

Polio march collects $202 despite sleet

Four mothers and 18 FHA girls canvassed house to house for the 1957 March of Dimes Monday night and, in spite of the slippery conditions of the streets, collected $201.84.

The Polio drive is "progressing rather slowly," Supt. M. J. Coon, chairman, said. "Only $216.84 has been collected to date. The campaign is to continue through the rest of January, but contributions will still be accepted in early February. Please get in your contributions as soon as possible."

Knaus, Finnegan buy acreage

Burr Knaus and others have purchased from James H. Hoffman and others 17.76 acres in Plymouth township, at the southeast corner of Route 598 and Base Line road.

John P. Finnegan and others have acquired from Edward Getz and others 154 acres in Plymouth and Cass townships, astride Plymouth-Springmill road north of Dinger road.

196 Plymouthites work at depot, earn $625,000

One hundred ninety-six Plymouthites are employed by Uncle Sam at Wilkins Air Force station, authorities there reported Monday.

This is an increase of 20 in an 18-month period. In August, 1955, the figure was 176. They bring about $625,000 in hard cash into Plymouth each year.

Plymouth contributes six per cent of the total employment of 3,251 civilians and military personnel engaged at Wilkins. Sixty per cent of these employed at Wilkins are men, the survey showed.

Other cities with over 100 employees at Wilkins are Shelby, 1,095 employees, 33.7 per cent of the total; Mansfield, 624 employees, 19.2 per cent; Willard, 239 employees, 7.4 per cent; Crestline, 190 employees, 6.1 per cent; Ashland, 146 employees, 4.5 per cent.

Employees of the station hail from 59 communities in 16 counties.

Two hurt in crashes on state highways

Two Plymouth area residents were hurt, one of them seriously, in separate collisions of automobiles last week.

More seriously hurt was Merrell Mercer, 61, Shiloh route, a realtor who lives at Shenandoah, admitted to Mansfield General hospital with a fractured back received in a two-car mishap 1.2 miles north of Mansfield in Route 13. His car collided with one driven by Virginia Bays, 36, 146 Oxford avenue, Mansfield, who received bruises of the knees and shoulders.

Eighteen-year-old Lois Tackett of New Haven was treated at Willard and Municipal hospital for facial lacerations received when the car in which she was riding struck a light truck driven by John Burma, Jr., 33, Celeriville in Route 298 about a mile north of Willard. The driver of the car, Ben Montgomery, 22, New Haven, was headed south, his tractor top, tilted to so-called collided heavily with the truck, which was headed north. He was summoned on a charge of failure to yield the right of way.

Miss Fleming dies of pneumonia at 80; set type by hand

One of the last living hand compositors of another day in newspapering, Miss May Fleming, 80, died early Thursday in Willard Municipal hospital of pneumonia. She was admitted to the hospital Jan. 11 after having been found in a semi-conscious condition on the floor in the kitchen of her home in Sandusky street by police, who broke in when neighbors could not force the bolt of the door.

For many years, Miss Fleming was a hand compositor in the Advertiser. She also worked for the Shelby Daily Globe. In later years, she was a correspondent for the Norwalk Reflector-Herald, the Mansfield News-Journal and the Globe.

In 1914, assisted by Harry B. Kirkland, now a Toledo attorney, she got out the only extra edition ever published by The Advertiser in its 104-year history. The editor, George Reeder, was at Lakeside, exhorting the faithful in one of his many ventures into evangelism. Miss Fleming ordered Kirkland to round up the news of an impending water bond issue. She set the type and together they published the special.

Long interested in Plymouth as it was when she was a girl, she devoted much time to study of its history. She was reputed to have stored in her family home the most complete file that exists of copies of local newspapers prior to 1926.

Miss Fleming attended Plymouth Academy for Girls in her youth. She would have been 81 on Apr. 4.
A sister, Mrs. Nellie Oates, Shelby, survives, as do two nephews and a niece.
Funeral services were conducted Saturday from the McCreone Funeral home by the Rev. Thomas M. Sheesley. Interment was in Greenhollow cemetery. Predeceasing were Roy and F. B. Carter, Donald Shaver, John T. Dick, Robert L. McElreath and Carl M. Lofland.

Youth week set by Methodists; students to speak

Four alien students of Ashland college will appear at Shiloh and Plymouth Methodist churches Saturday and Sunday as part of the churches' observance of National Youth week.

The students will speak at the morning services in each church. A fellowship covered dish meal will be served at each church, family style, as part of the observance.

AT THE SHILOH CHURCH: Saturday, 6:30 p.m.

AT THE PLYMOUTH CHURCH: Sunday, 1 p.m.

Guests have been instructed to carry their own table service and covered dish.

The public is invited to attend the dinners and the church services, the pastor, the Rev. Thomas M. Sheesley, said.

The foreign students who will speak are Earl Chandool, a Trinidadian; Noel Adams, a Colombian; and Dae Chang and Yong Kim, Southern Koreans.

Presbyterians vote call to Pittsburgher

Congregation of First Presbyterian church voted unanimously Jan. 21 to extend a call to Moss Rutan, senior in Western Theological seminary, Pittsburgh, Pa., to become pastor.

Mr. Rutan delivered a sermon here Jan. 20. He is married. Should he accept, it is understood he will commute to his ministerial duties from Pittsburgh so as to be present here each Sunday until late in May, when he will receive the baccalaureate degree in divinity. Thereafter he would occupy the manse at 32 East High street.

IMRE ZSAMBOKI, HUNGARIAN refugee who was to come here with his wife and daughter, Rosie, 14, will not do so, the congregation learned.

Zsamboki has found friends in Buffalo, N. Y., and will live there. Another family will be assigned to Plymouth and to the church's sponsorship. The Steve Seboks will take the family into their home here.

Ex-Shilohan shoots self, wounds wife near Tiro

Jealousy was ascribed by Crawford County Sheriff Elwood Jacobs yesterday for the motive behind the attempted murder and suicide in Route 39 a mile north of Tiro which took the life of a former Shilohan.

Lester Baker, 26, son of Marion Baker, prominent Cass township farmer, had been sued for divorce by his wife, the former Dorothy Bradley, daughter of Tiro's rural mail carrier. She and their two little girls were living in their parents' home after suit was filed.

IN THE MEANWHILE, SHE took employment outside the home. Her estranged husband was believed to have been jealous of this and of the associations which he thought she was enjoying in her employment.

On Monday night, Mrs. Baker discussed her marital problems with her attorney, O. H. Hilborn, Tiro. Early Tuesday, Baker came to the Bradley home and torced the door. Their four-year-old daughter, Cynthia, was sent by her mother for a neighbor, Hugh Crouse, for help. At the same time, she telephoned her attorney. SPEAKING GUARDEDLY over the telephone, she conveyed the understanding of impending difficulties. Before Hilborn or Crouse could get to the house Baker had shot his wife in the back of the neck and turned the pistol upon himself.

Dr. Norman Straw of Shelby was summoned. He said Mrs. Baker was in "fair" condition, despite the fact she was conscious and recalled her difficulties to the moment of gunfire from the small-caliber pistol to the sheriff. She was removed to Grant hospital, Columbus.

P-TA gives $400 for equipment in high school

Parent-Teachers association voted to give approximately $400 worth of equipment to the Plymouth High school Thursday.

The money will be used for the installation of new lighting fixtures in the main hall in the first floor, additional library shelves, and Reading Circle books for the library.

Highlight of the meeting was the votes ball game between parents and faculty. The faculty took the first two games and the parents were winners of the last two. Supt. M. J. Coon was referee and scorekeeper.

Plains for the parents were Donald Shaver, J. Harris Postema, Miles S. Christian, James Root, Paul Stoodt and Wayne Strine. The faculty team was made up of Lewis Peit, Robert Whitaker, James Nowakowski, Kenneth Nixon, Hugh Millard and Robert Martin. Since the next meeting would fall on a Richland county basketball tourney date, the meeting will be held one week later, on Feb. 28.

Shiloh girl to marry

Lucile Ann McCornack, Shiloh route 1, has obtained a license to marry Billy Ray Cranmore, Ash-town, from the probate judge of Richland county.

Her husband was dead before an ambulance could rush him to Shel, by Memorial hospital. The body was removed to the McQuate Funeral home, Shiloh.

Questions tough, 20 readers say; $10 now at stake

Apparently the five questions posed last week were too tough for even the most diligent researchers. Question No. 3 was reported by many to be the toughest.

It was: "A man of youth, living in southern Huron county, well-known locally, has the distinction of having held the same post as Thomas Woodrow Wilson, who later became president of the United States. Who is he, and what was the job?"

He is James Langhurst, Willard High school football star who captained the Ohio State squad in 1940. The job: assistant football coach at Wesleyan university, Middletown, Conn. Answers to the other questions:

1. "A Ford touring car was advertised for sale, new here in 1926 for $280. By what firm?" Answer is Russell & Reynolds.

2. "On Feb. 24, 1927, in a minstrel show at Shiloh, a young man of promise rendered a solo, 'I Never See Maggie Alone.' His name?" Answer is Ronald R. Howard.

3. "A distinguished citizen of California whose life was devoted to the city of San Francisco and whose name is irrevocably linked with that great city was born here. His name?" Answer is William Chapman Ralston.

5. "A governor of Ohio, later a senator, launched his political career here. He later achieved fame as an envoy to a foreign state. His name and home town?" Answer is Myron T. Herrick, Wellington. The contest is limited to subscribers and their families, with emphasis upon 'teen-agers. Prize this week: $10. It goes up $5 for each week the questions aren't answered.

Elegant Fish Loaf

A fish loaf can be smart... it can have food style—of course! Just look at this golden-crusted one with its interesting texture! When a homemaker finds a recipe which tells her to use leftover cooked fish, for convenience sake as well as economy, she should fasten it firmly in her book of favorite and special recipes. Especially one which recommends corn flakes as a particularly luscious extender. For while she may be confident of the nutritional value of fish loaf as a family standby, she will also discover that guests will enjoy it, in-or-out-of Lent.

Tessie's Fish Loaf

3 cups corn flakes, finely crushed
1 1/2 cups milk
1 cup flaked cooked fish*
1/2 cup sour cream
1/2 cup minced onion
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
Combine corn flakes and milk; let stand 10 minutes. Then add remaining ingredients, except eggs, and beat thoroughly. Fold in beaten eggs. Turn into well-greased loaf pan and bake in moderate oven (375°F) 1 hour. Serve with white sauce seasoned with small amount of mustard. Makes 8 to 9 servings.
*Use either fresh or canned (not salted) fish. Cook, or if available may be used. Or use canned tuna or salmon.

Farmers want bank, more corn acreage

"Ohio farmers want the right to plant more corn and still participate in the soil bank," H. D. Heckathorn, president of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation said today.

Heckathorn pointed out the national corn allotments restrict farmers from planting 37 million acres in 1957 if they wish government price supports. However, in the December corn referendum 71 per cent of Ohio farmers favored a base acreage plan which would permit planting 51 million acres, with farmers placing 15 percent of their base acreage in the soil bank. The vote nationally was 61.2 per cent, which was just under the two-thirds majority required by law.

Because the majority of farmers strongly favored the larger acreage plan the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation board believes the law should be changed. This amendment should permit farmers to choose either the base acreage plan, with its larger permitted acreage and soil bank provisions, or the present corn allotment plan, with its 37 million acreage and slightly higher support prices.

"Unless this choice is allowed, many Ohio farmers will not participate in the soil bank," Heckathorn declared. "Many of them are feeders and need their normal amount of corn for their livestock program. The present acreage allotments will leave them with a shortage of feed."

Respects where they are due

The death of Miss May Fleming removes from the local scene a familiar figure. It won't be quite the same not seeing her come down shaded Sandusky street for her daily tour of the Square.

Miss May represented to us the Plymouth that was. She had character. She worked hard for what she had and jealously husbanded it against the future.

For interest in history of Plymouth, she was hard to beat. She recognized the paucity of reliable data relating to Plymouth of yesteryear and worked hard to put it down on paper. She knew that reliance on memories is a poor substitute for the written fact.

Because she was interested in these things and in view of her long service to this newspaper, we feel it is but a fitting memorial to her that a fund for the purchase of memorabilia and historical documents specifically relating to Plymouth be established in the public library. And as soon as we can get together with the library board, we intend to give that fund a start with a contribution.

We invite her friends to do likewise.

Governor, stay with it!

Governor O'Neill takes a strong stand against the most powerful legislative lobby in the state, the Ohio Association of Township Trustees and Clerks.

Over his dead body, he says, will he permit income tax legislation to be enacted during his incumbency.

The OATTC recommended such action as a means of bolstering the finances of local governments.

Governor O'Neill is right. What we need to do is prune the budgetary requests of the several agencies of the state, which he described as high enough to bankrupt us.

But the advertiser has this consolation: he knows that the reader pays for the privilege of reading the magazine (or newspaper) and if his ad isn't seen or read, then he has nobody to blame but himself (and his ad agency, which prepares the copy and the illustrated layout). (Unless, of course, some printing accident occurs — much more likely in the small newspaper than in a big magazine — and the ad can't be read or understood. But if there's a smudge there, the reader notices it, you can be sure of that.)

It all runs into money, sure, but how or where can you get your sales message into so many homes so inexpensively? Could you visit or telephone every home in America for, say, eight cents a copy?

AND IN THE NEWSPAPER PRESS, IT costs much less. We can put 100 column inches a month into the Plymouth trading area for less than two-tenths of a cent per reader, and you can be sure they're paying to get it. If they weren't, we couldn't stay in business.

Not since we were 17 and came back from New York with a bad case of eyestrain from having visited Mr. Minsky's emporium have we paid much mind to burlesque. But we'd better wake up.

A young woman named Tempus Storm (real name Annie Becker), who measures a perfect 40-23-34 and has remarkable control of it, has just signed a contract that'll pay her $100,000 a year for the next 10 years. She'll work 25 weeks a year and go on vacation for the other 27.

And she won't have to worry about being banned in Boston, because the outfit that hired her at that figure for THAT FIGURE has its main offices there, and the guy who signs the checks puts in his eight hours in the City of Bean and Cod.

Things we liked this week: story about one of the F-R-H gals who has a watch cleverly affixed to a griffin-head belt buckle. When she wears the deal, they speak down at the shop of "Navel observatory time"; the story about the Russian visitor who found many faults with his our native land, not the least of which was the language. "Our word," he complained, "means too many different things. You have here 'Beets'. Is a vegetable. You have here also 'beets'. Is worn on string around a lady's neck. In summer everybody go to 'beets', means sit on sand and watch water. In your sport Yankees 'beets' Indians. And for this you call them sons of 'beets'. Some talking. Is too much for me."

WE WENT TO A BIG CITY WE DON'T know too well the other p.m. After a bout in the dining room of the hotel, we asked a passing waiter: "Is there a movie house close by?" "Sorry, sir," he said, "this isn't my table."

DEFENSE CHARLIE UNFORTUNATELY has a bad habit of drawing criticism when he speaks the painful truth. Some National Guard general can damn his so-called lies all he likes, the truth is that Charlie spoke the truth when he said there was some scandal during he Korean war when SOME (note the caps) young chap joined the National Guard to evade being drafted to go to Korea. Matter of fact, the National Guard general cooked his own argument when he admitted that only 37 per cent of the army Guard was mobilized. Yet you couldn't find a blank file in it during the Korean show.

WE GOT OUT WILLIAM ALLEN WHITE'S celebrated editorial, "What's the Matter With Kansas?", the other eve and just for fun, we substituted the word Plymouth for Kansas wherever possible. The man was prophetic before his time. And wouldn't be very popular around here.

OLDEST AND NEWEST METROPOLIS: Damascus, capital of Syria, one of the Bible Lands, is reputed to be the oldest continuously inhabited city in the world but in some respects it is among the most modern. The resident section, portrayed above, is criss-crossed by broad boulevards, public parks, flowering gardens and gleaming new apartment houses. Not far from this section is the American Embassy. The city is being re-constructed along modern lines but its ancient treasures are being preserved. Among the sights of the older section are the Biblical Street called Straight, the House of Ananias and St. Paul's Wall. It was on the road to Damascus that Paul saw a blinding light (Acts 9, 8) and was converted to Christianity.

State Sewing Champions Model Own Fashions in National Show

Ohio's sewing champions in the "Make It Yourself with Wool" contest show off their title-winning fashions in Las Vegas, Nevada, as they prepare to appear in the National Fashion Revue. The girls are Karen Kalb (left), 15, of Chatsfield, junior champion, and Rita McIntosh, 18, of Hamilton, senior champion. In the background is Mrs. Harold Judy of Germantown, co-director of the contest in Ohio. The wool-swinging event, offering $45,000 in awards, was held in state for the first time in 1954.

LAS VEGAS, Nevada—Ohio's junior and senior home-sewing champions in the tenth annual "Make It Yourself with Wool" contest modeled their title-winning fashions as the state's representatives in the famous National Fashion Revue, held in the Hotel Sahara here. Karen Kalb, 15, of Chatsfield, junior champion, is in the tenth grade at Chatsfield High School. Rita McIntosh, 18, of Hamilton, is a freshman at Miami University.

Selected as Ohio's sewing champions in state-wide competition, they joined the top home-sewing experts from 16 other Western and Middle Western wool-growing states in presenting their prize-winning home-sewn all-wool suits, coats, dresses and ensembles at the National Fashion Revue.

Miss Kalb won her title with a suit of nubion, sleeves and turn back cuffs. Its slim skirt has a walking pleat at each side of the center back seam.

Miss McIntosh won her state title with a full-length clutch coat of peacock blue wool chinchilla, slightly flared with shawl collar. Its long-sleeved sleeves may be worn pushed up.

The two state champions received all-expense-paid trips to Las Vegas to take part in the famous National Fashion Revue, and to be guests at the 42nd annual convention of the National Wool Growers Association. They traveled to and from Las Vegas as guests of the F. W. Woolworth Company.

The average citizen hasn't noticed it, but now he's paying directly for the advertising that sells the car he drives. He used to pay for it indirectly. That is, the dealer was charged about $20 for each new car he sold, to go into a cooperative fund administered by the manufacturer for the purchase of advertising of all kinds. Now the price of the car has been advanced, and the manufacturer alone pays for the advertising, although the dealer has some say in the placing of it.

Automobiles sell in direct proportion to three important factors: the relative radical departure in design of the car (the "keeping up with Jones" motivation), the relative saturation of the credit market (the "pay for it over 24 or 30 months" technique) and the vigor of salesmanship by the marketer, whether it be manufacturer or dealer.

So the question of whether a good many million American wage earners have a full pay check for a full work week depends upon advertising, to a large extent.

HOW MUCH DOES IT COST, THIS ADVERTISING? Our friend Joe Pettit, editor of the Creative Advocate, recently assembled some figures. A full page, four-color ad in a life magazine will run you about $32,740, for one insertion. A hit cheeper if you run it every week. The Saturday Evening Post will nick you $27,050 for the same thing. Drop it in Look magazine, and you'll get a bill for $22,640. Better Homes & Gardens comes a little cheaper at $19,340.

Roughly, the advertising agency must figure that each ad will sell a thousand cars, because the ad budget is set up that way. And it costs the advertiser about eight cents a copy to get that handsome four-color deal in the hands of the

Cold Frame Is Warm Bed For Early Season Seeds

Follow this diagram in constructing cold frame. One of man's earliest devices for protecting seeds and young plants from the destruction of cold weather is still doing a top-flight job—with modern refinements.

It is the cold frame—a wooden, glass-topped structure in which seeds can get an early start in growing eight weeks before frost disappears and outdoor gardens become safe.

The ancestor of the cold frame was nothing more elaborate than a pit in the ground. Primitive gardeners noticed thousands of years ago that plants flourished in pits, where they had protection from cold weather. The pits became a standard part of ancient gardening and are even used in some temperate climates today.

The cold frame, keeping out all cold while admitting the sun's rays through its glass top, is easily and inexpensively built. Using the sun's heat, it sometimes produces temperatures up to 100 degrees.

The accompanying diagram shows a small cold frame made to fit the standard, 3 by 6 foot sash. It can be altered, however, to fit a sash of any convenient size. The sash covering does not, necessarily, have to be glass.

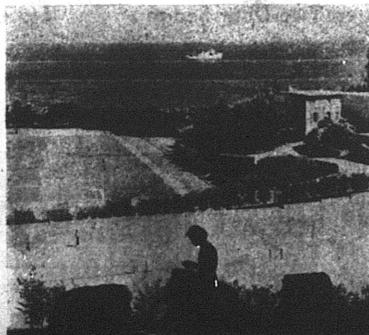

Any glass substitute—such as polyethylene—will serve to admit the sun's rays and will have the added advantage of being unbreakable. A cold frame should always slope toward the south, in order to have uninterrupted sunshine. It can be made of 1-inch, or thicker, weather-resistant lumber, such as cypress or white pine.

Use the above illustration as a working plan for constructing the frame. When you are ready to put it to use, dig a shallow pit which will permit the frame to fall about four feet below the level of the earth. Then pile soil around the outside, tamping it so that no drafts can enter. The soil should be banked against the frame several inches all around. As a final step, throw enough soil inside the frame to raise it up to the level of the ground outside.

Seeds sowed in a frame are generally placed directly in the soil, but to make transplanting easier they can also be sowed in flats or seed boxes.

ALMA MATER ABROAD: The 96-year old American University of Beirut is among the outstanding tourist attractions of Lebanon, one of the Bible Lands. With its pink rooftops pecking through green cypress trees it spreads its 78 acres of campus along the shores of the Eastern Mediterranean in the select residential area of the Lebanese capital. An American visitor, viewing its modern buildings, winding drives, stately trees and brilliant semi-tropical flowers for the first time, might think he has wandered on to a southern campus in southern California or Florida. Founded in 1863, A.U.B. has grown to be the largest American educational institution outside the U.S. through the untiring efforts of four American presidents. More than 3,000 students from 33 countries, including 1,000 from Lebanon, are enrolled in its classes. It has a faculty of nearly 400 and a working staff of 200.

THE DOGHOUSE

by Bob Bartos
Prominent Dog Authority

A home of his own can be as important to a dog as it is to a human. It gives him a refuge from the hustle, bustle and noise of man's world. It is his castle.

An indoor doghouse may be a simple crate that can also be used in transporting the dog.

Dog of the Week: CROW CROW

Average weight: 60 pounds; Height at shoulder: 20 inches; coat: soft, woolly undercoat and dense, coarse outercoat that stands away from the body; color: any solid color.

Or it may be located in the basement, with an entrance through the basement window, or in a garage with a special door for the dog.

In most areas, an outdoor dog house is ideal, since insulation and heating can be added in cold climates. A lightbulb, from 40 to 100 watts, can be installed (protected by a shield) and a simple thermostat in the power line will turn it off and on to provide even heat in the house.

Whether plain or fancy, a doghouse should be of proper size and be correctly ventilated without draftiness. If made portable, it can be placed in a shady area in summer and a sunny area in winter. A removable roof will make it easy to clean.

Unless it is intended for warm climates where airiness is vital, it should not be made too large. A good working formula is to allow 36 square inches of space for each inch of shoulder height in the sleeping quarters. The inside height should accommodate the dog in a sitting position with his head up.

The general plan of a doghouse should consist of an entrance passageway on one side of the house, and sleeping quarters on the other side. Access to the sleeping quarters is thru an opening in the inside wall of the passageway at the rear. In this way, the sleeping quarters get maximum protection.

Feeding Tip: There may be times when your dog is not getting enough fat in his diet, particularly if he is using up a lot of energy. Safest and easiest way to be sure he gets the proper amount of fat is to use on all courses dog food such as Friskies.

The New Year opened with a bang in northern Ohio so far as temperatures and snow are concerned. But in spite of what the weatherman promises in way of more of the same, the touch of Spring is not far away. For the annual Cleveland Home and Flower Show in Cleveland's big Public Hall is scheduled for March 8 through March 17 and as usual will be bigger and better than ever.

This artist's conception of the woodland and flower garden scene gives a good idea of how the main arena display will appear, according to the members of the Florists Association of Greater Cleveland who are right now growing thousands of wild flowers and other flowers, trees and shrubs in their greenhouses in preparation for creating this scene in the "most beautiful show of the year."

Home and garden lovers throughout the midwest are laying their plans now for their annual trips to Cleveland for the Cleveland Home and Flower Show, where they will see everything that's new for the house and garden. And here will also be seen two architect-designed houses fully furnished and landscaped as outstanding Show Homes. One house is sponsored by the Cleveland Chapter of the American Institute of Architects and the other by the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce. Both will be built by members of the Home Builders Association of Greater Cleveland.

Miss Guthrie wins Betty Crocker test, vies for scholarship

The Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow in Shiloh High school is Phaenon Guthrie, daughter of the Charles Guthries, Main street.

She received the highest score in a written examination on home-making knowledge and attitudes, administered Dec. 4, to senior girls. Her examination paper will be entered in competition to name this state's candidate for the title of All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow and will also be considered for the runner-up award in the state. For her achievement, she will receive an award pin designed by Trifari of New York.

The national winner in the third annual search conducted among 300,526 young women in 11,636 of the nation's public, private and parochial high schools will be named May 2 at the American Table banquet in the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, New York City.

GENERAL MILLS IS SPONSOR of the program designed to assist schools in education for home and family living and to emphasize through a sound scholarship award program the personal qualities and sense of values necessary to successful homemaking. A total of $106,000 in scholarships will be awarded.

Each state Betty Crocker Homemaker to Tomorrow will receive a $1,500 scholarship and an education trip with her school adviser to Washington, D. C., colonial Williamsburg, Va., and New York City. A $500 scholarship will be awarded the runner-up girls in each state. The school of the state winner will receive a set of the Encyclopedia Britannica.

The scholarship of the young woman All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow will be increased to $5,000. This year for the first time girls who rank second, third and fourth in the national finals will receive $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000 scholarships, respectively.

ALSO, WANDA ALFREY, William Banks, Daryl Herz, James Hughes and Earl Lynch, 10th grade; Richard Bookwalter, Charlotte Dyer, Carol Hunter, Ed Kranz, Geraldine Noble and Susan Wolfersberger, ninth grade;

Also, Joan Dyer, Jesse Hamman, Ray Lynch, Rosemary Robinson, Jane Hamman, James Russell and Ruth Wallace, eighth grade;

Also, Robert Arnett, Susan Ferguson, Carolyn Hamman, Cheryl Owens, Robert Bushey, Anetta Dawson, Gary Foster and Wallis Harnly, seventh grade.

Class of 1957, Shiloh High school, was in Columbus on a field trip yesterday. The class visited the state capitol, the state office building, and other points of interest, including the session of the Ohio Pastors' association in the Veterans' Memorial building, where Grace Ann Wolfersberger, a member of the class, was competing in the Prince of Peace contest finals.

A "pep" assembly was staged Tuesday in the school for Miss Wolfersberger, who delivered her oration as a warm-up.

Kent offers $$$

One hundred four-year scholarships, each worth $600, will be awarded by Kent State university to outstanding graduates of Ohio high schools.

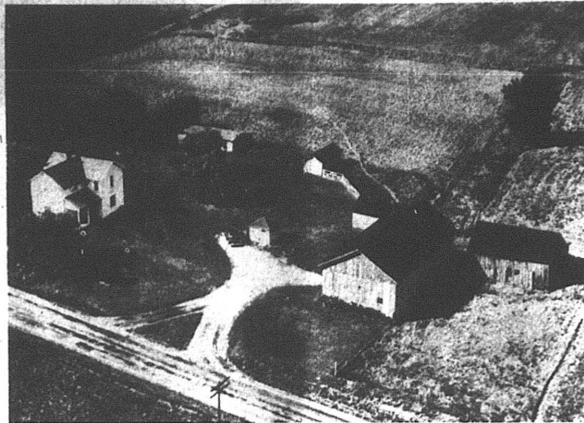

For 50 of these scholarships, the applicant must be in the upper 10 per cent of his graduating class. These scholarships are available in the colleges of arts and sciences, business administration and education.

In addition, the university offers 50 scholarships to prospective teachers in the elementary and kindergarten primary fields. Preference is given to those students who are in the upper third of their high school graduating class.

Troy Blankenship was admitted to Mansfield General hospital last week after accident at work. He is improving.

Mrs. Caldwell, 79, dies

Granddaughter of one of the founders of First Presbyterian church here, Mrs. Fannie Hatch Caldwell, 79, died at her home in North Delaware street, Shiloh, early Sunday morning.

She had been in failing health for about a year. Mrs. Caldwell would have been 80 on May 19.

Her husband, John, to whom she was married in the Plymouth church in 1897, died Mar. 13, 1951. They had previously observed their golden wedding anniversary.

For many years the Caldwells farmed in the vicinity of Plymouth, the last site being in County Line road east of here.

respondent for The Advertiser, and Charles O. are the immediate survivors. Two brothers, John, New Haven, and Walter, Plymouth, also survive.

The Rev. R. L. Lubold, retired pastor of Mt. Hope Lutheran church, Shiloh, conducted last rites Tuesday at 2 p.m. from the McQuate Funeral home here. Burial was in Maple Grove cemetery, New Haven, of which John Hatch is a sexton.

Mrs. Caldwell's grandfather, Charles Conklin, was a founder of First Presbyterian church here. She kept her membership in the church until her death.

Success is the total of many little things well done.

Charles Phillips, 67, dies at Mansfield; kin of Mrs. McKown

Brother of Linus Phillips and of Mrs. John McKown, Charles L. Phillips, 67, died in Mansfield General Hospital Tuesday night.
He lived near Plymouth most of his adult life. His most recent address was 309 Wayne street, Mansfield.
Four sons, Reginald, North Field; Charles, Fostoria; Robert, Lewistown, Me.; and Cletus, Shelby; four daughters, Mrs. Mary McLoughlin, Norwalk; Mrs. Marlene Boks, Willard; Mrs. Ruth Underwood, Greenwich; and Mrs. Emma Hill, Lawton, Okla., are the immediate survivors.
Three other brothers, Albert and Max, Willard, and Alex, Findlay, and another sister, Mrs. Rosina Schwartz, Conklin, Mich., also survive.
Funeral arrangements, in charge of the McQuate Funeral home here, where mourners may call after 7 p. m. today, are incomplete.

Want to be Mrs. America? See McCaron

Homemakers in Plymouth were urged today to enter the 19th annual "Mrs. America" contest, sponsored locally by the Ohio Fuel Gas Co.
The nation-wide contest will bring fame and fortune to some unknown housewife as the leading homemaker in the nation in 1957. Neil McCaron, local manager for Ohio Fuel, said application blanks for the $15,000 prize contest will be available, starting Friday, at the gas company office, East Main street, Shelby, and at local gas appliance stores. Entries must be filed by Mar. 15.
The "Mrs. America" contest is open to all married women over 21 years of age. Winners will be chosen at local, district, state, and national levels. Contestants will be judged at each level on their homemaking ability, personality and poise, character, grooming, and community activities.
Mr. McCaron pointed out that the nation's leading homemaker could be right here in Plymouth. Last year, Mrs. A. L. Paddock, Jr. 78 Plymouth street, won the local contest and advanced to the district finals in Mansfield.
"While a well groomed appearance is a factor, the event is not a beauty contest," Mr. McCaron said. "This is a contest for skillful housewives, and we want to find the best homemaker in the Plymouth area to represent our town."
"Mrs. Shelby" will be selected the week of Mar. 24 in a local elimination contest, conducted by three judges from the community. Judges will be selected soon. All finalists in local competition will be awarded West Bend Flavo-Seal fry pans. The first-place winner will compete with winners from other area communities in a district "cook-off" contest at Mansfield, the week of April 1. Each contestant at the district contest will receive a five-piece set of West Bend aluminum ware.

Flowering Window Boxes Bring House New Lustre

Diagrammed box can be adapted to any size window.
A homely touch from Grandma's day still can make a house a home.
Window boxes, their flowers nodding in a soft breeze, are a sign to everyone who passes that inside this home is a family that values beauty and wants to share it with the world.
Woodworking skills aren't needed in making window boxes—just a few basic tools and three or four hours of a week-end afternoon. The rewards far exceed what you put into the job. A bleak-appearing house takes on new lustre from the color of a window box and a family, particularly children—discover all of the age-old excitement of watching seeds grow into beautiful flowers.
The size of the box, of course, depends on the window it's to fit under, but a good standard size is ten inches wide with an 8 inch depth. This makes a box small enough to be easily constructed in a house workshop.
For the south side of the house, there is that a box must be strong and large enough to hold soil and withstand the effects of watering. That means one should construct the box of dampness-resisting wood, such asypress, white pine and red wood. The boards, for best results, should be spaced at least an inch thick.
Since the seeds and flowers will be watered almost daily, drainage is essential in a flower box which holds a relatively small quantity of soil to prevent rotting. This is achieved by sloping the bottom of the box to the front, where drainage holes are bored. With the holes in the front, the extra water will drain off freely, without staining the paint under the window.
To support the box, fit wooden or metal brackets around the window sill, running them fully to the front of the box. A porch can be placed either on the floor or in place and can be locked in place by whatever means you prefer.

These go well in window box, not, however, place a box where rain will drip on it from the roof. This could damage the flowers.
Since a porch usually shades its plants, porch boxes are ideal containers for flowers which can't withstand the sun's direct rays. Typical of this category are tuberosa rooted begonias and gloxinias.
When painting a window box, select a color which blends with the house—either the body color of the house or the trim. In painting your box, use colors of those colors will harmonize with those of the house and the box.
For the south side of the house, emphasize flowering annuals, which also will flourish on the east and west sides—provided there is no shade. The north side presents a different problem, and it is most adapted to foliage plants, or flowers which grow best in shade. Of this group, catanuncus and columb are a popular selection, as are pansies, violas, impatiens, forget-me-nots and dwarf petunias.
