

50 Say Goodbye To 'Hard Luck Kid'

Nearly 150 friends and neighbors turned out Tuesday afternoon to say goodbye to Plymouth's "Hard Luck Kid."

The Rev. Ralph M. Felix conducted funeral services for John R. (Jack) Hampton, 28-year-old used-car dealer who died early July 24 at Beaver Memorial hospital, Ypsilanti, Mich., after his sedan left U. S. route 112 and struck a tree.

The services were held in the First Presbyterian church he had attended as a boy, and his parents, Richard and Gertrude Hampton, and his five brothers and sister supported his wife and three small youngsters in the principal mourners' pew.

As police reconstructed the accident, which occurred at 11:22 p.m. July 19, Hampton's sedan sideswiped a Michigan State Police cruiser which turned suddenly into the boulevard highway into the path of Hampton's car.

One of the two policemen was injured. Mrs. Mary Mangan, a friend of Hampton and of Eugene Bettae, a passenger in the car, died Friday morning in University of Michigan hospital at Ann Arbor, of injuries received in the crash. Bettae has a fractured left kneecap, a jammed left arm, and lacerations on the face.

An autopsy performed in Ypsilanti showed Hampton's death at 1:15 a.m. was caused by internal hemorrhages resulting from a detached liver.

Since he left home in 1944, when he joined the merchant marine, young Hampton had led a jinxed life. After release from the merchant marine, he took a job with the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. A job accident cost him a broken back, necessitating long hospitalization and treatment.

Or the very day he was returning from Mansfield with a doctor's certificate authorizing him to return to work, he overturned in his sedan in Bowman street road, Piquette, under the tree, he was severely burned by dripping gasoline and oil and underwent countless hours of treatment and surgery, none of which ever brought back full use of his left arm.

Three months ago, he struck a tree for himself at 57-Brazillan street as a used car dealer. The wheel was so deformed that he has to have the 100th sale of his short career.

Only a fortnight before his fatal accident, he narrowly escaped death in Sandusky bay when the 20-foot cruiser which he was in partnership with Harold Dietrich exploded and was gutted by fire.

Survivors include his wife, Rosemary, a daughter, Jacqueline, and two sons, Michael and James; his parents, Robert's Lawrence, Robert, Deryl, Martin and Roger, who was flown home from the South of France where he was serving with the Marines, and a sister, Patricia. Burial was in Greenlawn cemetery.

Business hours closed from 2 to 3 p.m. while the funeral services were being conducted.

MELVIN J. WALTZ

Two Schoolmen Get New Assignments

Two schoolmen with Plymouth connections got new jobs last week. Jason C. Murfin, son-in-law of Mrs. Samuel Fate, was signed to a contract to teach chemistry at Ridgewood, N. J., high school. He is a former teacher here and at North Fairfield, and had been teaching at Nutley, N. J., high school.

Melvin J. Waltz, 39, son-in-law of the late Mrs. Louise T. Miller, was hired by the new South-Central school district in Huron county to be superintendent of schools in the district.

A native of Spencer, he is a graduate of Mt. Union college and has been principal at Le Roy and Soencor. South-Central district includes the former districts of Greenwich township, Greenwich village, Ripley township, and North Fairfield.

Husband of Shilohan Dies in Cycle Mishap

A 19-year-old Mansfield man whose family are Shiloh residents was killed Sunday at 2:30 p.m. when his motorcycle left Route 39 near Westbrook Country club, overturned, and threw him to the pavement.

He was Richard Harold Crose, husband of Mrs. Betty Jean Crose-Cross and son of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Crose of Shiloh. Death was caused by internal injuries, a fractured skull, and a possible broken neck.

Survivors in addition to his wife and parents are a brother, Dallas R., Shiloh, and a sister, Mrs. Geneva Courtwright, Midway. Funeral services were conducted yesterday at 2:30 p.m. at Mansfield by the Rev. Jay H. Keiser of McPherson Street Church of the Nazarene there. Burial was in Oakland cemetery, Shelby.

Special Meeting Called

All members are requested to be present Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. when the Auxiliary of the Plymouth Fire Department meets at the American Legion hall.

Plans for the ox roast to be given Aug. 13 and 14th by the Fire Department and the American Legion will be the business of this meeting.

Combine Runs Over Beeching; P. H. Roof Back in Hospital

A 65-year-old Plymouth farmer is in fair condition in Shelby Memorial hospital with a fractured collarbone and four broken ribs received when a combine wheel rolled over him July 20.

He is Albert Beeching, who was harvesting oats on the Roscoe Hutchinson farm in Route 98 south of this place when he slipped from the combine and fell beneath its wheel. His son, Eugene, was towing the combine with a tractor.

Percy H. Roof was admitted to Shelby Memorial hospital Thursday with a recurrence of a heart condition that has plagued him for some time. Doctor Paul Gardner expressed his opinion of his condition.

Young Philip Bushey, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rushey of Route 178 west of Shiloh, fell from a slide near the swimming pool at Willard and both wrists. The fractures were reduced at Willard Municipal hospital July 13 and Philip went home the next day.

Ralph Tutchings, whose wife, Daisy, was for many years a linotypist for The Advertiser, entered Willard Municipal hospital July 12. He was forced to resign his post as mayor of Willard owing to his health.

Ralph Forbes, Shiloh route 1, Mrs. Carl Taus, Shiloh route 2, and Mrs. Martin Moser of Shiloh, were released from Shelby Memorial hospital Saturday.

Spencer Pugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Pugh of Shelby, and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Pugh, underwent an emergency appendectomy Friday night at Shelby Memorial hospital. He was stricken while playing basketball.

Ronald D. Keessy of Shiloh entered Mansfield General hospital Monday.

Mrs. Glenn Will, Shelby route 3, is a patient at Galion County hospital.

Roberts to Sing With Blue Jackets

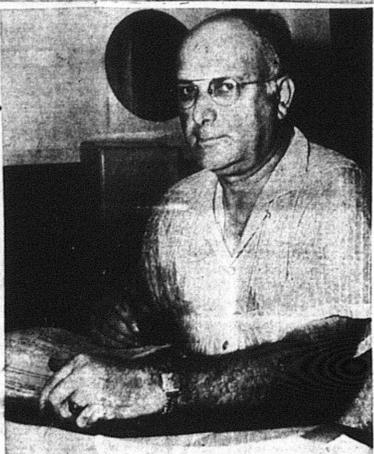

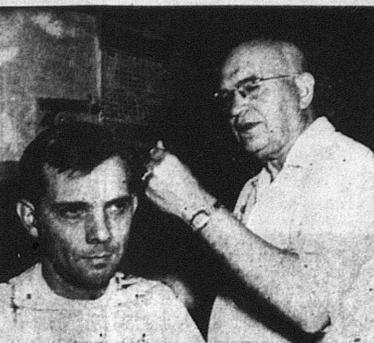

Recruit Seaman Nelson R. Roberts has joined the famed Blue Jackets choir, one of the finest men's choruses in the world, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Roberts, Plymouth route 1, learned last week.

After recruit training, young Roberts will tour with the choir as first tenor. The choir sings at chapel services and practices one hour daily. Young Roberts has been chapel organist at Great Lakes, Ill., where he is assigned to 340th Co., 121st Battalion, 12th Regiment.

Health Board Wants Action, but No Money

The Richland County Board of Health wants to know what Shiloh's going to do about its sewage disposal problem, and Shiloh's village council wants to know what the Board's going to do with Shiloh's weak finances.

Committee Slate Files Joint Paper

Nominating petitions for a citizen's committee slate of eight candidates plus three aspirants for the Board of Public Affairs were filed Saturday with Richland County Board of Elections.

The committee's ticket is headed by Joseph A. Lasch, Sr., 68 Park avenue, veteran barber who once served as mayor of the village. He will run for the mayor's job now held by Glenn West, who has not indicated whether he will run again.

James Rhine, incumbent, will run for treasurer again. Council candidates are Thurman Ford, garage operator; Lowell Keith, another barber; Maurice Bachrach, retired butcher; W. L. Fortney, who owns a cafe in the Public Square; Clarence Ervin, and I. D. Brouger, who operates a second hand furniture store in Shelby.

Aspirants for the Board of Public Affairs are Luther R. Fetters, B. R. Scott and Robert L. McIntire. Although their petitions were filed separately from the petition for the mayor and council candidates, they are a part of the citizen's committee nomination.

George B. Farnwall is circulating a nominating petition to be declared a candidate for New Haven township trustee.

Of the incumbent members of council, J. Benjamin Smith has indicated he will not file a nominating petition because he plans to move outside the corporation limits. He has purchased a plot of ground in the north side of Plymouth East road and will build a home there.

Royal W. Eckstein, Sr., and John Dick are undecided, it is understood, while W. Lawrence Cornell will not run for reelection. Omer Burkett has indicated no decision, while Elmer E. Markley is believed by his friends to be willing to run again "if encouraged."

Carl V. Ellis, incumbent, will run for reelection as clerk. He is not a part of the citizen's committee slate. It was understood yesterday the committee will caucus again this week to select a candidate to oppose Ellis.

Plymouth local school district filed a petition for a 9.5 mill school operating tax. The levy to be placed on the November ballot. The village of Plymouth is asking for a one-mill levy to provide operating expenses for Greenlawn cemetery.

Committees Named For Band Festival

Mrs. Robert MacMichael announces plans are completed for the fifth annual band festival Thursday on the high school lawn. Serving will begin at 5 p.m., with the concert following. The band will be under the direction of Arvin Kindinger of Crestline.

Home made ice cream will be in charge of the ice cream committees are Mrs. H. James Root, cake; Mrs. Roy Carter, pie; Mrs. David Cook, potato salad; Mrs. Royal W. Eckstein, baked beans; Mrs. Vance Snyder, wafers; Mrs. Kenneth Baker, Slonops Joe sandwiches; Mrs. Harold Sloan, chicken sandwiches; Mrs. L. B. Barnes, soft drink; Mrs. Donald Fetters, coffee; Mrs. Thorr Woodworth, iced tea; Mrs. Arthur Weaver, corn corn, and Mrs. Robert L. McIntire, dishes and silverware.

Festival to Be Aug. 20
D. Guy Cunningham Sr., is general chairman for the ice cream social planned for Aug. 20 at First Presbyterian church.

Library Awards Given To 52 Young Readers

Fifty-two Plymouth children completed a summer course requiring reading of 10 books, which entitled them to membership in the Junior League of Plymouth branch library yesterday afternoon. Awards and a party were given the youngsters after wards, the librarian, Mrs. Harold Shattler, reports.

Children who completed the course included David Armstrong, Ellen Smith, Bonnie McPherson, Martha Carter, Girard and Gregory Casman, Judy Willet, Christopher and Suzanne Paddock, Ada Archer, Ardea McQuown, Elizabeth Archer, Craig Lee Kessler, Nancy MacMichael.

Girl Raised on Shiloh Farm Recalls Living as It Was in Old Farmhouse

(It isn't often an editor gets a letter in the mails that's worthy of front page display. This one is an exception. It's written by the wife of the publisher of the Wellington Enterprise, and it tells a fascinating story of life as it was nearly 50 years ago in the vicinity of Shiloh. Readers' comments will be welcomed. — A. L. P.)

Dear Mr. Paddock:
Interesting is the fact that the week your fine paper pictured the John Ballitch farm buildings in Dininger road, my aunt, Mrs. Andrew Dick, 86, was laid to rest in the Adams cemetery in Cass township.

It was she and my late uncle who built that house and barn, the house in 1901 and the barn in 1903. On the day of the barn raising she served dinner to 150 workers and then had 100 for supper.

The carpenter was David Kime of North Fairfield. The lumber came from the 50 acres of woods west of the building. In the same woods was cut all the timber for the house they built in 1917 just across the Big Four tracks in the Plymouth-Mansfield road. It is all finished in quarter sawed oak and the carpenter was the late Otto Kinsel of Plymouth.

The next farm south was then owned by Charles H. Dea. One summer, while on a Canadian fishing trip, his boat capsized and Dominic Doran saved his life. In winter, Mr. Hensh brought all the Deas, from the farm. The neighbors loved to hear them sing and play to the evening that.

These are the farm buildings of John Ballitch about which Mrs. Hensh writes with such affection.

the old log house stood, in which their six sons and one daughter were born. My uncle was the youngest child. His next older brother, David Dick, inherited the home place, while Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Dick built on the 140-acre now owned by Mr. Ballitch.

Another brother, Isaac Dick, lived near Plymouth on the Shiloh road and built both a new house and barn on his land. Josiah had a rifle that no son could leave home until a 150-acre farm could be bought and stocked. So they married, and some had several children before they left the old brick. Josiah raised an orphaned niece, cared for a hunchback uncle, and another niece who was never well. They all spent their fall and winter evenings paring and coring apples to dry. These were sold in Cincinnati for pines and making whisks. Ten adults sat at the dining table while the children ate standing up. A spring house at the foot of the hill served the family as a refrigerator for three generations. That house had seven bedrooms.

The brick house west of the cemetery was built by Josiah's daughter, Belle Dick Noucher, always lived there. Another brother, George Dick, was co-founder of the Ohio Seamless Tube Company at Shelby.

The first house south of the cemetery was the Isaac Adams home, built by his father "Ike". Adams was a Civil War veteran and he and his wife, Angeline, always attended the G. A. R. campments. It is fitting that their graves should be the first inside the cemetery gate. They drove the fastest horses, always arrived first at any gathering and sat in the front seats. Turkey dinners, square dances, that house echoes gay parties.

Their daughter, Ada Adams, married David Dick. Their son, Harkness, lived in the house next to the Blackfork and the other son, Barney, and his wife, Sylvia, lived for years on the hill farm above Mr. Ballitch, now owned by Sel Holtz. Mrs. Sylvia Adams was brought home to the cemetery just five weeks before Mrs. Dick — lifelong neighbors and friends. The house on the Frank Dawson farm was built by Esie BeVier and long owned by his son and daughter, Samuel and Eppie BeVier. The Sel Holtz house was built by Elias's brother, Louis, and lived in by two more generations of BeViers. About 1906 "Doc" Shriver, a Chicago architect who had built some of the tallest buildings in that city, purchased the farm. He tore out partitions to enlarge the rooms, opened fireplaces, exposed and refinished the hand-hewn black walnut ceiling beams and put in the first bathroom in those parts. It was the forerunner of the modern ranch-type house. Soon he sold the farm and went to Miami, Fla., where he built the first business block both the Dawson and Holtz houses have low ceilings, and for years had tall pines in the front yards. They are beautiful houses and must be over 100 years old.

The Dininger house west of the Ballitch farm was built by a Willet. I was born there, but upon the death of my mother, was given a farmhouse home by the Dicks, which is why the picture brought so many memories. I write this in memory of all those fine people. They gave so much with so little thought of self, yet most were unschooled and unchurched. And truly a well built house that shelters many families down through the years is a lasting gift from the builders. Sincerely, Martha Artz Hensh.

Kentucky Colonels Packin' 'Em in at Cedar Point

The Kentucky Colonels are packin' 'em in at Cedar Point Coliseum. As many as 500 or more attend the Wednesday, Friday, and Sunday sessions for square dancing, genuine mountain music, waltzes, round dancing, novelty numbers such as the Hokey Pokeny, Bunny Hop, Mexican Hat Dance, and others. Dancing on the three nights is from 8 until 11 and is free. The leader of the trio is A1 Washak, who teaches accordion for Williams School of Music, Sandusky. A1 is a native of the West Virginia mountain country and plays accordion and piano. Johnny Warrens, who handles the guitar, is a native of Kentucky and lends a rich rustic flavor to his singing of mountain and Western folk songs. Lee Lunsford come from down Cincinnati way and handles both bass and guitar. The boys are personable and do a good job in inviting all guests, especially families staying at Hotel Breakers, to display any talents they have in the way of singing and dancing and the result is a good time for all. The Coliseum has become a great dance and fun spot the three nights of the week the Kentucky Colonels are on the bandstand.

Bucs Sink Cards, Reds Nip Cubs In Midget Play

Bill Taylor hit a 3-0 pitch for a home run in the last frame at Mary Faye park Thursday night to enable the Reds to cke out a 11-9 win over Jim Davis' Cubs. In the afterpiece, Jim Ryan's Pirates pounded the Cardinals, 31 to 1.

Danny Carter pitched well for the Cubs, and deserved a better fate. An attempt to squeeze home two runs in the final inning failed, although the bases were loaded and the Cubs already had two runs home.

The Pirates got six scores in the opening inning off Red Prater and landed all over the hapless Cards for 13 scores in the third to walk off with the nightcap. The Cardinals made 20 miscues.

In a rained out contest played off July 19, the Pirates batted off a 19 to 10 triumph over the Cardinals, and now await playoff of a postponed game between the Cardinals and Reds to determine the winner of the first half of the league.

The league management is planning a trip to Toledo or Columbus to watch a night game, probably during the last week in August. Players who will not be at home during that time are asked to notify their coaches.

the most effective engine protection ever developed!

- 1 Premex keeps engines 50% cleaner than ever before possible
- 2 Premex reduces wear to a degree never before possible
- 3 Premex gives complete lubrication protection at all temperatures

A new research discovery now makes possible the finest motor oil in Sohio's long history of product development... PREMEX, a dispersant motor oil. This new kind of motor oil opens the way to longer engine life and better engine performance by creating a new high standard of engine cleanliness.

The engine-cleanness characteristics of new PREMEX were compared with other high-quality motor oils in a million-and-a-half mile road test. This test shows that PREMEX keeps engines 50% cleaner than ever before possible.

Because PREMEX keeps engines so much cleaner, it reduces wear to a degree never before possible. By protecting rings, cylinders, bearings and other vital parts from wear, PREMEX helps engines keep their power and efficiency far longer.

PREMEX offers another major advantage. It is a 10W-30 year round oil. It has the free-flow qualities of a 10W oil for instant lubrication and easy starts in cold weather, plus the protection and low consumption of a number 30 oil in hot, high-speed driving.

These advantages result from expensive new ingredients that make PREMEX cost more to produce. But the dramatic improvement in cleanliness, wear reduction and protection you get with PREMEX make it worth far more in your engine.

PREMEX

HOW DISPERSANT OIL WORKS

The newly-discovered dispersant ingredient in PREMEX coats particles of engine dirt and keeps them from sticking together and settling out as sludge. Shown above is the difference that PREMEX makes. Both oils were run in an engine and allowed to stand for several hours. The conventional oil has formed sludge; PREMEX is sludge-free.

WHAT DISPERSANT OIL DOES FOR ENGINES

Here's the amazing difference that sludge-free PREMEX makes in the cleanliness of oil screens. Because of its dispersant action, PREMEX makes this same kind of difference in the cleanliness of oil lines, rings, valves, other vital engine parts.

U.S. AUSTRALIAN S.E. SHELBY BROS.

Why Not a Vet?

Ever since General MacArthur accepted the surrender of the Japanese on the U. S. S. Missouri in August, 1945, this village has been represented on its council by honorably discharged veterans of World War II.

Except for Mr. Parkinson, not a single veteran has declared himself for elective office in the village in the next general election, although two Board of Education candidates are veterans.

Presently the village is capably represented in council by four veterans of World War II. So far as we know, half of them, like Calvin Coolidge and a good pair of stockings, do not choose to run.

This is a pity. But the greater pity is that some patriotic veterans are not encouraged to run. We think it is the duty of our service organizations to encourage veterans to run for public office.

Mindful of the restrictions against partisan political activity, we suggest that the American Legion get busy and get some GI's interested in running.

No Sellout

President Eisenhower caught an extra big headline when he offered the Russians an even swap: they can fly over our military bases if we can fly over theirs. And the Russians are said to have been "deeply moved" by the offer.

We heard a couple of Democrats the next day loudly berating the president for this maneuver, saying "what's he wanna do — sell us out?"

Now the truth is the Russians know more or less where our military bases are. It's easy to find out. All a good Russian military attache need do is subscribe to a dozen or so publications dedicated to technical matters to know as much about our military machine as anybody else, and to read half a dozen good dailies — like the New York Times, the Chicago Daily News, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, the Portland Oregonian and the Atlanta Constitution — to learn the order of battle and precise military location of battalion after battalion and regiment after regiment of our forces. It's our way and we wouldn't have it otherwise. Still, it's the painful truth that we give away secrets every day, and the Russians are wise to it, and profit by it.

So we can't honestly believe the Russian were "deeply moved" by Mr. Eisenhower's offer. It shows no particular sincerity, because the president knows what we and the Russians know: they know more about us than we know about them, so far as military installations go.

But the boys who advise the president are old hands, and certainly no dumber than the Russians. If the Russians latch on to the bargain, we stand to gain a good deal.

The Democrats would do well to remember that selling out to the Russians is a trick resorted to first by Democrats — at Yalta in 1945.

Around The Square with Phineas Whittleseed

Robt' Echelberry tells us young Robt' has moved to Bucyrus with his frau and two offspring, Vicky Lynn and Rodney, and the quarters which they previously occupied now are home to Mrs. Lavidia Horner and son. Pity the boy's name isn't Jack. She is cook over at the watering place. Nice to have you around.

Dicky-Boy Nixon's concern whether umbrellas would be broken out when Ike and Mrs. Ike came back from Geneva, on account of the unfortunate reference to Neville Chamberlain and the Munich conference in 1938, reminded us of a lime bloke we met in East London, who said as how "I'ller rommed the umbrella yew know where and then opened the blasted thing."

P. H.'s health is giving the folks in Plymouth street an uneasy turn.

If our Senator wants to introduce a bill making it absolutely illegal to build an automobile that'll go faster than 40 miles an hour, we'll vote for him and for the bill until the cows come home.

It's all right to live it up, says J. R., if you can live it down. And E. R. says his father used to remark that living is a lot like licking honey off a thorn.

Our favorite joke of this hot week: A Parisian art connoisseur was raving to his American friend about a woman of his acquaintance. "She is beautiful," he said. "My, what a beauty! In 50 years I have not seen a woman so lovely as she."

Much intrigued, the American looked her up, found she was crossed-eyed, held her face in a perpetual grimace, was flat-chested, and minus an ear.

"You're crazy," he exclaimed to the artistic gent. "She's not lovely at all, she's —"

"And," rejoined Mr. Paris, "I suppose you don't like Picasso either."

The machine that makes engravings promptly is installed and in use. We got it because we thought it would help us do a better job. The way things were, we had to get pictures done Saturday or Sunday and mail them from Willard Sunday night and hope they would be back from Chardon in time to insert in the paper on Tuesday. When they didn't get here, for one reason or another, we had to makeshift.

Likewise, the other procedure was expensive and we could use only a limited number of pictures.

Now things are different. With the machine here now, we can do a picture in 10 or 15 minutes before press time. Spot news that happens on Wednesdays, just before the press runs, can be pictorialized. That'll make for better news coverage.

Brides and christenings and such can be given appropriate space in the paper, both news-wise and picture-wise. Feature stories can be more profusely and appropriately illustrated.

And from the standpoint of the advertiser, who has something to sell, the machine should open new frontiers. The Jump ad last week is an example of this. Because we're caught in the middle this way: to obtain circulation that will justify expenditure of the advertising dollar, the publisher has to fill his paper with news. We try to keep it crammed with news. We won't use handouts. We don't publish stuff that comes from anywhere but our own trading area, roughly Ripley, Richmond and New Haven townships in Huron county, Bloominggrove, Cass, Sharon, and Plymouth townships in Richland county; Auburn township in Crawford county, and the villages of New Haven, Celeryville, Delphi, Ganges, Shenandoah, Adario, Shiloh, and Plymouth.

Unless, of course, it affects the people there directly, like a wheat marketing quota or a tax increase. And only then when it's real news, and has a local twist to it.

So there you have it. The machine is here. We have our own news camera. We'd appreciate telephoned tips (or verbal or written ones, for that matter) of good news and feature pictures. Later on, we plan to run a whole page of photos of a local nature every week.

Two things to remember: no charge for the insertion of a picture except in an advertisement, and then you pay only for the space it takes up; whether the picture is printed will depend on its quality as a picture and its pertinence and newsworthiness as a piece of news or feature material.

A reg'ler feller called us into his cubby hole Saturday and handed us some of Mrs. Whittleseed's special elixer for tired newspapermen, with a kind of off-hand statement to the effect he appreciated some things we tried to do for him and his'n.

The elixer made a better weekend out of what shaped up to be a dismal, hot, sticky one, and we thank the reg'ler feller for his kind thought.

It's a real pleasure to do something for somebody who appreciates it, and shows it with appropriate thanks — not elixer or anything but a genuine thank you. And above all, doesn't entertain in the back of his mind any thoughts that we're trying to get him into our debt.

In this hopped-up modern day age, now and again you'll find a person who likes to do things for the sake of doing. We like to think that's what you'll find when you come around here.

"Good Morning, Miss Chips..."

Who was your favorite teacher — the "Miss Chips" in your school life? The wonderful woman who made geography a magic carpet that whisked you to foreign lands? The one who, in some mysterious way, understood your love of music? Or perhaps it was a man — the man who helped you master the mystery of fractions and how to hook-slide into second base?

Important people, teachers — yet right now, because of the tremendous increase in enrollments, our schools need at least another 124,000 qualified teachers — and by 1965 at least 360,000 more will be needed! You can help to find them.

If you're a young man or woman about to decide on a career, give some serious thought to the rewards and accomplishments offered by the teaching profession.

If you're a parent, work to improve our schools so that we can attract and hold the many "Miss Chips" needed to guide our children's future. To get started, send today for free booklet, "How Can We Get Enough Good Teachers?". Write to Better Schools, 2 West 45th Street, New York 36, N. Y.

Clyde Caldwell Reports from Shiloh —

Butner, Swartz File For School Board

Dr. Charles O. Butner, Shiloh physician, will be a candidate to succeed himself on the Shiloh Board of Education, he said Tuesday. His petition is now circulating.

John F. Swartz said Tuesday he will circulate a nominating petition for one of the two vacancies on the Board. The term of Earl Huston also expires.

Purchase of a police cruiser for use by Marshal Parl Gordon was approved by the village council July 13.

A car, a 1952 Ford, was purchased from Heisler's Willard.

Mr. and Mrs. Will McQuate of Ashland led at the home of Mrs. Emma Lutz in High street Sunday afternoon.

Ami Jacobs and son Jim, Don Hamman and son, Jim, and Alvin Garrett and son, Deryl, attended the double-header between the Indians and Orioles in Cleveland Sunday.

Several petty thefts have been reported in the village. Wiley Garrett reports a radiator ornament was taken from his car while parked in front of his house in Church street Sunday night. The same night an estimated four gallons of gasoline was removed from the Rev. R. L. Lubold's car while parked near his home in the same street. A pack of cigarettes was found near the car, apparently dropped by the thieves while slipping out of the gas.

Darley Arnold of Route 603 sustained a painful hand injury shortly before noon Friday when his fingers became entangled in his power mower.

He was taken to Shelby Memorial hospital by Ivan McQuate where his fingers were dressed and the end of one amputated. He was able to return home with Mr. McQuate.

Mrs. Mary Stewart was taken from the home of her son Guy Stewart, in Pennell road to Peoples Hospital in Mansfield Friday in McQuate's ambulance.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Boyce of Noble road attended the wedding of Miss Ellen Smith and Lyle Dean Boyce in the Richmond Church of the Brethren, Franklin township, Sunday afternoon. The bridegroom is a nephew of Mr. Hugh Boyce.

Mrs. Ami Jacobs and father, Lloyd Noble, visited relatives in Mansfield Sunday.

An invitation is extended to all area women to attend a gladious arrangement meeting at the home of Mrs. Beatrice Light in Ganges at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday. All are urged to bring their favorite collection of glads.

There is also planned a discussion for starting a garden club in Shiloh.

Mrs. G. D. Seymour and daughter, Carolyn, are visiting Mrs. Seymour's mother in Dayton this week. They will return on Friday.

Russells Have Birthdays

Every year the Gloyd Russell family of Prospect street, including children and grandchildren, get together about this time to observe five birthdays among members of the family.

Sunday they gathered at Bay Point on Lake Erie and had a picnic honoring the impending birthdays of Gloyd Russell, grandson, Jimmy Russell and granddaughter, Beth Hamann, all of whose birthdays fall on July 31. Son Leo's birthday is July 30 and Mrs. Russell's birthday Aug. 1.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Gloyd Russell, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Hamman, and family, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Russell and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Russell and family, and Mrs. Ross Storup and son Gary.

a petition for school board, not that I want or need the job but that I think people should offer their services.

We are all too busy; but if we stay too busy we will have people in office who are unable to make an honest living but will do anything but the will of God and what is good for our children.

I am not thanking the people who sign my petition. I tell them I will thank when they get two GOOD men to run against me so that I will not get it.

There are plenty of us who worship God, work, earn an honest living, and pay taxes, to run for these jobs. How do we get the people to step forward?

Very truly yours,
John F. Swartz

Four FFA Boys Go To Muskingum

Four Shiloh F. F. A. boys and their adviser, G. D. Seymour, are attending Ohio F. F. A. Camp Muskingum at Carrollton this week.

The boys are sharing scholarships presented to the Shiloh chapter by the Richmond Trust Company and the Bolantz-Panzer Tractor Co. in Mansfield. Those attending are Kermit Noble, Lawrence Wagers, Larry Humbert, and Arthur Monastere. They left on Sunday, and will return tomorrow.

Mrs. Moser Breaks Wrists in Fall; Now At Home in Shiloh

A 72-year-old Pettit street woman was hospitalized Thursday as the result of a fall from an apple tree in a neighbor's yard.

Mrs. Martin Moser was found unconscious in the yard of a neighbor shortly after noon Thursday, after she apparently fell from a ladder while picking apples. She was rushed to Shelby Memorial hospital in McQuate's ambulance, where X-rays revealed both wrists broken, a collar bone dislocated and a slight brain concussion. In addition, she suffered cuts and bruises about the eyes.

She was released from the hospital Saturday afternoon and is now convalescing at her home.

Sir: How can we get responsible people to run for the school board and other office of our democratic way?

I am especially interested in the school as it is the most important in our future. I also expect to file

SCOUT NEWS

BY ROBERT BUSHEY

Troop 1 of the Shiloh Boy Scouts is back from staying a week at Camp Avery Hand near Ontario. The boys were examined as soon as they arrived at the camp and were assigned to camp site D. Each morning they got up at 7:30 and after breakfast had a course in nature study.

Other periods enjoyed during the week were archery, ax yard, swimming, signals, rifle range and compass reading. On the treasure hunt the troop won and received a watermelon.

Terry Russell, senior patrol leader, was elected a staff member at Camp Avery Hand and stayed two more weeks with all expenses paid.

Miss Bly Marries Chardon Man

Before an altar decorated with candelabra and white carnations and gladioli set off with ivy, Miss Jeannette Bly became the bride of Robert Egleston Saturday in Ganges Evangelical and Reformed church.

Miss Bly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bly of Shelby route 1, was attired in a waltz length gown of nylon tulle and Chantilly lace, with bouffant skirt of lace inset with nylon tulle pleats. A scooped neckline and short sleeves marked her bridal costume, and she wore lace mitts which came to points at the wrists. A waist-length veil of tulle fell from crown of tulle covered with sequins. She carried white stephanotis and a white orchid on a white ribbon.

Mrs. Mathew Chew of Shelby was matron of honor in a shirmp-colored ballerina length gown of crystalet with an Empire waist. The full skirt was marked by a flared pleat down the front. The sleeveless gown was set off with a double headband of seed pearls and a short veil. She carried yellow spider chrysanthemums with pink and blue ribbons.

Mrs. Charles Bly, sister-in-law of the bride, Miss Marilyn Hoag of Elyria, and Mrs. Donald Williams of Medina were bridesmaids. They wore gowns fashioned in the style of the matron of honor in ice blue, set off with pink carnations and pink and blue ribbon.

Becky Hoover of Shelby was flower girl, wearing ballerina length frock of light blue, with short sleeves, scalloped neck, and full gathered skirt. Young Rusty Williams of Medina was ring bearer.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earle Egleston of Chardon, was attended by Michael Miller of Lorain as best man. Ushers were Charles Bly, brother of the bride, and William Barker and Harry Toban, fraternity brothers of the bridegroom.

The bride is a graduate of Baldwin-Wallace college, is a member of Delta Zeta sorority, and is a commercial teacher at Highland High school.

Mr. Egleston is an accountant for a Cleveland restaurant chain. He is graduate of Baldwin-Wallace also, where he belonged to Alpha Sigma Phi.

Miss Herbert Feted By Miss Christian On Eve of Wedding

Miss Penelope Christian entertained at a barbecue Sunday at her parents' home for her cousin, Miss Joyce Herbert, and her fiancé, Corp. George S. Lindsey, and their wedding party.

The nuptials will take place Saturday in Mansfield's First Presbyterian church in a double ring ceremony at 7:30 p.m. The Rev. Dr. James Haldane Brown will read the service.

Miss Christian will be one of Miss Herbert's five bridesmaids. Miss Herbert is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joy Herbert, 476 Marion avenue, Mansfield. Her mother is the former Mary Jo Fate of this place.

Corporal Lindsey, whose home is in Jasper, Ala., is stationed at Ramey Air Force base, Puerto Rico, where he is assigned to the special services section of the base.

Other members of the wedding party are Miss Betty Weir, maid of honor; Miss Salliou Sowers of Cuyahoga Falls, roommate of the bride-to-be at Rollins college, Winter Park, Fla., and the Misses Jean Craft, Gretchen Snyder and Jill Ensminger.

The bridegroom's cousin, six-year-old Rebecca Lee of Sylacauga, Ala., will be flower girl.

The couple will live at Que Bradillas, P. R., until he is released from the Air Force.

Miss Clark Weds Mr. Tucker

Miss Marlene Marie Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Clark, Shiloh route 2, became the bride of Rob G. Tucker, son of Mrs. C. R. Tucker of Hugheson, W. Va., and the late Mr. Tucker, July 2, in a ceremony performed by the bride's uncle, the Rev. Parker Young of Woodville.

He was assisted by the Rev. M. L. Seybold, pastor of the Ganges Evangelical and Reformed church at Ganges. Pink gladioli and blue asters decorated the candlelit altar for the early evening wedding. Miss Carolyn Briggs, soloist, was accompanied by Mrs. Dean Ferrell at the organ for the nuptial prelude.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina length gown of embroidered eyelet over a pink taffeta under slip. The off-shoulder neckline ended in three-quarter length sleeves. Her short veil was held by a small crown of white lace trimmed with tiny pearls. She carried an heirloom hankercieff of her grandmother, Mrs. Gertrude Clark, and a white Bible topped with pink roses.

The bride's three attendants, Miss Janet Clark, her sister, who was maid of honor; Mrs. James Fox of Shelby, a bridesmaid, and another sister, Miss Susan Clark, who was the junior bridesmaid, wore matching gowns of blue. Their headbands were blue with pink flowers, and they carried colonial bouquets of pink carnations and roses.

Young David Copeland was the ring bearer. The bridegroom's brother, Lester H. Tucker, was best man, and the ushers were Ernest Crazz, Thomas Crazz, Michael Crazz, and Thomas Redmond of Kimberly, W. Va.

Custom Made Few things are so completely custom-made as your prescribed medicines. When your doctor prescribes be takes under consideration your illness, your age and your general physical condition and then specifies drugs and quantities that he knows will be safe and effective. Therefore it is vitally important that the medicine conforms in a detail with his prescription. Let us custom-make your next prescription.
