Four pupils attending journalism seminar at Athens

Four Plymouth High school pupils are attending the 1958 workshop in high school publications staged by the school of journalism, Ohio university, Athens, this week.

The pupils, a boy and three girls, are lodged in a university dormitory. They are pursuing a technical and practical study course directed by Prof. L. J. Horrin, director of the school of journalism.

They are James Vogel, son of the Robert Vogels, Curtiss court;

Maryann Hass, daughter of the Glenn Hasses, 241 Ridge Avenue; Sandra Barnes, child of the Leo Barneses, 61 Trux street; and Janice Bowman, daughter of the Ivan Bowmans, 153 Maple street.

Four new contracts offered, board moves to pay interest

Contracts for the 1958-59 school year were offered to four teachers by Plymouth Board of Education Thursday night.

Mrs. Frank Fenner, Route 598, was extended a contract to teach fifth grade pupils in Plymouth elementary school.

Mrs. Lloyd Ray, a graduate of Marshall college, Huntington, W. Va., was approached to teach the fourth grade at Shiloh. Her husband is elementary principal here.

Lawrence J. Root, a 1958 graduate of Ashland college, can teach social studies and coach junior high athletics at Shiloh.

Sidney Stetter, Bluffton, who has taught in Bluffton and at Elda, was offered a contract to teach mathematics in Plymouth High school.

SUPT. M. J. COON TOLD the board he hopes these teachers will sign contracts promptly so that the faculty can be completed earlier than has been the case for the past several years.

Robert Cronquist, who has taught music at Shiloh for the past year, was appointed instrumental music director in the schools. He holds the master of arts degree in musical pedagogy from Western Reserve university and has been director of the Ashland college marching band.

Seventeen pupils have enrolled in special summer courses, Mr. Coon reported. Fourteen of them are Plymouth pupils, two are Huron Valley children and one is from Willard. William Flaherty, who taught in Shiloh High school last year, is the instructor.

Pupils are paying for the teaching.

THE BOARD DEBATED AT some length whether it should pay for individual lessons by the band teacher. The program, some members said, is costing more than the system can afford. It was decided to leave the situation as is; the board will continue to pay for group, as distinguished from individual, lessons.

Miss Elizabeth Thew, who has bought the Arthur Dann house in East Main street, resigned officially from the system. She taught last year at Shiloh and will teach next term in Douds elementary school, Shelby. Squire, Sanders & Dempsey, Cleveland bonding attorneys, reported all documents are in order for submittal to Richland County Common Pleas Judge G. C. Kallfleisch to obtain a declaratory judgment that the Plymouth board as now constituted has been done so legally.

Interest in the amount of $460, due First National bank Mansfield for the advance of $25,000 to build the Shiloh addition, must be paid by the board. Interest of $920 will be charged against the proceeds of the bond sale if and when they can be sold.

The interest of $1,380 was due June 1.

Huron Valley freshmen get option of enrollment at Willard or Plymouth

Ninth graders living in Huron Valley local school district may go to Plymouth or Willard High school as tuition pupils in September the Huron Valley Board of Education ruled last week.

Parents may choose to send their children to Willard, where they will be assigned classroom space.

Or, at parental option, a child may be sent to Plymouth High school. Huron Valley pupils so enrolled will be re-assigned to the Huron Valley Junior High school building at New Haven.

Whether pupils are sent to Willard or Plymouth, they must enroll June 27 after 9 a.m. in the Huron Valley Junior High school building at New Haven.

The ninth grade program at New Haven will include required courses in English, science, mathematics (general mathematics or algebra I) and health and physical education and electives in Latin I, typing I, music, home economics and industrial arts.

Swimming lessons offered at Willard by ARC teachers

Registration for beginners classes for swimming lesson will be taken today and tomorrow from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Willard swimming pool. An authorized Red Cross swimming instructor will be in charge of instruction.

Class, to begin June 23, will be held Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays through July 25. Four sections will be conducted, starting at 8, 9, 10, and 11 a.m.

More advanced swimmers' lessons will be conducted later in the summer, along with life saving classes.

Water is wet, cold --- that's all

Adjustments incidents to repair of the village water tower brought a storm of protests to the Board of Public Affairs last week.

Water was shut off early June 9 to allow for installation of a new valve in the tank.

THE TERMINATION OF water supplies, on a Monday morning, when most housewives were doing their weekly wash, came without advance notice.

And when the water service was resumed, the protests came thick and fast.

"The water is all rusty, it's ruining my clothes," was the common complaint.

One householder in High street reported that several practically new white shirts belonging to her husband were badly stained by the water. "Trouble is," she said, "it's almost impossible for us to replace them right now — we can't afford it."

Another householder, in Plymouth street, was disturbed late on June 9 by the hissing sound of an exploded water pipe.

BEFORE THE MAIN VALVE in the basement could be turned off, two inches of water lay in the bathroom. This dripped through the ceiling throughout the night.

"The pipes there are quite old," the householder said, "but if the pressure weren't so high because they were pumping directly from the well, the pipe probably wouldn't have burst."

On Monday, flushing of a hydrant in Maple street brought more protests. One housewife was in the middle of rinsing her washing when the rusty fluid spotted her clothes. She telephoned a neighbor to warn her to avoid such an occurrence with her own wash.

Then the neighbor and the first housewife descended on the clerk of the board, Carl V. Ellis.

Clerk Ellis reported that "a Board member" (otherwise unidentified) came to him and said he was "getting nervous because of all these complaints."

By 5 p.m. Monday, the Board had a horde of indignant juveniles on its back. By venting the hydrant in Maple street, water department personnel flooded the playing field of Plymouth Midget League.

Half mill park levy on ballot Council, BPA decide on distribution survey

Two hours of wrangling Tuesday night left the village council and Board of Public Affairs agreed on one conclusion: an overall survey of the water distribution system, to cost $600, will be undertaken at once to enable the Board to prepare recommendations for orderly water extension.

But the Board tipped its hand early. "We don't believe in spending public moneys," said President Robert L. McIntire, "for private benefit." And George W. Cheesman, now in his third term as a member, said "Somewhere the public stops paying and the householder begins paying."

HE IMPLIED THAT TIME is long past. He said the Board feels householders in West Broadway should pay 50 per cent of the cost of laying a six-inch main there.

These statements came after a long colloquy between McIntire and Councilman Donald E. Akers that most observers agreed was a stand-off.

Akers gnawed away like a persistent terrier at the size of the surplus in the water system accounts. He said, "At one point, 'Fact of the matter is, the Board knew, didn't it, that it couldn't loan this money out?'"

To this McIntire responded with a resounding "No." He said

Salvation Army talk set for today

Maj. Paul Hoffman, head of the public extension department of the Salvation Army for north eastern Ohio, will speak at 8 p.m. today before the Chamber of Commerce.

Members will meet at 8 p. m. in the elementary school to hear the talk and conduct a short business session.

The Salvation Army, a beneficiary of the village's first community chest drive last autumn, left $100 of its $500 allocation for local assistance.

the state auditor "doesn't seem to be concerned about the size of this modest surplus."

MCINTIRE SAID THAT FIRE department funds are already invested and implied there was no error in doing so. Akers took issue with this statement, whereupon the board president asked whether the auditor had made any finding against the village because of this?

It was rhetorical question and he scored heavily with it. He said he had talked with a Mr. Johnson, in the small communities section of the auditor's department at Columbus, who informed him that department regards the present law as one of omission. No findings were returned against any village which had invested its surpluses.

By the time engineers for Floyd G. Browne Associates of Marion had lectured for perhaps an hour, it was clear the technicians want a whole system survey to determine whether the wants will meet the needs. A report of the state board of fire inspection was read again, showing that in at least three areas — West Broadway, Route 61 at the village line, and the end of Trux street — water flow at 20 pounds pressure is substantially below the 500 gallons a minute regarded as adequate by the experts.

ONE BROWNE ENGINEER struck a blow for the proponents of immediate installation of a six-inch main in West Broadway. He said it is customary in municipal water systems for expansion of existing lines to be paid for from reserves or accumulated profits.

But it was clear the present board will have none of this and when it filed out the Browne firm had been authorized to proceed with a distribution system survey not to exceed $600 in cost.

All but spent by this time, the council wrestled with financing problems of Mary Fate park.

And although it thinks the rental rate for tables should be raised, the council agreed with the park board that public revenues should be earmarked for park expense.

So a one-half mill levy will appear on the November ballot. This would produce about $1,500 annually for exclusive use of Mary Fate park.

ROBERT W. FOGLESON, 58 Trux street, was elected high priest of Shelby Chapter No. 178, Royal Arch Masons, June 12 and will be installed by Franz K. Hall, 33rd degree Mason, at Shelby Thursday.

Mr. Fogleson was elected president of the 20th Masonic district association on Apr. 23.

The hospital beat

Mrs. J. A. Lasch was admitted to Willard Municipal hospital on June 3 and released June 5. William Teal was released June 7 and Mrs. J. A. Snow on June 9.

Leo Kendig, Shiloh was admitted to Shelby Memorial hospital Friday.

THIS PLAN for Vanderbilt sub-division in village and New Haven township has received approval of FHA, which says "acceptance of properties by FHA will be governed by extent of demonstrated market demand at time of submission of applications for mortgage insurance." If FHA accepts, properties can be acquired for as little as $500 down. Plan is to construct $15,000 homes.

KNOW YOUR SCHOOL DISTRICT: these photos were taken in old Huron Valley school district with emphasis on New Haven township. Free quart of ice cream for first identification mailed to the editor at Box 488, Plymouth.

JOHN WILES, whose father is a farmer neighbor of Fred Hartman, identified the Hartman farm in Egypt road, Greenfield township. He gets a quart of ice cream by calling on R. H. Mack, local grocer.

Fred Hartman farms 106 acres held by family since Indian days

Man and boy, Fred Hartman has spent a lifetime on his farm in Egypt road, Greenfield township.

After nearly 70 years as farm boy and then farmer in Huron county, he has reached some conclusions about it all.

These include:

1. A man with 106 acres — that's the size of the Hartman farm, which has been in his family or that of his mother, the Clarks, since it was alienated from the Indians — can hardly survive nowadays.

2. The dairy farmer with less than 15 milkers and no bulk tank storage system may be forced out of business before long, although milk marketers aren't applying so much pressure now as they did six months ago.

3. Farm life has been revolutionized by several developments in the last 50 years — better seed, better farm machinery, telephone, television, and such — but it was the introduction of electricity by the REA in the Roosevelt administration 25 years ago that made farm life worth living.

4. THE INTRODUCTION OF unemployment compensation and similar systems of assisting the laboring force has ruined the farm labor market. The farm laborer would rather sit home and draw compensation than do honest work on the farm.

5. The wheat marketing quota system is unfair to the man to whom it should be the fairest, the small farmer. "They won't let me plant enough to vote," says Fred Hartman, "but yet they claim I've overplanted what I'm allowed."

IF FROM THESE CONCLUSIONS you get the impression Fred Hartman and his step-mother, Mrs. Bertha Hartman, who's lived on the place for three score years and four, enjoy growing old, you're mistaken.

"It's no fun growing old," they say, "because all you can do is sit, and we don't like sitting."

This week Fred Hartman spent some time with tin snips and hammer, recovering some screens.

Mrs. Hartman hasn't been well, for nearly two years now, and finds it difficult to reconcile herself to reduced activity.

BUT SHE RETAINS HER green thumb. This is rose season in Greenfield township. Mrs. Hartman has a handsome arbor of American Beauties rambling over the back porch.

And the cherry tree in the front dooryard is all but bent in two with a heavy crop — "If the birds don't get them before I do", she says.

Eight months ago the Hartmans disposed of their hogs. Now Mrs. Hartman has a yen for some piglets. Got any?

Farmers to vote on wheat quotas

Huron and Richland county farmers will vote tomorrow in the annual wheat marketing quota referendum.

New Haven, Ripley and Richmond township farmers having more than 15 acres of wheat seeded will vote in the Willard village hall, where the voting committee is Ray Kingplamith, Clarence Lyons and Ferl Buckingham.

Plymouth, Cass and Blooming-grove township farmers will cast their ballots in the Sharon township hall.

Polls will open at 8 a.m. and close at 7 p.m.

Last year less than 15 per cent of the eligible vote was cast.

This year, the Ohio Farmers union, powerful association of farmers throughout the state, endorses a favorable vote. It argues that $1.84-a-bushel wheat under the support program is a better deal for farmers than a free market price of $1.

Gary Brumback pitches no-hitter, homers as Cubs clinch first place tie; 'Jints' dead

Gary Brumback pitched and batted Fate-Root-Heath Cubs into a sure-thing first place tie for the first hall banner in Plymouth Midlet league play Monday.

The lithe righthander, fanned 13, allowed nary a hit, and gave up an unearned run in the sixth as the Cubs welcomed Plymouth Order of Mechanics Giants, 12 to 1.

UNTIL THE FINAL FRAME, when Freddy Buzzard reached first safely on John Wilcox's error, only Chip Paddock, Giant backstop, had reached first safely. Brumback passed the little Giant catcher twice.

Buzzard went to second on a balk, stole third and rode home when Roger Van Lee's throw to the bag went into left field.

Meanwhile, the Cubs were having a field day with Dick Chapman whose wildness both at the plate and in throwing to second cost him dearly.

Brumback became the second batter to clear the fence this season with a long belt in the fifth that had no Chinese flavor. There were two on when his blow sank the Giants.

GIVE THE CUBS ANOTHER victory and you couldn't beat 'em with a club.

As of Monday night, they'd won six and lost none and enjoyed a three and and-a-half game lead, with three more to play.

On the Sidelines

By THE OLD TIMER

LINCOLN ROAD IS THE horse to beat in Ohio's most famous horse race, ThistleDown's $27,500 Ohio Derby, when the field goes postward Saturday in the 24th edition of the Cleveland classic.

With Tim Tam's career ended, this colt claims the three year old championship. Trained by Vic Sovinski, Lincoln Road will be ridden at ThistleDown by Chris Rodgers, who rode the star sophomore in the Kentucky Derby and Preakness. Rodgers, currently riding in Chicago, will fly to Cleveland Friday night for Saturday's mile and one eighth race.

The first time the Sunny Blue Farm horse took a trip to the races, he captured the $50,000 Jersey Stakes at Garden State. He was second to Tim Tam in the $100,000 Florida Derby, the $125,000 Kentucky Derby, and the $100,000 Preakness. Total distance between the Calumet star and the Ohio Derby starter in the three races combined—was only two and one-half lengths.

This marks another outstanding horse that has performed in the Ohio version of the English classic. Calumet Farm's Fabius, winner of the Pimlico's Preakness that year, finished second to C. V. Whitney's Born Mighty in 1956. Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Find won the 1953 renewal and Clifford Mooers' Traffic Judge, with Eddie Arcaro aboard, won the 1955 race. L. L. Haggins' Manteau, son of Citation, won the Ohio Derby last season.

Six villages received $438,273 in '57

Richland county's six villages, including Plymouth, had receipts of $438,273.61 and expenditures of $429,924.96 in 1957, according to a tabulation of annual financial reports filed with State Auditor James A. Rhodes by village clerks.

Revenues of the county's villages came from the following sources: Property Taxes, $48,574.11; cigarette licenses, $1,243.07; waterworks, $57,887.66; electric plants, $117,090.07; cemeteries, $15,730.06; sewers, $37,337.13; auto licenses, $12,564.12; gasoline tax, $22,338.05; local government fund, $10,074.09; bond issues and loans, $65,019.88; other, $50,715.37.

Expenditures were for general government, $21,062.72; police and fire protection, $27,049.78; sanitation, $20,102.81; streets, $68,448.63; recreation, $3,146.65; waterworks, $37,294.29; electric plants, $98,368.61; sewers, $23,578.90; bonds and notes paid $52,882.22; other, $60,950.64; cemeteries, $17,039.71.

Because of the growing importance of village and township governments in the local government picture in Ohio, State Auditor Rhodes is planning to issue this year a report on the fiscal statistics of all villages and townships. Similar reports have been issued by the auditor's office on county and city governmental operations for more than 40 years. But there has been no overall information on villages and townships. Many requests for such data have persuaded Rhodes that such information will be helpful to legislators, bond houses, banks, research groups, students of government, local officials and the taxpayers in general.

It commemorates the military achievements of General George Rogers Clark against the Indians of the Central Ohio country back in 1778-1780.

Following the successful campaign waged by General Clark and a few hundred soldiers against the British in southern Indiana, the led an army against the home villages of the raiding Shawnee Indians.

This monument to General Clark stands on the site of the Indian village, Old Piqua, where his force defeated the Shawnees in a fierce battle. Tecumseh, the famous Indian leader, then a boy, is said to have watched this battle over the town of his birth.

Clark Memorial Park is just north of Route 4, about five miles west of Springfield. It is but one mile south of U. S. 40 on State Route 369.

you'll find a Faith to live by...

It's quiet inside. Quiet with the peace of centuries, for this is God's House.

Within these walls, the worries which loomed so large outside become less fearsome... for the first time perhaps you see them in their true perspective. If this alone were the reward of Faith, it would be enough. But there is more.

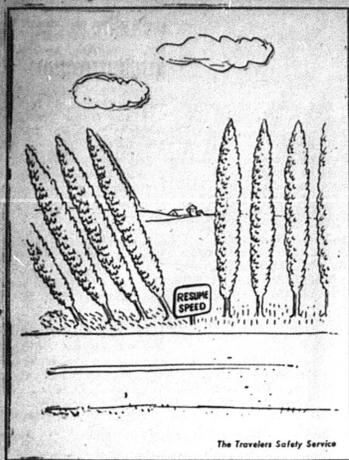

Faith is a source of strength, a reservoir of power that helps you meet the needs of every day. By worshipping with your family each week at your church or synagogue, you're giving them a measure of security no amount of money could buy. The Faith to hope... to grow... to live by.

Give them a Faith to live by Worship with them this week

Minds, too, need cultivating

Good crops spring from fertilized and tilled land—great thoughts from enriched and disciplined minds. Nourish the mind, and the harvest can be bountiful beyond all measure, for the mind contains the most precious of all seeds—the ideas that shape our world.

Our nation, up to now, has been richly rewarded by the quality of thought nourished in our colleges and universities. The kind of learning developed there has been responsible in no small part for our American way of life, with all its freedom, all its idealism, all its promise.

That is why the following facts should be of deep concern to every American:

1. Low salaries are not only driving gifted college teachers into other fields, but are steadily reducing the number of qualified people who choose college teaching as a career.

2. Many classrooms are already overcrowded, yet in the next decade applications for college enrollment will DOUBLE in number.

Our institutions of higher learning are doing their utmost to meet these challenges, and to overcome them. But they need the help of all who hope for continued progress in science, in statesmanship, in the strengthening of our democratic ideals. And they need it now!

If you want to know more about what the college crisis means to you, and what you can do to help, write for a free booklet to:
