Firemen enter antique mart to sell Model T

Antique hunters should take note of the bargain offered at New Washington, where the volunteer fire department is making a one-time entry into the selling mart.

The 1920 Model T Ford chemical fire truck which was served the department for nearly a generation is on the block, to the highest bidder.

Here's what the chief, H. J. Passafium, has to say about it: "Has an electric starter (some of the early T's didn't), runs okay, has less than 6,000 miles on its odometer, tire (30x3.5) in good shape. Has served well but is now out-of-date."

It was purchased Oct. 1, 1920, and was first used Dec. 13 of that year. Together with a horse-drawn apparatus, which was later equipped with a trailer hitch so it could be towed by a truck or car, the Ford served the Crawford country village well until 1936. Then it was replaced by a more modern truck, manufactured by a competitor.

In 16 years, the truck responded to 41 fires, the largest of which occurred on July 15, 1933, in the barn of Derr Bros., which threatened the entire business section of the town.

Recently the village council authorized purchase of a used Ford pumper formerly the property of the Shelby department. Lizzie is up for grabs. "Are y'all 'Do I hear a dollar more?"

Board takes steps to liberalize rules for use of schools

New regulations governing the use of Plymouth school buildings were adopted by the Board of Education Mar. 12.

With the exception of the Mothers' club and the Parent-Teachers association, which are considered school activities, all organizations will pay a janitorial fee of $5 for a four-hour period.

An exception will be made when the organization does not require the services of a janitor and a responsible member of that group will take charge of seeing that the building is left as it was found, lights out, and door locked. Each group will be limited to 13 meetings a year.

When the cafeteria is used, a member of the cafeteria staff must be present and a $5 fee will be charged.

The board authorized Supt. M. J. Coon to purchase a set of World Book encyclopedias for the elementary school. There are already three sets in use now.

Mr. Coon announced that attendance for the fourth six-week period has been 95.9 per cent, considered very good. During this period total enrollment has dropped by two elementary pupils to 561.

A short discussion ensued concerning the repainting and cleaning of the high school building. Last year, Mr. Coon recommended to the board that it be done this year and estimated the cost at about $5,000. An estimate from Toledo fire has been received which is just under that amount. No action was taken at the meeting.

Band to play at PTA in contest rehearsal

A contest preview will be presented today by the Plymouth High school band to members of the Parent-Teachers association at 8 p.m. at the high school.

Under the direction of H. Dale Moore, the local band will participate Saturday in the district contest at Newark.

Plans will also be completed during the business meeting for the hobby show at the school Mar. 29-30.

Exhibitions are being planned by M. J. Coon, Miles S. Christian, Donald P. Markley and Donald Shaver. Persons who wish to enter their hobbies are asked to call this committee.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Harris Postema will be in charge of the bake auction to begin at 8 p.m. Mar. 29. Foods will be donated by members of the P.T.A. At 9 p.m. the same night a special program will be presented.

The show will open at 4 p.m. Mar. 29. A refreshment stand will be provided. Tuna salad, ham and weiner sandwiches will be served along with two salads, baked beans, pie, coffee and soft drinks.

Serving on the refreshment committee are Mr. and Mrs. Russell Barbour, Mr. and Mrs. Robert MacMichael, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sloan and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Morrison.

The show will open at 4 p.m. on Mar. 30, and close at 5:30 p.m.

Beginning at 8:30 p.m. the Mothers' club will join the P.T.A. in sponsoring a round and square dance with Wayne Strine's orchestra providing the music.

Band Mothers club will meet at the high school at 7 p.m. today.

Plans for the candy sale and for the annual spring concert to be given Apr. 26 at the school will be laid.

Band Mothers will sponsor the John Phillips Sousa award this year to a graduating member of the band who has done outstanding work. The award will be presented at the end of the school year.

Dance set tomorrow

Wayne Strine's orchestra will play for an informal public dance in the high school gymnasium tomorrow from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. Admission is 50 cents singly and 75 cents for couples.

Round and square dancing will be offered. Class of 1959, Plymouth High school, will comprise the committee in charge.

Legion has big weekend

Ehret-Parsel Post, American Legion, has a full weekend of activity planned for its members.

A potluck supper will be staged at 6:30 p.m. today. Members are expected to carry a covered dish.

The Richland county council stag party will be staged tomorrow night.

A post dance in the Legion hall will be staged Saturday at 8 p.m.

Next regular meeting of the post will be Monday at 8 p.m.

Deadline set

Monday is the deadline for payment of a 90-cent premium for accident liability insurance for school pupils, Supt. M. J. Coon reports.

Coverage will extend to September, Mr. Coon says, with this payment, and thereafter the entire school system will be contracted for one year.

Premiums should be sent with the pupil to be paid to his teacher.

Spring!

Season begins today, under cloudy skies

Surest signs of spring are the step-up in demand for services of volunteer firemen (six alarms in a week, mostly for brush fires), the reopening of Plymouth Drive-in (E. O. Ramsey reports he'll be open weekends only for a spell, until weather improves, then every night) and arrival of spring fashions in three establishments about town.

Fire Chief Dalton F. McDougal says he hopes traffic in at least two of the instances will increase, but not, please, to and from fires.

Mack, Cornell set to prepare hunt for Easter eggs

R. Harold Mack, second vice-president, and W. M. Cornell, director, with the civic committee headed by Harold Dietrich will lay final plans at 8 p.m. today for the second annual Easter egg hunt of Plymouth Chamber of Commerce.

One hundred 35 boys and girls turned out on Easter Sunday last year for the hunt on the lawn of the high school.

A 40 per cent increased participation is planned this year. The hunt will be staged, weather and other conditions permitting, in Mary Faye park at 1:30 p.m. Apr. 21, Easter Sunday.

A program to occupy boys and girls throughout the afternoon is under consideration.

7th birthday sad for Kessler child

Grandchild of the Charles Kesslers of Mills avenue, Crestline, will always have reason to remember, regretfully, her seventh birthday, Mar. 2, year-old Gaylene Kessler of Crestline.

The first-grade pupil in Crestline public schools submitted to surgery in University hospital, Cleveland, for the amputation of her right leg just below the hip.

Now able to get around on crutches, the child is expected to return to her school work shortly. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Kessler, Talbott road, Crestline. He is employed by Perfection Steel Body Co., Galion.

Council to enforce sewer tax payment

Notice that it won't tolerate abuses of the sewer tax was served by the village council Tuesday.

Although definitive action on a householder who removed from Plymouth and never paid the sewer tax was not taken, because the council wished to wait until the deadline for settlement of the electric account, Solicitor Joseph F. Dush was told he must lay action against Leon Motter, formerly of Kiggs avenue, to recover $21 in back sewer taxes.

Motter refused to pay the assessment because, he said, he had no sewer. On this point, Mayor Thurman R. Ford had something to say.

HE REPORTED TO THE council he had attended a hearing on Roy Evans' ditch petition. Householders in the region maintained at the hearing that because they pay the sewer tax, the village should assume their assessment.

Mayor Ford said he told the Huron and Richland county commissioners "they aren't paying for what they have but for what they're going to get."

Richland County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe notified the council that payments of real estate taxes will be late this year. If the council needs funds, he advised, it should ask for advance payment of its share of real estate taxes. A resolution so requesting was immediately approved.

A communication from the Ohio Brotherhood of Police Officers, describing Police Chief Robert L. Meiser as one of the finest officers in the state, was read. It requested the council to consider hiring of a full-time and a part-time patrolman. Meiser is president of the OBPO.

Fire Chief Dalton F. McDougal charged that arsonists had set a fire on the Donald Phillips farm north of here last week. He said evidence showed the fire broke out in three places simultaneously and could not have been the result of a cigarette.

A RESOLUTION REQUESTING the Ohio legislature to make more equitable distribution of sales tax moneys was approved. By this time, the council got down to three matters of nettlesome nature: approval of an ordinance punishing assault and battery; appointment of and establishing the salary of the street supervisor; and a salary increase for the police chief.

An ordinance empowering the mayor to fine persons guilty of assault and battery a maximum of $200 and to sentence them to six months in jail was passed on an emergency basis.

Over the objection of Councilman Lowell Keith, Willie Barnett was hired as street supervisor until Jan. 1, 1958, at the rate of $3,600 a year. "If he was unsatisfactory last year at $3,500," Keith asked, "what will he be at $3,600?"

He voted against the increase, which carried, five to one.

Police Chief Meiser received an increase of $400 to $4,400 and general supervisory duties over the street department in the concluding action.

Political appointments

The lady who sits at the foot (it's really the head, but can't we enjoy ourselves a little?) of our dinner table said Sunday afternoon that she looked with some disdain upon the women who got where they were at Columbus Saturday because their husbands got some political job.

We try to reason with her, silly though it may seem, that political patronage is not necessarily evil. When the people choose one candidate against another, they make a tacit statement of approval of his plan of administration. And he is entitled to name men in whom he reposes faith, trust and confidence to those posts in which policy is made and executed. It certainly stands to reason that an executive should believe in men he knows and trusts more than in men whom he inherits, whether or not they are attached to a career service.

But the little woman is right when she asks, "But do they do that?" Are the governor's (or the president's) appointments handed out to men whom he knows and trusts or to men who are approved by the political machine which has elected him? As much the latter as the former, we think.

So long as this recurs in American politics, then so long will the people look down upon those who hold political appointments, despite the fact that capable and honest appointees are increasing in number and frequency. And so long as people continue to think like this, for so long will other capable and honest men and women resist the call to public service.

The Chamber

The Chamber of Commerce seeks membership, both old and new, and a more deserving organization there does not exist.

The Chamber is dedicated to the principle that what is good for Plymouth should be done. And within its means, it does that.

One man says he won't join the Chamber because he believes that a new industry will spoil our town, raise taxes, bring in an undesirable element. We are frankly surprised that a man of his intelligence would think thus. There are many who belong to the Chamber and work vigorously for its program who have a larger investment in material things, at least, than their opponent.

Does he seriously believe these very same members would be so naive as to jeopardize their worldly station by encouraging an industry which would depreciate the value of their belongings? Hardly so. A new industry will tend to lower taxes, not raise them, because it will spread the burden over more shoulders, shoulders better able to bear it.

We believe the Chamber of Commerce has been a net force for good and we consider the objections of the man in question to be unfounded and unfair.

Membership in the Chamber is open to any citizen of good reputation who will work for its program. The Chamber meets tonight in the elementary school. Its officers extend a cordial welcome to anyone who may believe enough in the needs of the present and the possibilities of the future to affiliate with it.

There has been too much of the feeling that "George can do it". The Chamber believes "we can do it, let's go." Join it now.

adequate to its task provided those who use it do so correctly. There was no excuse for the boob last week, in which the Parent-Teachers association (for the second time, no less) was represented as having a meeting a week early. But that was an error of the flesh.

Truth is, when we say Thursday, we mean either last Thursday or next Thursday, depending upon the context of the verb. Anything prior to last Thursday is referred to by date. The same is true of any date in advance of the next publication date.

The management of this sheet thinks it would be an insult to the intelligence of its subscribers; all 1,706 of them, to resort to childish methods of spelling out day and date.

The omission of the name of our young lady friend, Miss Natalie Faust, from the honor roll wasn't our fault. But she knew she made it, so did her teacher, and so did her folks. 'Seusie, Natalie, anyway.

We seldom recommend a teevee program. But the fellow who peddles Mercurys has slated the Ohio State university glee club for Sunday night. It'll do you good to realize they turn out something else at Columbus besides also-ran football teams.

Four of us had what our children call "a ball" a few days ago. We were invited to tea at the governor's mansion in Columbus. Naturally, we made an all-day trip of it. One day in the city can last the whole year. Such aching feet! But it was fun.

The day started out beautifully. Our travelling companions, two ladies from Shelby, could not get overly elaborate, but with an eye toward long wear. Naturally, it is nicer than any of our houses (which we threatened to burn down as soon as got home), but after all, Ohio is one of the richest and most important states in the union, and we should have pride in what our elected head lives in. No one would want ours to have any less than the neighboring governors have.

For the girls only, the kitchen is wonderful. Built-in ovens in the walls and seats of cupboard space. The downstairs, which is used for official entertaining, is carried out in a shade of turquoise in the carpeting, walls and draperies. The rooms are not overly large, but the light shades makes them look so.

Mrs. Wylie said the old rugs in the house had been saved to use on rainy days so the new ones would not be tracked or muddied, and that contribution must have come from a good housekeeper who had her own bathrooms.

The big part of this tea was the tea at all. It was a conducted tour of the new house, Mrs. Chalmers Wylie was our guide.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Norris Baker of Shiloh Monday morning in Shelby Memorial hospital.

Harry Forquer celebrated his birthday at a family party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Forquer Thursday night. Among the guests were the Burt Forquers, Mrs. and Mrs. Charles Young and family of Mansfield, the Frank, Cline family of Shiloh and the William Forquers.

The Rev. Ralph M. Felix and Mrs. Felix visited at the Steve Sebok home this week, en route to Toledo to visit with Miss Vera Long, Mrs. Felix's sister. Tuesday night Mrs. Felix attended the meeting of the Nora Wyandt class at the home of Mrs. James Cunningham.

Mr. and Mrs. Evan P. LaFollette were among guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Carroll of Mansfield, at a farewell party in honor of Mr. and Mrs. John Costello. Mr. Costello has been assigned to Wilkins Air Force station and is now being transferred to Chicago, Ill.

Gossip has it that some people are perturbed at the amount of money which has been spent refurbishing and decorating the house. They may rest assured. It is a lovely home given by a Columbus family for his use. Of the 1920 vintage, I would guess, it naturally needed repairs which will prove to be a long-term investment. It is nicely furnished, not overly elaborate, but with an eye toward long wear. Naturally, it is nicer than any of our houses (which we threatened to burn down as soon as got home), but after all, Ohio is one of the richest and most important states in the union, and we should have pride in what our elected head lives in. Fidler boy averts injury in crash

Richard Fidler was one of the passengers in the truck into which a car crashed near Nova Sunday afternoon, causing the death of the three passengers in the car.

Both vehicles immediately burst into flames after the impact. It was impossible to save the three persons. Dead are Charles Perry, 63, of Nankin and his two sons, Carl, six and Melvin, eight.

Minor injuries were received by several in the truck and they were treated at Samaritan hospital, Ashland. En route to a coon hunt near Nova, the truck collided with the Perry car at Troy township road No. 3 and Route 41, south of Nova.

The gang at the post office, with whom Phin does most of his baseball arguing, insists it is illegal to hold off any longer on selections for the 1957 season. So to keep 'em happy, or nearly so, here they are, and we are NOT prepared to back them with money YET:

American league: New York, by two games over Detroit, with Cleveland third and Chicago fourth.

National league: Milwaukee, by half a game over St. Louis, with Cincinnati and Brooklyn another half game back.

Leading batsman: American league: Ted Williams; National league: Stan Musial

Leading pitcher: (won and lost record only) American league: Whitey Ford; National league: Don Newcombe

Who will play third base for Cleveland: George Strickland.

Not all of those who buy their Ohio automobile out-of-town are culprits of the lowest order!

But some are, entirely through ignorance of the law. Many obtain license tags through their automobile clubs, in Norwalk or Mansfield or where-ave-you. It's convenient, and membership in the club eliminates payment of the 25-cent fee.

But to buy tags out-of-town WITHOUT declaring which taxing district you live in costs that district about $11 a year.

Here's the gimmick: Ohio tax refunds of about 11 are paid to municipalities in the form of state gasoline excise and license tag rebates. The refund goes to the corporate entity in which the dealership is situated and which is his mailing address unless the purchaser stipulates otherwise by declaring his taxing district to the deputy registrar.

This insures that the $11 will be refunded to the purchaser's tax district.

TIPS FROM SPORTS AFIELD MAGAZINE
FISHING AND HUNTING AUTHORITY

Are you like the fellow we know who keeps X-ing the calendar winter waiting for THE DAY when the fishing season opens?

He just keeps busy X-ing. Never touches his tackle until two frantic days before he sets out for the lake or stream.

Our tip is this: there's plenty to do checking lines and guide wraps, collecting new lures, cleaning reels, patching waders, etc. At least it keeps our minds off the fact that the season is closed now—but that Spring is in the air.

Talking about fishing, have you seen the new Ashway Line "Roll-A-Way" dispenser? Even an amateur can now fill his own reel quickly, easily, and with professional skill...

Did you know that hunters and fishermen traveled almost 24 billion miles by automobile during 1955?

55 boys turn out for Little League

Fifty-five boys responded to the call Saturday for the first practice session of the Little League season. Fifty of them were back Sunday.

Umpire-in-chief George Lesho convened volunteer umpires Sunday to decide upon official uniform for the games. Umps Bob Kennedy, Sam Glorioso, Bill Van Wagner and Jim Phillips agreed they will wear dark trousers, white shirt with black tie and official black umpire's cap for all games.

Weather permitting, additional practices will be staged Saturday and Sunday at 2 p.m.

Manager candidates L. J. Root, Don Grabach, Leroy Brumback and Tug Mellott will be present to offer instruction.

set Line have a new pinkish-colored "Coral-King" line said to be favorable to fish. Tests show it's consistently produced bigger catches.

The Coleman Company, makers of Outing Pals camp stoves and other outdoor equipment, has an interesting new booklet (free) that tells about family enjoyment of our great national parks... Max Eggleston, pro guide down in Lake Texoma, Texas, writes to tell us his fishing parties caught 1370 sand bass and 33 black bass in 16 days last October. He's a big booster of Weber's Mr. Champ spinning lure... The new Featherbush Control on several of Zebco's reels enables the spin fisherman to spin with the precise accuracy of the ball caster.

If you've always wanted to own one of Kennedy's tackle boxes (but were kind of worried about price) their brand-new line of popular price models is for you... Dragonfly's famous 4-horse airdrive outboard (goes up to 40 M.P.H.) has undergone design modifications with some very interesting results... There are 26 new models in the '57 Speedliner Fleet. We particularly like the new bottom on their runabout models.

Hack's new Ripple Sole reduces walking shock up to 45%, we're told... Did you know that the world's record bass—24lbs. 4 oz.—was caught in the State of Georgia? ... Tired of the usual colorless bull's-eye type of target? Crosman's have new shooting game targets. 17 in. packages, complete with fun-game rules.

You still have time to catch the Johnson Outboard Motor Dealers' "All-Family Boat Show" (March 8-17). Check the Yellow Pages of your Red Book for your local dealer's address... Chipewa's new "Mountaineer" boot looks like it meets the need for a top-quality boot that's rugged enough for sportsmen's use... Shell Lake's "Bambler" runs a brand new for '57, is a 14-footer that's really built for speed... Years of scientific research at South Bend Tackle have produced their new Baushee fly line with a surface so smooth that it's practically friction-free... Has anyone made a pipe lighter as versatile as the Beattie Jet?

Jim Quick, who should know his subject, has an excellent feature on trout fishing in the March issue of Sports Afield that no fisherman can afford to miss. And Rusty Annabel's got one of his wild yarns about tangling with "broncho" man that's loaded with excitement. Know you'll like 'em.

As seed catalogues hit the best seller list and garden tools come out of the cellar, Liberty Mutual Insurance Company issues the reminder that of the 33,000 fatal home accidents annually in the United States, one out of every five happens in the back yard and garden.

"The first warm days of spring lure millions of men and women into the yard and garden and unconsciously they walk right into a sun-drenched world of danger," the company says in listing these precautions:

Overwork is a common cause of garden accidents, bringing on thousands of heat strokes each year. Other results often are hernia, sprained back and heat stroke. Take it easy! Don't try to complete all winter-planned projects in the first weeks of spring.

Even in early spring the direct sun is hot and can burn as deeply as fire. Keep sensibly covered and avoid overexposure.

Keep insecticide containers tightly sealed between applications. Don't spray with children around. Wear gloves to keep insecticide out of cuts and scratches. Rakes, pitchforks and other garden tools left where they can be stepped on can cause serious cuts, bruises, broken glasses and injured eyes. Hang 'em up out of the way when they're not in use.

Novel of suspense available at library

Daphne du Maurier has written better novels than "The Scapgoat", newest adult fiction on the shelves of Plymouth branch library, but none with more suspense. It's about a chap who substitutes for another because of his remarkable resemblance, a d d finds himself a husband, father, errant son, pilanderer and renegade. The novel was serialized in Ladies Home Journal.

Don Whitehead's runaway best-seller, "The FBI Story", is the newest adult non-fiction in the collection. J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the FBI, contributes the forward.

FOR A SUSPENSEFUL tour de force, Librarian's Harold Shaffer recommends Richard Powell's "The Philadelphian", a character study of developments in a Johnny-come-lately family in the royalty of the City of Brotherly Love. Some of the love is not so brotherly.

Ray Millholland is dead, but his contributions to slick short story writing linger on in "Blue Chip Haggerty", a collection of yarns previously published in Saturday Evening Post.

Other rentals besides "The Philadelphian" are "Bears in My Kitchen," by Margaret Marill; "The Mermaids", by Eva Boros.

Parkinson Keyes, whose saccharine stuff bids fair to make more money and contribute less to the technique of the novel than any writer of the 20th century.

Mysteries include Richard Parkers "Harm Intended", another Perry Mason, "The Case of the Lucky Loser", and Agatha Christie's "Surprise Endings", with Hercule Poirot. Other adult fiction represented includes "Born in Wedlock", by Margaret Echard; "Twilight for the Gods", by Ernest Gann; "The Fair Game", by Constantine Fitzgibbon; "My Lovely Mama", by Mathilde, and "I Love a Lass", by Elizabeth Cadell.

On the non-fiction side, recent additions include "Sir Walter Raleigh", by Philip Magnus; Harry Emerson Fosdick's "The Living of These Days", E. W. Heaton's "Everyday Life in Old Testament Times"; "The Hymnody of the Christian Church," by Louis F. Benson, "1,000 Questions and Answers on Catholicism," by Philip O'Reilly — these four suggested Lenten reading — and Faith Baldwin's "Face Toward the Spring"; and "Blue Camellia" by Frances and "Blue Camellia" by Frances

The News of Shiloh

Clyde Caldwell, Reporter

Telephone TWining 6-2733

WILLARD CORBIN, Willard, identified the Orville Holtz farm first. He can be the new subscriber by calling at the editor's office.

LAND WHICH BELONGED TO HIS FATHER —

Holtzes total 142 years on farm

You'll find 145 years of farming on the Orville Holtz place, a farm road east of Shiloh.

And take it from the Holtzes, he's always lived on the 150-acre place, where he was born and where his parents farmed before.

— you can make out with the hens if you keep enough of them and you can stop cannibals if you feed oats.

The Holtzes collect about 27 million eggs every day. Most of 'em sold at farmers' retail prices.

By. None of the eggs are sold for breeding stock. In fact, there's one cockerel on the place, a single Leghorn of imposing size who runs herd on a flock of panese hens with long pants and some guineas.

RIGHT NOW, ORVILLE is milking only four cows. He's got a lot of cattle on the place — whitefaces he's feeding in the market.

Prices aren't so good right now, he allows. "But we figure I'll firm up later."

After 72 years, all his life, on the farm, Orville Holtz has reached firm conclusions about farming.

A man has to be smarter now when I was a boy. Nowadays you got to be a mechanic and a cooper and a gook knows what he's if he wants to make out.

His machinery makes it hard for an uneducated man to run a farm.

You can't support a family on a family-sized farm any more. You got to be you could bring up a family on 40 or 50 acres. Now it's at least three times that and then you've got to bust the devil.

There once you put the major of your investment in the land and buildings, now it's in the machinery and equipment. Why, because we live in was built over 50 years ago, next to where the old house stood, and it cost exactly $1,200 for materials, labor and paint. Even if you depreciate the purchasing power of the 1907 dollar by eight or nine times you couldn't touch a house like this for under $15,000."

That means you've got to figure out how to work the land harder without making it more tired."

Orville Holtz says he'll stand on those conclusions based on 2 years in Bloominggrove township as farmer's son and farmer himself.

Apparently they've worked to his advantage. Today he's the only farmer living in Snake road who derives his entire livelihood from the soil. The others are working in town at some job or other.

"Farming nowadays is so scientific. You've got to get more out of the land than the Lord designed it to give if you're going to keep within these quotas and restrictions of the government.

WHICH MAN PASSED THE N.P. TEST?

The poised, smartly-dressed man at the left of course. You can tell at a glance... and that's why the Ninety-Percent Test is so important. People judge you by what they see (sometimes that's all they have to go on) and ninety percent of what they see is what you wear. The fresh finish of drycleaned clothes is more than an extra touch... it's an integral part of good grooming. The state of your clothes tells volumes about the kind of person you are. In fact, your clothes never stop talking about you.

You buy your clothes to make a good impression. As you wear them, have them drycleaned often. A smart man takes care to keep that impression fresh.

Five fires break out

Five grass fires over five days kept the Shiloh Volunteer fire department on the jump last week.

The first, around noon Mar. 13, sent the trucks scurrying to the home of Ed Racer, three-fourths of a mile north of Shenadoah in Route 13, where a blaze, fanned by the high winds, had gotten out of control and was racing across a stubble field.

At 4:50 p.m. the same day, another fire threatened the buildings of Frank Ferrell a north edge of town. It burned over a large portion of the pasture field south of the house and barn before being brought under control.

At about 11:05 a.m. Thursday a leaf and trash fire got out of control at the rear of the Stoops home in Pettit street.

At 11:40 a.m. Friday the department was called out to little London to aid in extinguishing a brush and grass fire there.

Eldon Moser of the Moser hardware was admitted to Shelby Memorial hospital for treatment of minor cuts and bruises when he lost control of his motorcycle while returning from the fire.

At 11:30 a.m. Sunday a grass fire called the fire department to Route 603.

Shiloh Fire Department officials request everyone to refrain from burning rubbish at a time of drought and high wind.

"I'm a lineman. I've always liked telephone work. So when I got out of service I returned to it. Things sure have changed. I am getting higher wages, and so is everybody else with the Company. Since 1952 the annual payroll for the Company has increased $650,905.44 per year. May sound funny coming from me, a working man, but I think it is pretty tough on the Company. Poles, wire, cables, equipment, and everything else needed to furnish telephone service has gone sky high. The Company has been doing a good job of taking care of folks who want telephone service, too. Made net additions to plant since 1952 in the amount of $7,979,350.19. That's good, especially with the cost of everything about tele- phones higher... that is, everything except rates. Rates are one of the few things that haven't changed in almost four years.
