What it will cost: two cheap cigars a day, 25 years

The geriatric cross

So now we get down to dollars and cents: what will the proposed sewer system cost?

It will cost each householder about 15 cents a day for 25 years, or roughly $55 a year for that period of time.

We have heard, with some distress, comments like this one: "I wouldn't feel right voting additional taxes to be paid by the folks who have a fixed income."

The reference is obviously to the older, retired citizen, whose retirement pay or pension check has been steadily eaten away by the inflated dollar and a rising price curve.

It also includes the government employee whose salary is fixed by his personnel classification, and the man or woman whose wage is a flat weekly salary.

But primarily the reference is to the older folks, who live on pension or savings income.

Respect of one's elders and kindness to old folks is a part of our Puritan heritage and we would be the last to change that.

But our community — and that means the entire region in which we live — shall not crucify us on Predeint Eisenhower crossed over the party line to choose a New Jersey judge for the Supreme Court vacancy. He chose a Democrat and a Roman Catholic.

There are two thoughts that occur to us in this choice: why is it necessary to choose a man for the highest bench in the land because he adheres to one religion or another? Justice is discharged, we were taught, without fear or favor, or partially to any race, color or creed. It was a mistake, we think, to depart from the premise that a Roman Catholic — or a Jew or a Mormon or a Unitarian or a South-

the geriatric cross.

We cannot go on leaning over backward to protect the position of the older citizen at the expense of the younger resident.

It is not right that older citizens should habitually oppose civic improvement, because it costs money.

Nobody can live in yesterday. It's hard enough to live for tomorrow. The history of our village is not a particularly inspiring one. There has been no planning. Those who have by reason of careful living reached a ripe age cannot collectively point to a good record of maintaining a modern community. Not with privies in this town. Not with a ramshackle fire house. Not with unhooded pupils in our schools.

It's not as if a fortune is being asked for. The cost is two cigars a day, cheap cigars. Or a bottle and a half of pop. Or maybe an ice cream cone, double dip.

It's not much. Those of us who had no control of what was happening in our town, because we weren't old enough, now hope we can by our joint efforts bring our standard of living up to what others have. It is not fair to deny us that opportunity for the sake of $55 a year.

ern Baptist, for that matter — must fill the seat.

And assuming that it WAS necessary to appoint one of the faith of Rome, aren't there qualified justices in the Republican party who worship in that manner? There are already more Democrats on the bench than Republicans. It hardly speaks well for Mr. Eisenhower's arguments about the new Republicanism that he could not apparently, find among the millions of Republican jurists of Roman Catholic religion a man qualified to sit with the Supreme Court.

Vice President Nixon said something with which we agree, for a change. He told a bunch of Southern editors the other night that, like it or not, we must begin to make freedom of opportunity available to every citizen. The Constitution must be enforced.

IT IS NOT THE INTENT OF THE RIGHT-thinking citizen to ram it down anybody's throat. Rather, we'd like to have it done gradually, but nonetheless effectively.

The discrimination against the colored citizen in the South — as well as in northern states — is no more a crime than discrimination against so-called Kay Wyes in Ohio.

The fashion in townships throughout this region is to enact zoning laws, a sort of negative defense against economic have-nots, many of them migrants from Eastern Kentucky. And what will this do? Merely chase them, if that is the verb, into incorporated communities.

They are here. They live, they breathe, they are called to serve in the armed forces. They are native born citizens of the United States. They are faithful attenders of the churches of their choice. They have God-given and man-established rights, as set forth in the Constitution.

It's about time some folks realized it. The way to cope with the situation, if it is a situation, is to pitch in on a group basis and work for the general advancement of the entire community, by attracting taxable industry and extending the economic and commercial potential of the region so that all can live as first-class citizens.

The only alternative is to do what Hitler did: build soze gas chambers.

WE ARE SICK AND TIRED OF HEARING this sort of rotten talk, this "Kay Wye" stuff. The next guy that says something like that says something like that in our presence is apt — mind you — to get a bolt in the nose.

"What'll it cost?" It's not an easy question to answer, for the basic reason that nobody knows just exactly what there is to go on, or what things will cost when it comes time to put them in.

ITEM NO. 1: THE PROJECT hasn't been "refined" by the engineers for four years. Prices have certainly changed since then.

ITEM 2: MATERIALS ARE apt to be affected by the long-term outcome of the recent steel strike.

ITEM 3: IT WOULD COST the village 400 much for professional services to find out in advance of election the precise figures of cost. It might even be foolhardy to do so, because the final figures would have to be paid for, win or lose. Approximate figures are "suitable for consideration", the council rules.

ITEM 4: THE EXACT means of financing the project hasn't been decided upon.

Why? Bonding attorneys need data that is not readily available, but which can be gotten up on fairly short notice, to prepare their careful estimates of what they'll approve in the way of village financing.

It will cost money to get this done. The council doesn't want to spend it now.

But it is certain the cost of the plan, if it is approved next month, will entail:

1. A $150,000 GENERAL obligation bond issue for 25 years. This is a general mortgage against the assets of the entire village corporation. Bond attorneys estimate that to pay it off each taxpayer will need to get up 2.5 mills a year per dollar of assessed valuation for 25 years.

2. ISSUANCE OF MORTGAGE revenue bonds. These are promises to pay at periodic intervals the proceeds of fees for services supplied to customers of the system. They bear interest, stiff interest, something over four per cent.

3. ISSUANCE OF SPECIAL assessment bonds. These are also promises to pay, in this case the proceeds of special assessments against property holders for installing sewer laterals. Engineers estimate the cost of the entire project at $500,000. The estimate is admittedly high. "But we feel," they say, "it is better to estimate too much than too little. We are fairly sure that it will cost less than that."

That half million is broken down into $100,000 for the activated sludge treatment plant, $200,000 for interceptors, and $300,000 for laterals.

A policy decision is necessary fairly soon. What portion of the cost will be financed through mortgage revenue bonds? The decision affects the sewer service rate that will be paid by each householder.

Thinking up to now has been based upon a flat fee, of about $3 a house a month, or $36 a year. Bonding attorneys will probably change that notion. The almost universal technique is to collect the sewer service charge as a fraction of the water bill, say 60 per cent. This would be $3.60 a month on the present minimum.

If the laterals are financed entirely from special assessment bonds, here's what would happen:

1. THE HOUSEHOLDER or property owner would have 10 years to pay the lump sum with his tax bill.

2. THE CHARGE CARRIES interest. It could be paid off at once.

3. IT WOULD AMOUNT to between $2 and $2.50 a linear foot. Example: if you have a lot with 73 feet of frontage, your special assessment for sewer laterals would be a minimum of $146. The maximum would be $164.

"But this is all very complicated," you say, "what does it run to in a year for me, Joe Householder?"

Best answer: about two cigars a day, or a bottle and a half of coke, or a double dip ice cream cone. In coin of the realm, 15 cents a day, totalling $55 a year.

That figure may be high, but not by more than 10 per cent.

The cost factor has been studied in general terms by the village.

1. STATE LAW PROHIBITS bonding of the community more than five per cent of its tax duplicate. Plymouth has no general bond indebtedness now. It could vote up to $185,000. Council chose to ask for $150,000, leaving a balance of $35,000 for emergencies. Naturally, general obligation bonds are less expensive, interest-wise, than other types.

2. BURDEN OF THE COST must be distributed evenly over all kinds of users, with due consideration for the fixed income taxpayer.

3. THE BOND MARKET and Plymouth's generally low credit standing must be taken into account.

4. NO USE IN CHOOSING a plan the bonding attorneys won't certify.

So figure about 15 cents a day. "Is it worth while, do you believe it to be injurious to your community, is it good investment to tax yourself 45 cents a day for a sanitary sewer system?" is what the state water pollution control board asks.

Bear in mind the present sewer service tax would be abolished and a higher charge put in its place. That charge would be about $3.50 a month. The state says it's an investment in a new industry, in better and more healthful surroundings.

It is distressing to hear citizens who are well regarded say these things: "I'm not gonna vote for any consolidation and have my kids go to school with those confounded Kay Wyes and hill billies."

This is the real reason why they object to a consolidation with Shiloh, make no mistake about it. Certainly, they'll offer other arguments, such as the one that if a consolidation is effected the present $8,500 in Plymouth district to $7,000 in the combined district.

BUT INSIDE, WHAT THEY FEEL IS A sense of superiority. They think they're better than these economic migrants.

Having served with black and white, red and yellow, during a time of severe peril, we can testify to two facts:

1. When you shoot 'em, all leak red.

2. Intelligence isn't restricted to one color, or economic status.

We might add, they all put their pants on one leg at a time.

TO DISCUSS SEWER BOND ISSUE —

Open meeting set

John Cuning, Madison Engineering associates, and Robert Ross, village solicitor, will be present at the public meeting at 8 p.m. Monday in the council room, Mayor Robert Moser states.

Together with Mayor Moser and members of the council, they will explain to voters plans of the proposed sanitary sewer for the village and the need for the passage of the $14,000 bond issue at the Nov. 6 election.

Selling magazines

Class of 1957, Shiloh High school, is selling subscriptions for magazines. Anyone interested in subscribing for a magazine should call one of the class members. Subscriptions will be taken until Oct. 17.

Any questions voters may have regarding these subjects will be answered. Everyone interested should not fail to be present, Moser says.

Road work ends with blacktop

Blacktopping of North Walnut and North streets was completed last week.

The estimated 300 tons of material used to put a two-inch surface on the streets was furnished by the Mansfield Asphalt Co. on its bid of $7.25 per ton and was hauled by county trucks in lieu of an assessment against the county garage located on the streets. Barring is yet to be done.
