Court of appeals step ruled out, board to lay friendly 'bonds' suit against clerk

A continuing attack upon the legal problems which beset it was waged last week by Plymouth Board of Education.

Big news was information from its consulting bonding attorneys at Cleveland, Squire, Sanders & Dempsey, that suit for writ of mandamus will not need to be filed in the Court of Appeals.

OHIO SUPREME COURT, the bonding attorneys told the board, has recently held in another case that the correct procedure is for the clerk of the board to refuse to issue the bonds to pay for the $24,000 addition in the Shiloh system.

The board will then formally order him to do so, whereupon he will refuse. The board's next step is to apply in the Richland county common pleas court for a declaratory judgment against the clerk.

Assuming it can be obtained from Judge C. C. Kalbfleisch, the board would then forward it to its bonding attorneys, who've said they will accept it on face value as evidence the Plymouth board is lawfully constituted. Also, the question of whether a board not elected by a constituency which approved a bond issue can issue those bonds will have been decided.

ONCE A FAVORABLE opinion of the bonding attorneys is obtained, the board can sell the bonds, First National Bank of Mansfield will be relieved of the debt it is holding against the board, interest payments will decrease slightly, and financing of the system will have been regularized.

In a special session Friday night, the board voted to forward to the Richland county board a resolution requesting the placing of the question of transfer to Huron county on the November ballot.

THE RICHLAND COUNTY board a week earlier had held that since 734 electors of a possible 1,001 in the district had signed five petitions asking for transfer to Huron county, the question should be decided by ballot.

It is now certain the question will appear on the November ballot.

A total of 551 votes for the proposal will carry it. The citizen's committee which carried the petitions showed no signs Monday of any plan to campaign for the issue by some members said a group would be organized to "try to carry the issue".

Larry E. Vanasdale, construction mechanic class, U.S. Navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Vanasdale of 396 West Broadway, has been honorably discharged from the U. S. Navy at Norfolk, Va.

World War I class has 45th reunion

Forty years after it was graduated from Plymouth High school, Class of 1918 has reunited.

Attorney and Mrs. A. W. Brown of Chargin Falls entertained the group on Memorial day.

Class members who attended were Helen Jones Williams, Springfield; Mildred Mittenbuhler McDowell, Mansfield; Martha Smith Reichman, Dover; Ruth Kenestrick Schwenley, New Washington; Fred Leak, Ripley; Russell Carnahan, Ashland.

Joe BeVier, Los Angeles, Cal., sent a letter of regret, which was read to the group.

Classmates unable to attend were Glendora Griffith Moore and Royal Trauger, Plymouth, and Harry Beelman, Chicago, Ill.

Steads were broiled near the river at the Brown home.

The class voted its thanks to the Browns and to reconvene again soon.

Mrs. Morrow killed by car

Plymouth's first traffic fatality occurred Thursday when Mrs. Bernice Morrow, 75, died under the wheels of a car driven by Councilman Elmer E. Markley in a bizarre accident at West High Plymouth streets.

Mrs. Morrow apparently walked into the path of Mr. Markley's car as he steered around a barricade in the street which had been erected by Ohio Fuel Gas Co. to protect the public from an excavation in front of the house of Mrs. San Bachrach.

MARKLEY TOLD POLICE he did not see the woman. She was flung against the curb and died of a fractured skull.

Markley was enroute to Greenlawn cemetery on village business — he serves on the cemetery committee of the village council — and told police he was travelling at 25 miles an hour.

The veteran councilman had served on various church boards and organizations with Mrs. Morrow for many years, and they were good — although not close — friends.

The shock of what occurred unnerved Mr. Markley so greatly that he was rushed immediately to Willard Municipal hospital, where he was placed under sedation.

He was released Sunday.

No charges will be filed against him, police said.

MRS. MORROW WAS THE widow of Frank Morrow and the daughter of the John Kenestrick, pioneer settlers in Richland county.

She lived with her sister, Miss Edith Kenestrick, at 128 Mulberry street. Miss Kenestrick is the only survivor.

Mrs. Morrow's pastor, the Rev. Thomas S. Taylor, conducted last rites Saturday at 2:30 p.m. from the McQuate Funeral home. Interment was in Greenlawn cemetery.

Mrs. Tussey dies in Tiffin hospital

Mrs. Annie S. Tussey, 66, died in Tiffin State hospital Thursday.

She lived here 19 years. Her husband, Mason, a son, Wayne, Plymouth; two sisters, Mrs. Bitha Jane Clemons and Mrs. Lillie Payne, Pikesville, Ky., and four grandchildren survive.

The Rev. Newton Vanderpool conducted a funeral service Sunday at 11 a.m. from the Little Rebecca Baptist church southwest of here. Burial was in Greenlawn cemetery in charge of the McQuate Funeral home.

Denton A. Shields dies in Columbus in 84th year

Denton Andrew Shields, at 83 one of Plymouth's oldest male citizens, died of a lengthy illness in Mt. Carmel hospital, Columbus, Sunday night.

A widower, Mr. Shields had retired from two professions. In 1939 he retired as village mail carrier at the compulsory age of 65. He returned to Fate-Root-Heath Co., where he had been employed prior to his postal tenure, and remained as coke maker in the foundry until 1951.

Mrs. Shields died in 1940. Born near Doyleburg, Pa., Nov. 30, 1874, the same day as Sir Winston Churchill, whom he greatly admired, he was the son of William Randolph and Margaret Doyle Shields.

Two sons, Lester and Wilbur, both of this place; two sisters, Mrs. Fred Schwab, Willard, and Mrs. Elizabeth Yeoum, Spring Run Pa., survive. There are two grandchildren and a great-grandchild.

The Rev. Robert F. Hall conducted last rites at 2:30 p.m. from the McQuate Funeral home. Burial was in Greenlawn cemetery.

'Slim' Motter dies of cancer at Willard

Leon E. (Slim) Motter, 57, died of cancer in Willard June 3.

His wife, Dorothy, and his mother, Mrs. Frank Motter, Willard, are the only survivors.

Mr. Motter lived here many years, most recently in a trailer in Riggs avenue.

His red jeep was a familiar sight around the Square but he was perhaps most famous locally for a daring trip on a tractor to Texas, which he completed about eight years ago.

Mr. Motter was an electrician at Plum Brook Ordnance plant, Sandusky.

The Rev. A. J. E. Manton, pastor of Grace Methodist church, conducted last rites from the Fink Funeral home at Willard Friday at 2 p.m. Interment was in Greenlawn cemetery.

HONOR ENGINEERING graduate of Duke university, Durham, N. C., is Ralph W. Barnes, Jr. He is grandson of Mrs. T. A. Barnes of Shiloh and will join RCA at Camden, N. J. June 23.

Four Plymouth High school pupils, all members of the Class of 1959, will leave Sunday for a two-week science workshop at Ohio university, Athens.

They are Vaughn D'Lee Faust, eldest daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Darrell B. Faust, 18 Plymouth street; D. Richard Akers, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Akers, 22 West Broadway; William Archer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Archer, 415 West

Broadway, and James Wasserman, second son of the Lawrence Wassermans, 32 Mills avenue. They will return June 28.

Goldsmiths sued in juvenile's death

Parents of a boy who died beneath the wheels of a Plymouth youth's car now seek judgments amounting to $25,000.

Richard E. Goldsmith and his father, Homer A. 242, Trust streets are defendants in the action filed by Kenneth Kegley, 84 Sherman avenue, Shelby.

His minor son Ronald Eugene, five years old, was fatally injured July 28, 1957, in Route 39, just south of the Shelby city limits. Kegley claims $10,000 for loss of services of his boy, $15,000 for pain suffered by the boy between injury and death, and $308 for medical expense.

Miss Briggs gets college degree

Sister of Mrs. Robert Kennedy, Carolyn Briggs was graduated from Hieselberg college, Tiffin, with a bachelor of arts degree Sunday in a class of 116. Her parents, the Dwight Briggs of Ganges, and Mrs. Kennedy attended the commencement exercises, at which Gov. C. William O'Neil was speaker.

Teal in hospital, Mrs. Davis cured

William Teal was readmitted to Willard Municipal hospital this week.

Mrs. Ruth Davis will return to her post at Wilkins Air Force station Monday after a two-month stay in West Palm Beach, Fla., where she underwent surgery.

Bowmen set new style of shooting

A "battle-it-out" is scheduled for Sunday morning by Huron Valley Bowmen on the Plymouth East road grounds.

Only wooden arrows may be used. A trophy will be awarded the highest scorer.

A 28-target field shoot is slated for the afternoon program.

Mrs. William Trauper was the only local archer to place in the invitational shoot at Bellevue Sunday. She got third in bowman class.

Well, another Memorial Day is over, and so is the marching. There is nothing nicer than just sitting while others march. People seem to take to it like ducks do to water.

It is a different story, I guess, when you have to march. Back in Marine Corps boot camp, which I wouldn't wish on anyone, no matter how much I disliked them and would like them to suffer, we did nothing but go this way, sideways, even backwards. After a while, you really got confused over which foot was which.

ONCE THAT PERIOD OF existence was completed, and we went to work in our forest green, marching was not every day. Only when some foolish female second lieutenant thought we ought to. That is when one had to use imagination. Either you worked late in the office, which our crusty old warrant officer knew was a big lie, or you developed a back ailment, which some Navy doctor also knew as not too true. It was very tricky to plan between the two. No decision in civilian life can equal what we went through with those two, not knowing which would work.

The Marine Corps was fun in its way, and it had the tragedies of war in it every minute. Somehow, in our office, we always knew when another island was approached. The casualty list would start pouring in a good day before the newspapers announced it.

Until you see long lists of names, you have no idea what mothers must have been thinking of.

It was amazing how many Warren Harding Smiths and Calvin Coolidge Jones were there. You could tell just about when they were born. I imagine that those who worked on the Korean lists found many Franklin Delano something. The sad part is that if you subtract a few dates, how you expect names to get along. That always stumps me.

Somewhere, someplace, maybe, man can stop fighting man, but, Jezeby-peezy, when you even argue over coffee cups, how can you expect names to get along. That always stumps me.

I READ THE OTHER DAY that a reporter asked one of the greatest scientists what he thought we would find on the moon if we ever got there. Mr. Teller replied, "Russians". So here we go again. I do think, though, that a cartoon showed it better. It pictured two men getting out of a space ship on another world. What should greet them but a tribe of befeathered Indians.

Memorial day also brings from his master's table. Since families were large, meat plentiful, and storing food difficult from one day to the next, he still ate fairly well-balanced meals.

Then came the nutritional depression for dogs. Families shrank in size. Meat production, distribution and marketing became highly specialized industries. Science proved the food value of organ meats for humans which brought an end to the happy days when butchers said, "I'll just throw in the liver, heart and kidney for Towner." The refrigerator cut into the dog's traditional share even further.

Luckily for the canines of the country, the manufacture of prepared dog food was initiated in time to rescue them from their nutritional depression. And as science gleaned greater insight into the nutritional needs of dogs, prepared dog foods improved until, today, they contain everything essential to maintaining your pet in the peak of condition. Ironically, the top grades of commercially-prepared dog foods provide practically the same nutrients that the dog got when he was bagging his own dinner, with some extra pluses added, thereby completing the dog's nutritional cycle—from riches, to rags, to riches.

thoughts of picnics, we all love. Sometimes we are too darn lazy to journey out of our own kitchen. So, we have our picnic right there. A meal of potato salad, sandwiches, and all the picnic fare is good, but it really isn't a whole meal unless it is topped with an extra good dessert.

We know a wonderful recipe for just that. There are two warnings to it. Use the nicest, biggest eggs you can buy, and use an electric beater on the last part. From experience we have found you can not beat the meringue enough with a handbeater and a sprained finger to boot.

Turn your oven on at 350, then roll up your sleeves and cream half a cup of butter and a cup of sugar. Add three egg yolks and six tablespoons of flour. Mix well. Add one cup of flour and one teaspoon of baking powder, along with a teaspoon of vanilla. Pour this into a tart tin, the round kind about three inches deep with a bottom which comes out. Ours is just under 11 inches in diameter. Bake this for half an hour or until a tooth pick comes out un-

MEANWHILE, IN A DOUBLE boiler brew up the juice and rind of one lemon, a cup of sugar, Two egg yolks (egg whites go in same bowl as other three whites), a cup of hot water, and two tablespoons of cornstarch. Cook until thick over boiling water. Cool a speck, then pour over cake, which should be baked by now. Measure one cup of sugar and add a teaspoon or a little more of cinnamon and mix up. Then start beating the five egg whites. When quite stiff, (who, eggs or beater? — Ed.) begin to add the sugar. When all is mixed, spread on top of lemon, put in oven to set.

It can be the most beautiful dessert with the three layers right in place to be served whole. If it is not so beautiful, you can cut it out of sight and serve it. It's still good.

Cubs vault to lead by two; Reds win

Some days, say the Plymouth Order of Mechanics Giants, you can't lay aside a dime!

Pitted against the Fate-Root-Heath Co. Cubs Thursday night, the Giants started Dick Chapman and broke the game open with six runs off John Wilcox in the third for a 7 to 1 lead.

BUT THE GIANTS FRITTED it away and wound up dead as mackerels in the sixth with an 11 to 7 defeat.

It was a contest of pure luck. The Cubs did everything right after the fateful third and the Giants did everything wrong.

This was particularly true in the infield, where Manager Tug Mellott shuffled his players like a deck of cards before he settled on what he wanted. By this time the damage was done.

Chapman fanned enough to run his string to 34 in three games but was otherwise wild.

THE REDS PULLED ONE out of the fire in the final canto Friday night, downing the Braves for their first win of the season.

Bob Hass handled the hill chores for the Reds and did well enough, but misuses and failure to hit in the clutch kept the Reds down.

When Gene Osborn pitches for the Braves, they do well. When he's used up his mound eligibility, the Braves are hurtin'.

Four lady bowlers collect in tourney

Four Plymouth women and 12 other lady bowlers in the Willard league copped a total of $111 in the state tourney rolled at Cleveland in February, they learned this week.

Mrs. Thomas Henry got $6 for a 601 score, Mrs. Robert Hampton $2 for a 577 and Miss DeLores Betts $2 for a 570.

Mrs. James C. Davis divided a $5 award with Dorothy Moore for an 1124 score in the doubles competition.

BIG AWARD — $65 — went to Alice Burwell, who knocked over 696 pins for second place women's singles.

With Joyce Wyandt she split $4 for 1108 in the doubles.

Other winners were Emma Vamchek, $4; Mrs. Ann Littrell, $3; Nancy Ketcham, $3; Edna Frohnapple, $3; Ruth Brubaker, $2; Mrs. Wyandt, $2; Mrs. Ketcham and Jackie Tupps, $10 in doubles.

On the Sidelines

By THE OLD TIMER

Two weeks into its second season and Plymouth Midget league already shows signs of progress.

Any fan can see the quality of play is greatly improved.

The pitching is better. Young Dick Chapman had 34 strikeouts in three games and he hadn't yet found the strike zone effectively. Pitchers are ahead of the batters, who're offering at pitches outside the zone.

THE HITTING ISN'T BAD, although only one blow has cleared the fence. That was by little Billy Phillips, Red catcher.

save for one or two instances, is surer.

The scores are closer. Fielding, as things shape up now, and this is strictly one man's opinion, here's what the team needs:

Giants: solution to the second base problem, more pitching depth, more hitting.

Cubs: better outfielding.

Braves: better inner defense, improved catching, more hitting.

Reds: better baserunning, more pitching depth.

ON FORM AND PAST RECORD, the Fate-Root-Heath Co. Cubs deserve our choice for first spot, PROVIDED the boys don't get tight hatband. They're lucky enough — they pulled one out of the fire Thursday night after the Giants had a 7 to 1 lead.

But it'll be tough and go throughout the first half, especially if Manager Tug Mellott can breathe some fire into his infield and uncovers another reliable pitcher.

AS IF WORK AND FAMILY and Midget league management aren't enough, Rich Fox has undertaken another season of sandlot baseball with the Plymouth Merchants, a team he organized and manages.

The Merchants have some pretty fair country ball players — Fox and Bill Demaline pitching, Lurry Root at first base, Larry Schreck at second, Tom Meiser, Don Grabach, John Fox, Ted Fox, and some others.

They're playing strictly for kicks, all away from home. You could do worse than obtain a line on them when they're playing next and drop in to watch the home town nine.

Was it politics?

One can hardly find fault with the efforts of Superintendent Kinney to hang on to territory that has for long been part of the Richland county school district. In a way, he's a good bit like Winston Churchill, who once said he hadn't become His Majesty's prime minister to preside over the liquidation of the British empire.

Neither did Dale Kinney become Richland county school superintendent to preside over the erosion of the Richland county school district. So far as his efforts extend to retention of those areas to which the county has a legitimate claim, we applaud them.

But a county school superintendent, like Caesar's wife, must be above suspicion. And the truth is there are many who live in the Plymouth school district who suspect that Mr. Kinney's efforts are influenced by political considerations over which he is not the master.

Mind you, we don't think this is what Mr. Kinney is doing. He's a friend of ours, and has always been honest with us in our investigations of the school situation.

But we repeat, there are many who SUSPECT that the calling of a second meeting to reconsider the rejection of an application for state building aid smacked of politics.

And they are not happy about it.

One of the board members changed his vote, he said publicly, on what he understood was the assurance that if a state building grant were to be approved for the Plymouth district, it could be "carried along with us if we go into Huron county in the fall."

Now Mr. Kinney has come forward with a letter to president Markley of the school board, saying this is not so. Meanwhile, the application is now a matter of record. It was duly notarized (in this office — another Advertiser service free to the public) and forwarded before the June 1 deadline.

For our part, we would be sorely distressed if any state educational authorities were to authorize building funds for a district, whether this or any other, that could get along on much less by the simple expedient of crossing a county line and consolidating with other districts whose needs and mean are parallel.

We hope that is what the state authorities will do. Because some of the money that will be paid to such a district, whether this one or another, is money we paid in, derived from honest and faithful effort.

And while we're about it, let's get this straight: The Advertiser is not in the pay of anyone, neither the school board nor the county superintendent nor anyone else. The invoice presented for payment to, and paid by, the school board was duly sworn and notarized. Any honest citizen could have seen that by asking the clerk to see the invoice. We resent any implication to the contrary.

We are beginning to fear that politics, rather than the just and proper solution of the educational needs of our children, is influencing the thinking of otherwise sensible citizens who have a stake in public schooling.

Independently of what we think, or have thought, on the matter, the school board has said formally it favors resumption of the status quo prior to the ill-fated decision of the Supreme Court.

The board has not formally retreated from that position, and we take it at its face value.

So long as this is true, what fault could be found with the board's decision to reject an application for state aid for the Plymouth district, when anyone with common sense could see, if he wanted to, that no grant approved NOW would be worth a damn if transfer across the county line and consolidation with Huron Valley should become an eventuality?

Three Plymouth High school pupils — girls, all of them — are among the high school poets and poetesses chosen to be published in "Young America Sings," by the National High School Poetry association.

They are Lucille Ann Newmyer, Class of 1918, and Donna Evans and Betty Sprowles, Class of 1959.

Miss Newmyer's effort follows:
"Winter is the most beautiful and the most cruel.
During a blizzard the night is long, the day is short:
The snow is fine and whipped along by the wind's force.
This is when time drags on.
And then the scene is changed — How beautiful Earth is!
The trees, fences and even the weeds have been transformed into fairy-land;
The sun shines on the snow and make it I look like
A million diamonds in the lane.
The windows are frosted, the roads are blocked
But all is beautiful outside.
This can happen in one day.
From the cruel to the most beautiful."

Miss Evans chose "Alone" as her theme, thus:
"What a terrible feeling it is to be alone.
There is no one left to love and care for.
He is gone, my life is gone, my own,
I know not where to turn, I want to live no more
Yes, that is my answer — Death!
Death with its calm tender sleep;
But I know that I shall have eternal breath.
It is not for me, I shall ne'er see that deep.
I will walk on through the years.
Until at last I can walk no more,
So very faint will become my fears,
And perhaps I may soon see the eternal door.
I will find my longing drawing nigh.
Peace will not come until the day I die."

And Miss Sprowles wrote "The Wall", thus:
"There is an unrelenting wall
Between all else and me;
A wall of transparent glass
Through which I gaze and see
The happiness of other girls, alas,
Who're loved for things I lack,
And if my spirit had two sides
On all I'd turn my back.
But I must be or try to be Loved by those I fear,
Must laugh because others laugh
And choke back every tear.
But when I am in bed at night
Or cannot sleep at all,
I wrap myself in loneliness,
And let the teardrops fall."

Who knows but that from these auspicious beginnings we may have another Sara Teasdale or an Emily Dickinson in our midst.

WILL NANCY GET TO BE A TEACHER?

Nancy's smart and Nancy likes school. She already has her heart set on being a teacher—but it looks as though she's going to be an awfully disappointed young woman.

To be a good teacher, Nancy needs first-rate schooling right now! But Nancy and a lot of other promising youngsters live in communities where the schooling is inadequate, where there's a dangerous shortage of classrooms, teachers, up-to-date textbooks. Result? A not-very-bright future for a lot of very bright kids.

Let's be sure this doesn't happen to the children in our schools. Join with the other good citizens of our community to back up our School Board, attend PTA meetings and school conferences.

DWIGHT CHERRY PROVED that good eyesight runs in his family — he identified the Richard Woodruff farm in Ridge road, Fairfield township, and for his pains and promptness he's entitled to a quart of ice cream from Mack's.

A kitten on the mailbox post, a breeze --- quotas forgotten

On 146 acres, says Dick Woodfarmer, the secret is hogs and hustle.

After you've gotten out of the broiler business, that is. When prices went to pot in the chicken trade, young Woodruff got out. Now he's got sheep and hogs.

OF THE LATTER, THERE'RE 18 brood sows and their litters. At an average of seven piglets apiece, that's 126 hogs.

The Woodruffs keep Spotted Poland and Hampshires; both of which breeds fare well in Fairfield township. And at the Cleveland markets, too.

What about the Landrace hog? "Those rascals will poke their noses through the fence and eat up to third row," says Dick Woodruff.

THIS IS PLEASANT COUNTRY. It rolls. The natural drainage, however, isn't enough.

"Why, I laid 2,000 feet of tile this spring," says the young farmer. "And it wasn't easy. Because even though we had a tiling machine, we ran into stones."

Now the naturally rolling farm drains fast, which makes it easier to farm.

But there are some mornings, like Monday, for one, when no matter how well the tiles drain the ground is too wet.

THIS IS WHEN THE TREES smell fresh and the breeze off the hill is sweet and pleasant. The warning wind blows across the big porch of the white-and-green-trimmed farmhouse and the clouds begin to lift in the west. The sun will shine later in the day.

A kitten climbs the mailbox, a small circus in herself. What's left of a broiler flock, a Plymouth White Rock and Cornish cross, struts proudly up the lane, their capulets ruffling in the wind.

The two purebred English hounds (it doesn't cost any more, says Dick Woodruff to feed a pedigreed animal, so why not?) whimper around the feet of the hunter, who has been out with calibre .22 rifle and telescope to shoot groundhogs this wet morning.

These are the things that, despite quotas and falling prices and drought and a hundred other headaches of the small farmer, make farm living worth while.

Ask the Woodruffs. They know.

Suzie sez

Pop's garden has 13 tomato plants. The way he is superstitious I wonder that he planted 13! But it doesn't bother him much. I guess he thinks that his little brown friend may do away with one of his plants.

This little brown friend is, as Pop says, "breeding a scab on the end of his nose?"

Rabbits that eat tomato plants always get into trouble around our place.

POP SAYS HIS CUB SCOUTS may not be the biggest outfit in the parade, but they sure had the biggest area of flag.

They had two flags measuring 80 and 84 square feet.

I HEAR OVER AT MONROEVILLE the firing squad used live ammunition.

If this is true I think it is silly. Isn't it ridiculous to shoot off a gun in favor of no more war and kill somebody at the same time? Live ammunition can kill you dead.

IF THE DUMB GINK IN our house doesn't start getting some baseballs, he is in the D. H.
