

County board declines to merge schools

By the margin of one vote, Richland county board of education declined Saturday to consolidate Plymouth and Shiloh school districts.

Acting on a motion introduced by Mrs. Leonard Willson at its last meeting, the board's majority said it would be better to turn the merger down than to effect it without unanimity.

"We'd like to see delegations from both districts down here to recommend the consolidation," one of the board remarked.

MRS. WILLSON VOTED FOR her motion, which was seconded and supported by Lewis Rhehart. A Shilohan on the board, Earl Huston, voted against it. He said he felt the time is not ripe for the consolidation, which has been under consideration for 10 years.

Others who supported him — not because they believe a consolidation should be disappointed but rather because they feel no advantage would be obtained by forcing it, apparently against the wishes of patrons of the districts — were E. C. Culler, Lucas, and Lester Lanty, Mansfield, president.

PLYMOUTH BOARD OF EDUCATION will meet Dec. 28 to wind up affairs for 1957. Earl C. Cashman, approached by the board to resume his post as clerk to replace the resigned David Cook, had said he wished to decline if the consolidation matter remained pending. With consolidation a dead issue for at least several months, it was conjectured he may consent to serve again.

Federal funds of $7,477.88, of which $5,982 was certified for immediate payment, have been authorized for the board to defray the cost of educating children of employees of Wilkins Air Force station.

Contest rules

Residents of Plymouth local school district are eligible to compete for $30 in prize money again offered by Plymouth Community club for outstanding home Christmas decorations.

Persons living outside the village corporation should communicate their entries to James Cunningham, president, at the post office.

First prize is $15, second prize $10 and third $5. In the event of a tie, the prize money will be equally divided.

Judges will consider entries after Christmas.

Collegians home to spend holidays with parents here

Jack E. McQuay, son of the R. Earl McQuay, a freshman at George Washington College, Washington, D.C., is with his parents for the Christmas recess.

Roy J. Johnson, Jr., a pre-medical student at Capital University, Columbus, is passing the holidays with his family.

Marilyn Fisher, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. T. M. Sheeley, is employed in Cleveland during the Christmas holidays. She expects to be with her family here for New Year's eve.

C. Otis Port, son of the Fred Port, a sophomore at Baldwin Wallace college, Berea, is at home for Christmas recess.

Larry J. Schreck, a student at Bowling Green State university, is with his grandparents, the James O. Schreck.

Daniel Eby, also a Bowling Green student, is at home with his mother, Mrs. Mildred Eby.

Janet Miller, a student at Ohio State university, is visiting her parents, the Francis Millers, Shelby route 3, for the holidays.

Bette Carier, daughter of the Roy Cariers, is at home from her studies in Ohio State university preparing curriculum.

Young people wishing to join Christmas carolers are invited to report at First Evangelical Lutheran church at 6:30 p.m. Sunday. Refreshments will be served afterward.

20th Centurians mark Yule at cookie exchange

Twentieth Century circle staged its annual Christmas program. At the home of Mrs. Carl M. Lofland Dec. 10.

"Welcome" was by Mrs. P. W. Thomas. She introduced the program by the reading of a poem, "Memory Lane". Mrs. E. L. Earnest took the part of a grandmother telling her three grandchildren, portrayed by Leslie Henry, Janis Coon, and Cheryl McQuown, stories of Christmases she remembered as a child. Mrs. Earnest wore a period gown loaned by Mrs. Walter Chaffield for the scene.

As the grandmother spoke her memories, Mrs. Robert L. McIntire read the Nativity scene from the Scriptures. Mrs. Charles Dick read a "Child's Christmas Eve Dream". Five children appeared in costume to fit the narrative. David Root was a Swiss child, Jennifer Haas, an English child,

Presumed cost may rule out zoning

The spirit of Santa Claus visited the village council meeting Tuesday night.

Funds amounting to about $65 were reapportioned from the Brinkerhoff poor fund to the account of Maynard J. Coon for disbursement in his discretion to aid needy school children. The money was received from the United Appeal fund drive at Wilkins Air Force station.

EIGHT FAMILIES WERE APPROVED by the council to receive Christmas baskets from the Brinkerhoff fund. Police Chief Robert L. Meiser submitted the list and was authorized to investigate another case.

Mayor Thurman R. Ford told the council the Christmas spirit does not extend to the Richland county budget committee. "We asked them for some help, but all they gave us was sympathy," he said.

No sign of additional funds was given. Ford reported. He was accompanied by Clerk Carl V. Ellis and Councilman Charles Vansdale, whose notes were drawn upon to elaborate upon the conversations. The public library here receives $3,000 in tax monies, of which $2,000 from Richland county, to operate, Vansdale said.

Five properties cited

Four New Haven township properties and one in Plymouth have been cited by Huron County Auditor Bernard F. Kean for non-payment of personal and classified tax. Township properties are those of F. Robert Diehl, $25.81; Edward and Dorothy Livermore, $19.70; Lela Patrick, $12.22; and Donald Phillips, $9.59.

Plymouth property is that of Daniel E. McQuoy, Sandusky street, $46.57.

and expenses until the year's end, the council turned to discussion of the zoning question.

After some light and more heat, it was decided to table the measure, on the grounds that its cost of implementation is more than the strained village can withstand. Mayor Ford said he thinks outside expert help of an expensive character would be required.

Councilman John T. Dick said he believes the Chamber of Commerce really wants a building code to protect expensive housing from construction of less expensive buildings. "I don't think we can do what they want. That'll have to be taken care of by the health laws and the state fire laws."

The Chamber recommended the names of Hugh Washburn, Robert J. Wechter, Royal W. Eckstein and A. L. Paddock, Jr., to serve as sixteen members of a city planning commission.

THE CLERK AND TREASURER were authorized to invest $5,000 from the fire apparatus fund in interest-bearing bonds of government issue, providing they are readily convertible. Solicitor Joseph F. Dush was instructed to bring in an ordinance empowering the council to follow the same procedure with $10,000 in the sewer service fund.

The council finally told Clerk Ellis to "quit worrying about being the fall guy" on the sewer ordinance. "It's not your job to police or enforce it," the council said. "If sewer tax is unpaid, certify it to the county auditor and the ordinance directs and stop worrying about it. When it gets big enough, we can sell the property to recover what's due."

29 Brownies given pins in ceremonies here Wednesday

Girl Scouts and Brownies were guests yesterday at a Christmas party and carol practice given by the Plymouth Girl Scout council at the elementary school.

Carols were led by Mrs. Clarence Mack. Party committee was Mrs. Joseph Lusch, Jr., and Mrs. Fred Lewis.

In a special ceremony 29 new Brownies were welcomed by Mrs. Carl M. Lofland, president of the council. New second grade Brownies are Sheryl Johnson, Pat Tackett, Mary Jane Echebrier, Nancy Akers, Sue Ann-Williston, Carol Farnwall, Eleanor Haas, Susie Koontz, Susan Mack and Janet Lewis.

Also Mary Jo Fazio, Susan Moore, Karen Levering, Lynn Fenner, Joan Coe, Leslie Henry, Janet Fazio, Patty Hampton, Bonnie Lusch, Marjorie McDougall, Wendy Ross, Nancy Sloan, Sheryl Winters and Linda S. Washburn.

Joining the third grade group are Shirley Ruckman, Karen Kilgore, and Sharon Suttles. Nancy Chandler is the new member of the fourth grade pack.

At the last council meeting, Mrs. William Griffiths and Mrs. David Cook were chosen to purchase gifts of those non-leaders who have helped with the Scout program.

Girl Scouts and Brownies will meet at 7 p.m. Saturday singing the village Christmas tree for a half-hour of caroling.

Shiloh Farm Bureau loses safe to robber

A 24x36-inch, safe containing an undisclosed amount of money was taken from the office of the Shiloh Farm Bureau during the night of Dec. 12.

The loss was discovered at 8 a.m. Thursday by the manager, Glegn Strong, when he opened for business.

Entrance had been gained by prying open the office door with a crowbar. The safe, estimated by Strong to weigh nearly 1,000 lbs., was carted away in a truck.

Sherrif's deputies are working on the case.

Saddle club disbands

Disbanding of the Saddle club at its dinner Thursday night resulted in transfer of its assets, totaling $29.14, to Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, subject to the proviso they be used for public beneficence.

"We obtained these funds initially from the business community," directors of the club said, "and we feel it is only right they should get it back."

Hospital Notes

Mrs. Alvin Wolf of Shiloh entered Shelby Memorial hospital Dec. 10. She was released the next day.

Mrs. Ila Crocker was admitted to Willard Municipal hospital Dec. 5.

James J. Ryan of this place submitted to surgery there Dec. 11 and was released the next day.

Caroling, party set to mark 131st Xmas since birth of village

Plymouth's 131st annual observance of Christmas begins Saturday at 1:15 p.m. with the children's party sponsored each year by the volunteer fire department, Plymouth Order of Mechanics and Ehret-Parrel Post, American Legion.

A special film will be shown promptly at 1:30 p.m., after which Santa Claus will appear to distribute treats.

"We don't have so many seats," the committee says, "and it is essential that parents pool their children. This means that one parent should bring several children, whether or not they're his, so that seats can be reserved for kiddies. The program will end at 3 p.m. and parents may call for children at that hour."

The union's contribution are Glenn Dick, John Taylor and William Moore. Firemen are Judson A. Morrison, Wallace Redden and Chester Garrett. Legionnaires are Kenneth Fox, Samuel Robertson and Leland Pugh.

Lutherans will observe Christmas eve with the traditional candlelight service at 11 p.m.

A Christmas program will be presented by the children of First Presbyterian church Sunday at 7 p.m. in the church basement. Santa Claus will appear at the conclusion of the program to distribute treats.

Methodist Sunday school will have its holiday program Sunday at 9:45 a.m.

Beginning Jan. 2 some business houses will close at 5:30 p.m. every Wednesday. They are Heck Cleaners, Crispin's, Don's Shoe store, Miller's Hardware and Appliances, Robby's, McQuate's, Hatch Dress shop and The Plymouth Advertiser.

Juvenile members will conduct the program at the annual Christmas party of Plymouth Grand Saturday. A supper will be served at 6 p.m. Each guest should bring his own table service. A 50-cent gift exchange will be held. Mrs. Frank Fenner is in charge.

Pilgrims drop two loop games on road

Ontario staged a strong second half Tuesday night to win a Richland county league game from Plymouth's Pilgrims, 60 to 43, on the winners' floor.

Plymouth held on gamely to halftime, 23 to 22. But led by Dallas Stuecker, who scored 15 points, Ontario pulled away in the third canto and won handily when Plymouth collapsed in the final eight minutes.

Ted Fox had six buckets and as many penalty tosses for 18 points

Dear Santa:
I live at 365 Willo drive, Plymouth, O., and I am in my first grade of school and like it very much. I have a few things in mind that I would like for you to bring me on Christmas. First of all, I would like to tell you I have been a good girl and I help my Mamma with the housework and also take care of my little brothers at times.

Here are some of the things I would like: a sewing machine, rocking chair, doll, washing machine, nurse kit and some coloring books.

I would also like to tell you, Santa, my birthday is on Christmas day. Well, Santa I have no more to write about but I hope you can bring some of the things I asked for. Thank you.
Diane Fazio

Dear Santa:
I have been a good girl and I would like some toys for Christmas. Please bring me a bride doll and a baking set. My brother has been a good boy so please bring him a truck and a play rifle. Thank you.
Wendy Lee Ross

Dear Santa:
I am six years old and have tried to be a very good girl. Sometimes I didn't make it and I am sorry.

Will you please bring me a doll, games, perfume, a suitcase, for my make-up, and things for coloring and a set of dishes. And please remember all the other children.

Dear Santa Claus:
I would like a doll sewing set and a portable radio. My name is Sharon Settles. I live at 40 Trux street. My little brother Michael would like a gun, rain, ball and a car.
Love,
Sharon Settles

Dear Santa:
I am eight years old and in the second grade. I have tried to be a good girl all year. I work hard in school to get good grades. I help my mother at home. I hope you bring me a bridesmaid doll that walks. Don't forget my little sister, who is five years old. And Santa, please don't forget all the other little boys and girls! Well, bless my buttons, it is almost Christmastime. Goodbye, Santa, and have a Merry Christmastime!
Carol Farnwalt

Dear Santa Claus:
I want a farm, set and a cowboy gun and please get me a cowboy suit at Christmas. Get my brother a cowboy gun and a dump truck and a cowboy suit.
Your friend,
Gary McKinney

Dear Santa:
I am six years old and in the first grade. I want a doll, baby buggy, a record player. I have been a good girl.

Consolidation is dead

The school consolidation issue is dead now. The county school board says so. And while we take strong issue with the ethics and logic of the dissenters of the board, there isn't much we can do but grit our teeth and bear it.

Of one thing you can be certain: it will cost you more to give our boys and girls what one board member has labelled a mediocre education. And so long as parents with a modicum of formal education are making good wages because trade unions have gotten more money for them, there won't be any demand for improvement. It may be that what we need is a good depression, when the premium on the ability to think fast and straight returns.

County homes must be bettered

The report of the Huron county board of visitors is a terrible indictment of the citizens of the county.

This is particularly the case with the county home and the children's home.

The observation that "one has a feeling that we aren't permitted to make a thorough investigation" is a damning one. Prosecutor Bernard W. Freeman should investigate this charge thoroughly and promptly, and the results thereof should be given publicity equivalent to that of the charge.

We do not doubt the facts reported by the board of visitors. But if there is somebody covering something up, we insist the names and positions of those people should be known and published.

The whole sorry mess is disgusting. We get the strong impression that it would be better to shoot Grandma or Grandpa and to drown an unfortunate child than to allow them to enter the county homes.

The board of visitors makes two suggestions that are certainly worth commending to the county commissioners. Why keep the county home where it is IF the old hospital is available? (The capitals are ours.) If it is available, why indeed?

And it hardly seems the mark of good government to maintain a county children's home for 13 boys and girls with a resident staff of 11.

Would it not be possible to effect a consolidation of services of this kind with a neighboring county, with joint county support of expense and management?

The county commissioners have their work cut out for them. The citizens of Huron county are entitled to a prompt accounting and equally prompt action.

A. S. P., who reads this column (don't ask us why) every week, sends us a cute little thing titled "Geographic Ages of Woman":

From 15 to 25 she is like Africa — Half virgin, half exploring.

From 25 to 30 she is like Asia — Hot, torrid and mysterious.

From 35 to 45 she is like America — Streamlined, efficient and cooperative.

From 45 to 65 she is like Australia — Everybody knows where it is but nobody goes there.

For ladies wishing to know into which category they fall, regardless of age, this column undertakes to furnish the information IF you will tear the top off your new convertible and forward it together with $100 to us.

For husbands who dispute the classifications, come in on Friday mornings — you're apt to find company.

A fellow in Columbus forwards his yarn, which he claims is true. Seems a lady returning from Switzerland to her home in England struck up an acquaintance with a fellow passenger. "I'm as nervous as a cat," she said, "I mean to smuggle in this wrist watch I'm wearing."

In due course the customs inspector came through the car. He poked his head in their compartment and inquired if there were anything to declare. Both the lady and her acquaintance replied in the negative.

Then, almost casually, the man pointed to the lady's wrist and said, "I think you'll find our friend neglected to declare this little bauble."

The watch was confiscated while the lady sobbed. When the train started up, she turned on the informer: "How could you be such a swine?"

He pulled a valise from under the seat and opened it to reveal at least 100 watches.

"Don't take it to us hard, madam," he said. "Help yourself to any two of them."

F. T. THROCKMORTON, OUR LAWYER friend, has a predilection for jokes laid upon puns, the lowest form of wit. Most of them leave us cold, but this one we thought was worth a titter.

Seems a Chinese named Chan ran a teak shop in California. One day as he was leaving his shop, he was confronted by a huge bear. Initially scared almost from under his pigtail, he noted at once the bear was really two small boys in costume, for he could see their bare feet.

When his back was turned for a moment, the bear seized a piece of teak and legged it off for safety. Chan went after it in hot pursuit, shouting:

"Stop, thou foot-bare boy with teak of Chan!"

It's getting so that living in a small town has increasingly fewer advantages.

Latest inroad in the complacency and contentment of the small town dweller is made by the social security law.

Ministers can now participate with retirement at 62. So a lot of them who were sticking it out until they reached 65 are quitting this year.

Result: a good many vacancies this year in the ministerial ranks. Situation: newly ordained ministers, of which there is a shortage, have their choices.

With more churches wanting pastors than there are pastors in the pool, a good many of them will go without.

Unless your church is so attractive to a young pastor, you won't get one. Of you will have to accept an older man who, in general, would be in a larger pastorate if his work had been more satisfactory. (There are exceptions, of course; some fellows just simply prefer a smaller church.)

But it's no secret that younger men find their challenges in larger communities, or find greater challenge in a town of, say, 6,000 than in one under 2,000.

If the parsonage is run down, or there is a reputation of dissension in the church, or there is some other reason why a new pastor's road won't be all milk and honey, chances are he'll turn you down.

WHY? BECAUSE HE HAS LOTS OF CHOICE this year. Don't blame him. Nor should we blame the older minister who wants to quit now instead of keeping on until he is 65.

We should blame nobody but ourselves, for failing to make the worldly aspects of the ministry sufficiently attractive for younger people who may feel the spiritual call to respond to it. We are short of ministers as we are short of engineers and doctors.

Think it over. Still like the small town?

And comes now a cock pheasant that does the same thing. Some FFA boys in Tiro, headed for a parliamentary procedure contest, were riding in a car driven by Joe Cahill. Mr. Pheasant ran across in front of him and he lost control of his car, tipped it over, flinging boys and driver into the ditch.

What became of the pheasant? Like the Weird wind, he blew off.

Merry Christmas

The shining light in children's eyes... the sound of church bells chiming... the gladsome joy of voices raised in carol singing... the spirit-lifting, heart-warming story of the Babe of Bethlehem... all these are part of Christmas, and our Yuletide wish for you is that you may enjoy all the blessings of this happy, holy season in fullest measure.

224 project planned

Realignment of Route 224 between Routes 61 and 298, at an estimated cost of $1 million, is proposed in the long range "reservoir" of highway projects submitted by Samuel O. Linzell, outgoing director of highways.

The plan is to eliminate the curve west of New Haven and set Route 224 about 100 yards to the south. This would place the present Myrtle avenue corner off the highway.

No funds are now available, Linzell announced, and the project is unlikely to be undertaken until the legislature formulates a long-range highway financing program.

The late Clayton C. Pugh left an estate inventoried at $11,541 by the Richland county probate court.

Will of the late Harold Paine, who died when his car was struck by a train near Shiloh, stipulated a bequest of $5,000 to Shiloh Methodist church if his wife should predecease him or die at the same time. This patently not being the case, this proviso of the will is not applicable.

both of Mansfield, featured play by Cornell's five this week.

Saturday night the quintet will try to pull the hat trick — three games in one night. A Mansfield colored until will furnish at least part of the opposition.

The black and gold outfit dumped Ringsiders, 102 to 96, as Jim Nowakowski scored 32 points. The Cornell aggregation returned to meet Rose Gardens and win by 166, 79 to 63, with Larry Schreck dumping in 27.

Tuesday night's travesty saw the winners get 36 field goals — 72 points — in the final eight minutes, in what certainly must be a record for scoring. The losers got nine buckets — 18 points — in the same quarter. Ninety points in eight minute minutes is a little over 11 points a minute.

The public is invited to the contests, Manager Ken Echelberry says, and there is no admission charge.

TV teacher learned how here

A young Petersburg, Va., housewife who learned elocution in Plymouth High school has a new television program.

She is Mrs. Thomas Martin Ambrose, the former Miriam J. Johnson, daughter of the Roy Johnsons, who was selected from among more than 100 applicants for the assignment as teacher of Romper Room, a network sustainer of Station WXEX-TV, Petersburg.

The daily show finds her guiding small fry of pre-school age through songs, stories and games.

SIX YOUNGSTERS CHOSEN from the Petersburg area are assigned to her class for a two-week period. All of the boys and girls join in the games and activities, which are tested and approved by leading child psychologists and educators throughout the nation.

Miss Johnson was graduated from Plymouth High school and matriculated at Bowling Green State university, where she was active in dramatics. She received both the bachelor of arts and bachelor of science degree there. Thereafter she taught at St. Clairsville and then joined the WAC, in which she served as an officer. For some time she was an instructor in the WAC school at Ft. Lee, Va.

Her experiences with youngsters are not all vicarious. She has a 10-month-old son at home.

In case you're within reception range of WXEX-TV, you'll find the program on channel 8, Mondays through Fridays, 9:30 to 10 a.m. It's called "Romper Room, with Miss Miriam".

This issue is the last one for The Advertiser in 1956. It will appear again on Jan. 3.

News items may be telephoned to the editorial office, 59, between 1 and 5 p.m. daily except Saturday and Sunday from today to Dec. 31, when the office will again be open.

We're coming your way to wish you a good old-fashioned Merry Christmas abounding in the great gifts of health, happiness and contentment.

Ring in the New Year — the modern way

A telephone call to friends or loved ones at the beginning of the New Year is the finest way to send your most personal wishes for success and happiness and prosperity. And whether you're calling from across the city or across the nation, your thought will be equally appreciated.

Enjoy the pleasure of sending this year's New Year greetings by telephone, the warm, friendly way to ring in 1957.
