

Mothers to march here Jan. 28 in drive for funds to treat polio; immunization urged

Annual "March of Mothers" to solicit donations for the March of Dimes will be staged here at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 28. F. Coon, local chairman, announces.

High school girls will be assigned to assist mothers recruited by Mr. Coon from the membership of the Mothers' club.

First lung canisters have been placed in the post office, business houses and public buildings to receive casual donations. Letters soliciting more substantial gifts have been sent each organization, club and society in Plymouth and Plymouth rural.

A feature of this year's drive is the "kaffee klatch", sponsored by families of polio patients. Ellen McKown, Plymouth route 1, is local chairman.

GOAL OF THE DRIVE. This year is to raise funds for treatment of polio. "Officials generally believe that the Salk vaccine is effective immunization against paralytic polio, and much of the problem of prevention has been solved," Mr. Coon said.

"Now we must turn our efforts to the problem of treatment. Hospital costs are increasing every day. The cost for one polio patient in City hospital in Cleveland is $975 a month. Braces, reconstructive therapy, special baths and such cost money, more money every day. That is why everybody has to open his heart and empty his purse this year."

Prevention of polio is possible, Mr. Coon added, only if universal immunization procedures are followed. "There are many million doses of Salk vaccine available for the asking. All of our locally practicing physicians have supplies on hand. All persons under 50 years of age should be immunized, particularly those who come into association with children. The immunization series is a simple one and it causes less discomfort than the smallpox vaccination. The first two inoculations come six weeks apart and the third six or seven months thereafter. Since polio season, which is mid-May to mid-September, is not a good time to receive the shots, persons needing them should get at least the first two now."

But isn't polio a children's disease? "No," the school superintendent answers, "40 per cent of new patients are adults. And we can't protect the general population until at least 85 per cent of all people are immunized."

For March of Dimes purposes, Plymouth falls within the operational control of the Huron county chapter at Norwalk, which last year had a deficit of $4,800. Deficit in 1955 was $4,700. The chapter got $11,750 from national headquarters last year because the county is not self-supporting in taking care of its polio victims.

Slogan of the drive this year: "Remember Me!" The theme is a winsome girl of perhaps five who walks on crutches. Help in rehabilitating her and thousands like her is the goal of the March of Dimes drive in 1957.

The Advertiser will receive the donations of those who may not be solicited elsewhere, or who intend to be absent Jan. 28.

Spinster found ill

Police broke into the home of Miss May Fleming Friday, after neighbors reported she had not been seen for several days, and found her semi-conscious on the floor.

Rushed to Willard Municipal hospital in the McQuate ambulance, Miss Fleming, 81, an old age pensioner, was found to be suffering from pneumonia.

Police said her kitchen stove was only partially lighted and small leakage of gas was apparent. She evidently had not eaten for a considerable period.

The house was a shambles. Newspapers and debris of all sorts were piled from floor to ceiling in most of the downstairs rooms. "It was colder inside than outside," police said.

Hospital attaches surmise she fell on her face, which is badly bruised and discolored beneath the skin. She was only partly coherent at effects of her lung ailment, affects of her lung ailment.

In her purse were a substantial sum of money and several old age pension checks which she had not cashed.

(Ed. Note. Under Ohio law, an old age pensioner must adduce evidence he is without more than $300 in assets before he can qualify for assistance. The state takes a lien against real property and proceeds from its disposition are made available to the state until the value of assistance is covered.)

Alert neighbors probably saved woman's life

Solicitous neighbors probably saved the life of Miss May Fleming.

From their kitchen windows, the Donald Shavers can see the light in Miss Fleming's kitchen, which usually burns all night because the aged spinster sits in a straight-backed chair in the kitchen to conserve on heat. At daybreak, or shortly thereafter, the light is usually extinguished.

But Friday morning the light was still on. Alarmed, Mrs. Shaven ran over and called out to her neighbor. Receiving no answer, she summoned her husband. He got a weak response to his offer of help. Unable to open the door because it was strongly bolted with multiple locks, he called police. Entry was forced.

It was at first feared Miss Fleming had broken her hip, as she was unable to move.

It is surmised she must have lain there two days. A voracious newspaper reader, she had failed to retrieve two copies of her afternoon newspaper.

Nimmons tells club of '96 scene here

J. Elden Nimmons spoke of Plymouth as it was 60 years ago before the Community club Jan. 8.

President James Cunningham announced program assignments for the remainder of 1957 as follows: John A. and H. James Root, February; Evan P. LoFollette and William Griffiths, March; Donald P. Markley and Maynard J. Coon, April; J. Harris Postema and Arthur Heck, May; Donald J. Ford, Thore Woodworth and J. Harold Cashman, June; R. Earl McQuate and John F. Stambaugh, September; E. Beryl Miller and Clarence O. Cramer, October; A. L. Paddock, Jr., and Edward O. Ramsey, November; David Scaffield and Robert Eichelberry, December.

The club will pay $125 as a contribution to John A. Appleton Council, Boy Scouts, as its support of the local Scouting movement.

Street supervisor, council tangle here

It was cold Tuesday night for everybody but Street Commissioner Willie Barnett.

The village council put Barnett on the pan in a short session and when the smoke had cleared voted five to one to advertise for candidates for the post, which currently pays $3,500 annually.

Barnett tried to explain some charges, notably one by Council President John T. Dick that he had failed to patch some streets, but it was plain the council was not satisfied with his work.

He did not say whether he is a candidate for reappointment to the job. His term expires at the end of January. Henry Trauger was an interested spectator, but made no gesture.

In a special budget session Friday night, the council approved an operating appropriation of $134,072.69 for 1957. This figure is about $635 less than in 1956.

But the general fund, in which most of the freedom of action and maneuver for the council lies, is cut from $25,072 to $22,370 for 1957. The loss represents proceeds of the one mill operating levy which was defeated at the polls in November.

Local youth, 19, pleads guilty to rape charge

A 19-year-old Plymouth youth is in Erie county jail held for action of the grand jury on a plea of guilty to attempted rape of a 15-year-old Bellevue girl.

He is Thomas Paul Marvin, private in the U. S. Army, who was arrested Dec. 30 at 10 p.m. by Chief John Strouse, Jr., Castalia.

Library circulates 14,103

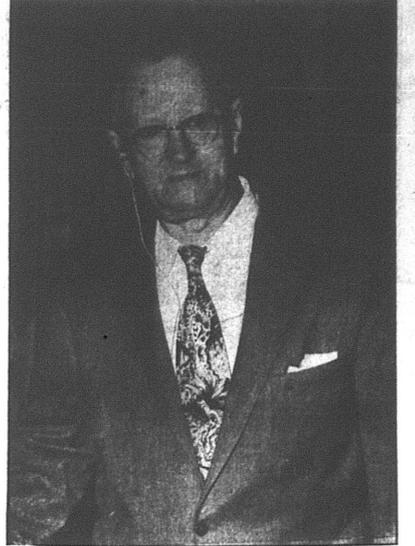

Plymouth Branch library circulated 9,776 juvenile volumes and 4,327 adult items during 1956, making a total of 14,103, Mrs. Harold Shaffer, librarian, announces.

Mrs. Heuberger ill

Mrs. Francis Heuberger, Shelby route 3, entered Mansfield General hospital Tuesday for surgery. She will be a patient there about three weeks.

FORTY DOLLARS RICHER is Frank W. McCormick, who suggested new method of using tub files at Wilkins Air Force station. It saves government $750 annually. McCormick lives at 82 Park avenue with wife and two children.

VETERAN INDUSTRIALIST PERCY H. ROOT looked back on a full and interesting life on his 75th birthday Monday. He was born near Medina on Jan. 12, 1882, and is still active in Fate-Root-Heath Co. Married and father of four children, Mr. Root is an avid devotee of tourism and philately.

Mrs. Herber's kin dies at Elyria home

The Thin Man — less thin and more of a man — returns. He was here for a few days this week and will be back permanently Feb. 1, having served exactly two years in the Army.

George A. Carter, composing room employee of The Advertiser who volunteered for the draft two years ago, will resume his position on that date.

Heavier, two years older and wiser, and equipped with wife, the former Carole Tracy of Bridgeport, Carter will live at 106 West Broadway.

Lasch, Jr., appointed

Joseph Lasch, Jr., 54 Springmill road, has been appointed to fill the unexpired term of Raymond L. Brooks as clerk of Plymouth township.

Mother-in-law of Mrs. Joy Herber, the former Mrs. Jo Fate of this place, Mrs. Ella Herber, 87, died at her home in Elyria Friday. She was the widow of Stuart Herber. Her son is Mansfield division manager of Ohio Edison Co. and formerly a director of Fate-Root-Heath Co. here.

Born in Sullivan, Ind., Mrs. Herber had lived in Elyria 35 years. She belonged to the First Methodist church there.

Another son, Paul B. Elyria, also survives.

Her pastor, the Rev. C. A. Riggs, conducted funeral services Sunday at 3 p.m. Burial was in Fairview cemetery, Linton, Ind.

Solicitors' canvass to end this week

Contributions to the Shelby Memorial hospital building fund are being made this week by Plymouth not employed in Shelby, being called upon by a solicitor for the drive.

The hospital fund is accepting both direct gifts or pledges. Not far from their goal, it is hoped that it will be reached this week. Actual construction of the new structure will start later this year. When the new building is finished, the old section will be torn down and the addition erected a number of years ago, which is the only fireproof section of the present hospital, will be connected to the new building.

The business section is being canvassed by Lowell Keith, Edward O. Ramsey and Ira Brougher. The residential section is under the direction of Mrs. Robert MacMichael, Mrs. Bertha Seabolt, Mrs. Harold Dietrich, Mrs. Harold Sloat, Mrs. Miles S. Christian, Mrs. Earl C. Cashman, Mrs. Mabel McFadden, Mrs. Howard Biler, Mrs. Sam Schroeder, Mrs. D. Karl McGinty, Mrs. Gerald W. Cavewood, Mrs. Emerson Shields, Mrs. Alfred Parkinson, Mrs. M. J. Coon, Mrs. C. M. a Dog's Life

PUPS CAN LEARN TO OBEY

By Bob Bartos
It is as easy and as much fun to teach your dog simple obedience as to teach him parlor tricks. And the reward will be all yours; for not only will the dog be easier to live with, but the day may come when your command and his prompt obedience might save his life. You will need patience and persistence. Be sure the dog understands what you want him to do. Remember never to vary your commands or lose your temper. Keep the lessons short and praise the dog often. The first lesson, to "Come on call" can be taught even to the six to eight weeks' old puppy. When feeding time comes, hold the plate of food down so the puppy can see and smell it. Keep repeating a trilling whistle as you entice him to you and the food. Each time you feed him repeat the whistle. The puppy will quickly associate the sound of the whistle with something pleasant, and soon will answer automatically.

All obedience lessons are made easier by leash-training the dog. First get him used to a collar or slip chain. When he has worn it for some time, tie a length of twine or light rope to it and let the puppy drag it about. When he has become familiar with it, pick up the end and follow him about. Stand a short distance from him and call him to you; use short quick jerks on the rope or leash. Do not pull or drag. Gradually coax him to follow you. Repeat the lesson often and the puppy will soon be walking with you.

Lessons in obedience should be given in surroundings free from any outside distractions. All lessons should be short and brisk, but repeated often.

Florida Favorite: Glazed Oranges

In Florida, where they grow more and better citrus fruits every year, local cooks have naturally experimented with a variety of ways of using the juicy, delicious fruits all through their menus. One of the tastiest and most unusual ways of preparing oranges as a meat garnish are these glazed oranges, seasoned with sugar and cinnamon. Makes a wonderful accompaniment for that slice of ham or for a whole ham. The oranges coming into market now are the prized Valencia, seedless, juicier, and sweeter than any other variety. The Valencias are large enough, too, so that they can be halved and eaten like grapefruit. Easy to section, the children will enjoy them as a luncheon item.

Here's the recipe for the spiky glazed oranges.
Florida Glazed Oranges With Ham Steak
3 Valencia oranges 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup sugar 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 1/2-inch thick slice ready to eat ham
Place oranges in saucepan; cover with water. Bring to a boil and cook 30 minutes, or until tender. Drain; cut in half. Mix sugar and cinnamon; sprinkle each half with 2 tablespoons of the sugar mixture and dot each half with 1 teaspoon of the butter. Slightly re-edges of ham; place in baking pan. Place orange halves around ham. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) 40 minutes.
YIELD: 6 servings.

The soil should not be plowed, staked, absorb moisture readily or spaded in the spring until it is sufficiently dry to crumble when worked. The same standard should be applied later in seedbed preparation and cultivation.

Norwalk firm quits, 90 join unemployed as city loses plant

Competing with 500 other communities for the location of a branch of the Carborundum Co., Niagara Falls, N. Y., Norwalk lost out, the Chamber of Commerce reports.

Van Wert was selected as the site for the new plant.

Sale off Durkee's Famous Foods plant at the county seat by the Glidden Company, its owners, to Miami Margarine Co. was revealed Jan. 9. The plant, which manufactures margarine and salad oils was started by Wisconsin Food Products in the late 1920's. Margarine production schedules are due to be altered, it was announced.

Miami Margarine Co. will close down operations of Durkee's in Norwalk, throwing about 90 factory and office employees out of work, on Feb. 1.

Glidden Co. sellers of the business, said the firm is investigating possibilities of transferring other manufacturing activities to the Norwalk plant buildings, which were not sold.

Pilgrims lose sixth, Lions fall at home

Lucas' Cubs came from behind in the final seconds on their home floor Friday night and sent Plymouth's Pilgrims home with their sixth consecutive defeat, 60 to 56.

The Pilgrims led through three quarters and held on gamely in the final period. But Larry McMillen and Pat Kelsor broke loose for baskets in the last few seconds to win for the Cubs.

TED FOX, SECOND-RANKING scorer in the Richland county league, racked up 20 points. The Pilgrims, who are now in next-to-last place in the loop with a pair of wins and six losses, outscored Lucas from the field, 25 to 21. But the home five did better from the penalty stripe, dropping 18 of 23. The visitors got only six of 14.

A little highhandedness

Just in case anybody wonders, we don't think the water pollution control board is on sound ground when it orders this village to place another sewer bond issue on the next ballot.

And no amount of shilly-shally, backsliding double talk in the ultimate paragraph of its letter of transmittal, to the effect the village "may wish to consider" putting an issue on the ballot, can wash out the bad taste of paragraph two, which says the village will submit the results of the bond issue of November, 1957.

The letter is a remarkable piece of bad administration. With one breath the board commands village officials to apprise the citizenry of the issues involved, and with the other tacitly refuses to recognize that to do so honestly will operate to the disadvantage of the proposed sewer system.

There will be other bond issues, which voters of the village will regard as more important, on the ballot in November. One of them is certain to be a school bond issue. Our schools — and we still are not convinced that consolidation is unwise — need the money, which will doubtless take the form of more operating funds, perhaps as much as two mills, and a building issue.

One would think that Dr. Dwork's henchmen in Columbus would show sufficient intelligence and breadth of perception to have investigated the local situation a bit before preparing such an order. The water pollution control board doesn't have many friends locally, as is evidenced by two defeats at the polls. But to make these same voters downright mad by ordering an election is simply not good sense.

to encourage new industry to locate there, while Wellington, which is a third larger than either of these two towns, has raised nothing at all.

"Like Jefferson, where several members of its Development corporation have devoted many hours in an effort to attract industry, certain Wellingtonians have rendered yeoman service. Yet the results have been negligible.

"Wellington has shown a steady residential growth in the past 15 years but it needs industry to maintain a desirable balance. Amherst is a good example of what happens to a community that expands without attracting industry. There, the school district has had to be classified as a 'poor' district in order to get state aid for school expansion.

"A community without sufficient industry becomes a 'bedroom' town. Most people who earn their livelihood elsewhere do not have the same loyalty to their home base as when they are employed in it. Job opportunities are among a community's greatest assets.

"Furthermore, every community has an obligation to provide work for the oncoming generation. The Wellington area has upwards of 200 births a year. Eventually most of these will be seeking employment and how much better it would be if they could find it in Wellington.

"We also need a larger tax duplicate to finance our residential expansion. Industry would help in this respect also.

"Only wholehearted cooperation will bring it to pass."

Like the man in the fraternal club, upon being asked to shoot pool. "We tried that once — didn't like it!"

By Phineas Whittieseed

The pity of it all is that only 25 persons were there to hear him.

And the lesson for others to learn is that J. (for Jason) Elden Nimmons has a keen memory, a witty style, and can talk on his feet. His subject matter is as old as time, say at least 60 years, and as fresh as tomorrow. Book him for your next club meeting.

For he speaks entertainingly of the Plymouth of 1897, six decades ago, when he was a young boy on the Square. And the things he said to the Community club a week ago Tuesday had a punch to them that wasn't apparent until he had finished.

HE STARTED AT THE CORNER WHERE the First Evangelical Lutheran church is situate and proceeded to go around the Square to the school. East in West Broadway he went, thence south in Plymouth street to the furniture store, across the street and back to the Square, east in East Main street to the point, then along the north side of the Square to Spring street, thence south in Sandusky street and west in West Broadway to the school property. He told what was there and who owned or operated it, and what kind of a businessman he was, and he threw in little highlights about one character and another.

For those who are more than two score and 10, it is a double delight. Draw him out if you can.

Some of the things he pointed out are worth noting: only two new constructions on the Square in 60 years, more houses built in Plymouth since 1946 than during any six decades since 1860. At one time, the village was a center for wood shippers. Wood growers lined up hub to hub at hitching rails of a Saturday to market their clip.

Once there were as many saloons in the Huron county part as in the Richland, and merchants could sell you a tot for a nickel, drawn from a barrel in the back of the store, with impunity. Legal impunity, that is. There was then and is still the maternal distlike of such goings on.

AND HOTELKEEPING WAS A PROFITABLE and important business here. Only time and horses that didn't run so fast as advertised defeated the hotelkeepers.

On balance, Plymouth has benefited, J. E. implied. Despite the chorused response to his rhetorical question "What have we lost?" (answer, natch: saloons), it was plain that industrial growth is the chief advantage to 60 years of change in Plymouth.

Here's E. L. Henes, editor of the Wellington Enterprise, speaking:

"My good friend Al Lampion, editor of the Jefferson Gazette, wrote of the thrill he received in reading in the New Year's edition of the Plain Dealer of the progress made in the village of Lodi through the cooperation of a community Development corporation.

"What Lodi is doing, both Jefferson and Wellington have been attempting for several years without success. Like Lampion we ask, why?"

"Lodi Development corporation sold $65,000 in stock at $50 a share, purchased 30 acres of land, built a building and then sold it at cost to a new business. Jefferson had difficulties in raising $1,500

'Too cold,' say invitees of bids for inauguration

There may have been 20,000 hardy souls in Columbus Monday to witness the swearing-in of the first Republican governor of Ohio in 10 years, but invitations to citizens in Plymouth weren't accepted.

Reason: too cold. Veteran Plymouth Township Trustee Samuel H. Cashman had an invitation, but preferred to stay close to the fire.

A personal invitation from Governor C. William O'Neill to the publisher of The Advertiser was also declined. But part of it was press of other important business, honest.

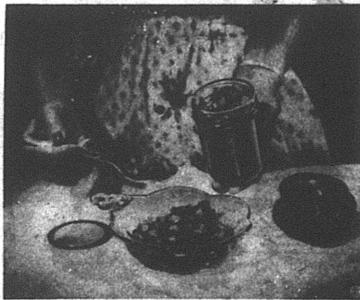

Royal Mausoleum of Baghdad

TOMB OF A MONARCH: The Royal Mausoleum holds the remains of King Faisal I of Iraq, one of the Bible Lands, in the capital city of Baghdad. King Faisal I is known as the father of modern Iraq; a status in his honor dominates one of the principal squares and several buildings are named after him. Baghdad is famous as the city of the Caliph Haroun Al-Rashid and the thousand and one nights of Scheherazade. It is filled with golden-domed mosques, museums and Mausoleum. Within driving distance, are the ruins of Ctesiphon, the world's longest unreinforced arch, and those of Babylon, scene of the tower of Babel and the Hanging Gardens. Babylon was the place where the prophet Daniel foretold the downfall of the Emperor Belshazzar (Dan 5:23) in the fateful words "Bene, Mene, Tekel, Upharim."

Easy-to-Make Zestful Relishes

Spicy relishes that are easy to make and keep on hand to lend zest your menus at a moment's notice needn't mean a lot of trouble.

Though all relishes are easy enough to make, most of the old standbys require a fairly large number of ingredients. Busy people, especially men, keep asking for short and easy recipes. While they lack the subtle blend of flavors found in a well-made relish, these quick-and-easy recipes seem to be exactly what busy people order. Use the new tapered Half Pint Jars. They are thrifty because they're just the right size for relishes.

Pepper Relish—Sweet

Be sure to use peppers which do not become bitter.
12 red sweet peppers 1 cup sugar
12 green sweet peppers 1 tablespoon salt
6 medium sized onions 2 cups vinegar

Remove seeds from peppers. Chop vegetables. Mix all in a bowl and simmer 15 minutes, then boil 1 minute. Pour, bottle, hot, into Half Pint Jars; seal at once.

Pepper Relish—Sweet

Follow above recipe except use one or 2 cucumbers.

Ripe Tomato Relish

2 quarts chopped tomatoes 1 cup sugar
1 cup chopped onion 1 cup vinegar
1 tablespoon salt 1 tablespoon mustard

Use slightly underripe tomatoes. Mix tomatoes, onion and salt. Let stand 1 or 2 hours, then put into jelly bag and gently squeeze out juice. (The vegetables must be dry as possible to get them.) Mix vegetables with other ingredients. Let mix and add spices as desired. Cook over low heat for 15 minutes. Pour boiling

Handy Wall Racks
ATTRACTIVE and handy wall racks for various household uses can be made easily from small pieces of Marlite paneling left over from a wall or ceiling installation.

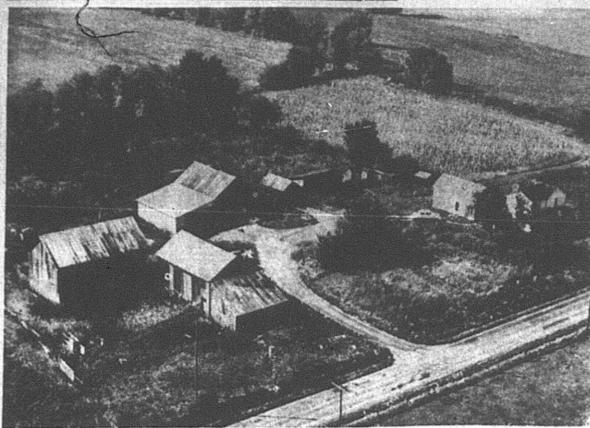

Such a rack, made of a size to hold loose sheets of note paper, might be hung near the telephone. Or a rack for the telephone wall might be made for directories. Or one might prefer to design a rack to keep catalogs, magazines, mail or other articles easily accessible but out of the way.

Wood grain patterns in Marlite paneling are especially suitable for wall racks. Authentic reproductions of selected wood, they supply a distinctive touch in decoration and harmonize with a variety of backgrounds.

For a simple and interesting construction, the rack may be put together with leather or plastic lining, threaded through holes in the pieces of paneling that form the rack. The predecorated paneling, made of Masonite tempered hardboard, can be drilled with a hand drill. Holes should be started on the finished side. Because of its hard plastic finish, the paneling used is so water-

Miss Reed becomes R. L. Bonecutter's bride

Miss Betty Reed became the bride of Robert Lowell Bonecutter in soft candlelight at 7:30 p.m. Saturday night in the First Presbyterian church.

Tall tapers lighted each window of the church, and the altar held tapers with bouquets of white chrysanthemums.

Carol Jo Cunningham played a prelude of nuptial music on the church organ before the ceremony. She later accompanied Mrs. Willet, who sang "Always" and "I Love You Truly".

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Ralph M. Felix, retired pastor of the church.

Escorted by her uncle, Worley Reed of Bucyrus, the bride approached the altar to the strains of the traditional wedding march.

SHE CHOSE A FLOOR-length gown fashioned with a full tulle skirt. The tight fitting bodice of lace featured a high rounded collar and long sleeves which ended in points at the wrist. Small satin-covered buttons ran up the back of the gown. Her finger tip veil of Illusion lace was held by a small white headband. She carried a white orchid in the center.

Miss Elsie Reed of Elyria was her sister's only attendant. Her hairina length gown was of orchid and lavender chiffon. With it she wore matching gloves and a small hat with a veil.

George Clark served as best man. Ushers were Donald Walker and Don Keiser, both of Shelby.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Reed chose a wine colored gown fashioned with a soft fold-back collar. She wore black accessories. The bridegroom's mother was gowned in a two-piece black dress. She wore a small pink hat. Both mothers wore corsages of white carnations.

A RECEPTION WAS HELD after the ceremony in the church rooms with friends of the young couple assisting.

For her going-away costume, the new Mrs. Bonecutter changed to a winter white suit with which she wore navy accessories and the orchid from her wedding bouquet.

Both young people are employed by the Shelby Salesbook Co. and are now at home at 18 1/2 Clark Ave., Shelby. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Donna Reed and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Bonecutter of Shelby.

Thompson accepts board appointment

Jack Thompson has been appointed to succeed George H. Spiger, resigned, as trustee of the Board of Public Affairs. He will fill Spiger's unexpired term, which runs until Dec. 31.

Thompson is a former councilman.

A record budget was approved by the council Jan. 9. It calls for appropriations of $60,065.09 to operate the village. Of this amount, the general fund will receive $9,339.86, the water department $8,077.51, the light and power department $35,398.12, bond retirement $2,069.29 and street maintenance $4,680.31.

The budget, some $4,000 higher than for 1956, will require a tax levy of $26.40 per $1,000 valuation. This is about 20 cents a thousand higher than last year.

Revenue totalling $14,000 is to be derived from the sale of bonds to finance the beginnings of a sewer system and an additional $25,000 is for repairs and additions to the school buildings. Waterworks indebtedness was paid off during 1956, thus reducing the total new assessment.

Miss Briggs to sing

Carolyn Briggs of Ganges will sing with the Heidelberg college concert choir in a special program Jan. 20 in Shelby High school. The concert is scheduled for 3 p.m.

Prof. Ferris Ohl is director of the choir.

While total crop output in the U. S. this year is likely to be down substantially from that of last year, record production is in view for meat, milk, eggs, broilers and turkeys. In the last half of 1956, however, meat production will fall below the 1955 level because of the reduced spring pig crop, the USDA predicts.

Leftover turkey meat, broth, gravy and stuffing should be refrigerated immediately after the meal is served. It is a fallacy that placing hot foods in the refrigerator causes them to spoil.

Heart disease fatal to Robert Bell, 83

A Spanish American War veteran who was recovering from a broken hip received when he fell from a cherry tree, Robert M. Bell, 83, died of heart failure in Crite Veterans' hospital, Cleveland, Saturday morning.

After treatment for the broken hip, he had visited his home. He had become ambulatory and progress was considered good when weakness of the heart became evident. Placed in an oxygen tent, he failed to rally.

His wife, Mary Jane, and a son, Chester W., both of Shiloh, are the immediate survivors. There are three grand-children and four great-grandchildren.

The Rev. Thomas M. Sheesley conducted funeral services from the McQuate Funeral home, Shiloh, Monday at 2 p.m. Interment was in Greenwich cemetery.

Guthrie called home

Myron (Bill) Guthrie of Scott street was called home from his work at Middletown, Pa., Jan. 8 by the serious illness of his wife.

She was admitted to Shelby Memorial hospital Jan. 9 and underwent surgery the following day. Early this week she was reported to be recovering satisfactorily from the operation.

Mrs. Kirkendall also observed a birthday on that date.

Nine OES at Galion

Nine members of Angelus Chapter No. 322, Order of Eastern Star, attended the 25th session of district day school of instruction, 10th district, at the Masonic temple in Galion Jan. 9.

Attending were Mmes E. J. Stevenson, Gloyd Russell, John Bryan, Fred Dawson, Leland Hopkins, Frank Dawson, George Rinehart, Sr., and Forrest Black and Miss Marlene Russell.

Veteran Richland county farmer, William H. Reynolds, 76, succumbs

William H. (Bee) Reynolds, 76, prominent retired farmer, died at his home in Ganges late Jan. 9.

His wife, Clara, a daughter, Mrs. Carl Carlson, and a brother, Foster C., all of Ganges, survive.

The Rev. Martin Sybold conducted funeral services Saturday at 2 p.m. from the Ganges Reformed church. Burial in Adama cemetery, Cass township, was in charge of the McQuate Funeral home, Shiloh.

"Me... A Water Hog?"

You bet you are. You require about 5,200 gallons of hot water from birth to six months. Diapers, formula bottles, baby clothes, baths, and more diapers. But you really need the hot water — and you'll really get it, economically, with an automatic, fast recovery Gas water heater. But...

Make sure it's automatic — because you'll never have to keep adjusting it.

Make sure it's fast recovery — because only fast recovery Gas water heaters will keep up with your big demands.

Make sure it's Gas — because Gas heats water faster, and much more economically than any other method.

FIX-UP TIPS
For the Home

Emergency Supplies
FOOD, water and light are often shut off to families whose homes have been damaged by floods, fires or other disasters. In the event of an enemy air attack, these essentials of life would pose problems for all people in the area. The answer is to keep emergency supplies in the home.

Items stored in the containers should include bottled water, canned foods, flashlights, candles and matches. These are basic emergency supplies. A family which is isolated from its neighbors might also elect to keep a portable battery-powered radio and extra clothing among the emergency supplies, even though this may require using more than one covered metal storage can. An important point is to keep the emergency cans of materials where they can be reached quickly and easily.

Ice Fishing Shelter
WITH a portable, knockdown ice fishing shelter, anglers can enjoy the winter sport in comfort, protected from cold winds. Easily built with sturdy Masonite tempered pressedwood panels, which assure a long life, the structure may be heated. It has a plastic window which of course may be darkened, if desired, by means of a shade. Since only seven panels are involved, there is a minimum of construction, hauling, setup and knockdown. They can be hauled out an automobile or in a pickup truck. An interesting feature is that the panels are fastened together with screen-couplings. No nuts and bolts are needed, so there's nothing to become lost and no fumbling around in icy weather getting the panels set up. Construction is easy, too, as there are only four different patterns for the seven panels. If desired, a stovepipe hole may be cut in one of the wall panels. Naturally, the hole must be protected by an asbestos collar. Application of a primer and two finish coats of paint complete the "house on ice."

To obtain a free working drawing, write the Home Service Bureau, Suite 2037, 111 West Washington St., Chicago 2, Ill. requesting a copy of Plan AE-299.

Life sparkles anew for those who play music. What other gift lasts so long and gives so much as a new piano or organ. Over 65 in stock to choose from. We finance out own Harpden's Music Store, Marion, O.

CARD OF THANKS
Our recent loss, the death of our beloved husband and father, George Feazel, has left an emptiness in our hearts that can never be wholly filled, but the many kind words and acts of sympathy from our friends, neighbors, and relatives have helped immeasurably. We are deeply grateful to Rev. Arthur DeFouw, The McQuate Funeral Home, the pallbearers, donors of flowers and autos, and to all who in any way assisted.
