Three win high grades in tests

Two Plymouth High school pupils and a Shiloh girl placed among the top 218 public school pupils of Richland county in a general scholarship test.

Franklin D. Eckstein, son of the Royal W. Eckstein, Sandusky street, who has already received a fourth alternate appointment to the U. S. Naval academy by Sen. John W. Bricker, was tied for 12th place with Elaine Ballich, Shiloh, daughter of the John Ballichs.

Their point score was 166. Jean Ann Cornell, only child of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon M. Cornell, West Broadway, finished 17th with a grade of 163.

The annual test, for classes to be graduated in the spring, was dominated this year by pupils of the larger high schools.

Chaffielder killed in crash at sawmill

A 69-year-old Chaffielder died Saturday afternoon of injuries received earlier when he struck a tractor-trailer rig opposite the sawmill in Route 98 south of here.

He was Urban L. Knierrmen, Chaffield route 1; who was headed south in Route 98 when he lost control of his vehicle. It crossed the center line into the north lane of traffic and struck the rear wheels of the tractor-trailer, driven by Lawrence J. Barton, 35, New Bremen.

The McQuate ambulance took Knierrmen to Willard Municipal hospital where his injuries were described as a fractured hip and pelvis, two fractures of the left leg and internal injuries.

Death came at 5:29 p.m. The body was removed to the Munz Funeral home, Bucyrus.

Chamber meets Thursday

Plymouth Chamber of Commerce will meet at 7 p. m. today in the elementary school auditorium to elect officers for its second year.

Peace disturber fined

Grover McCormick of Shiloh route 1, was fined $20 and costs in the court of Mayor Robert Moser Thursday night when he pleaded guilty to a charge of causing a disturbance in a place of business.

The charge was filed by Mrs. Lucile Renner, proprietor of the Ratskeller, where the disturbance occurred Saturday evening, Feb. 9.

Howard Noble, Cass township constable, was the appearing officer.

Lewis quits, police crisis looms

An impending crisis in police protection for the village came to a head Tuesday night when Patrolman Frederick J. Lewis resigned, effective Mar. 1, because of ill health.

Police Chief Robert L. Meiser told the council he requires relief at once. He has been working 15 hours a day without relief. The police committee will confer with him tomorrow to seek measures to assist him.

THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES of Greenlawn cemetery hasn't said so officially, but its informal reaction to the proposal that Sexton Lyle Biddinger take on the job of street supervisor as well as his present job as village manager, Fred Buzard, told the council.

Willie Barnett's tour of duty was extended 30 days until Ira D. Brougier, a member of the street committee, returns from Florida. Mayor Ford attended the mass meetings of city and village managers at Norwalk Monday to discuss whether organized opposition to the proposed rate hike by Northern Ohio Telephone Co. can be effected.

Ford said he got the impression the "big six" — Norwalk, Bowling Green, Ashland, Medina, Delaware and Galion — would "run the show" if it is organized. New Haven township trustees appeared in a body, directed by William Link, to request renewal of the fire protection contract expiring Mar. 1 on the same terms — $300 a year, which allows for two calls, and $100 a call thereafter — for two years.

THE CONTRACT WAS RENEWED on the spot. Another with Plymouth township, calling for five fires and 10-year-olds, with $100 for each additional fire, was renewed for three years.

The mutual aid agreement with Tiro and Auburn township was renewed for three years, also.

Councilman Charles Vanasdale was unable to sign monthly bills, which were allowed and paid, because he cut off the tips of the first three fingers of his right hand in a joiner on Feb. 11.

Solicitor Joseph F. Dush was instructed to prepare an ordinance punishing assault and battery for adoption. The council discovered that money collected from fines for such offenses must be paid to the county since no ordinance covers it here.

An airborne engineer unit headquartered at Willard airport will grade the south end of Mars, Fats park. A waiver of responsibility was agreed to by the council.

Supper set Mar. 5 to repair manse

A ham and steak supper to benefit the manse repair fund will be staged in First Presbyterian church Mar. 5 at 5:30 p. m., by the Women's association. Adult tickets are $1.50, children's 75 cents.

The congregation and the public are invited to attend. Serving will end at 7:30 p. m.

Open meeting set to launch little league baseball Mar. 10

Sixty-four boys between eight and 13 years of age have signed up to play little league baseball here during the summer. Fred Buzard, organizer of the league, announces.

An organizational meeting of adults interested in encouraging establishment of the league will be held Mar. 10 at 2:30 p. m. in room 10 of Plymouth High school. Parents and adults interested in little league baseball are urged to attend. Officers will be elected and plans laid to get baseball underway on May 30.

VOLUNTEERS FOR SOME posts in the league have already indicated their willingness to serve. "We can use some more men or women, who certainly are very welcome — for jobs that are required to be filled," Buzard said. "We intend to run the league on a very democratic basis and anybody who turns out is eligible to serve."

Boys enrolled in Plymouth elementary school were circulated two weeks ago. Six 13-year-olds, nine 12-year-olds, a dozen 11-year-olds, 14 10-year-olds, 14 nine-year-olds and nine eight-year-olds have signed up.

New Haven Cub Scouts, totaling six, are also included in the scheme.

"WE HAVE TO HAVE SOME rules and after some thought we have tentatively decided to limit play to boys between eight and 13," Buzard said. "All games will be played on the field behind the high school. There will be four teams in the league. Local firms will sponsor the teams. Twelve to 15 boys will be assigned to each team after tryouts, which will be held during April and May."

"Each coach will be given a list of players and their relative point value, which will be assigned by the player agent. The coach may enter the auction for players he may wish to have on his team, subject to certain ground rules. In this way each coach will have an equal opportunity to obtain players of good skill."

The league would play at 6 p. m. Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays. Games will be six innings in length.

TRYOUTS WILL BEGIN Apr. 6. League play would begin May 30 and close Aug. 8. Playoffs for the league championship will be Aug. 12 to 17.

No games would be scheduled for the first week of July.

"We are trying to organize this league on a business-like basis so that it will continue season after season and afford boys of Plymouth an opportunity to participate in a fine game which encourages good sportsmanship," Buzard said.

"IF THERE IS SOME PARENT or adult whom I haven't spoken to, I will appreciate his calling me to my home. We want everybody who may be interested to have a part in the organization, and for that purpose we will have the public meeting on Mar. 10."

$27,000 loss in fire on Earl Hleber farm

A 40-by-60-foot barn was completely destroyed and three pieces of farm machinery ruined Feb. 13 when fire of an undetermined origin broke out on the farm of Earl Hleber in Preston road.

Wayne Ethel is tenant on the farm. He discovered the blaze and summoned Plymouth Fire department. All stock, including 32 cattle, was removed, but there was insufficient time to remove the machinery.

Authorities estimated loss at $27,000, part of which is covered by insurance.

Ethel works part time at a taxi driver in Shelby. His wife returned from a trip to Mansfield about 10:30 a. m. and told him smoke was issuing from the barn.

Shelby fire apparatus assisted.

Telephone is 73, but not for calls of trivial nature

"Yes, we have a telephone," says Acting Postmaster Raymond L. Brooks, "but it's not to be used for trivial calls."

For the first time in history, Plymouth's post office has installed a telephone. The number is 73.

Example of trivial calls: "Is there a package for me?" "Why didn't I get my check today?" "Please have the carrier bring a book of stamps. — I'll pay him when he gets here."

The telephone was installed, Brooks said, to assist the post office in dealing with the public and in furnishing better service.

Personnel of the post office have been instructed to refuse information about whether there's a package for you but politely.

Miss May Fleming, 81-year-old spinster who died Jan. 24, after having been found in a semi-conscious state in the family home in Sandusky street, left an estate tentatively worth $20,000. Huron county probate court sources report.

Her nephew, John S. Oates, Shelby, has been appointed administrator of the estate with bond of $40,000. It is law in Ohio to require bond worth twice the value of the personal property. Probate Judge Don J. Young, Jr., made the appointment.

Carl M. Loffland, president of Peoples National bank; Floyd Carter and Donald Shaver have been appointed appraisers.

The court determined the amount of bond on the affidavit of the applicant for letters of administration, who stated the estimated value of personal property to be $20,000.

New Haven sets school dedication ceremony Mar. 2

Mrs. R. A. Van Wagner, for many years New Haven correspondent of The Advertiser, will present a flag which has flown over the U. S. Capitol to the school in the newspaper's behalf. Claude Bauer, president of the board of education, will be master of ceremonies.

THE REV. DR. RAMSEYER

The Rev. Dr. Lloyd L. Ramseyer, president of Bluffton college, will be commencement speaker May 23, Supt. M. J. Coon announces.

President of the Mononite institution since 1938, Dr. Ramseyer is an alumnus of the college. He received his doctorate of philosophy from Ohio State university in 1938. In 1952 he received the honorary doctorate of divinity from Bethel college, North Newton, Kan.

In 1950-51, he was president of the Association of Ohio College Presidents and Deans and is currently chairman of the Ohio Foundation of Independent Colleges.

BULLETIN

Mrs. Algy Cockburn, Shiloh, dropped dead yesterday morning.

Pilgrims survive, face Union tonight; Shiloh fails to last

"They scared the daylight out of us in the first quarter, but we did better after that."

Thus Lew Peit explains the performance of Plymouth's Pilgrims in Tuesday night's Richland county tournament contest at Mansfield, where the Pilgrims finished strongly to defeat Ontario, 52 to 45.

ONTARIO GOT GOING early, racked up 20 points in the first eight minutes while Plymouth was getting only 10. But the Cubs slowed down in the second canto and the Pilgrims all but vaulted up.

The teams went off the floor at the hlat with the Pilgrims only a point behind, 26 to 25.

The Cubs, led by Snyder, moved smoothly after the second half began. They outscored the Pilgrims and held a 40 to 37 lead going into the final eight minutes of play.

But the up-county five put on the pressure and won going away with a 15-point outburst while Ontario was garnering only five.

ED TAYLOR AND RAY Einsel had identical scoring records of six buckets and three free tosses for 15 points.

Snyder led Ontario with 15, fashioned on five buckets and five charity throws.

Plymouth connected for 31.6 per cent of its shots from the floor, an average it will have to improve upon against Union in the quarter-finals tonight.

The Indians dumped the Pilgrims ignominiously Friday night in the worst drubbing ever administered in the Sandusky street school, 99 to 56.

Shiloh came hard in the final seconds of Monday night's Richland county tourney contest against Lexington but bowed out, 60 to 59, because the Minutemen contained Larry Barns.

The canny little quarterback of the Lions had a hard night of it. He failed to connect on six tries from the field and hit only four from the penalty stripe. If he had produced his average point total, Shiloh would have won.

AS IT WAS, GEORGE Poffenbaugh strove valiantly for the Lions under pressure in the last eight minutes. Down one game and fighting to stay in the tourney, Shiloh was nine points behind when the last quarter started. The Lions got eight points of it back, chiefly on Poffenbaugh's accuracy from 12 feet out.

But the Lions couldn't quite cut the mustard and wound up their season with 11 wins and 11 losses. Only Barns goes from the squad this year and with Poffenbaugh and Bookwalter back to form a nucleus. The Daup-chaoced cagers should go places next season.

Kurds make way, local girl says

Foreign travel is old stuff to Betty Ann Hutchinson — she went to Italy as an International Farm Youth Exchange student in 1952 — but Iraq, where the Tigris and Euphrates flow, is another kettle of fish.

Miss Hutchinson has just returned from a two-year hitch as a home economist with a Point IV mission. She had daily contact with tribal Kurds, who never heard of a television, and Assyrians.

And men, think of how easy it is for the men of Iraq' Women do the milking Boys shepherd the flocks. Marriages are arranged (brides cost from $90 to $500, local money, but become property of the husband) While women are in the fields, they spin and weave. Waste of time is a sin.

And the men? Sit around and pontificate on the issues of the day, for the most part.

Point IV programs endeavor to encourage a change in this scheme. Miss Hutchinson's work was with women and young girls, teaching sewing and domestic arts, especially in nutrition.

But change comes hard. "But they are learning," she says, "and the exchange of students with the United States means trained people come back to work in the cities and villages."

Taken near village of Shaqlawa, in northern Iraq, Betty Ann Hutchinson's photos show how Kurds live. Upper, men and kiddies before mud hut that is home. Lower, Assyrian woman and baby rest in mountain home.

Remember when you outgrew your clothes?

Remember how painfully awkward it was when everything you wore seemed to leave a lot showing that should have been covered? Your Telephone Company has also outgrown its "clothes"—or rates. True our income has increased by reason of a larger number of telephones and growth in the volume of long distance service. But it has not been enough to offset the increased expenses, beyond our control, and still provide a fair return on the value of our telephone property. To continue to provide you with good telephone service there must be a fair adjustment in our rates. We think you will agree that this is the American way.

Don Arnold aims high in venture on Reynolds farms

You can still make a good living out of farming, but you've got to grow bigger to do it.
On that maxim, 32-year-old Don Arnold has embarked on a new venture in farming on the Foster Reynolds farms astride Route 178 just north of Ganges. The four farms spread across 552 acres, through which run two streams. The fields are well drained, the buildings are in good condition, and young Arnold will this season:

1. INSTALL A 700-GALLON bulk milk storage tank and a new Sarge unit.
 2. INCREASE HIS MILKING herd of 24 Holsteins by about 50 per cent, and introduce some Guerneys into it.
 3. FARROW 35 SOWS AND market the gilts.
 4. RIGURE COSTS CARE-fully to ascertain if his hunch is right.
- And that hunch is the key to the maxim which guides him. Arnold calculates that on a big spread — and over 300 acres is big — a general farming enterprise with milking, sale of hogs and eggs and growing of grains in balance, annual revenue should be about $100 an acre.

On a 500-acre farm, that revenue totals $50,000.
Expenses, including incidental or custom labor, but less taxes, can be kept to $45 an acre, perhaps to $40.
That amounts to $22,500 for the 500-acre establishment. The balance is what the operator has for his own wages, depreciation, retirement of his investment (call it paying the mortgage, if you like) and taxes.
That figures out to $6.87 an hour for 4,000 hours of labor by the operator (360 days at 11 hours a day) and the other costs.

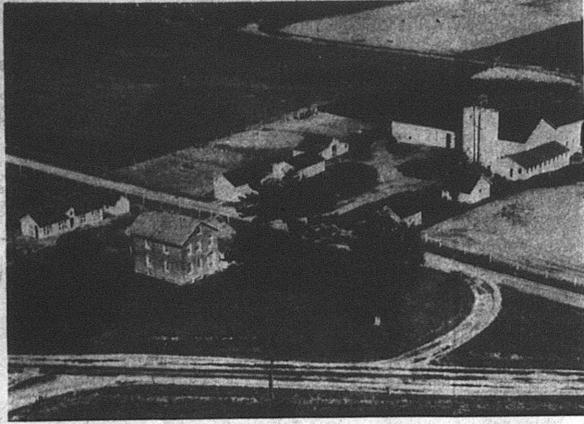

REDUCED TO A FIGURE per hour, by comparison with skilled industrial labor: about $3.75 an hour.
"But NOT, please note, on a 40-hour a week basis. The farm operator can't get along on a 40-hour week.
Aside from the maxim that to survive you've got to grow bigger, young Arnold has only a few new ideas about farming.
"It's still the same business," he says. "Nature doesn't change much. Oh, you'll find one fertilizer will do a little more for you than another, and one feed does a little more for stock than another. But in the main it's just the same."
One new idea is to improve hog strains so that the go-to-market hog produces the most revenue. Cater to the market, is what Don Arnold thinks is wise.
"They want bacon hogs and they'll pay for 'em. So all right, we'll give him bacon hogs."
THIRTY-FIVE BROOD sows should produce 260 viable girls. Although hog prices will go up and down, as they have been doing, revenue from gilts in that number should be about $15,000 a year. Keep the costs down and the meat up is the theory.
How much should a farmer make on his gilts? Big question. "I think a fellow ought to shoot for 15 to 17 per cent of the selling price of the gilts," is Don Arnold's thought.
How much is that? Call it $2-250 net a year. Or about $2.25 an hour for the time and capital you put into 'em. Take away the cost of the capital, and its depreciation, and you've got about $1.55 an hour for his time on hogs, then.
DON ARNOLD MAY NOT make out as well as he figures. If he doesn't, then he'll correct the mistakes and try to improve.

"But it doesn't cost you any more to aim high," he opines. "When you aim high, you work harder to hit your target. We can all stand a little of that."

Goodbye to Betsy Lou

Today we make history of a kind. Old Betsy Lou, the cylinder press which has served The Advertiser for more years than are decent, and some other paper before that for longer than anybody can remember, with this issue turns her last in this plant.

Next week, The Advertiser will be printed on a new Miehle press, newer, faster, finer than anything ever used here before.

We say goodbye to Betsy Lou, mindful of the many sleepless nights and tempestuous days when she had the vapours, or whatever presses get when they decide to act up, and wish her new owner well. There is this to say about the old girl: treat her well, cuddle her a little bit, and she'll do the job for you.

This wouldn't be worth comment, we think, except that a man or business is entitled to toot its own horn occasionally, and also it points up one or two facts that not everybody notices.

First, we believe in our product.

Let your elected representatives know how YOU feel on important issues.

By Phineas Whittleseed

State Senator Ross People has introduced before the upper house a bill calling for a revision of holidays which makes sense to us.

What he wants to do is establish four legal holidays: Presidents day, on the third Monday in February, combining and superseding varied dates now observed for the birthdays of Washington and Lincoln; Memorial day, on the last Monday in May; Independence day, first Monday in July; and Thanksgiving day, third Monday in November.

The arguments in behalf of his bill are these: 1. IT WOULD INCREASE PRODUCTION and reduce costs in industry and commerce through the elimination of mid-week holidays. Some mid-week holidays cause the factories to lose half the week's production and workmen to lose half a week's wages.

2. IT WOULD GIVE WORKING PEOPLE four more long weekends for better use of their holiday time.

3. IT WOULD PROVIDE SCHOOLS, COLLEGES, stores, salesmen and such with uninterrupted work weeks.

4. IT WOULD CAUSE INDEPENDENCE day to be called by its real name instead of the Fourth of July. The Declaration of Independence wasn't signed on July 4, anyway.

5. IT WOULD TEND TO REDUCE ACCIDENTS on the highways. The present similar weekend in September for Labor Day is generally lower in accidents than ordinary weekends in August and September.

6. IT WOULD MOVE THANKSGIVING further from Christmas, desirable for merchants, schools and colleges. Merchants are now putting up street and window decorations for Christmas long before Thanksgiving, which detracts from a good Thanksgiving observance.

We learned at Columbus from qualified observers that this newspaper compares favorably — very favorably, in fact — with others published in trading areas like ours throughout the state. We put our blood into it, never satisfied with anything less than the best professional job done by professional workmen.

If you believe in your product, it ought to be packaged well. Ours is packaged pretty well. We have made it as attractive to the eye and as easy to read as we can. But we were limited by the function and output of a press that was designed for yesterday.

Commencing next week, or until that time when we've got all the bugs out of the new press, we intend to present a better product. A superior product, to be blunt about it.

Another fact that not everybody notes is that this new press is costing us money, money which we are investing in our business.

It is always good for any town to have its business make new investment. Doubtless Betsy Lou could continue to go on to serve us as she has in the past without replacement.

But we are just stupid enough to think that booming Ohio — that part of it which surrounds a circle whose radius is nine or 10 miles with Plymouth as its center — will rub off a little on our town. If it does, we'll be prepared to take advantage of it. And if it doesn't, then our creditors will have something worth while to sell when they force us to the wall.

We invite our friends to come in and see the new press next week. And we'll be glad to treat the person who suggests a good name for the newcomer.

The proposal has some bugs in it, if they are certain. But for those of us in the newspaper business who have to speed up procedures and techniques to take account of a mid-week holiday, it is a great boon.

Now if they'll only come up with some well-fangled solution for what in heck we're going to do with Christmas coming on a Wednesday this year, we'll be content.

We've thrown a lot of good-natured (we hope) jibes at the Cornell's basketball team, with snide remarks about the age and avoirdupois carted about by some of the players.

But it's time we took our hat off to these chaps who play a good bit and win even more than their share of games. Their most recent verdict at Mansfield is reassuring. When you begin to think the small town can't survive, athletically, anyway, up comes a club like this one that proves otherwise.

THEY DON'T GET MUCH OF A CROWD at their Saturday night games, down at the gymnasium, even though admission is free. Our pride and joy is allowed to hang around, shoot baskets when he isn't in the way, and otherwise make a nuisance of himself.

What's more, somebody on the ball club undertakes to see to it he gets home safely. We lie awake waiting for the sound of his stop at the door, but it's always the braking of a sedan that tells us he's home.

There are other things he might be doing of a Saturday night — and other things these young and not-so-young fellows on the ball club might be doing — but we think there are few better things than playing basketball.

THE NOTICE THEY HAVE BROUGHT TO us this town is wholly favorable. They don't fight, they don't crab much at the referees, and while they like to win pretty hard, they can take a defeat in good spirit.

One wishes the same could be said of some towns where winning is such a religion.

the woman's side of it

Last week Ohio noted two anniversaries. One of them was the birthday of the man from Milan who not only brightened his own state but almost every corner of the world. Perhaps his greatest contribution has been to music lovers. To be able to listen to a phonograph record when you want and not have a dancing commercial or a commercial which sounds like a commercial should be one of the greatest pleasures.

Less than an hour from Plymouth, Thomas Alva Edison's home and the museum are worth seeing, especially for the young ones. The museum has a lovely collection of antique dolls which will delight every little girl. For the boys, there is a fascinating real blacksmith shop.

The second anniversary of which all Ohio has a right to be proud is the one which took place Feb. 13 in Lebanon. For 150 years the Western Star has appeared weekly to report the news and happenings of its community. The oldest weekly newspaper in the state, it began on Feb. 13, a Friday, and has been published every Friday since then. An enterprise which has continued for so many generations without pause speaks well for its community and the state in which the community exists. The present editor, Gardner Townsley, with his wife, has been at the helm for 33 years. After meeting the charming couple, I should say they have another 33 years ahead of them.

February really is the month of birthdays — Washington, Lincoln, all those including me who had one on Feb. 7, including the English writer Charles Dickens. Grumpy as he is purported to be, his pen painted pictures which can never be forgotten. Never can I remember the history of the French revolution without picturing Madame DeFarge knitting.

Pilgrims trounce Lucas after rout by Union; Cornell's third in tourney

In a surprising turnabout of form, Plymouth's Pilgrims walloped Lucas, 82 to 65, in Pete Henry gymnasium, Mansfield, Saturday night in the opening round of the Richland county basketball tourney.

Jim Hunt, only twice in double figures all season, had a hot night and scored 20 points to lead the Pilgrims to the victory. Ted Fox had 19, Ray Einsel 18 and Herb Caudill 16.

The Pilgrims came from behind after the first eight minutes and finished strongly.

Nowakowski gets 31

Cornell's wound up in third place in the Navy Gold Medal basketball tourney at Mansfield over the weekend.

Key contest was the final when Northwestern led all the way to cap an 87 to 78 win. Jim Nowakowski scored 31 points for the black and gold outfit before fouling out. The absence of Stan Holt-house, who doesn't play on Sundays, cost the Cornell five dearly.

In the consolation, the local five downed Weaver-Neff by 72 to 63 and won a gold trophy.

Union sore at ref

They set a record in Plymouth High school gymnasium Friday night and after they'd done so, Union's Indians squawked.

With a joint total of 99, highest in the history of scholastic basketball on the Sandusky street floor, the Indians dealt a walloping defeat to Plymouth's Pilgrims. And when the final horn blew, their coach, Richard Gross, and the scorer, arranged the referee, Francis Fackler, Norwalk, for not holding the clock so they could score 100.

Miss Willet becomes John Kleman's bride

Miss Phyllis Arlene Willet became the bride of John Joseph Kleman in a double ring ceremony solemnized during a high nuptial mass Saturday at 9:30 a.m. in St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church.

The Rev. William Conces, pastor, was celebrant.

The bride is the daughter of the Aiden Willets, Plymouth route 1. The bridegroom is the eldest son of the Peter Klemans, Shelby route 3.

White snapdragons in baskets decorated the altar. The men's choir of Shelby seminary sang the mass.

GIVEN IN MARRIAGE BY her father, the bride was attired in white lace over satin. The fingertip sleeves were buttoned tightly over the wrists. Two white net skirts lay upon a plented satin skirt in the outliner length. A fingertip veil fell from a white cap edged with sequins.

The gown was fashioned with a straight bodice-line and buttoned down the back. The bride wore pearl earrings with rhinestones, the gift of the bridegroom, and carried a white orchid on a prayer book.

Mrs. Howard Kempf, Shelby, was matron of honor. She was attired in blue, with pink colonial bouquet of carnations.

Miss Nora Dorion was bridesmaid, in blue with gold colonial bouquet of carnations.

James Kleman, the bridegroom's younger brother, was best man.

Ushers were Raymond Kleman, the bridegroom's younger brother, Shelby route 3, and Ralph Willet, the bride's brother.

Mrs. Willet watched from the front pew in a two-piece dress of navy blue, with light blue hat set off with pink carnations.

Mrs. Kleman appeared in two-piece aquamarine with winter white hat and set off with white

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Shade and Miss Ruth Shade of Findlay were Sunday supper guests of the George Youngs.

Mrs. Young talks of cocoa bean

Eleven members of the Plymouth Graders club heard Mrs. George Young describe the cocoa bean Friday night. Mrs. Clay Hulbert was hostess to the group.

The cocoa trees are only found within 20 miles of the equator, Mrs. Young told the group. Cocoa is taken from small pods which grow upon the trunk of the trees. Not every pod has the cocoa kernel. Largest chocolate plantations are found in Africa but the bean does grow in other tropical parts of the world.

Mrs. Charles Locksbaugh will be hostess at her home Mar. 15. New members who wish to join the group are cordially invited to attend.

Bad start costs Lions

Shiloh got off to a poor start and couldn't head the high-flying Belleville Blue Jays in the opening round. The Jays won, 54 to 43, outscored in only one period.

Fred Barber hit the nets for 23 points to lead both teams. Larry Barnd had 20 for the Lions.

Zoning law tested, three fined $500

By MRS. PAUL WELSH
Bloominggrove township's new zoning ordinance was tested Monday night when Constable J. A. Laser arrested Mrs. Susie Watkins and John and Tom Watkins for alleged violations.

Prosecutor Theodore Lutz prepared the complaint for the township. It was heard by Justice of the Peace Wade Kinsel, who fined Mrs. Watkins $100 and costs on a single count. The other Watkinses were fined $200 and costs on two counts each.

Kinsel suspended the fines contingent upon removal of the house trailers found to have been placed into use as residences without having obtained a permit by Saturday at noon.

Fire chief's salary adjusted to $7 a call by Shiloh council

New pay rates for Shiloh's fire chief were approved Feb. 13 by the village council.

Chief Delmar Nesbitt will receive $7 for each call and each fire instead of $300 a year.

Supt. Homer Beard and Roscoe Reynolds were added to the roster of 15 volunteer firemen belonging to the department. Others are Halle Kaylor, Joseph J. Cihla, Clyde Livenspire, Glenn Strong, Harley Hoover, John Barnhart, E. Dzan Wolford, Alvin Garrett, Charles Guthrie, Joseph Witcheic and Floyd Duffy.

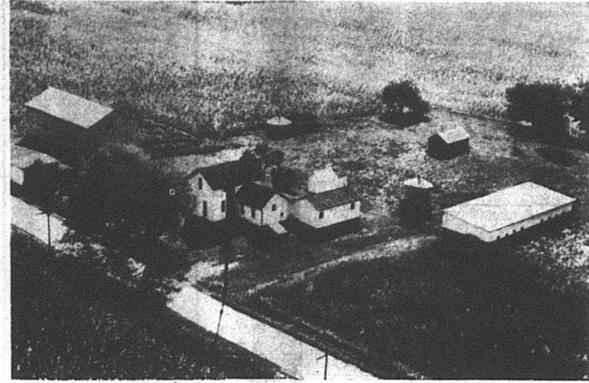

An emergency ordinance prohibiting the overraking or passing of a school bus while it is discharging passengers was approved at the request of Superintendent Beard, who reported an incident for which violation could not be charged, because there has been no ordinance.

Permit to dump raw sewage into the Black Fork was extended to Jan. 15 and a commendation was received from the Water Pollution Control board for finding ways of financing a sanitary sewage system.

The village has purchased five acres of land at the southeast corner of the Euclid street-Noble road intersection from the Enscore Fishing club for $600.
