Pilgrims win NCO conference championship

"Neither rain nor snow nor sleet nor dark of night — and most especially rain — shall stay these couriers from their appointed rounds."

Thus Plymouth's Pilgrims rewrote the motto of the postal service on a rain-soaked gridiron at Wakeman Friday afternoon as they drove relentlessly toward an undefeated season.

The Pilgrims scored two touchdowns in the first and third periods and defeated Townsend-Wakeman's Rough Riders, 24 to 6. Stellar performances by Edie Taylor, who ran 50, 63 and 54 yards for scores, and Jimmy Hunt, who took the opening kickoff 82 yards for a touchdown, led the Pilgrims to the championship of the North Central conference.

ONLY A SMALL BUT hardy crowd witnessed the struggle, marred only by injury to Darrell Wolfe, dependable Rough Rider quarterback. Rain fell thoughout the contest, and the wonder of it was that fumbles were not more frequent.

After Hunt's electrifying dash through the entire Blue and White eleven, Duane Utis failed to make two yards for the extra point.

A few minutes later, when Ray Einsel sent his team into a spread formation, Taylor swept outside his right end and went unmolested all the way for a touchdown. The play covered 50 yards.

Thereafter, save for a strong Townsend-Wakeman push in the second period, the Pilgrims weren't able to do much. Defensively, they did well, and only a bit of hipper-dipper that misfired cost them a touchdown.

EINSEL SENT THE RED and White into a short punt formation. He and Taylor miscalculated a handoff and the fumble was recovered by the home eleven. Five plays later, thanks to two bull-like charges by Lynn Bailey, the Rough Riders had a touchdown.

Leading by one touchdown at the half, the Pilgrims proceeded to put the game on ice in the third oanto. Taylor scored twice, once on a 63-yard jaunt around right end, aided substantially by the sturdy Ted Fox, whose rolling block cleared the last tackler from the fleet Taylor's path.

The final quarter was given over to defensive play by Plymouth and futile efforts by Townsend-Wakeman, which engineered four first downs in the final half but never was able to mount an offensive of a sustained nature.

Mickey Hampton and Franklin Eckstein shone on defense for the Pilgrims. Offensively, there were no stars save Taylor. He carried the brunt of the Pilgrim attack, slowed measureably by wet footing and a slippery ball.

Statistically, it was a disappointing game. The Pilgrims made only one first down, the Rough Riders four. Plymouth lost possession by fumbling twice, Townsend-Wakeman once.

THERE WERE TWO AERIAL attempts, one by each side. Both were completed for short yardage, but because the Pilgrims were off-side Einsel's toss to Fox in the end zone for an extra point was called back.

Lynn Bailey showed he is every inch — and there are many inches of him — an all-league halfback. Big, strong and bony, he thrust through the Plymouth line for important yardage time and again.

Broadway main size undecided

Board of Public Affairs refused Oct. 15 to take any definite action on a request by Charles Vanasdale for a larger water line leading to his development in West Broadway.

Ready to lay water lines, Mr. Vanasdale appeared before the Board to inquire if it would consider now or in the near future nuthorization of a larger line. The two inch line which now exists from the William Ellis property west is already proving inadequate. Several persons being served from the line have complained of low water pressure. It is claimed there would not be enough water to control a major fire in that vicinity.

Speaking for the Board, the president, Robert L. McIntire, said at the moment he does not wish to make any commitments. He is not sure how he would feel in the future about such an expenditure for the village. Another member, Luther R. Fetters, added that several years ago a pressure test was made in the area, when it was found the pressure exists although there is a lack of water.

Vanasdale asked the Board if it would eventually put in larger lines and assess the water users. This was unanswered. He then suggested that perhaps it would be wiser to do some future planing rather than follow the piecemeal system which has characterized most water construction in the last several years. With more house being constructed in the area, he said, situation is fast becoming acute. It is reported another piece of property has been sold to a man who plans to build 10 houses, which would be served by the water line in question.

We, the undersigned mayor and councilmen of the village of Plymouth, considering the enactment of the bond issue to provide for the construction of a sanitary sewage system essential to the welfare and safety of the village, respectfully urge every citizen to vote in favor of the said issue at the general election.

An editorial: the sewer bond issue

By now, it should be plain to even the blind and the stupid that eventually we will have to install a sewage disposal system.

And it should be equally plain that to expect outside assistance is folly. Neither the state nor the federal government is going to come accross with any funds. We had our chance, back in the Thirties, when WPA money was being spent hereabouts. We could have had a sewer plant, and a municipal building, and a fire-house, for the asking.

To have refused them because we were big enough — and we use the word big in its bigger sense — to do what was necessary on our own would have been an admirable and noteworthy course to take. But Plymouth didn't do that.

And there are those still alive who can look back upon those decisions with shame.

This is 1956. We have a question of $50 a year, give or take a dollar or two, over a period of 25 years. What's at stake? A sewer system?

No, not a sewer system. What's at stake is the future of this community.

What we need is more tax valuation. And the way to get it is to get another industry. To get an industry, we must have a sewer plant.

There are many who have made up their minds favorably. We thank them in behalf of all forward-looking citizens. There are some who will throw up some argument or other against the proposal, when the real reason for their negative approach is a lack of foresight, an unwillingness to live in 1956, a resistance to change because it entails money.

Let them ponder these facts: the Ohio Water Pollution Control board means to see to it that a sewer disposal system is installed here, the state legislature and the Congress in Washington do not mean to contribute any public funds, and the longer we wait, the more it will cost.

As a newspaper we are proud of the job we have done. No fact has been left uncovered. We have told the whole story. Concisely and with sufficient detail. It'll cost you $50 a year for 25 years PLUS a one-time outlay for the initial connection. At the most, $200, by which figure the value of your property is enhanced.

Dads' day tomorrow

Favored to win by 40 points, or as high as Coach Lew Petit wants to let the score go, Plymouth's Pilgrims ring down the curtain on an undefeated but once-tied season at Mary Fate park tomorrow.

Jackson-Burgoon Highh school will furnish the opposition in the Dad's night contest.

The Pilgrims wil appear in their new jerseys for the first time.

It should be a romp for the Pilgrims Jackson-Burgoon hasn't won a game, came closest to doing so against Green Springs.

Aside from an opportunity for Eddie Taylor to increase his scoring total of 129 points — an average of 14 plus points over two seasons — the Plymouth eleven can regard this one as in the bag.

Fathers of players will be furnished with placards bearing the numbers of their sons' jerseys and will be introduced to the crowd at half time.

Fackler defeated on wheat appeal

A Plymouth township farmer, who protested he had not overplanted wheat because he leased part of his acreage to his tenant farmer's son lost his appeal Monday before an Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation review committee of three independent farmers from neighboring counties.

Guy Taylor, head of the ASC office here, said the committee upheld the local ASC committee ruling that leasing part of wheat acreage "defeats the purpose" of controlling wheat acreage.

Foster Fackler, who is secretary of the Associated Farmers of Richland County, Inc., a group protesting government control of wheat, allegedly refused to allow ASC men on his farm to measure his wheat. When ASC members here sent the notice of Fackler's refusal to the state, the ASC state men estimated his wheat acreage at 30 acres.

ASC RECORDS SHOW FACKler said it was 28 acres and that 15 acres of the field had been leased to David Baker, son of Maurice Baker,, his tenant farmer. Fackler produced the lease.

Taylor said the ASC committee did not consider the lease as making the wheat acreage include two farms and ruled that Fackler had overplanted his allotment which was 18 acres.

Taylor said the decision was sent to Fackler Monday night and that he had 15 days to appeal the decision further to district court.

Henry indignant because car not where he left it

By Clyde Caldwell

Gailen (Pete) Henry of West Main street, Shiloh, was a very much alarmed and indignant fisherman Oct. 21 because he couldn't find his car where he had parked it.

Returning from fishing along the Huron river about dusk, he discovered his 1953 Buick sedan was missing from the spot where he had parked it in New State road just north of the Harry Silliman residence. In it were his driver's license, registration card, certificate of title and insurance papers.

Thinking the car stolen, he hot-footed it back to Shiloh, being given an assist part way by a passing motorist, and called the State Patrol in Norwalk. He was informed that patrolmen investigating a drag race had found the car parked illegally along the highway, (the wheels were not entirely off the hard surface) and had it towed to a garage in Greenwich.

He was able to reclaim the car that night so that he could go to his work in Mansfield the next morning by paying a $6 towing fee.

He's still indignant, but not alarmed any more.

Mrs. Fackler talks of flying saucers

The Flying Saucer Conspiracy", a controversial study of flying saucers by Maj. Donald Keyhoe, USMC, retired, was the basis of Mrs. Henry H. Fackler's talk before the Twentieth Century circle Monday night.

Mrs. E. Beryl Miller was hostess.

With Mrs. P. W. Thomas as interlocutor, four members — Mmes. Robert McBeth, Norman McQuown, Verda Weller and M. J. Coon — impersonated club members after the fashion of the TV show "Masquerade Party". Mrs. McBeth discoursed initially on the origin of Hallowe'en.

Margaret Blackford wed to Floyd Duffey

Miss Margaret Jane Blackford of Shiloh became the bride of Floyd E. Duffey Oct. 14 in Mt. Hope Lutheran church.

The Rev. R. L. Lubold performed the double ring ceremony at 2 p.m. in candlelight. The altar held arrangements of white chrysanthemums and bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums and oak leaves.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Janice Wolford sang several songs accompanied by Miss Flo Rose at the organ. To the strains of the traditional wedding march, the bride was escorted to the altar by H. R. Nesbitt.

Her gown of Chantily lace was fashioned with a wide skirt over a hop. The lace bodice had a scalloped deep shouldered neckline ending in long lace sleeves which were button with tiny lace buttons. She wore a Juliet cap of lace and seed pearls from which a finger tip veil fell. The veil had scattered designs of seed pearls on it. Her only jewelyry was a double pearl choker, a gift of the bridegroom. Her bouquet was of white chrysanthemums with an orchid in the center. It was tied with a big satin ribbon.

MAID OF HONOR, MISS Mary Lee Hart of Crestline, wore an iced violet shade of irridescent taffata. On princess lines, the skirt was ballerina length with a scalloped off-the-shoulder neck line. She carried gold chrysanthemums and pompoms. The bridesmaids, Miss Patricia Blackford of Mansfield, the brides sister, and Miss Doris Duffey, the bridegroom's sister, wore gowns of the same style in mist gren. Their bouquets were of gold flowers.

The bride's gown and those of her attendants were designed and made by her aunt, Mrs. B. L. Pagman, Fremont.

The flower girl, Shirley Nesbitt, wore a floor length dress of gold with a hooped skirt. She carried a basket of fall flowers.

James Zellers of Tiffin was Mr. Duffey's best man. Ushers were Delmar Nesbitt of Shiloh and Conrad Sayer of Charleston, W. Va.

For the ceremony, Mrs. H. R. Nesbitt, with whom the bride has made her home, wore a gown of Pompeii green crepe with beige and black accessories. Her corsage was of small pink chrysanthemums. The bridegroom's omther chose a dress of cinnamon brown, with which she wore black and beige accessories. Her corsage was of gold with white chrysanthemums.

A reception was held in the church rooms after the ceremony. Presiding at the bride's table, which held a five tier wedding cake, were Mrs. William Goth and Mrs. James Zellers.

Upon their return from their wedding trip, the young couple will be at home in Shiloh. Mr. Duffey is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Duffy of Bloomville.

Heavy feet lead two to hospital, court

They're raising their drivers reckless in Shiloh these days.

Two drivers afflicted with heavy feet face court action as a result of their encounters with the law over the weekend.

George H. Spiger, 47-year-old member of the Board of Public Affairs, is in Memorial hospital, Norwalk, with multiple injuries received when he rammed head-on into the car of William C. Ryan, Akron.

Eyewitnesses told the state highway patrol Spiger was driving west in the east-bound lane from Norwalk to Monroeville, where he swerved to avoid a frontal crash with a truck. He smashed into the Ryan car, whose driver and his passenger, Mrs Doris Conrad, Akron, received minor injuries. Spiger will be charged with reckless driving.

A 21-year-old Shilohan who led state highway patrolmen a merry chase, at times at 115 miles an hour, has had the book thrown at him: reckless driving, speeding, crashing red light, failing to obey police siren, resisting arrest.

He is Edward J. Shepherd, who was captured by Patrolman Chuck Robison after a three-county pursuit. First detected speeding in Route 224, Shepherd drove so fast great chunks of rubber flew from his tires. He finally ran out of gas. By this time the officer had run out of patience.

He has been summoned before the mayor of Norwalk.

2 school issues on Shiloh ballot 'needed': board

Two school issues will appear on the ballot in Shiloh local school district.

Board of Education seeks renewal of the five mill operating levy. "This is not an increase in what we ask from the electorate," a board spokesman said Monday. "We simply need to have the present tax revenue for the benefit of the schools to be renewed for another five years."

Approval of a $25,000 bond issue to run for 15 years is sought by the board. It would mean an increase in taxation of eight-tenths of a mill, or 80 cents for each $1,000 of tax valuation.

Proceeds of the bond issue will be applied toward purchase and remodelling of the school-annex at Main and Mechanic streets.

"We have these alternatives: half-day sessions, rental and maintenance of less desirable facilities, or purchase and remodelling of the annex building," the board said Tuesday.

"We bought because we thought the cost was low for what we're geting — three classrooms would cost $23.00 to $27.000 each if we take last year's average cost figure throughout the state. The annex completely remodelled is costing us only $30,00. It has a high re-sale, value if eventually we decide to sell it. Also, we're getting state aid in rehabilitating the building."
