside.

Miss Florence Danner, of Shelby, presented a history of the alumni association since its founding in 1872. These facts gave color to the mystery of the evening; who stole the old school ball. Beside each place on the menu was a small plastic ball as reminder that the old troller which had summoned kids to school for so many years has disappeared. Anyone with information as to its whereabouts is asked to communicate with Miss Danner, no questions asked.

The oldest graduate present was Miss May Fleming, of Sandusky, class member of the class of 1894. The association gave her some flowers by way of recognition. She has missed only one alumni dinner in 60 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Steele and their family were honored by the alumni. All of their children have graduated from Plymouth High school, and a round of applause rose in tribute to this fact. Members of the family and their graduating years are Mrs. Margaret Steele-Kessler, 1941; Mrs. Anne Steele Miller, 1943; Mrs. Arlene Hauser, 1944; Mrs. Marilyn Steele, 1947; Mrs. Lewis Steele, 1950; Denton Steele, 1951; Jesse Steele, 1953, and Wilbur Lee Steele, 1954.

The association elected officers for the coming year, but it was a formality. The officers are chosen merely so the annual banquet and celebration will be conducted in the most proper manner.

Principal requirement for office. Those elected were William Fazio, president; Larry Hampton, first vice-president; Mrs. Sally Giorosio, second vice-president; Miss Doris Reber, honorary second vice-president; Marjorie Becker Root, secretary; Mrs. Holly Fitzgen Pugh, corresponding secretary; and Shirley Bradford, treasurer.

Principal speaker of the evening was James B. Derr, of Cincinnati, formerly a teacher in the school, who resided in Plymouth for two decades. He spoke entertainingly of his memories and dropped names that had been spoken for by the past.

The decorations were first rate, the production of Mrs. Mary Ellen Thomas Henry, Ellsworth Ford, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pugh, Quentin Ream Hampton, and Superintendent M. J. Coon.

After the singing of the national anthem, a letter written for Plymouth High school by a former superintendent, Thoburn S. Davis, now in the Rocky River school system, to the accompaniment of Mrs. Marie Fetters Guthrie, the group adjourned to the elementary school for a conducted tour of the new building and informal dancing in the auditorium.

Cubs Stage Blackface

Plymouth Cub Scout Pack No. 1 held its 19th meeting in the high school auditorium Tuesday night. Attendance amounted to 108, more than the city, because here was a worthy experiment in civic responsibilities by parents and learning of Americanism by youngsters that will profit through the years.

Don Markley was the master of ceremonies, since he is the Cub Master this year. Den 4, a group of youngsters newly affiliated with the movement, was introduced at the start of proceedings.

While the youngsters were taken backstage to apply makeup and grease pencil for their roles in Mississippi Showboat, their presentation of the evening, Cub Master Markley invited participation of parents on several matters of importance.

His point of departure was that he is dealing with boys, and that no matter how kindly or how stern a parent he has, a boy will be a boy. Some of them fall in their tasks like any adult. It was decided in open forum to deprive a boy of his badge of achievement if he fails to attend a meeting or perform a duty.

At a wild excuse, Philip Master Markley quizzed the candidates, put their names up to a vote, and called for the parents of the Bobcats, William Fredericks and Edwin Hollenbaugh. The former's mother and the latter's father came forward to hand the pins of membership to their offspring.

The parents of Deener Robert Haas were summoned to receive the Wolf badge, emblematic of a step in achievement of their son on his way to the Tenderfoot rank in Boy Scouting.

Village Observes Memorial Day Under Grey Leaden Sky

Under grey and leaden skies bathed in sultry temperature, Plymouth turned out Monday to pay tribute to its sons who fell in defense of their country.

Approximately 150 Plymouth High School bandmen, Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts, Girl Scouts and American Legionnaires turned out to parade from the Public Square south to the cemetery and return.

Ceremonies at the cemetery were under the direction of Ernest Wilson. The invocation was by the Rev. G. B. Moore of St. Robert's.

Hard of Willard, past state commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, gave the address of the day.

After tolling off the number of casualties in the several wars in which the United States has been involved, Mr. Howard said that preparedness is the only answer to the threat of Communism.

"We made in Germany in 1945 the same mistake we made after World War I," he stated. "We allowed the Russians to come in and occupy Germany. It wasn't the serviceman who did that—it was someone else higher up who didn't think."

He ended in 1948 at Lancaster, when I was dedicating a field piece, that we should be ready for a Communist attack. They asked me why.

I replied, "Did you ever see them make an agreement and stick to it?"

Mr. Howard said that casualties in Korea amounted to 25,604, not counting the blinded, deafened or mentally ill. He said the North Koreans do not start the fighting in Korea, but rather the Russians.

"We've got to be on our toes," he averred. "The Communists don't believe in God, they believe in normal or rational people. They're the most brutal, vicious people in the world. We Americans aren't like that. We don't take any kind of kind of treatment. We must watch out for one man rule here in America. That's the one thing we can't stand."

The post commander said that the Russians made a show of the arrest and trial of Lavrenti Beria, No. 2 in the Communist hierarchy at Moscow, whereas in truth he was already dead six months, fallen to a dose of poison at a banquet administered by those loyal to Malenkov.

"We owe it to those who died to watch out for those fellows. Stop and think for a minute of the USS Nebraska, which in truth he was already dead six months ago with a little better than 200 casualties," Mr. Howard said. "Those fellows did just as much as those

In stirring tones, Mr. Howard summarized the American system. "We don't stand our government with a bullet, we change it with a ballot. I think we should all take care of it, and everything in our power to insure that our comrades who died did not die in vain."

One way of doing so, Mr. Howard implied, is to assist the French in Indo-China, not with men but with arms and ammunition. The French have helped the United States and everything in their power and are entitled to American help now. It is necessary, also, he said, to watch what the Communists are doing in Guatemala.

Huron County GOP Oust Officeholders From Central Group

Huron County Republicans who hold elective office or who are candidates for such office must give up their posts on the party's executive committee, the county organization decided May 17.

The decision, which is an enforcement of a policy which was overlooked six years ago, means that County Commissioner Harry Jump of Willard, County Prosecutor of the Common Pleas Bernard Freeman of Norwalk and Mayor Henry Young of Norwalk no longer can belong to the 25-member county executive committee.

A Pox on the Pox!

The Advertiser reporting staff went to the post office for this week and approached Patrolman Fred Lewis for an item.

"Don't need to go from your own office," said the patrolman. "Hasn't Chippy got the chicken pox?"

Come to think of it, Chippy does have the chicken pox, the Rev. Ralph M. Felix, president of the Willard Marsh Area Migrant work, announced.

The Advertiser figures that Suzzie will have it next week. A pox on the pox, say we. Mean while, our reporting staff is two by this week.

Nuckland Welfare Workers to Come

Two student welfare workers will arrive June 14 to take up duties with the migrant workers in the Willard Marsh area, the Rev. Ralph M. Felix, president of the Willard Marsh Area Migrant work, announced.

The students are the Misses Esther Hernandez, Victoria Junior college, Tex., and Marian Kurtz, Bethany college, W. Va. Miss Hernandez was in the area last year.

The Willard Marsh area of the Shelby-Willard-Plymouth-Shiloh area is cooperating with the Home Missions division of the National Council of Christian Churches in sponsoring the week program.

The student workers first receive spot training at Benton Harbor, Mich., before being sent to field areas.

Vocation Bible school for children of the migrants and classes in the English language will be offered at the Willard Marsh area for older folk. The Lions club of Willard has challenged the migrant softball ten to a game, which will be played in the near future.

The program includes visits of the student workers to the migrant homes and regular weekly religious services. Family night features movies and picture and entertainment for family groups.

Nicholas Moll, of Celeryville (mailing address Willard, Ohio), is chair of the Willard Marsh migrant work and will receive donations of funds with which to defray expenses incident to the work.

New Phone Book: No I's, Q's, or X's

Nobody in Plymouth who subscribes to telephone service has a letter I, Q or X in his name. It says so in the book.

The new telephone book, that which has just been issued by the Northern Ohio Telephone Company to its subscribers in Greenview, Plymouth, Attica and New Washington, is dated June, 1954, and contains 59 subscribers.

With no intention of free advertising, it may be useful to note that the first entry under Plymouth is Advertiser, telephone 2-1111.

There are 59 subscribers whose surnames commence with M which leads the alphabet. Only one subscriber's name starts with U, Woodard, 187 E. 1st and 1st.

There are more Roves listed than any other family, a total of 10. The Roves and the Fenners follow closely, with eight and seven entries.

Students of typography will be disappointed. Next in line to the Ms come the Rs, and thereafter the Cs, the Fs and the Hs. There are a mere 19 Es, only two Os, and only 14 As.

There are 11 names that'll tell subscribers how much it will cost to telephone Bill. It's No. 21. New York is $1.20, station-to-station. Long distance is 40 cents at night. San Francisco is $2.35 and $1.85, respectively.

It costs a dime to telephone 100 numbers in the area, the amount to ring Shelby, or even Willard. You can call the stadium at Cleveland to see how the Indians are doing in the big league, for $1.70. It's no more than the success of the old guard in putting down the Young Turks—in the November voting.

CLAIMS APPROVED

Huron County commissioners approved claims for animal and human damage amounting to $701.70 in their regular session Tuesday. Largest claim was $425 by Arthur Bauman, Willard road

Cracked Leg Caused By Illegal Cracker

Running from an illegal firecracker which he had litged four months before, a young boy, Clayton Wallace, Jr., 14, of Shiloh road 3, a broken leg Thursday.

He ran into the side of a light pole on the street corner of the Lloyd Bloomfield, 28, of Shelby, in the Olivesburg-Pitchville road on the north side of the village of Adario.

Falls Take Toll, Put Plymouthites In Local Hospitals

Mrs. Cora McIntire was taken to the Elyria hospital from the Willard hospital Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. McIntire slipped in her kitchen late Saturday evening and was taken to the Elyria hospital by her neighbor, who called her son, Robert. She was immediately taken to Willard in McQuate's ambulance.

When Mrs. McIntire was removed to Willard hospital in the McQuate ambulance.

It's a good thing that the Ralph Wynn school is at the corner of the city. Judy Willet is home scratching the chicken pox and her sister, Diane, is nursing fractured right collar bone.

Diane was out in the barn helping her father Saturday evening when her dress caught as she went to get into the trailer and she fell. Her mother, Mrs. Bessie, took her to Grant hospital, Columbus, Sunday, for an indefinite stay.

Hampton who has undergone numerous operations on an injured hand, will be fitted for a brace on his hand and arm. He will be compelled to remain until such time as he can handle it to advantage.

The fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth and tenth graders will meet at the Lutheran church with Mrs. Virginia Hettiger as leader.

It is to be a meeting of the volunteer teachers at the Presbyterian church today at 7:30 p. m. The Rev. Ralph M. Felix will be in charge.

May Employment Up But Union Asking For Four-Day Week

Despite the decision of an electrical workers' union at Westinghouse, Mansfield, to seek a four-day week, the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics reported that employment in Mansfield during May was high, according to W. Handley, manager of the Ohio Employment service at Mansfield.

Industrial employment in Mansfield and Shelby totaled 17,541 persons working in 20 plants during May, whereas the same figures in 1953 were 19,142 employees and 20 plants. The net drop was 1,599 workers.

Why the Oldtimer

The Mansfield office now has an unemployment registry of 2,900 men and 1,000 women, about 20 per cent of whom now have jobs in outlying areas but would wish to return to Mansfield. This reduces the net registered unemployment to about 1,900 men and 800 women.

That is likely to occur in the application process is being watched with interest in Mansfield, generally referred to as the appliance capital of America. Reports from Westinghouse are that the effect that the market is oversold and overstocked, and some models which could not be moved are now being sold at a loss to receive a willing to return them to the factory and take the loss. Rather, they are holding the goods at gradually reducing margins in hopes of inducing marginal buyers to enter the market.

This means, so far as the factory is concerned, that current production is being stepped down. Employment-wise, it means some workers must be laid off. The union seeks to head this off by agreeing to work a four day week. How long this would be tolerated by the workers remains to be seen. Workers with seniority who stand to suffer from reduced paychecks might swing over to support the cause of newer employees rather than continue to take the reduced paycheck.

The conditions reported elsewhere in the area, that a soft spot in the market is being received through April, seems verified by considering Mansfield. During the four-month period January-April, 53 per cent of the workers in Mansfield employment compensation checks completed the maximum term permitted by state law. But 459 persons entered the lists for the first time. Assuming none of the 53 found employment (and this seems likely) the total net unemployment for the first quarter was at least 5,112.

The Mansfield office reports the need for skilled employees, notably for women secretarial, office and tabulating personnel...

First June Bride To Be Married At Shiloh Tonight

The first June bride of the season will be Miss Shirley Goldsmith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Goldsmith, 242 Trux street, who will become the bride of Robert N. Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nyle Clark of Shiloh. The ceremony will be performed today at 7 p. m. at the Mt. Hope Lutheran church by the Rev. L. E. Lubold officiating.

Miss Goldsmith has chosen a gown of Chantilly lace, waist length, full skirted, with long sleeves. Her veil will be held with a small crown of pearls. She will carry white roses on her Bible.

Miss Jessie Steele, maid of honor, and Mrs. Martha Jane Schreck Alfrey, bridesmaid, will be gowned alike in green nylon tulle and will carry coonias bouquets and wear headbands matching the bride.

Diane Clausen, niece of the bridegroom, will be the flower girl and Dennis Clausen, nephew of the bridegroom, will be ring bearer for the double ring ceremony.

Howard Clark, brother of the bridegroom, will be best man, and the ushers are Richard G. Clark and brother of the bride, and Bud Clausen, of Shiloh.

Following the ceremony there will be a reception in the church rooms. The hostesses are a pretty appointed table of pastel colors centered with an angel food cake decorated in white pink roses and topped with a little bride. The fifteen guests included Mrs. Goldsmith, Mrs. Clark, and classmates of the bride, who graduated from Plymouth high school in 1953.

Featheringills Wed 50 Years on May 22

Mrs. William Trauger, of W. High St. Plymouth, and her mother, Mrs. Leo Stockmaster, of Willard, took on a pleasant culinary chore last week. It was a 50th anniversary cake for David and Mary Featheringill, of Richland township, who held open house May 22 for kinfolk and friends to celebrate half a century of wedded life.

Mrs. Trauger did the decorating and her mother the actual baking. The cake was iced and the assistance of the golden anniversary dinner served Sunday at noon to 82 guests. Mr. and Mrs. Featheringill are the parents of Mrs. Stockmaster. The couple was married May 22, 1904, at Columbus Grove by the Rev. Mr. S. S. Newhouse.

Mr. Featheringill has retired from farming, but both he and Mrs. Featheringill enjoy good health and keep busy by visiting with their family and friends. A grandson Donald Stockmaster was the only member of the family not able to be present. He is serving in the armed forces in Germany.

Congratulations Due

The step taken by the village council to solicit support of Huron and Richland county authorities for road work on West Broadway and the North Street bridge is a wise one, and we applaud the council for doing so.

For it seems to us that it is high time the Huron and Richland county authorities commence to look upon Plymouth as a little bit more than a small town on the county line which is, as one old hand at Mansfield puts it, "neither fish nor fowl."

The fact that this community is divided by the Huron-Richland county line means that the town should not be divided on the issue of getting what it deserves from the two counties. Being partly in one county and partly in another is not the roads we think Plymouth has a good opportunity to obtain not only the support of Huron and Richland counties as to labor costs, but as to materials also.

For the truth is that West Broadway is a thoroughfare that serves the county road net quite as much as it does the village street system. It is only right that the two counties should pay to have the street repaired.

What all citizens of Plymouth need to remember is that until the peculiar situation of being half in one county and half in another is settled, perhaps by the state legislature, we need to be a group of "dick and spawners." That is, we need to be as forceful as we can with the authorities in Huron and Richland counties to keep them aware of our just needs and our just desires.

This not only applies to road repairs and the building of a bridge - and we think it disgraceful that a bridge waiting repair is being half in one county and half in another discharging its duties - but to other county services and functions as well. Plymouth county should not be treated like Cinderella, an unwanted step-child. The property owners in Plymouth are entitled to the same prestige and respect as any other town in Plymouth as a community cannot, because of a strange quirk of a county boundary, deliver a large number of votes should not be allowed to vote in any way of those taxpayers who are entitled to make known to the village council, and the duty of the council to make known to the respective county authorities, that this community is entitled to the same treatment under law, and that we will not rest until we get it.

Next Holiday - More Dead?

Now that Memorial day has passed, the next big holiday is Independence Day. We usually call it the Fourth of July, and it is less a day on which we reflect upon the events that caused its renown than that when we celebrate without knowing exactly why we celebrate.

Every year, two deadly weapons execute hundreds upon hundreds of our fellow Americans, many more than died in the struggle that was touched off that first Fourth of July in 1776 ago. These are the dynamite and the firecrackers. About the former, there isn't very much we can do except tighten the net behind the wheel. Or else keep him from getting tight. Depends on whether you're hearing the bang.

A youngster in Shiloh is hospitalized because he was playing with firecrackers, even though they are illegal in Ohio. Too many parents are thoughtlessly recalling the days of old by allowing their children to play with firecrackers.

Parents, if your son or daughter wakes up on July 5 or 6, or before - with one eye gone or a finger blown off, blame nobody but yourselves. You allowed them to do it.

More Lawlessness?

The sheriff of Erie county recently told a Sandusky newspaper that, because money is getting tighter, he anticipates an outbreak of lawlessness in the form of burglary, robbery, and auto theft. The sheriff had said so two young thugs entered the Polk State Bank nine miles northeast of Mansfield and at gun point took a bit over $2,000 from the cashier.

Sheriff George E. Mosier of Morrow county states that the cases of breaking and entering and petty theft which have been reported in his jurisdiction, but that he has been able to solve only four.

Fortunately, neither Richland nor Huron counties have this time any lawlessness that is out of control. But it does not mean that we can afford to be complacent.

The number of bank robberies in this part of Ohio recently is considered by some to be alarming. The fact is that any bank robbery should be alarming and in an area where banks are generally small and staffed by three or four persons only, we should be alert to the needs of the hour.

One of the ways to avert the theft of the horse is only part of the problem. The loss of ready money and cutting down of pay checks to persons who apparently didn't realize the value of money, may be cutting down on pay checks to persons who are addicted: the victim is driven to robbery and lawlessness to serve his needs. We do not know if this is so. But if it is true, or is likely to be true, then we are obligated to provide means to counteract it.

At the same time, schools, churches, parents, and families need to exert their maximum influence to force upon the community the observance of a minimum standard of morality that does not include stealing to obtain necessary money. Similarly, our economic agencies - banks, loans association, insurance companies, and industries - need to know how we can make investments in our economy that will take up some of the slack created by the falling off of boom times.

Drop in on the clerk of court of common pleas some time to see a veritable mill of work in an office which is not over an excess of its cost of operation, one of few in the county government that does so.

The big task in Clerk Dana Danna Cully's office is the certificates of title services, and the notations of indebtedness. These mostly relate to automobiles. They average 1200-1300 a month in the former case and 400-450 in the latter, and require the services of two girls constantly to take care of them.

Another job is the preparation of grand and petit jury lists. The system is not complicated, but it is important to the citizenry. The catch is that few know how it works, and even fewer care.

The preparation of the lists falls under the supervision of the jury commissioners, Morley K. Rice, District Attorney and Eugene J. Tucker, Republican, both of Norwalk. Registered voters who participated in the last primaries are extracted from the voting lists and their names are placed on the grand jury list. A list of about 50 petit jurors and 25 grand jurors is selected by lot and at random at the beginning of the term, and every two years, at the start of a year. The present term terminates Tuesday.

Once a juror has served, he isn't eligible again for two years, although his name goes back in the wheel after a year. Petit jurors are required to serve no more than 221 days in the course of their term, and grand jurors receive $5 per diem and five cents a mile to and from the courtroom.

It is the duty of the clerk of court to do if the litigants will only get them ready. The court is pretty far behind in the hearing and trial cases. During the term, ended April 30, for example, 251 civil cases, 176 criminal cases, and 152 divorce cases were filed. The Court of Common Pleas held some cases last month, of course, but in the January term of the petit jury (January-April, inclusive), 86 more cases were filed than were heard.

Nine jury cases are scheduled for trial during June, and 10 court (or cases without jury trial) cases. One day a month is reserved for preliminary hearings, and the opposing attorneys endeavor to reach an understanding without a trial.

One of the plights of the presiding judge and the opposing attorneys is the burden of the Court of Common Pleas Robert J. Vetter, who succeeded to the office left vacant by the late Judge Luther Van Horn. The burden of cases is a heavy one, and not every attorney likes to bring his case to trial.

The court is not averse to the judge to encourage litigants to proceed promptly to trial, so that the docket may be cleared.

Consult the docket and the records of the office of the Huron county court and you'll find that between divorce cases and O. A. M. V. U. T. I. O. L. I. is an abbreviation for "operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicating liquors."

There are those who consider the Huron County courthouse at Norwalk a model of efficiency. In 1952 divorces was filed during the year ended April 30. Look in Execution Docket No. 43, commencing at page 1, and you'll find the following information summarized by The Advertiser:

Total No. divorce cases: 72 Cases in which total cost of proceedings in which wives plaintiffs: 53 Cases in which custody to plaintiff: 25 Divorces: 10

Why is the divorce rate in Huron county so high? With perhaps 8,000 family units, the rate of 152 cases a year, or .019 per cent, is high by comparison with the national average. Courthouse divorces are the most common type of divorces in Huron county, and are proportionately higher than almost any other county in the state.

One of the reasons for the high divorce rate is that the divorce records show that if you're mad at your husband, and you're thinking of divorce, make sure you're sure. The divorce records show that the divorce is not a simple matter. It is a process that requires the aid of a lawyer. And part of it is in ourselves: the vigorous injection of our own, and our husband's, into a high standard of living and thus prevent the weak from becoming weaker and eventual wards of the strong.

Democratic national committee in effect stepped into the Ohio senatorial race for the first time last week when it pressured Sen. Minority Leader Lydon Johnson (D-Tex.) into promoting Sen. Thomas A. Burke (R-Ohio) from his poor assignment on the Senate District of Columbia Committee.

Johnson announced that Burke will now be assigned to the Government Operations committee, parent of the investigating subcommittee of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-W.Va.).

Burke had been moving heaven and earth to get off the District Committee, which he claimed never made any news which could do him any good in his Ohio senate race against Rep. George H. Bender (R-Ohio).

This segment was led by George D. Nye of Waverly, the Democratic member of Congress from Ohio. Nye had been a member of the committee in the November campaign. Nye, who has long been a staunch campaigner, rallied additional support against the nomination of Burke.

Cuyahoga county crowd think the Pike county group has only one purpose in mind: to elect Lausche governor for an unprecedented fourth term. GOP when the Pike county boys don't believe any other Democrats can be elected, and so long as Lausche wins the election, the nation will grow to such a point that in 1956 Ohio's delegates can put into nomination a name of their own choosing.

If the Republicans can be whipped, 1956 would seem to be the year, and Frank J. Lausche may be the man. It is no secret that he would like the job.

The split in the Democratic ranks is pretty much akin to the split in the national GOP when Taft was alive. There were those who followed Senator Taft, and those who supported Governor Dewey. They seemed never to get together.

The problem in the Ohio Democratic party is similar in that the rank and file of Democrats and want patronage from the machine, whereas Lausche comes from outside Cleveland, has the innate Democratic downstate communities, and has his eye on bigger game than the governor's chair at Columbus.

Minority supporters, however, now point: they want more hard-hitting in the campaign, and they want more money to do it with. Up to now, perhaps because of the big game, Governor Lausche has been a bit choosy about the kind and volume of money he will use in the campaign.

The Cuyahoga county crowd, hungry for patronage already, wants no more of that. If it makes money to them, they say, no matter how it is obtained, they will support it.

Philly Wolfe, county commission clerk who two weeks ago was knocked out of the county G O P was wearing an ear-to-ear grin last week. Reason: the forces which turned him out took a decisive beating at the reorganization of the party's executive committee.

Wolfe, with the help of Earl McFarland and his supporters, named Mansfield Councillman Russell Porch the new chairman and turned back a bid by Attorney Jim Will.

Appointed acting chairman, Wolfe was so intent on getting Porch elected, he announced that the nominations were closed before Will's name could be placed before the board. The nominations for chairman had been closed by the assistance of Rex Larson, assistant county prosecutor.

After almost two years of preliminary planning and negotiations with state officials, it looks like a freeway by-pass of U. S. Route 30 around Mansfield will go through. Last week county commissioners and trustees of Madison township agreed to appropriate $50,000 to cover their costs of construction plans for the project.

A similar action was expected to be approved this week by Mansfield city council members. County Engineer Walter E. Rusk said the $100,000 will be all the local funds needed to get the by-pass program by the state highway department for 1956.

State Highway Director S. O. Linn said as soon as by-pass construction is started, the complete he will recommend to the Highway Construction Council that the state undertake the project.

If the project is approved, the highway department will recommend that Governor Frank J. Lausche offer the project to the legislature. More than $10 million dollars in state highway construction money will be needed. Financing will have to come out of the $500 million in approved 18 months ago by Ohio.

Before this fund can be tapped for the by-pass, the project must have the OK of Linnzell and the construction council and the legislature. Since Linnzell and the highway department have agreed to accept local funds and have hired a Cincinnati engineering firm to go ahead with the construction, the by-pass seems a sure bet.

Plants call for U. S. Route 30-S west of Mansfield to be routed north along Route 30 N., then east along the north edge of the highway near Vernon road east of Mansfield.

Charles Payne, personal counsel by treasurer from Shelby, the project opened his windows for the collection of last-half 1953 real estate taxes and special assessments.

The bill for Plymouth Village landowners this year is $12,145 in real estate taxes. Last January and February, village taxpayers paid $12,580.

Overall tax bill for the county is $1,926,189 for the second half and brings the total for both collections almost to the four million mark. A county landowners paid just short of two million dollars in estate taxes and special assessments earlier this year.

Last half collections will close July 29. Plymouth Village and other north-county residents can make their payments by mail and save themselves a trip to the courthouse.

Checks and money orders should be made payable to Charles C. Payne, Richland County Treasurer, along with checks or money orders. Taxpayers should send their tax statement and a self-addressed stamped envelope.

Cigarette Dealers As of the close of business on May 29, 253 Huron county dealers including vending machines had secured their 1954-55 cigarette licenses. Wholesalers are required to check with their dealers before another retailer can be licensed. The state of Ohio is expected at the start of this week.

Nevertheless, the clerk of the court dealt a lance business in the collection of support, separate maintenance and alimony fees. He takes one per cent to meet his costs. He is expected to receive five cents better than $5,000 a month.

OLD FRIENDS will be glad to know Mrs. Josephine S. Rogers reports a change of address to 419 West Broadway Avenue, Geneva Apts. No. 4, Long Beach 3, California. PHIN HAS THE HONOR of being the first buyer of a poppy in Plymouth this year, but he flinched to get it. Be sure to be on the streets early Saturday and help this deserving enterprise.

NICE LETTER from Harry B. Kirtland, of Toledo, formerly chief, Harvard University press and editor of "The Printing Art," now a successful lawyer in the lake city. Says he once worked for The Advertiser in George Reed's day, and on one occasion together with the help of Miss May Fleming, got out the only "extra" in The Advertiser's history. They worked all night on hand-set to get the sheet out, to promote Reed's day, and on one occasion together with the gentleman living in Plymouth, and his copy of our first issue was sent by the Hanick sisters from their hospital room at Shelby. Thanks, Mr. K. We'll be glad to see you if you get to town.

SORRY DAN HENRY is having back trouble. Hope it works out all right, son. Dan! DIDN'T KNOW TIL we read another sheet that our Joe Dush, the village solicitor, in addition to being a legal eagle, is also an artist. Like to see some of your canvases some time, Counselor.

WANT TO BET The Air Academy doesn't locate in the Mansfield area? Hardly seems likely. So long as Mr. Talbot doesn't move Wilkins depot, we'll be satisfied.

PHIN is trying to whop up enough spirit to get a softball league started. Something that will welcome participation of old fuds like Phin and emphasizes exercise rather than winning. Entirely self-supporting by the player themselves, and we know about the money to pay, for the lights at the ball park, with play Thursday and Friday nights. Some of the boys at coffee hour are wild, 'Barkus is willin', and if enough guys speak up (perhaps 59 and we know about 59) we'll get something started. Perhaps six teams can be gotten together. Greenwich and Celeryville are understood to be willing to go along, and we suspect Shiloh can get ten acres and husbands together. This would mean two teams from Plymouth, or maybe can get four.

PLYMOUTH CLASS of 1954 is Mrs. Fackler's first kindergarten class. Get the good lady to reminisce a little about what the young ones were like as five-year-olds.

LITTLE JOHN ARTHUR SMITH called the other day, with his mother. Quite a youngster, you've got there, Mr. Councillman. Understand the boy got part of his name from his great-granddaddy, who in 193d summer. The name has served great-granddaddy, two other boys, and now our ourselves and your John for the sum total of 200 years. It must be all right.

THE RECORDING machine of the John Armstrongs furnishes many a laugh and many a monkey with the gadget. We got quite a kick out of hearing our kids' voices on tape. Should be a dandy thing to keep around, two other boys, and now our ourselves and your John for the sum total of 200 years. It must be all right.

Our Favorite Clip Joiner, a hotbed of anti-Yankee sentiment. Bob Lewis is not only rabid (and we almost think rabid), too. Indian fan but he also has more than necessary holes in his head on account of the likes of the Browns, and the Bucks. And I suppose, Millard Fillmore. Poor Robert. Think there's a place in Heaven for a guy like that?

That handsome blue jay parked out in front of The Advertiser belongs to Don, our compositor. Well, we can look prosperous, can't we?

Which brings us to the point that Bill Jump is about to engage Tommy as an advertising model. So Bill gets in some of those Hathaway shirts. Tommy's eye patch makes him look so distinguished, but we can imagine how the dangled thing hurts. Get it well quick, Tom.

Stopped at Greenwich for some petrol hit the other eye and another customer breezed in with those teller-white marks on the forehead of his. The attendant remarked to his effect that he must have been parked under a tree, and he replied, "No, son, dirty picaon stoled on me." Funnist gun we've heard is the noxy lady next door got her back stuck in the wringer.

Adding to the Haw Dept. Seems an itinerant vendor specializing in farm equipment was lost in the back roads of Brighton township and stopped at a farm to ask for directions. The farmer, who was asked, "The salesman asked of the farmer."

"Why, yes," replied the farmer, "if you don't mind sleeping with my young son."

SOCIETY-CLUB NEWS

Wedded 50 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Orrin Steele of New Haven will hold open house Sunday afternoon and evening, at their farm home in New Haven township on the Green Bush Rd. Married on June 5, 1904, at the parsonage of the Evangelical church in Siam, the couple took up housekeeping near Boughtonville in Huron county. The then pastor of Siam church, The Rev. Joseph J. Wagner, is now living in New Philadelphia. He will attend the open house and re-enact the wedding ceremony during the open house.

Also living is the bride's attendant, her sister now Mrs. Barney Robinson of near Steuben, who will also be present. The couple has a son, Wayne Steele of Wyandotte, Mich., and a daughter, Mrs. Jesse Snyder of Galion. There are nine grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren. Mr. Steele, who is 76, retired three years ago after farming in Huron county for 47 years. Mrs. Steele is 68. Both are in fairly good health.

A dinner will be served to the immediate members of their families at the Towne House in Shelby at noon Sunday.

Hey, Wanna Be Another Stan Musial? Cardinals Set Tryouts at Bucyrus

The St. Louis Cardinals will conduct a baseball tryout camp at Lions Field, Bucyrus, June 11 and 12, for amateur and semi-pro players between 17 and 23. Workouts will begin at 10 a.m.

The Cardinals consider amateur players in this area of high caliber and therefore we are anxious to hold our tryout sessions in this area early in the season. Joe Mathes, chief Cardinal scout, says, "We feel confident that our scouts will be able to discover players in this camp who can be developed into a St. Louis Cardinal through training in our minor league system."

The Cardinals, with an eye toward youth, operated one of the largest and best staffed minor league systems in existence today. With 22 minor league clubs in 15 states and two foreign countries, young players in the Red Bird organization are assured an opportunity to play regularly in classifications ranging from Class D to AAA and the St. Louis Cardinals.

Largely responsible for the outstanding success of St. Louis' minor league system has been its formula of plenty of personal instruction and a generous amount of individual attention for all young players.

There is no charge or fee of any kind for attending the tryout camp at Bucyrus. Players desiring to work out under supervision of Red Bird major league scouts need bring only shoes, glove and uniform if they have one. All catching equipment, bats and balls are supplied by the Cardinals.

Players who are signed to a Cardinal minor league contract will be refunded all expenses incurred as a result of attending the sessions.

History Classes Make Field Trips With Emil Sarpa

Social studies classes of Plymouth High School made several field trips under the direction of Emil Sarpa, social studies instructor, during the last week of the school year.

The eighth and eleventh grade American history classes traveled some 300 miles, with Carl Carnahan driving, to visit Fort Laurens, site of the only Revolutionary war post in Ohio; Zoar, which has a museum and garden of the early German settlers; Schoenbrunn village, a reconstructed Moravian log village of the Revolutionary period; Dover Dam, one of the largest dams in the state; the Amish communities along Rt. 39, where the horse and buggy is still in everyday use; and Mohican Park, where there is a shrine to those who lost their lives in World War II.

On May 22 the seventh graders went to Columbus as a part of their study of Ohio history and geography. At the Ohio State museum they saw relics left by the Mound builders and other Indian tribes. At the Orton Hall Geology museum of Ohio State university they viewed exhibits of the various rock formations of the state and saw the reconstructed prehistoric animals including the mastodon. Of current interest, they visited the buildings on the campus of the university and saw a Bell Telephone display of every phase of the modern communication system including telegraph, television, teletype, and telephones. Harry Almen drove the class on this trip.

Huron Farm Agent Says to Harvest At Right Stage

Meadow crops should be harvested at the right stage to get the highest tonnage as well as the highest percentage of protein per acre, John Wells, Huron County Agricultural agent reports.

In order to get the most feeding harvesting should begin approximately June 10 to 15. Higher yields of alfalfa may be obtained if cuttings are not made earlier than June 15. However, harvestings should be completed near the middle of June if second and third cuttings are anticipated. Where one and two year old meadows are to meadow could be harvested earlier without damaging the alfalfa, Wells states. The other cutting dates for alfalfa meadows would be July 20 to 25 and September 1 to 7. If the third cutting is pastured, the livestock should be removed by September 15 or winter kill can be expected.

Where meadows crops used for hay contain mixtures of alfalfa, grass, the cuttings should be made to favor the alfalfa rather than the other crops in the mixture. Because of the recent lack of soil moisture, some clovers and grasses have slowed down in their rates of growth, according to Wells. It may be profitable, where the alfalfa cuttings are little alfalfa, to delay harvesting a few days in anticipation of additional rainfall.

Where the meadow mixture is predominantly clover, the highest tonnage and protein per acre can be expected if harvesting is begun when the bloom first appears. The aim of every farmer should be to make the highest quality roughage that is possible. Mow driers will aid materially in making the better quality roughage. If the hay is mowed in the afternoon it will contain approximately 20 percent less water, which will also be an aid in curing.

SHOWS PONIES

Plymouth horses not only ride at night alone, they also take prizes. Mexical Ross, a pony owned by Jerry Caywood, took second place Sunday at the Fredericktown Saddle Club show at the Mt. Vernon Fair grounds. She was ridden by Marc Caywood. The prize was the usual ribbon accompanied by a small cash award for the 48 to 56 pony class. Buckshot, ridden by Jim Caywood, shown for the first time this year, failed to realize the seriousness of the situation and showed too much pep.

Mr. Johnny Sez:

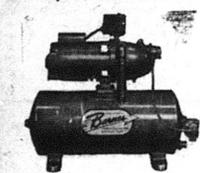

The average temperature for May, 1954 was 56.3 degrees, or 3.3 below normal. The highest was 88 on the 31st; the lowest 30 on the 4th with a light frost.

Rainfall was light, totaling 1.51 inches, a deficit of 2.22 inches. The greatest in 24 hours was .63 inch on the 2nd-3rd. Only a trace of rain fell between the 11th and 27th.

At the end of the month wheat and oats were deteriorating and pastures were drying up. Most of the corn had been planted but only a few fields had come up.
