

Harvest to Be Smaller than in 1953

Area farmers began this week the harvesting of what looks like a good wheat crop, subject for the first time to an enforced federal control as to volume.

First signs are that the crop will be better than average but not so good as last year's. Some farmers report kernels at the top of stalks are not so well filled out as they might be. There is also a considerable amount of rust in wheat this year. Yields in the immediate Plymouth area, notably in fields to be harvested, east of the village, are anticipated to be in the neighborhood of 20 to 22 bushels an acre, as against between 29 and 32 in 1953.

Wheat producers this year are subject to the enforced federal control exercised by the Commodity Stabilization Service of the Department of Agriculture. All area farms have been photographed from the air and federal authorities have an accurate picture of the total area planted to winter wheat. Most farmers have a quota of 15 acres of wheat more than 15 acres have been planted - or where the quota has been exceeded, instances where the quota is less or more than 15 acres - producers must pay a penalty of $1.12 a bushel on over - quota wheat before the Form MQ-79 (1954) is issued.

Processors of what are forbidden from buying farms' wheat crops unless the Form MQ-1954 is exhibited at the elevator. The federal government is supporting prices of wheat produced in accordance with marketing quota regulations at $2.21 a bushel. The means that farmers can store wheat with the federal government and obtain loans against the wheat at the rate. The market price for wheat currently runs about $1.75 a bushel.

Plymouth's only large-scale processor, Plymouth Elevator, is ready to accommodate producers immediately. John Ganzhorn, manager of the elevator, says he is prepared to work overtime to receive wheat crops.

"But unless," he says, "producers show that little white card, we do not do business with them. We have no wish to break the law and we are sure our friends will realize this."

Huron county producers must obtain their Form MQ-79 from the office of Patrick Nolan, telephone building, Norwalk, and Richland county growers from that of Guy L. Turner, Room 3, 157 North Mulberry street, Mansfield.

Plymouth Elevator will receive wheat deliveries during the following hours: 7 a.m. to midnight Mondays through Saturdays. Sundays if conditions require.

Additional Funds May Be Available For Water Needs

Some help to the village's present water situation may have been received from the Federal Government. The water supply system would be willing to advance funds sufficient to pay for extension of the water system to the farm of Roy Evans, about 1,000 feet from the present watershed.

The question now is whether there is water. Carl Fife and sons of Greenwich, who own the well in another week to put down another well to see if this is so. If it is not, the Board of Public Affairs could go to the farm of Ray Chapman, on the east side of Route 598, west of the Baltimore & Ohio right-of-way, north of the village, to tap the eight-inch casing of a well owned by Fife some 20 years ago and sealed since that time because he could not sell the water. The distance is upwards of 1.5 miles, and the expense of putting in a main and a pump would be tremendous, but unless water can be found in the Evans site, that may be exactly what the Board decides to do.

Developments of this week have not materially changed the water situation, which is:

1. Level of water in the wells at the village watershed is about seven feet under pumping.
2. Unless water enters the water table between now and the height of the summer, rationing of water is a possibility during August.
3. Excessive use of water, through water discipline by customers, is being held down, a fact which pleases the Board.
4. Difference of opinion as to the propriety of raising the water rate has begun to reach the Board. Some argue that the increase of the minimum rate of $2 to $6 a quarter is the heaviest on those least able to pay - pensioners and older residents not gainfully employed.

Three from Area Sue for Divorces

Three divorce actions in Huron and Richland county courts involve Plymouth and Shelby residents.

Hancor D. Laferty, Shiloh route 1, charged Dorothy Lafferty, Saginaw, with neglect and cruelty and asks custody of four minor children. The couple was married at Port Clinton Oct. 22, 1951.

Vance C. Hoffman, Plymouth, charges neglect and cruelty by Alyce Hoffman; also Plymouth, and seeks custody of two children. The marriage took place Dec. 26, 1947.

Gilbert Davis, rural Monroeville, is asking a divorce from Donald F. Davis, on grounds of cruelty and

Unlicensed Driver In Two 'Scrapes': Pays Mayor, 'Doc'

A 19-year-old unlicensed driver appeared before Mayor Glenn West last night to answer charges of reckless operation and driving without a license filed by Police Chief Robert Meiser. It cost her $10 fine and costs.

She was Miss Marilyn Fry of Atica, who failed to keep the road with a Chevrolet sedan belonging to a Willard used car dealer. The accident in which she was involved occurred in Springmill road, about two miles south of Plymouth, at 7:15 p. m. Tuesday. Miss Fry was cut about the face and medical treatment by Dr. D. B. Faust was necessary.

The vehicle was severely damaged in the collision and the roadside ditch. The driver apparently proceeded too fast and lost control of the car as it was passing over a

Sales Tax Reports Help to Be Given

Field examiners will be in this area during July to assist vendors in filing of their sales tax reports for the first six months of 1954.

These reports must be filed with the State Treasurer by July 31 in order to avoid penalties. Vendors are required to file a report even if no sales were made during the period from January 1, through June 30, 1954.

In filing returns, vendors are asked to bring a copy of their last or previous semi-annual report and a record of their stamp purchases for the first half of 1954.

Examiners will be stationed at Norwalk, Sales Tax Office, 409 Citizens Bank, entire month of July and at Mansfield, Sales Tax Office, Court House, July 28, 29, and 30.

Call Collects Fees Of $1,301.39 in June

Fees amounting to $1,301.39 were collected in June by Huron County Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas Dana W. Call. He reported fees of $456.95 collected for the Bureau of Motor Vehicle, $1,562.33 casual and use tax for the Department of Taxation, and $15 for the Division of Wildlife.

Thirty-four cases were filed with the clerk, of which 19 were civil, nine divorce and six criminal.

A total of 1,378 certificates of title was issued, with 479 cancellations of lien, and seven duplicate certificates of title.

Mrs. W.R. Springer Laid to Rest Here

Interment in Greenlawn cemetery followed funeral services at Mrs. Winnie Erwin Springer, wife of Walter R. Springer, who died at 79 Lauderdale, Saturday.

Mrs. Springer was 64. She had been ill six months. Born in Crawford county, she lived most of her life in and around Plymouth until two years ago.

In addition to her husband, survivors include a brother, Lester Erwin, of New Washington, and a half-sister, Mrs. Grace Rodney, of Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Latta Funeral home, New Washington, was in charge of arrangements.

Council Approves 1955 Budget

An operating budget for 1955 with expenditures at $25,978.60 was passed by the village council Wednesday night in a special meeting called for the purpose. Public hearings on the budget will be held in the office of the village clerk, July 16 at 1 p. m.

That $25,978.60, however, is only a part of what it will cost to operate the village during 1955. It represents only that part of the village costs which comprise expenditures from revenues to be raised by taxation and other fees normally collected by the village.

The principal source of revenue is the general property tax, estimated to total $8,800. The classified property tax will probably produce $3,700 and the sales tax another $3,400. Liquor permits will bring in $1,950, and the sale of lots in Greenlawn cemetery another $2,100, according to estimates revenues certified by the Council.

Chief item on the disbursement is salaries for several village officers, including council members: $720; mayor, $780; clerk, $625; treasurer, $200; solicitor, $400; marshal, $400; street commissioner, $3,400; fire chief and assistant, $500; cemetery custodial employee, $4,200; parks, $1,200. Other miscellaneous charges make up the difference.

Depot Plans Sale Worth $8 Million Starting July 21

"Sold! To the man in the grey hat! Ten pup tents and a donkey equal for $1100!"

Don't laugh. That cry, and others seemingly as ridiculous, will be heard July 21 at Wilkins Air Force Base disposal of $8 million in surplus equipment.

The all-day sale will begin at 8:30 a. m. and continue to 6:30 p. m. with inspection of the goods offered on three days prior to the sale, July 17, 19 and 20, from 7 a. m. to 3:30 p. m.

The items to be sold are grouped as shops, office and kitchen equipment, $18,148; electrical equipment and supplies, $105,166; miscellaneous containers, $4,462; miscellaneous hardware, $77,081; aircraft handling and material handling equipment, $292,204; textiles, tarpaulins and covers, $443,650; clothing, footwear and personal equipment, $4,836,511; aircraft spare parts and accessories, $1,282,910; automotive spare parts and equipment, $895,110.

Although the items will be offered for sale in large lots, prospective buyers will be permitted to bid on individual lots and will not be required to buy large lots.

'It Never Rains but What It Pours,' Say Entler Family After Week of Mishaps

There's nobody who can testify to the truth of the old adage about it never rains but what it pours like Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Entler, of Plymouth East road.

Mr. Entler had been scheduled for surgery at Willard Municipal hospital, and planned to undergo the knife on June 30. But on the previous Monday, while picking up his car from an old barn, Mrs. Entler fell and broke her arm. She was removed to the same infirmary for treatment.

Friends of the Entlers kept telephoning the infirmary desk to inquire into Mr. Entler's condition and were repeatedly told Mr. Entler wasn't there. Mrs. Entler, the hospital said, was patient and was doing well.

The gas tax repair fund will contribute a part of the money, and the motor vehicle fund another part. Estimates place the turnover of the street repair and maintenance fund at $8,224.

The water fund is likewise almost self-supporting. Revenues of $15,884 are anticipated and expenditures of $15,575 budgeted. Social assessment taxes are expected to meet the need for pipe extension and water extension activities, notably west of the village and north to the New Haven township line.

The electric light fund will take in about $67,140 and expenditures of $60,750 are anticipated from this fund.

Details of the anticipated receipts and disbursements follow:

Disbursements
Council salaries	$720
Mayor expenses	$780
Clerk expenses	$625
Solicitor expenses	$400
Marshal	$400
Street repair and maintenance	$8,224
Water fund	$15,884
Electric light fund	$67,140
Total	$82,224

Heating Bills Payable Ten Times a Year Under New System

A new budget payment plan designed to ease the impact of cold weather heating bills was offered to Ohio Fuel Gas Company customers here today. They may now pay their bills in ten monthly installments - September through June.

Advantage of the plan is that it eliminates the cold weather rise in heating bill payments which occurs when many other living costs are also higher, according to Neil McCaron, local manager of Ohio Fuel.

Monthly payments will begin with gas bills due in September. The company is now accepting applications.

To illustrate the effect of the plan, McCaron compared payments under both the normal monthly billing and the proposed budget methods for a customer whose annual gas costs run about $150.

Under regular billings, that customer's monthly payments range from lows of about $4.50 in September and June to around $25 in January, Mr. McCaron said.

Under the budget system, that customer's payments would be $15 a month from September through June and then drop to a summer-time level for July and August.

He said the company developed its budget plan after a customer survey indicated the program would be welcomed by gas users.

Voters to Ballot on Sewers As Council Rushes Plans

The people will decide at the polls Nov. 2 whether Plymouth will have a new sewer disposal system. Plymouth village council voted Wednesday to place the issue on the November ballot, asking the voters for authority to issue bonds to raise funds to pay for the improvements variously estimated to cost between $275,000 and $475,000. Bound as they are by the council, the council will need to decide:

1. What engineering firm will draft the plans and do the work.
2. What system of sewer disposal will be adopted.
3. In two meetings this week, the council has debated the merits and demerits of two systems and the advisability of retaining the services of Alden E. Stilson and Associates, Ltd., of Columbus, the engineering consultants who drew up the plans in the first place.

Independent experts representing other consulting firms appeared at Tuesday night's meeting to submit informal estimates of costs, and one of them - an Akron engineer - estimated a cost appraisal of $275,000. Bound as they are by the contract with Stilson, the councilmen expressed the view it would be wiser to tackle Stilson more time. Accordingly, the councilmen and a delegation of councilmen will call on Stilson at Columbus next to ascertain if he is willing to:

1. Revise his estimates downward.
2. Swallow the estimated $2,000 in additional engineering charges for final preparation of additions to the village.
3. Change the plans to provide for an activated sludge disposal plant which is believed to be cheaper and more efficient.

After consultation with the outside engineers, the council agreed that an activated sludge system probably would be both more efficient and cheaper. In principle, the sewage would be received in two tanks equipped with aerators, which rotate under electric power for the purpose of circulating air through the sewage.

Bacterial action decomposes the sewage and reduces it to a sludge which is then passed into a drying bed. When sufficiently dry, it may be disposed of as fertilizer.

This system involves no chemicals and a small electrical output, and for the size the system is considered to be suitable. It is understood the State Board of Health would approve such a system.

The ordinance as passed by the council authorizes the placement on the November ballot of an enabling ordinance. If the voters approve, the council would be empowered to float $125,000 in sewerage bonds only. The remainder of the total cost, to be determined by more thorough planning between now and election time, would be raised by the issuance of additional bonds sufficient in value to cover the cost. A "yes" vote in November would not mean that the council is considered to be suitable. It is understood the State Board of Health would approve such a system.

Local Bank Report Shows High Assets At June 30 Closing

Only 24 per cent of the total assets of Peoples National Bank was in other than readily liquid form, the bank's statement of June 30 shows. Assets amounting to $40.3 million were carried on the bank's books, and only $975,553.88 was out in loans and discounts and a negligible overdraft.

This highly liquid asset of Plymouth's only bank reflected sound banking procedures and good business locally. Assets as of June 30 amounted to $621,433.20 in cash and $2,429,670.89 in United States government obligations as prescribed by the Federal reserve system.

Demand deposits of individuals, partnerships and corporations total $10,000,000 and time deposits (generally savings accounts, which may require the depositor to serve notice upon the bank of his intention to withdraw funds) total $62,175,958.50. This high ratio of time deposits to demand deposits reflected certain economic and sociological factors of Plymouth this year.

That depositors of the bank choose to hold their money principally in savings accounts, despite their daily need for funds, indicates a stability of the economy that is not characteristic of other regions.

Also, it is generally true that the community is advancing rather than regressing.

Of interest to those concerned with the economic well-being of the region in the event of national or international hard times is the fact that the relatively high level of time deposits means that the bank is required to retain smaller ratios of reserves against loans, which means in turn that should hard times come the bank could readily pump money into circulation through sound investments in good business risks.

Rule Resigns, Gets New Job at Shelby

Richard M. Rule, who has been employed for the past two years as secretary of the Plymouth Public Square, has resigned. He has entered the employ of Harold Lanzan, a barber, in Shelby.

Mr. Rule, who is married, lives at 69 Maple street. He will retain his Plymouth residence.

Methodists Honor Departing Pastor

Two aluminum outdoor chairs were presented to the Rev. and Mrs. Leonard E. Smith, by the Plymouth Methodist church congregation at a picnic at Mary Fate Park Tuesday night.

The Smiths were transferred to Youngstown, where he will be pastor of Grace Methodist church.

Sixty guests were present at the picnic supper. Superintendent of Schools M. J. Cooon made the presentation, to which the Rev. Mr. Smith responded. Among the guests were the Rev. and Mrs. McKee of Plymouth west road and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Pantius of McDonough, Pa. Entler is a daughter of the departing couple.

The Rev. Thomas Sheesley and his family will occupy the parsonage today. They are coming from Utica.

Prize Winner

First man in town Tuesday morning was Samuel H. Cadman, Mills avenue, veteran Plymouth township trustee. And for good reason.

He picked up a portable radio and a Smokey outdoor grill that were given away by Mack's Clover Farm store Saturday in a drawing of names entered by customers of the establishment.

Nimmons, president of the Peoples National bank, and Robert Dubberdt, director, will have the honor of invited to this dinner. Former Governor Meyers V. Cooper of Cincinnati, and S. C. Cashman of Columbus, will be present.

Cashman is assistant director of the Ohio State fair. Harry Dodson, a retired Mansfield school principal, will be the guest speaker.

Plymouth Fire Department is organizing a tug-of-war team of eight. There are three prizes planned for this event, $25, $10, and $5, each an all time high of $75,000.

Thirty garden clubs in Richland county are planning exhibits. For the exhibitors there are already 30 signs on display of various companies and industries who will show their products. The Health department will have a booth as will the State Board of Health which will show what is being done to help retarded children.

Every convenience for the spectators is being planned this year. A large tent will be set up, and the well-known high wire artist, Malivko, has been engaged to give a performance each afternoon and evening. Anyone interested may contact Russell F. 650 Attend Picnic Of 4-H Groups

About 650 4-H club members, advisers, and their families attended the annual Huron County 4-H Club picnic held at Camp Conger June 23.

Three softball tournaments were conducted. The boy's championship for the eastern half of the county went to the Hartland Go-Getters 4-H club, which defeated Wake-man Blue Ribbon club in the finals. In the western half of the county, the North Side 4-H club of Norwalk township defeated the New Haven Twentieth Century Farmers, the very popular refreshment stand.

In the girls' tournament, the West Hardland Snappy Stitches defeated the Ripley Nifty Needlers, 11-9, in extra innings. Each of the champions was awarded a new softball.

After lunch there were contests and races for all ages, the two most popular being an egg throwing contest for the boys and a balloon breaking contest for women.

The contest were conducted by the Huron County Jr. Leadership 4-H Club, assisted by the extension agents. The Jr. Leadership club also ran the very popular refreshment stand.

Sisters Arrange 25th Anniversary Fete for Parents

It may be difficult to arrange a party from far-off Japan, but it's not impossible. Not when you have a 12-year-old sister to do the donkey work. Take it from Mrs. Robert F. Metcalfe, who is living with her husband, Sfc Robert F. Metcalfe, who is living with her husband, Sfc Robert F. Metcalfe, at his military post in Nippon, and her young sister, Margaret Dawson, of 17 East High street. It's not easy. But when your parents mark the 25th wedding anniversary, it's worth it. The affair took place Sunday.

Margaret got some valuable help from Mrs. E. L. Colbert and Mrs. Carl Lofland in decorating the rooms of her parents home with bouquets of pink, yellow and white carnations that were presented the honored couple, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dawson, by Mr. and Mrs. Norman McQuown. A wedding cake graced the table, appropriately decorated with sugar roses and wedding bells inscribed with the 25th anniversary. Ice cream decorated with wedding bells was served. A goodly number of guests shared the occasion, including Mr. and Mrs. Norman McQuown and family, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lofland, Mr. and Mrs. Ward Stuckey of Bloomville, Mr. and Mrs. J. Williams of Chatfield, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Colbert and Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Predieri and children.

● The Richland County Budget

Last week this newspaper published some details of the budget drafted by Richland County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe for the fiscal year. It calls for $1.7 million, and it allows most essential offices of the county administration about five per cent more money this year than last.

It should be understood that we do not object to this, particularly as the county offices have been struggling along on so little for such a long period of time. But the budgets of all county governments over Ohio - and, so far as we can see, some of the United States - are in our day, they are some of them more spectacular than steadily.

It is unwise to rob Peter to pay Paul. If we cut down on federal expenditures only to increase state and county disbursements, we help nobody. Rather, we do ourselves serious harm.

It is doubtful that any public comment on the Richland county budget will be communicated in any of the hearings scheduled for it. The meeting of Commissioners Friday, Sebby and Dawson might well develop into a bridge game, to make sure the residents of Richland county, to make sure that the five per cent increase is not built into the budget so that it cannot be cut out next year.

● Enforcement of the Law

There has been some talk hereabouts about law enforcement, and as thinking on the subject tends to run along prejudicial lines smacking of racial and religious prejudice, we submit here some ideas which we think are worth considering and adopting by all good citizens.

1. The laws should be enforced. If an ordinance says that fat ladies should not wear red dresses, our police should enforce that law, regardless of how distasteful it may be to the police or the fat ladies. A representative of the police should be arrested and fined as much as any speeder or swindler.

2. The laws should be enforced against all citizens without fear or favor. The rich should be treated just as the poor, and the Baptists just as the Episcopians. There should be only nine souls, and they would raise the hue and cry of religious persecution if they were arrested for wearing pink shoes on Sunday morning. It should be overlooked. Not when the ordinance is clear.

3. It follows that all ordinances which are obsolete or capricious or counter to the public welfare - or which they have to do with the wearing of outrageous colors or the keeping of unlicensed dogs or the playing of pinocle in public places - should be promptly repealed. It is not the duty of our policemen to decide in their own judgment whether a violation should be reported. A violation is a violation, even as in basketball, and the whistle must be blown whenever one occurs.

4. For the last time, this is our attitude on such controversial subjects as liquor sales, gambling, betting on horse races, and the like: if the people wish to prevent them by passing ordinances which describe such activities, the law should be strictly enforced. Strict enforcement of the law will either delight or displease the people. If they are delighted, then good has been done all around. If they are displeased, they will take steps to erase the law from the books.

5. Which is as it should be. But we are tired of hearing sly remarks that so-and-so did not ask for a permit to set a fire in his back yard and such-and-such plays pinocle for money in Joe's Bar. If these facts are true, and the people wish to prevent such activities, the law should be strictly enforced. If the facts are true and they are not against the law, then the sly remarks - which are neither more nor less than criminal slander - should be stopped.

6. We propose to frame this policy in a celluloid gadget and fasten it with a chain to our laps, so that when the next time we are asked to do something about pinocle or fires or whatever, we will haul it out and hand it to our questioner to read for himself.

● A Big Issue

The village of Plymouth has some important days ahead. Its citizens are confronted with the likelihood of appropriating about half a million dollars for necessary municipal improvements. The money will come from taxes to be paid by the people. Assuming that the bill is half a million dollars for a sewage disposal plant and mains and for the improvements to the water plant, it amounts to about $333 for every man, woman and child in this community.

Now $333 is a lot of money. Frankly, if we had that much ahead, we would not be here this week, but off in Canada enjoying the scenery and the cool air.

But we are convinced that the money is necessary, and we plan to utilize every means at hand, short of going to jail, to try to get the sewage disposal thing passed.

But, Mr. Mayor and Members of the Council, we are equally convinced that even though we have to put a line in to New Haven to draw water for our community, the bill won't come to any half million dollars. Not by a long shot.

We feel that the citizens of Plymouth will go along with Council in a sewage disposal plant will run to about $300,000, give or take 10 per cent, and with not more than $40,000 for water supply improvement.

But the people need leadership, and they have a right to have it. If the members of the Council believe that the funds are necessary, and that it is a proper thing for the people to do it, it is their duty to bend every effort - even into personal exhaustion - to guide the people along these lines.

What's Going On in Government: On the Scene Reports:

...from Washington

by Jack K. Russell

The General Services Administration, jumping the gun on a new law expected to thaw $3 billion worth of frozen federal construction projects, has already signed a contract for construction of a $1,000,000 federal office building in Mansfield.

Rep. J. Harry McGregor, veteran Richland county congressman, announced that the proposed Mansfield construction will be one of the first to be constructed under the so-called Lease-Purchase Bill expected to be cleared for the President's signature this week.

"The contract is all signed and ready to go," McGregor said. "As soon as President Eisenhower signs the legislation and Congress okay's the project it can be started."

Under the proposed legislation, the Post Office department and the General Service Administration can contract for post offices, garages, and office buildings on the installment plan. The government pays equal installments on the principal and interest for from 10 to 30 years, depending on the terms of the contract, and when the contract is fulfilled Uncle Sam owns the buildings.

In the version of the bill arrived at by House-Senate conferees last week, GSA would be allowed to enter into contracts totaling about $100,000,000 during the first year of the program. Total payments on the contracts could not exceed $5,000,000. The Post Office Department could contract for an additional $50,000,000, with actual payments limited to $3 million.

A list of priority projects is expected to be submitted to Congress sometime this month and, according to McGregor, it will contain the Mansfield building.

It's almost a certainty, however, that the proposed new $215,000 post office for Plymouth will not be on the first list submitted. New lists will be submitted for Congressional approval from time to time, however, and the Plymouth project is already on a GSA eligibility list.

Some opposition is already developing to some of the projects in the new laws. With respect to the proposition will have is unknown. However, it's pretty hard for a congressman to push a porkbarrel project of his own unless he's willing to go along with another congressman's project.

And there seems to be little doubt that Plymouth needs a new post office badly.

...from Mansfield

by Rich Land

Just when things seemed to tail off for the hot weather, the Mansfield Telephone Co., applied to the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio for an increase in its rates. Fourth of July fireworks were never so incendiary as this proposal. Reaction - all of it bad - ran the gamut from mildly mad to highly indignant.

And when some thought that the Prosecutor of the Common Pleas would throw his hand - and that of the county commissioners - in on the side of the people, they soon found out that Prosecutor Theodore Lutz had other ideas. It was the Richland County Farm Bureau that sought the intervention of the prosecutor as a special pleader for the people, and Mr. Lutz as promptly took himself out of it.

"I have come to the conclusion," Lutz wrote, "that the law does not permit the prosecuting attorney or the board of county commissioners as such to represent or assist citizens and users of a public utility in a matter having to do with proceedings before the public utility commission relative to the operation or substitution of any such utility." Stripped of its verbosity, the letter says that Lutz isn't having any right now.

He based his argument on the well-accepted principle that unless a specific power or authority is delegated to an elected official by duly constituted law, he cannot ar-gate that power or authority, to himself.

Lutz said that the Mansfield city solicitor has the necessary authority and as much as suggested that gentleman go ahead with the case.

What is necessary is a formal denumeration to the report of the secretary of the Public Utilities Commission. Lutz, in behalf of the board of commissioners, or any other person representing a substantial segment of the people can file such a denumeration. Once it is filed, the Commission will conduct hearings and winnow out the chaff from the wheat, so as to conclude that rate increases are or are not justified.

Basil J. Boritzki, secretary of the commission, has said he will send copies of his report not only to Lutz but to other interested parties. The Commission apparently considered Richland county an interested party to the dispute, despite what Mr. Lutz might think.

The application of the Telephone Company requests rate increases up to 118 per cent in some instances. Shiloh subscribers will face high increases.

Public opinion runs high, and there are those who believe the Telephone Co. will settle for a lot less than it asked for. Part of the feeling derives, it is said, from the Telephone Company's obtuse attitude on publicity. A Mansfield newspaper was unable to obtain any information of the impending increase in rates from the headquarters at Mansfield and it was until its correspondent at Columbus squeezed from the Public Utilities Commission the necessary details that the newspaper could give the full story to its readers.

"What do they have to hide," some interested subscribers are asking.

Henry Finzer, 2nd, The Advertiser's Newark columnist, was in Columbus this week, attending the State Liquor Board hearings. He will return to this page shortly.

Around the Square

— By Phineas Whittleseed —

Nice to have a personal visit from the dean of Huron county newsmen, Earl Frye of Willard, together with his good lady, last week. Young fellow can learn a liberal education from a man who has been through the mill like he has. One interesting thing he struck on around Frye's square, where one owns has a good, new paper; it helps us out in the other towns. Nice, also, to hear an old hand say our paper is newsworthy.

Dropping by the Houghton establishment in Marion last Thursday reminded us that the Little Brown Jug will soon be staged at Delaware. And we have special reasons for watching for Hambletonians racing this year. Ask Fred Sawyer why. Houghton, by the way, is the world's biggest maker of racing gulkies.

Passing of the old-fashioned type of Fourth of July, with picnic, ball game and political rally, has made it hard on at least two kinds of public servants: the policeman and the politician. The cop has to turn his eyes on the road, where mechanical failures of automobiles are not so troublesome as the loosening of the suit by the cop (That's the cop's son). The politician has to dig harder to make his personal contacts; which he could do easier when hundreds turned out for the Fourth of July clamor.

Nomination for the most entertaining businessman in town, younger generation: Darrell Ream, who has 14 laws to me (elbow-grease power, not horsepower, either) and helps out in C. - -'s across the street. Keep it up, Darrell. It's off.

John Ganzhorn looked forward to a quiet Fourth because he figured he'd be swamped with a bumper wheat crop next week. John says it doesn't mean a thing if you ain't got the right card, a wee dingus about an inch and a half high by two inches wide called a Form MQ-76. Unless a wheat producer presents the card, the elevator operator can't buy his wheat.

Mrs. Sam Fenner, 61 Birchfield street, dropped in the office Saturday a.m. with the shell of an egg laid by one of her White Leghorns. The shell's a bit thin, but she's not what distinguishes it. Embossed firmly on the shell what seems to be an eggplant sun, and the egg was laid the day the sun was eclipsed. Mrs. F. says. Doesn't it beat all what a hen will do? When they finally catch up with Joe McCarthy, we expect Mrs. F.'s hens to lay a special kind of egg - a bad one, in honor of Joe.

Nobody mentioned it that Phin recalls, but one of the remarkable facts about the Searle wedding anniversary celebration was that Mrs. Doc could wear the gown in which she was married. Phin'll buy a soda for all of the married ladies of more than 15 years standing who can wear their wedding gowns. Our physician says it is a truism that as Madame gets older, she also gets wiser.

Seeing Bob Meiser swifter in his summer uniform reminds Phin of a policeman he saw in Illinois Someland in similar temperature. He wore a dandy visor, cap and a Sam Brown belt with a hilly cul and handcuffs and a pad and pencil (if he could write his name, we'd be surprised), and nothing else at all. Not even shoes. He stood under a big umbrella on the street corner. That's one way of beating the heat, Bob!

Phin's just tickled pink that the Band Mothers are staging an old-fashioned auction at the annual Band Festival in August. If you're in the mood for the good ladies to collect a raft of stuff that's worth something. If they'll send one of the toolsters out our way, we've got an old oil painting in a dandy frame they can sell, with a bit of old oil on it. Which means it's got to go for more than that.

Which reminds us that another laudable civic enterprise, which benefits the whole national community, due to be presented on Aug. 15, by the Legion Auxiliary has the bloodmobile at the high school. Every healthy person should be on hand to give a pint of his blood. You never know when the lid's going to blow off in Indo-China or Germany or wherever, and that blood will be needed for Americans who haven't ducked fast enough. Not to mention that catastrophes such as the recent one at Eagle Pass or the train wreck on the C. R. I. & P. in New Mexico or the tornado at Flint, need blood or blood plasma.

Mrs. Charley Lookbaugh is the chairlady of this worthy project. She can be reached at 176 West Broadway in August. If you're in the mood for the good ladies to collect a raft of stuff that's worth something. If they'll send one of the toolsters out our way, we've got a big turnout and a large donation.

Mrs. H. A. Ruckman has resumed her old role as our Shiloh correspondent, and we hope Shilohans will cooperate with her in calling in the news of that charming village. We plan to make a thing of the Shiloh page, with the help of our Shiloh correspondents advertising in The Advertiser, and with photographs (weren't they two dandies last week, though?) and feature material, we mean to give Shiloh subscribers more than their money's worth. Mrs. Ruckman will also receive subscription money, if you'll drop by her home.

Padre Cones tells us that a civilian guard over at Mansfield reformatory for the purpose of making the 5 p. m. count of the prisoners, but he missed the count. His relief made the count of 11 p. m. and discovered one of the prisoners was on French leave. They found his car at Cincinnati before they knew he was gone. The guard who was fired is watching the want ad sections today. He was failed the next morn.

Our Jud shows every day how much he is interested in kids. Unofficial and unpaid guardian of the crosswalks at North and Sandusky, he makes it his business to verbally paddle the kids who cross without looking and sends them off with a lollipop and a ransom-stranger. Worth his weight in jewels each September.

Some public-spirited citizens who believe in conservation are paying for rabbits out of their own pockets for shooting them for breeding purposes in the Willard Marsh preserve. From the number of bunnies and possums we've seen smashed to death on the highways, we won't em. The sport gentlemen, is properly called "bunting," which implies there's game to shoot. Not "bunting," which implies there's no game to find it before you can shoot it. Knowing it's there in time-saving, and a contribution to safety, because folks entering the area are on their guard.

Miss Steele Weds Donald Moorman In Lutheran Rites

Marriage vows were spoken at 11 a.m. Saturday, in Mt. Hope Lutheran church, by Miss Martha Jane Steele, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Steele, Shiloh, route 1, and Donald L. Moorman, son of Mrs. Rutha Moorman, Shelby, route 1. The Rev. R. L. Lubold officiated for the double ring ceremony before an Altar decorated with beauty baskets of white gladioli. White carnations filled the altar vases.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a formal wedding gown of lace and nylon tulle over nylon net and bridal satin. Wide bands of Chantilly lace formed two panels down the front. The lace featured around the yoke and over the sleeves giving the yoke a drop shouldered effect. The gown fitted snugly, closing down the back with numerous small buttons, and the sleeves fell in points over the hands. She carried a white Bible, topped with an arrangement of white carnations.

The bride's sister, Miriam Steele, was maid of honor, and wore a ballerino-length, strapless gown of pink net over satin. Patty Cross of Shelby was the bridesmaid. Her dress was blue net over satin, and styled similarly to the bridesmaid's gown.

Laura Steele, the bride's small sister, was flower girl, and was dressed in white. James Laser of Willard, a cousin of the bridegroom, was the ring bearer.

Dean Moorman, was his brother's best man. Walter Steele, brother of the bridegroom, and Leonard Smith and Richard Posekany were the ushers.

Nuptial music was played on the organ by Mrs. Ruckman. Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlor.

The new Mrs. Moorman graduated from Shiloh High school with the class of 1953, and is employed by the Shiloh Mutual Casualty company. The bridegroom, a graduate of Shelby High school, is employed by the American Machine Co. The couple will reside at 62 1/2 North Broadway, Shelby.

A son weighing six pounds was born Saturday evening in Shelby Memorial hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cline.

While he was working with hammer and chisel, at Crum's gravel pit June 30, a piece of steel pierced the left eye of Howard Clark, of Plymouth. He was taken to General hospital in Mansfield where he was confined for a few days. He was at his home over the week end and will undergo surgery this week.

Denny, small son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Clawson, fell from the hay mow in his grandfather Clawson's barn June 30 and broke his arm. He also received a number of bruises.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clark visited relatives here over the week end, returning to Washington, D. C. Monday morning. He is stationed at Walter Reed hospital there.

4-H SAFETY TALKS

4-H Club members of Plymouth, Shiloh and Adario, which is in tier 1, will take part in the safety talks and recreation and rural arts Activity Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. at the Shiloh High school, Mrs. Mary White their chairman.

The Shiloh Falls 4-H Club met June 22 at the schoolhouse with 23 members present. Roll call was answered by naming a state and its capital. Plans were completed for swimming party at Shelby Park June 23rd.

Ruth Ellen Heifner gave a safety talk. Members who are going to 4-H camp July 4th to 9th are Jane Wales, Jane Hamman, Marlene White and Janice Wolford. Miss Wolford will be a councillor at the camp this year.

Demonstrations were given by Marlene White on sewing on a button, Rosemary Barnes on the correct way to model, and Janice Wolford on how to sit properly. Janet Russell will represent the club at the safety talk contest on July 14th.

Mary Catherine Daup had a contest. Janice Wolford led the group singing. The next meeting will be July 9th.

Personals

The Rev. and Mrs. R. L. Lubold, Mrs. L. D. Wolfersbrunner, her daughters, Grace Ann and Susan, Fay Rose, Karen Williams Dayrl and Ruth Hattamel, Mr. and Mrs. Ami Jacobs and family, and Jimmie Hamman are spending this week at Lakeside.

John Hatched of Plymouth rural was a Sunday dinner guest of his sister, Mrs. Fannie Caldwell.

The White Hall club will hold its annual family picnic next Sunday at Mary Fate park, Plymouth. Dinner will be at 12 noon. Flossie Saffin and Cecil Sturtz will act as hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hamman and family and Hugh Boyce spent the week end at the Hamman cottage at Lake Lake, Mich.

The Shiloh Board of Education has accepted the resignation of Supt. Clark Moore, who has been hired to fill a similar position at Mc Cutchensville. His new location is much nearer his home at Tiffin, and is where his wife now teaches. No one has been hired as yet to fill this vacancy. A commercial teacher is also needed to complete the teaching staff.

Mr. and Mrs. Landon Hamilton, their son, Jay, and daughter, Lenore, of Charleston, W. Va., spent the week end here, visiting in the homes of Mrs. Ella Bixler, and Lloyd Black and with other relatives in the vicinity.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dawson and Ben Nelson attended driveway services for Francis Gable, Monday. Mr. Gable died of a stroke in a Cleveland hospital on Friday night and was buried at New London. His wife, the former Carrie Swaneer, is a native of Shiloh well-represented in this community.

Mrs. Nyle Clark, who was confined in Shelby Memorial hospital for the past three weeks, was released and returned home Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. George Beck of Crestline called on Mr. Beck's mother, Hermie Sibbett, Sunday evening.

The June meeting of the B-Square club was held at the home of Ava Arnold June 16. There were 10 members, two visitors and 15 children present. A pot-luck dinner was served at noon. Ava Arnold was in charge of the program. The next meeting will be held at the home of Betty Seymour July 21.

Jane Blackford and Mary Kilgore returned June 26 after having spent a week seeing the sights in Washington, D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bradbury and daughter, Ellen, of Nashville, Tenn., sent the past week with Mrs. Bradbury's grandmother, Mrs. Bertha Fritz, and other relatives. They returned home Sunday.

Phone Subscribers Opposed to Raise of Existing Rates

Telephone subscribers in this village who now pay $3.45 a month for telephone and extension on a six-party line are irate over proposed rate increases by the Mansfield Telephone Co.

"If the rates change, I will have the telephone removed," says Mrs. Russell Kettly, residential subscriber. She thinks much along these lines. Business or private lines face an increase of 50 per cent, to $12 a month, if the requested raise is granted. "I think 118 per cent is too much of a jump," says Stanley Huston, partner in Huston Implement Co. "They might be entitled to some raise, but it seems like a fantastic jump."

Acting postmaster Glenn Swanger reported "the general thinking is that it is too high with the proposed rate increase." W. W. Moser, residential telephone: "Not in favor," Jane Spiger, residential telephone: "Nor am I in favor." W. H. Brown, residential subscriber: "I think it's crazy."

Until about two years ago, Shiloh could call Greenwich without a toll charge, a distinct service to Shiloh subscribers. The rates were then raised and the service to Greenwich was stopped.

"I see no definite reason to justify an increase," says J. R. Page, of Page's Shiloh Hatchery. "If there is an increase in rate, the telephone goes. We need it for long distance business calls and service is very poor," reported Harry Fox, proprietor of the Chuck Wagon.

Mrs. W. H. Stover, who faces an increase of $1.12 to $3.60 a month, says, "It's too much of a jump for the service we have." Grocer C. H. McQuate agrees. "I don't think a new increase is justified at this time." "Too much increase for the amount of service," says R. Moser.

O. F. Pennell, a brother who has a residence connection, argues "it is too high for what we get." He pays $3.03 a month for a private line and uses toll service three or four times a year. "I can't get long distance from Shiloh half the time," he says.

Dale Owens, a residential subscriber, is emphatic about the raise. "If I raise the rates, I'll take the telephone out." Dave Rich, another residential subscriber, echoes these sentiments. "I think it's high enough as it is."

One person, who wishes to remain unidentified, stated he thought the rates not too high in comparison with the rest of the country and that service has improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dawson and Mr. and Mrs. Bradbury attended the ball games in Cleveland Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Harnley, their son, Craig, and daughter Wallis Ann, and Steve Patterson saw the double header in Cleveland Friday night. Beverly Dent, who is in training at City hospital, returned with them to spend the week end here with her parents.

The birthday calendars prepared by members of the Legion Auxiliary, which were to have been ready the first of the year, will be revised and the company has promised to have them ready for delivery before January, 1955. The committee has worked hard on this project, and regret that the calendars will not be ready.

The Pinocchio club was entertained by Dorothea Arnold Friday evening at her home near Greenwich. Donna Hamman won high prize and Miriam Moser, low.

About 70 members of the Methodist church met for the farewell dinner in the church Thursday evening honoring the Rev. and Mrs. Leonard E. Smith and family. A short program was given, and the Smiths were presented with a parting gift, and many best wishes.

Our Shiloh Newsitorial

We feel sure our Shiloh friends will endorse our position with respect to the proposed increase of telephone rates. We believe the telephone rate increase should be refused until such time as the service is improved.

The argument of the telephone company is that the funds derived from the rate increase will, in part, be applied to improvement of service. This seems to us to be false reasoning. If we want to increase circulation rates of this newspaper, we have first got to make it a better product. We cannot expect to increase the rates on the promise that the increased revenue will be used to improve the paper.

Whatever the citizens and telephone subscribers of Shiloh wish to do to fight the increase, we will stand squarely behind them.
