Grandview Slates Three Big Nights For Harness Fans

Three stake events, each calling for purses of $2,500, are Grandview's program of activity tomorrow, Monday and Wednesday nights. The half-mile track located in Route 43, east of Solon, continues to become firmly entrenched as "the leading harness plain in this section of the country."

Grandview's meeting will continue through Tuesday night, Aug. 21.

The weekend activity will start off tomorrow night with the Knights of Columbus Pace for a purse of $2,500. Monday night, the two-year-olds will move into the center of the track with the juvenile race going in a pacing event. The week's stake events will be concluded on Wednesday night with the $2,500 trot for three-year-olds.

Sonight will be marked on Wednesday. Mayor Edwin Carter will present a trophy to the driver and owner of the winning trotter.

Mrs. Stober Wins

Baking Contest

At Hazel Grove

Mrs. Arthur Stober's cake won first place in the baking contest held by the Hazel Grove Grange. Among the cakes were Mrs. Roy Leffland, Mrs. Alden Miller, and Mrs. Floyd Hietzel, members of the Plymouth Grange.

Loula Kirkendall took a first place in the sewing contest which was also judged by the same group. She submitted a sun dress.

In the Juvenile group, first place was won by Lou Kirkendall for her hand made Rayon Finch placed second. Both boys were winners in the safety slogan contest.

The next meeting of the grange will be Tuesday night. The ice cream social is being planned for Aug. 4.

Hosts for the next meeting are Mr. and Mrs. Roy Gandy, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Rose, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Beal, and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Gira.

Three Claim $223

Charles E. Seaman, Shiloh; George Bevier, Shelby route 3, and Powell Halderby, Plymouth route 1, are among 11 Richland county farmers who have filed claims for animal damages with the county commissioners.

Seaman claims loss of three sheep, worth $50. Halderby reports loss of 138 chickens, worth $138. Bevier claims loss of two lambs, worth $25.

Total claims against the funds appropriated amounted to $2,335 for 176 fowl and 131 farm animals said to have been killed by dogs.

19-Year-Old Jailed

Raymond Robinson, 19-year-old Plymouth route 1 youth, is in Huron county jail to serve out fines amounting to $50 and costs for failing to stop within a quarter mile of a red light, even though he assumed distance and $300 and costs for having no operator's license.

He was arrested in Willard and sentenced there by Mayor Emory Walton.

Hospital Notes

Mrs. James Davis entered the Shely Memorial hospital Monday morning for observation.

Deryl Ream, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ream also entered the same hospital on Monday, as did Robert Bell, Shiloh, who fell from a cherry tree and fractured his hip. He was later removed to a Cleveland hospital in the McQuade ambulance.

Mrs. Fisher Becomes

Bride of Clyde Livespire Youth Arrested

Mrs. Daisy Fisher of Ironon became the bride of Clyde W. Livespire, Shiloh, in a double ring ceremony June 30 at 4 p.m. in the Lutheran parsonage at Richmon, Ind.

The new Mrs. Livespire is a graduate of Ironon High school and a graduate nurse of the Ironon hospital, class of 1924.

Mr. Livespire, a lineman, is employed on telephone construction work by the Hirsch Construction Co. at Port Clinton.

After a week of honeymoon through the Smoky mountains, the couple returned to Shiloh July 4, and is now at home in the bridegroom's residence in West Main street.

Charles Carty of North Delaware street was cited into Richmon County court by the state highway patrol because he knocked down two mailboxes July 4 in front of the homes of Constable Howard Noble and Fred Backstrom in Planktown.

Noble summoned the patrol, who made the arrest.

Mrs. Caldwell Still Ill

Charles Caldwell of Mansfield called Saturday afternoon on his sister, Mrs. Fannie Caldwell, who remains bedfast at her home in North Delaware street. John Hatch of New Haven also called in the afternoon.

mander, heads the house committee, composed of Mel Amstutz, Procter Steele and John Hedeon.

Richard Harnly, finance officer, heads the finance committee, assisted by John Reynolds.

Harold Russell, chaplain, is on the visiting committee, along with Robert Bock.

Procter Steele heads the American Legion committee, which also includes Joe Witchie, Joseph Mock and Homer Beard.

Joe Witchie is chairman of the building committee, assisted by Alveron Ferrell, John Kuhn and Jay Moser.

Jay Moser is chairman of the special flag detail committee, with Robert Moser his assistant.

On the county council committee are Junior Tracht, Keith Dawson, Rawson Russell, Joe Witchie and John Reynolds.

John Reynolds heads the golf tournament committee, assisted by Joe Witchie and Robert Moser.

Additional officers are Neal Garrett, sergeant-at-arms; James Swartz, public relations, and Kirby Nesbit, service officer.

AT LAST! The bashful boy with groundhog has been identified.

A free subscription goes to Mrs. George Spiger, Shiloh, who correctly said it was Procter Steele, Shiloh mail carrier.

The engagement of their daughter, Ruth Ann, a 1956 graduate of Shiloh High school, to Pvt. Robert W. Pittering, USMC, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Pittering, Shiloh, is announced by Mr. and Mrs. Chester Loftland of Plymouth route 1.

The bride-elect, who has set no date for the wedding, is employed by Shelby Mutual Insurance Co. Her fiance is stationed at Camp Geiger, N. C. He is a 1955 graduate of Shiloh High school.

NOTICE: Positively no trespassing on my property without permission.

—Mrs. Fannie Caldwell.

Garden Club Sets Drill on Flowers At Grange Hall

Ganges Garden club will stage its flower workshop today at 10 a.m. A sack lunch will be served. Members should bring containers to learn how to arrange and care for them. The meeting will be at the Grange hall, Shenandoah.

Family Helpers. Rome Community church will meet in the church basement Tuesday for a covered dish luncheon.

Mr. and Mrs. Clay Noble and daughter return home after spending visiting at Hayesville, Ky.

Miss Jerry Rae Grammer is at home after visiting a week in Toledo.

Attend Reunion

Joseph L. Witchie, Shiloh, and others have conveyed 235 acres in Marion and Jackson townships to Lemuel O. Lybarger and others.

Robert P. Bushey has acquired .46 acres of land in Jackson township from Lemuel O. Lybarger and others.

Kenneth G. Nixon, mathematics teacher in Plymouth High school, has sold part of an acre in Madison township to David O. Barr and others.

Bells Return from Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Bell returned Saturday night from a two week vacation trip to Florida. They, their son and daughter, accompanied them on the trip, remained to spend the summer with his sister, Mrs. Otis Morris, at Palm Bay.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hammann and family returned to Shiloh July 3 from a visit to California.

Final Plans Complete For Junior Fair

Final plans have been completed for the junior fair activities of the Richland county fair to be held Aug. 7-11 at the old fairgrounds in Mansfield. Catalogs containing details of participation are available from the county extension office in Mansfield.

C. N. McGrew, county agent and member of the junior fair advisory board, has been working with the Richland county 4-H members since the enrollment in January. A junior fair committee has been set up consisting of the adult volunteer leaders of the individual 4-H Clubs. Clubs and their leaders which form part of the entire county-wide program include: Jacque Armstrong, Shelby route 3, and John Scherer, Shelby route 3, Shelby; Shirley Armstrong, Shiloh route 2; and Raymond Wells, Shiloh route 2, Shiloh Hustlers; Shiloh Pals, Mrs. Mary White, Shiloh; Mrs. Robert Dawson, Plymouth route 1, and Mrs. Milton Wales, Shiloh route 2.

The total of 4-H members and leaders in the city working with the fair committee on the project is two or three times the above list, indicating the wide scope of personnel and activities involved in the undertaking.

This month, various junior projects will be visited by the judging committee. Judging of progress will be noted. No final judgment will be made on the agricultural projects the exhibition at the fair. However, the girls' projects will require no further judging after the inspections.

Special awards in the dairy division will include showmanship, reserve showmanship, Holstein showmanship, Guernsey showmanship, outstanding Guernsey individual, guernsey Exhibitor's award.

Five outstanding Holstein individuals, holstein exhibitors award, and outstanding Brown Swiss individual. A merchandise award will be made so the four members of the tractor maintenance club placing highest in the tractor rodeo and a trophy will be presented to the winner.

Appropriate awards will be given to winning individuals in different classes in the demonstrations. Awards will be made for the junior 4-H club demonstration, tractor demonstration, and 4-H electricity project. An award for each junior fair demonstration, and 4-H electricity projects. An award for each junior fair demonstrator will be sponsored by the Richland County Farm Bureau.

The programs of junior fair activities will be in place, senior boy's individual and team demonstrations will be presented, and crops will be judged, Wednesday, Aug. 8, will feature the junior boys' team demonstration, agricultural engineering judging, and the junior girls' team demonstration, Friday, Aug. 10, will see senior sheep judging, senior girls' team demonstrations, junior dairy judging, junior boys' individual demonstrations, and the tractor rodeo.

On Friday, Aug. 10, there will be junior poultry and rabbit judging, junior judging, junior girls' team demonstration, junior boys' team demonstration, senior girls' individual demonstrations and crowning of the King and Queen. After the parade on Saturday, all livestock and stars on Saturday, all livestock and exhibits will be released.

July 4th Big Day At McGregors':

Twin Bulls Born

Independence day was a red-letter occasion on the farm of the Roy McGregors for two reasons — and, er, three reasons.

In addition to being the birthday of the nation, it was the birthday of a set of twin bull calves to a Holstein sow which is now part of the McGregors' milking herd.

Just a week before on June 25, the McGregors dropped twin heifers, who've been named "Sugar" and "Spice." No names have been given the bull calves yet. Any suggestions?

Sawmill Cuts 5,000 Board Feet in Day

"The four brothers of us divide the work," says John Kaple, veteran sawmill operator, "and with the help of 12 hired hands, we make it run."

"It's a 5,000 board-feet-a-day capacity sawmill at Base Line and Shiloh-Norwalk road east of here, where we find native timber in converting native timber into grade lumber for furniture, second quality timber for framing and industrial and building purposes. Almost every locomotive shipped from Plymouth by Fate-Roof-Heath Corp. is blocked on timbers sawn by the Kaples."

The four brothers are Vincent, the oldest, who is responsible for the yard; John, who buys and sells; Jim, third eldest, who heads the fellin and cutting crew; and Donald, who runs the mill and is in charge of the motor pool. They've been working at the sawmill trade for 19 years. Before them, their father operated a sawmill for four decades.

"So that makes a total of 60 years of sawmilling in the Kaple family," laughs John.

Here's one fellow who knows more about any farmer's woods than the farmer himself. "We track down timber in a radius of 25 miles of Plymouth. We have to have a six months supply ahead — right now we've got a year — and whenever I can get time I ride around and keep my eyes open for stands of timber," says John.

The Kaples farm timber, they don't mind it. They cut only those trees that need to be cut or are ready for it, and leave the young growth for other times.

Once the tree is felled — and John Kaple hastens to add that 90 percent of the timber they get now is barked — then it's hauled — they snake it to a truck, haul it to the sawmill, where it is washed thoroughly and tugged and hauled onto the log carriage. This is a sliding table, manipulated back and forth by means of cables controlled by a hand switch, which carries the log against the saw blade.

The blade would be a tough customer to meet up with in the dark. It measures 56 inches across, has 48 teeth, which are honed each day at noon, by hand, and it turns at the rate of 480 revolutions a minute.

Mounted above it is the top blade, only a baby by comparison with the big one. It measures 30 inches in diameter, has 48 teeth, turns at the same speed, would cut a man in half in three seconds.

The process is simple. Once the log is manipulated into place on the sliding table by means of cant hooks, it is clamped. The operator starts the table. He controls the lateral movement of the table by means of a lever. This regulates the thickness of the board or plank to be sawn.

The table moves forward — at a speed controlled by the operator — and as the big, 75-horsepower electric motor turns the saw, the teeth bite off a regular chunk the length of the log.

The piece sawn off goes to a secondary log edger. It's a simple device with a belt in that takes the bark off one side.

Occasionally the Kaples find a quality log, such as white oak or black walnut. These they hold for purchase by veneer mills. White oak is shaved across the grain to a thickness of a twenty-eighth of an inch; black walnut even thinner.

The Kaples are not geared up for veneer work, stick to preparation and partial seasoning of grade lumber for use in the furniture mills of Tiffin, where fine grained red oak goes into church pews, to other mills at Newark, Lima, Chicago.

Occasionally they use unique grain, such as swirling grain maple, will turn up. Where does it go?

"Unless we get an outlandish price for it," laughs John Kaple, "it goes right home in my living room, over the mantel."

Most frequent logs in the mill now are beech and elm. Much elm has been diseased by the Dutch elm affliction, needs to be cut.

"It's got good demand," says the buyer-and-seller of the Kaple clan, "for juvenile furniture. So's beech."

The future? "Well, there'll always be a demand for wood. We aim to fill it as best we can. And if somebody can figure out a good way to put this infernal sawdust to work inexpensively, he can make a mint."

Sawdust can be had for the hauling, although some firms do mix it with clay, ballast, high heat, broken glass, sand, dust, leaving a light, fibrous material which is used as insulating brick.

"But they still don't pay for the sawdust. Know anybody who wants any? Send 'em down," waves John Kaple.

While you're there, stop in and see how logs are sawn.

The big saw blade turns 480 times a minute, and its teeth are honed daily, at noon. The photographer, who's subject to vertigo, took his life into his hands to ride the table for this picture.

— Advertiser photos

John Kaple runs the table as sawmaster. The log is a red oak. Rough sawn timbers from this one are trucked to Tiffin to be made into church pews. The timber is native Ohio, grown and cut within 25 miles of Plymouth and sawn at the Kaples' sawmill east of the village at the intersection of Shiloh-Norwalk and Base Line roads. Visitors are welcome. The sawdust is free, for the hauling away. It's derived from oak, beech, elm and other timbers. The four Kaples represent 60 years — 19 theirs, 41 their father's — in the sawmill industry. They afford work for 12 hired hands, keep half a dozen trucks on the road.

A Square Deal for Firemen

It comes to mind at this time of year, when the volunteer fire department stages an ox roast to raise funds for its legitimate activities, and when the village council considers the annual budget, that our firemen are not getting a square deal.

The firemen's indemnity fund is established by Sec. 741.81 of the Revised Code of Ohio. It is not optional, but required.

We invite the attention of the council, the clerk, and fire department to the provisions of Sec. 741.83 of the Revised Code of Ohio. The village shall maintain, it says, a sum equivalent to .0003 per cent of the official tax valuation of the village in that fund. That would now be $915.44.

Of course, it says that in no case shall the fund be less than $400. But it is plain this was intended to preclude a small village's compliance with the text of the law while violating its spirit.

The firemen risk their lives and good health, such as it is, for paltry pay — and we speak here of the rank-and-file firemen, not the chief, who is paid proportionately very much more than what other villages our size pay their chiefs — and they are certainly entitled to the consideration of the community in assuring them and in the event of injury or death.

The law further says that a board of trustees numbering five men, of whom the chief shall be appointed to adjudicate any claims against the fund.

Since the law says the village may be taxed not more than three-tenths of a mill for not less than four years to raise the money, it's apparent it's only a question of $250 a year.

Now would be a good time to see to it we do rightly by our firemen.

Hal Shreffler

The death of Hal Shreffler, the general motion picture theatre operator at Shelby, comes as a particular blow to us.

Perhaps it is because we have special feeling for those engaged in the entertainment business whether as performers or engaged behind the scenes.

In Mr. Shreffler's case, it is more than that. He befriended us when we knew even less about putting out a newspaper than we know now. He was always helpful, cooperative and courteous, which are rare traits in this hedged-up day, but in addition he was thoughtful of our best welfare. Time and again he gave us tips that helped us over a tough road.

And to those of us who've been around here longer, his passing means the passing of another day. When legitimate theater trod the boards at the old Shelby Opera house, when carriages were the common thing (he was apprenticed to the carriage trade, with his father), and worked at it a long time.)

In American parlance, he who caters to the carriage trade was always said to be an apple-polisher, a snob at heart who didn't quite have the poise to be a snob himself.

Hal Shreffler worked on carriages, and he never forgot what hard work it was. He was himself of the carriage trade: a gentleman, honest and sincere, polite and kind.

We hope that Up There the shows are always good.

Roger Miller's elder and Ralph Hunt's younger have been pestering us all week with a story of three characters whose names were Baloney, Shuddup and Trouble.

Seems Trouble turned up missing and the other two went to the police station.

Desk sergeant asked 'em their names. "Baloney," replied the first. "Shuddup," said the second.

"What're you lookin' for — trouble?" demanded the sergeant, offended and irate.

"Yeah, that's it," replied the two.

Remember H. W. Longfellow's poem about Hiawatha, "By the shores of the Gitchee-Gumee"? A friend of ours got slap-happy waiting for a bite the other day, and as his boat drifted on the lake, here's what he wrote:

"He killed the noble Mudjekewis,
The old mudjekewis, the mudjekewis,
Made them with fur skin inside,
Made them with the skin side outside,
He, to get the cold side outside,
Put the inside skin side outside,
He, to get the cold side outside.
Put the warm side for side inside.
That's why he got slapped inside,
Why he put the skin side outside.
Why he turned them inside outside."
Silly, isn't it?
