

Lions Cop First Title In History

THE PLYMOUTH Advertiser

Vol. CIII — 108rd Year, No. 8

Plymouth, Ohio, Thursday, February 23, 1956

"We'll have a team on the floor when the whistle blows, but we don't know exactly who'll be on it," Coach Harold Daup said yesterday when asked what would be done about four Lion cagers arrested in Ashland on charges of theft after Monday's defeat of Ontario.

Quarterbacked by Larry Barnd, who has steered the offensive throughout the season, the Lions swept a 67-53 triumph over Bellville at home Friday night, nailing down their first Richland county title in history.

Barnd himself led the Lions in scoring with 17 points as Shiloh never was headed in a contest for the 12th league victory of the campaign. First, though, began to press their way into the tiny Shiloh gymnasium at 5 p.m., three hours before the first whistle, and by 6:30 p.m. there wasn't enough room to lay down a postage stamp.

Coach Harold Daup instructed his charges, though, to fall silent, for always a sound move on a handbook foor, and it paid off for the Lions. It took some time — the Lions did not show a clear lead until half the second period was gone — but by halftime it was clear the Lions were in command.

Indeed, Shiloh let up on the pressure during the closing minutes or would have scored an even more convincing defeat. With six and a half minutes of the final quarter into the record book, the Lions held a 14-point margin.

Although Barnd played exceptionally well, it was a team effort that brought Shiloh its victory. Jack Hall scored 14, Otis Hughes 16, George Poffenbaugh 12.

For Bellville, Phil Johnson matched Hughes' output with 16 and Fred Garber, the Blue Jays pivotman, scored another 15. Bellville seemed to lack snap after the first few quarters, and its passing game was shoddy.

Pilgrims End Loop Season

With Loss to Lucas, 93-63

Plymouth's Pilgrims dropped their 28th consecutive Richland county league game, 93 to 63, at Lucas Friday night, winding up their official season without a loop win for the second year in a row.

Despite a stellar performance by Ted Fidler, 26, the Pilgrims were never in the ball game, principally because they couldn't score from the field. They were outshot, 42 to 22, from the floor.

Tom McMillen, league-leading scorer who finished the regular league season with 320 points, had an average of 15.5 points during the Pilgrims' 28-game marksmanship.

For the 26th, Dean Moffett and Dean Niswander had 17 apiece for the Cubs, who led by 50 to 33 at halftime.

Eddie Taylor was the only other Pilgrim to net in double figures. He had 10.

But coach Lew Petit's forces served notice they will not always be doormats of the conference. With four starters coming back next year as juniors, the Pilgrims should improve substantially in years to come.

Frank Ousley, Herb Caulliford, Fred Fidler and Fred Ed Taylor, Frank Eckstein, Jim Fidler, and Mickey Hampton will be back in Pilgrim livery next season.

HELP EISENHOWER pass the new farm program

You will benefit this year if Congress acts before spring planting time

"Although agriculture is our basic industry, farmers find their prices and incomes depressed amid the nation's greatest prosperity."

"...An oversupply of commodities drives down prices as mounting costs force up from below, generating a severe price-cut squeeze."

"...Remedies are needed now, and it is up to the administration and Congress to provide them swiftly. As we seek to go forward, we must not go back to old programs that have failed utterly to protect farm families."

"...I recommend, therefore, the following nine-point program. I urge the Congress to pass this program with maximum speed, for delay can only aggravate and multiply the difficulties already so harassing millions of our rural people."

Dwight D. Eisenhower
From the President's special farm message to Congress.

The Eisenhower-Republican 9-Point Farm Program

1. A VOLUNTARY, 2-POINT SOIL BANK to take 40 million acres of surplus land off the market problem crops, get rid of the surplus, raise prices.
2. An Acreage Reserve which uses the surplus to reduce the surplus and to build up soil for future supplies and to build up soil for future needs.
3. LAWS TO PERMIT FASTER SURPLUS DISPOSAL to end the surplus.
4. STRENGTHEN COMMODITY PROGRAMS on wheat, corn, dairy products, soybeans, cotton and rice. Ease production controls wherever possible.
5. PROTECT FAMILY-TYPE FARMS by limiting the size of farms.
6. EXPAND RURAL DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM to help low-income farm families live better, earn more.
7. PUSH FORWARD THE GREAT PLAINS PROGRAM to stabilize income in drought-stricken areas, and to prevent another dust bowl.
8. INCREASE FARM RESEARCH APPROPRIATION to find new uses and new markets for farm crops, lower production costs and increase farm profits.
9. REFUND GASOLINE TAX TO FARMERS on motor fuel used in farming operations.

Answers to some of your questions

Q: Why will it work?

A: Because this is a program for farmers by farmers. It is based on the fact that there are thousands of farm leaders and thousands of farmers everywhere. This program gets at the root of the problem on a practical, non-political basis. It contains no double-talk or bureaucratic theories. It is the most business-like, down-to-earth approach to the business of farming and marketing of farm products the country has ever had.

Q: Why is it a more practical program than others that have been offered?

A: Because it is especially tailored to today's peace-time conditions. It hits right at the problem of price-depressing surpluses built up because of wartime policies too long continued. These surpluses hang over your farm like a hidden mortgage.

Q: Will all farmers benefit?

A: This program will directly benefit all farmers everywhere: producers of food grains, feed grains, oilseed and fiber crops, dairymen and livestock producers. It recognizes the special problems of regional groups and producers of certain crops.

Q: Will this program help strengthen farm prices?

A: Yes. The present mountain of surplus, and the threat of future surplus, now holds down prices. Every farmer realizes that "a government warehouse is not a market." As surpluses are used up prices will inevitably rise. (Marketing people have estimated that net farm income would have been $2 billion higher in 1955 if it were not for the surpluses.)

Q: How much will it help?

A: Hundreds of millions of dollars in payments to farmers will be made this year under the Soil Bank plan alone if passage is not delayed. This is in addition to its effect in strengthening farm prices. Farmers would also get $60,000,000 a year tax refund on gasoline used in their farming operations.

Q: How big is the surplus?

A: The government now holds an $8-billion stock of farm products. We can't shut our eyes to it, throw it into the ocean or plow it up. It costs about a million dollars a day for storage and carrying charges alone.

Q: Why do surpluses drive down livestock prices as well as grain prices?

A: Corn overproduction of grain surplus closes the grain market but forces continued expansion in an already over-expanded livestock production. Livestock prices as well as grain prices would be higher today if it were not for the surplus.

Q: Why is the new Soil Bank Plan the most sensible approach to the surplus problem?

A: It will get rid of the surplus and prevent future surplus from piling up. It will stop the shift of another farmer's problem crops to your problem crops.

Q: How does the Soil Bank "Acreage Reserve" use the surplus to reduce the surplus?

A: In exchange for placing a portion of their allotted crop acres in the Soil Bank (removing them from production entirely for an agreed period), farmers will receive certificates. These certificates will be good for cash at the bank or can be exchanged for grain or surplus government stocks. In this way farmers will be using up the surplus instead of adding to it. This part of the program applies to corn, wheat, cotton and rice.

Q: How will the Soil Bank "Conservation Reserve" keep future surpluses from building up?

A: It will keep the surplus out of all crop and live-stock production for several years. The land will be put into grass, trees or water storage. It is voluntary and provides generous incentives for wide-spread participation. It, too, will help livestock producers as well as grain producers since it will reduce the surplus of feed grain that put more and more people into the livestock business.

Q: Are these programs entirely voluntary?

A: Yes. President Eisenhower and the Republicans believe it is a basic right of every farmer to be free to plan his own farm program and make the best use of his land as he knows how. They also believe that farmers should have the right to build up their soil without loss of income. The well-being of all farmers as well as the future prosperity of farmers themselves, depends on maintaining productivity of our soil resources. Farmers who participate will not longer feel compelled to farm to carry every acre to the limit, producing crops that aren't needed, in order to keep their income up.

Q: How do I benefit if I put some of my acres in the Soil Bank?

A: You get an opportunity to restore the fertility of your soil and at the same time you are assured of an income from the land you retire. As surpluses are reduced, prices will increase on crops you do produce.

Q: Why will Soil Bank participation help insure my income?

A: It will strengthen your cash position by giving you a guarantee—in effect, income insurance. The acres you take out of production will provide income regardless of drought, flood or other disaster.

Q: How will the Soil Bank help livestock producers?

A: With less feed grains being produced, fewer farmers will feel that they have to raise more livestock to "piece out" their income due to surplus-depressed prices of grain. Participants in the Soil Bank plan will sign an agreement not to graze their diverted acres.

Q: When does it start?

A: Just as soon as the necessary legislation can be enacted. The President has urged all possible speed so farmers can plan their plans and benefit fully from the program. Your Representative and Senator of Congress are behind the President. The more you know about the program, the more you can help by writing members of Congress urging immediate action.

Hats off to the high-flying Shiloh Lions, winners of the Richland county basketball league for the first — and maybe the last — time in their history!

They played well throughout the season, recovered nicely after two early disappointments, and responded to pressure when the going was tough.

We have heard some dissatisfaction with the decision of Supt. Homer Beard to decline the offer of Bellville High school to transfer the game to a "neutral" (and somewhat larger) floor. Most of it has come from Bellville partisans, but some of it came from those who felt that more money could be realized if the game were to be played where more folks could pay to get in to see it.

We disagree with this notion. As Superintendent Beard said, the game is for the purpose of sport, a useful adjunct to the physical education program in the school. If it makes a little money, well and good. But the primary purpose is to encourage physical fitness and the competitive spirit. It could be done on a "neutral" floor, but it also could be done — and it was done — at Shiloh.

Certainly, the boys of Shiloh had a certain advantage playing at home. Didn't the Blue Jays of Bellville enjoy that same advantage in the first game of the season? There is no just cause for complaint.

We said earlier this may be the last pennant the Shiloh team will win. It is no reflection upon the fine coaching of Harold Daup nor upon the excellent support given the Shiloh team by its partisans, both students and townfolks alike.

Rather, it is an expression of hope that by this time next year the Shiloh team will be combined with Plymouth team — it might even be called the Cassmouth High school quintet — as the result of a consolidation that we fervently desire and pray will soon be forthcoming.

The board of Public Affairs is struggling manfully with a situation that needs correction but which defies improvement without a heavy expenditure of money.

The bookkeeping system is a failure, frankly speaking, and it is not the fault of the bookkeepers, who try very hard to make do with what they have.

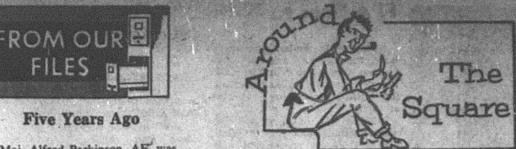

Not only is the machine which posts accounts a broken-down old monster almost as bad as our press, but it is inadequate to do the job.

Because we never know how much electricity is being robbed from us. Stolen by faulty connections, by illicit connections, by old meters and circuits long out of use that nobody has any record of.

If the board would buy a machine which would make regular tabulations of the wattage drawn from the supplier and transmitted into domestic household lines, to industrial lines, and to municipal purposes, such as street lighting, then we might get somewhere.

Because the sum of the three should be the total of wattage drawn from Ohio Power Co. And there should be reimbursement for all three — from domestic household users, from industrial users, and from village or official users (although this would be only a bookkeeping transaction).

We believe the village is not making enough from its power plant. We do not criticize the Board, because the Board hasn't had a chance to come to grips with the problem. And it takes money to correct the situation. Money to install meters where they ought to be installed, so that all current being used can be measured and collected for. Money to buy a tabulating machine so that we can get more bookkeeping for our bookkeeping dollar.

◆ By Phineas Whittleseed

Draw up a chair and listen to Dr. Whittleseed's little lecture on optics, the science of making things easier to read.

You may not have noticed it, but the purpose behind the changing of headings and removing of column rules (look in your big city dailies and see the lines between columns) is to make the stuff we print easier on the eyes.

First thing we did, although the guys who sell matrices for linotype machines don't like it, is to buy some display type of the Bodoni family. It is the type which you read in the larger headings in this paper.

Reason: Dr. Earl Franklin English of the University of Missouri, in a test of optics of several type faces, flashed the letter "e" of several of them on a screen for an unprintable of a second. Dozens of persons of all ages and walks of life were asked to push a button in watching these letters, indicating the amount of time required to perceive the impression. Bodoni won out, by a small margin, indicating that under the purest circumstances, it is the most readable type face.

That's why we got it. But that's only half the battle. If you don't use it right, the best tool in the world is of no value.

So we did some other things. We jerked the column rules. We put white space between columns instead of a line, which requires the eye to focus. We eliminated the little dashes at the ends of stories, letting white space serve the purpose. Object: to make things easier on the eyes.

And we let in "air" around headings and throughout the paper, to make it easier to read. We encourage advertisers to do the same, instead of trying to cram the ninth chapter of Leviticus into a four-inch square.

Selling something — and that's what an editor does, he sells the news, and tries to make his readers turn to it quickly — is partly the trick of making it easy to sell. In the breakfast food business they call it "packaging." That's what we've been up to, over the past 20 months, and to some extent, we've succeeded.

Now there are some who are creatures of habit (as aren't we all). They are used to seeing something in the same place all the time, and they are angry when it isn't there every Thursday when the postman brings the paper. But those folks object not to improved optics, but to change generally.

So next time you pick up a newspaper — and newspaper you may wish to read — try this test: see if your eye falls naturally from upper left to lower right. If it doesn't the makeup editor is robbing you of part of your eyesight. Because it's tiring, difficult, tedious to have to exercise the eyes as well as the mind to read your newspaper.

The results depend on how you look at it. One who thinks the results are pleasing is Edmund Arnold, editor of the Linotype News, Brooklyn, N. Y., who writes a weekly critique on typography for the Publisher's Auxiliary, a trade paper published in Chicago.

Under the cut which appears below, he said this was a pleasant arrangement of horizontal makeup. "It should compete very favorably with other demands on a reader's time because of its pleasant appearance."

And so long as we're speaking of optics, it is as good a place as any to remark that poor eyesight is not restricted to the old.

Down at Bridgeport Sunday, a young lady of our acquaintance proved that point. She married a young soldier-printer, and a not particularly good-looking one at that.

Those who attended the ceremony at the Methodist church saw the bridegroom supported at the altar by his brother. He had to be supported: his knees were shaking.

He is a skinny wretch who narrowly escaped assassination in this newspaper shop on several occasions. And the young woman who married him will probably never do the things for him that we've done, such as rubbing his back. On a Monday morning, yet! And digging him out of bed after he was three hours late for work.

His parents hopped and jumped with glee, glad to get the young rascal off their hands, finally.

But think of the poor girl! Admittedly, she wears eyeglasses, apparently to correct some optical deficiency. But she is certainly blind to the kind of ink-stained wretch he is.

Reminds us that once an editor wrote of a scandal that took place in Cleveland: a nice girl married a printer.

The bride was roundly kissed by all and sundry and the tears were tears of commiseration. There were some who remarked that she was pretty much akin to the guy going off to a leper colony.

If he has read this far without blowing his stack, he knows that P. Whittleseed was as good as his word. That he'd write up the weding so he'd never forget it.

Y'SEE, GEORGE, WE DUNNIT. Now, hot shot, do what thou must for Uncle Whiskers and we'll sign the papers in November so you can get out and get up here and back to work for us.

We'll even let you sleep late once a week — on Sunday mornings!

Good luck to you, son and to your bride. May all your problems be little ones.

Let me congratulate you on your fine paper. I have watched it improve week by week since you took over and think you need not be ashamed of it by comparison with any paper I have seen. The people of Plymouth should also be proud of it — it is a well-written, well-gotten-up country weekly like few I have seen.

Plymouth Girls Tripped At Ashland; Shiloh Wins

Plymouth High school girls basketball team lost its first game this season to the Ashland College All-star team by 13 points, 42 to 29.

Expecting to play one day of the intramural teams, the girls were dismayed when the college's first string lined up.

However, they lost no time getting into the game and for the first quarter held their own. Sally Barnhour was able to slip through the college lassies for 12 points, while the Ashland girls tossed in 14.

In the second quarter Ashland slowly pulled ahead and worked up to a 20-point lead when the whistle blew. The college girls were a little too fast and tough for Plymouth. This is the first loss for Plymouth in six starts. The next game is at Plymouth, a return game with Shiloh Monday.

Shiloh girls defeated Monroeville, 46 to 29 in the season's second meeting between the two teams Feb. 16. Wolfersberger was high scorer with 16 points. Following close behind were Hamman and Dent, with 15 and 13, respectively.

High scorer for the losers was Farn with 13 points. Because of a confusion of scheduler, the Castalia girls were at Monroeville expecting to play the game. The winner of the Shiloh-Monroeville game will play Castalia.

The Lionesses, streaking to a 35-16 halftime advantage, crushed Castalia, 47-20. High scorer for the winner was Wolfersberger with 22 points.

The Lopettes have a four won, one lost record. They have a chance to avenge their only defeat when they play Plymouth Monday.

Woman Injured As Car Hits Pole

A sedan owned by Mrs. Kenneth Donathan and driven by Daniel Eby left the road opposite the Soho station in Sandusky street early Sunday morning and struck a service pole.

Mrs. Donathan was painfully injured and was treated by Dr. D. B. Faust. The vehicle was severely damaged.

FFA Goes to Tiffin Victor Bosses to Mark 10th Wedding Day

Twenty-four Shiloh P. F. A. boys, their adviser, and five adult farmers visited the Northern Ohio Breeder's association bull farm and the Tiffin Manufacturing Co. both at Tiffin.

At the bull farm, Alvin Reuter, the manager, explained how the use of proven bulls had increased dairy production per cow in Ohio. The boys saw inferior bulls of several dairy and beef breeds, some of which are worth up to $15,000.

In the afternoon, the group toured the Tiffin Manufacturing Co., which makes church furniture. The whole operation from yard drying to finished furniture was observed at this factory.

A large portion of the oak lumber used by this concern is purchased from the Kaplan Sawmill, north of Shiloh. Before the boys had previously been through the sawmill, the Tiffin trip had more than usual interest to them.

Mr. Hampton Marries North Fairfield Girl

In a pure silk organza gown designed by Marlene, Miss Lorraine Garner of North Fairfield became the bride of Lawrence S. Hampton, third son of the Richard Hamptons of that place. Sunday afternoon in North Fairfield afternoons.

The Rev. Ralph M. Felix, the bridegroom's pastor, performed the double ring ceremony at 2:30 p.m.

Given in marriage by her father, Archie Garner, the bride carried a bouquet of white orchids and lilies on a pink ribbon. Her flower girl featured an Italian neckline complimented with imported lace embroidery with pearls and sequins. The decollete bodice was embroidered in the same richness. Self-covered buttons ornamented the back. The gown ended in a chapel train.

The fingertip veil was suspended from a double-tiered pearl crown.

Mrs. Frances Garner, the bride's sister, was maid of honor in an acqumarine taffeta styled with boat-line neckline trimmed in heavy self-covered lace. The gown carried a wide ruffle at the hem with a wide hoop skirt and large bow in back.

She carried pink carnations and red roses fashioned in a colonial nosegay.

The Misses Shirley Cronister of this place and Barbara Chandler of North Fairfield were bridesmaids similarly attired and with identical bouquets.

Janet Garner, another sister, was junior bridesmaid, dressed in yellow taffeta fashioned identically with the elder bridesmaids.

Robert E. Hampton was best man for his younger brother. Groomsmen were Duane Wilson, Durward Vogel and Daniel Eby.

Mrs. Rakestraw Top Speaker in Contest

Mrs. Beverly June Rakestraw of Shiloh is the winner of the annual student nurse contest conducted among students at 11 schools of nursing in the Cleveland area.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Dent of High street, Shiloh, the contest winner is a student at City Hospital School of Nursing, Cleveland.

A 1953 graduate of Shiloh High school, she is the wife of Corp. Robert E. Rakestraw, now in California with the U. S. Marines. They were married in August, 1955.

At the Cleveland contest, Mrs. Rakestraw spoke on "Our Hospital in a program on which each of 11 nursing students gave a short talk on "Nursing in My Life."

Awards were made on the basis of the speech content, delivery, organization and general presentation. The winner received a trophy, and will represent Cleveland in the state nursing student contest this spring.

The 20-year-old nursing student has been on the student council at City Hospital's school, is a member of the choral club, the basketball team, and has served on several social committees.

An experienced public speaker, Mrs. Rakestraw won the Prince of Peace contest for three years in Shiloh; and in 1953 was district winner in the same competition. She was valedictorian of her high school graduating class.

The student nurse contest in Cleveland is sponsored each year by the Council and League for Nursing, an agency of the Community chest.
