Bloodmobile due tomorrow

American Red Cross Bloodmobile will visit Plymouth tomorrow for donations of whole blood. Although a nominal quota of 125 pints is expected when the Bloodmobile visits a community, no such collection is anticipated here.

Barion Lydy, Willard chairman for the Bloodmobile, expressed hope Monday that 65 pints — half the quota — might be collected here.

"Anything less than that is too expensive in time and personnel for the Bloodmobile," he said.

MRS. GLENN HASS AND Mrs. Ralph Hunt will manage the canteen in the high school tomorrow.

Mrs. Woodrow Smith, Mrs. Robert Kessler, Mrs. Judson A. Morrison and Mrs. E. L. Earnest comprise the lunch committee.

Canvassers of the village, seeking donors, were Mrs. J. J. Lash,

Mrs. Clyde Lash, Mrs. Donald E. Akers, Mrs. Doris Broderick, Wallace Redden, Mrs. Lacey Williamson;

Also, Mrs. Hass, Mrs. David E. Cook, Mrs. Earl Hankammer, Mrs. D. W. Einsel, Jr., Mrs. Ernest L. Rooks, Mrs. R. Earl McQuate, Mrs. Rose Alexander, Mrs. F. E. Ford, Mrs. James Jacobs, Mrs. A. L. Mumea, Mrs. D. K. McGinty and Mrs. Paul Koonz.

No better fire protection if 6-in. main

Better fire protection than what now exists can't be obtained by laying larger water lines next to the present four-inch ones, the Board of Public Affairs was told Monday.

Joseph R. Jones of the Bureau of Inspection, did say, however, that fire rates would be cheaper for residents involved.

With the help of Russell J. Moser, he made a thorough check of water lines at the four ends of the village. Using the state minimum as a guide for required water pressure for adequate residential fire protection, which is 500 gallons per minute and 20 pounds of pressure for approximately a two-hour period, he came up with the following conclusions: pressure at the end of the main line in West Broadway was 166 gallons per minute, Plymouth-Shelby road, 90 gallons; Trux street, 99 gallons, and Willow Road sector, 335 gallons.

HIS OFF-THE-RECORD RE- commendation to the board was not to increase the size of the existing lines, but to install a new loop system to tie in with them.

The board heard Clerk Carl V. Ellis read a letter from Floyd G. Brown and associates who quoted rough prices of installing a "loop" line. The letter cautioned the board in getting too involved in a problem which was so costly and suggested that a policy on improving water lines be established by the village council.

On the more positive side, the board received a commendation from the Department of Health on the vast improvement which has been completed on the softening system. The department tests showed the water at 3.5 hardness, which is below the average of 5 for most systems. Roy Simpson, of Bucyrus, was also commended in the letter for his advisory work with the board.

With little discussion, the board passed a motion to purchase three capacitors, which will be installed in the vicinity of Rt. 61 and 98. This will help to maintain electrical current in the area at a consistent level. The capacitors cost $156 each.

Has abominable snowman set foot in pond at Miller farm?

E. Beryl Miller, a middle-aged hardwareman, gave little thought to the far-off Himalaya mountains until the abominable snowman of fabled Mt. Everest snuggled alighted on his farm.

Mr. Miller built a 3.5 acre farm pond on his place at the north edge of Plymouth last fall, stocked it with fish, and enjoys himself with his grandchildren. They fish, swim when the weather's arm, put the fish back in the pond and take the grandchildren out.

But of late an unknown — and so far as he knows, an unwanted — intruder has been fishing in his pond.

The footprints of the beast, which he says could be the abominable snowman for all he knows, have been discovered at water's edge.

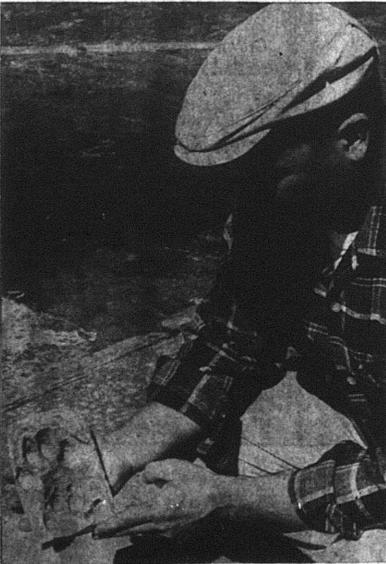

Of these things Mr. Miller is certain:

1. It's feline in nature — you can tell by the number of toes, which have long claws.
2. It's bigger than any cat he ever saw or heard tell of in Huron county — the footprints measure four inches across.
3. It's a mysterious beast, preferring absolute darkness to come and go — nobody's seen it.
4. It's voice is a blood-curdler he's heard it scream from time to time.

And to prove to the doubting that it's there, his son, William R., and his nephew, Roger, both partners in the hardware, made a plaster cast of the footprints.

The doubting can inspect it at his place of business.

And the courageous can have his permission to sit up of a warm night in June to bag the beast — with no strings attached!

SNOWMAN'S (HOOF) (FOOT) PRINT — and you take your pick — is shown by Roger Miller, who made plaster cast of what appear to be left fore and hind feet while running.

School board reverses decision on state aid at Shiloh session

Richland County Supt. Dale Kinney didn't cotton to the decision of Plymouth Board of Education to reject an application for state building aid last week and called a special meeting and ask the board to reconsider it favorably.

Which is exactly what happened late May 28, after the commencement exercises at Shiloh.

The board met in special session there in the presence of a number of residents of the Shiloh district who made no bones about their displeasure with the board's previous action.

AFTER SOME HEATED discussion, Judson A. Morrison changed a vote and by the same 3 to 2 ballot by which the application was turned down a week ago, the board voted to forward it to once.

This was done Thursday by Supt. Dale Kinney.

Gerald Stanley told his colleagues a number of his neighbors asked him why the board turned down the application. Members David Cook and Stanley did not come of the fact they were greatly concerned over the board's decision and had taken Kinney into their counsel.

It was as a result of their representations that Kinney sought a reconsideration by the board.

The county superintendent repeated more statistical data gathered by him and presented in the past. In summary, it was this:

Between 25 and 27 schools received aid from the initial $10 million available.

Another $1.8 million is now available.

The Plymouth district "might qualify", Kinney said.

There are no strings attached to the grant. If it is made, Kinney asserted.

"There is no logical reason for not forwarding an application to the state by June 1," Kinney asserted.

"The state department," he continued, comes to the district and makes its recommendations. If the money is granted, the district must vote to accept the terms of the grant — that is, it must vote the full nine per cent of the tax valuation indebtedness allowed by law, plus the ½ mill to repay the grant.

At this point, "Bud" Lynch rose to ask why three members of the board voted against an application for state aid.

With the pressure of Lynch's repeated insistence on an answer, President Donald P. Markley said he thought the survey which had been promised the district by the county school board, but which was not done, would have thrown more light on the problem. He implied that the result of the survey would indicate whether state aid would be forthcoming but that he himself did not believe that the district would be eligible.

Haldon Cheesman here interjected his views. He said the board should wait to see how Huron Valley district feels about state aid. For one board to ask for help without the approval of the other board, he asserted, "would give bad publicity to both boards."

AT THIS POINT SOME IN the audience openly demurred. Asides and mutterings, which threatened for a time to seize control of the temper of the meeting, were unanimous against the board's proposal to transfer the district into Huron county so that a consolidation with Huron Valley could be arranged.

Lynch asked how tuition for Huron Valley was paid.

One Shilohian, who could not otherwise be identified, charged that "our money as used to pay this tuition."

CLERK EVAN P. LaFOL- lette spoke up at this point. He said the tuition was arranged on a pupil-for-pupil basis. "The board is trying to do its best, so far as I can see," the clerk said, "for the good of our boys and girls, of both Plymouth and Shiloh, and I feel we should all show tolerance."

A voice spoke up that "we've shown lots of tolerance" and implied he was beyond tolerance.

MORRISON THEN ASKED Kinney if monies given to the Plymouth district in state aid for building could be taken along with the district if it voted to join the Huron Valley system. Kinney's answer was "Yes". Morrison, who apparently accepted this at face value, then voted "yes" to the motion to apply for aid.

No one questioned the facts further, nor did Superintendent Kinney pursue the matter to explain that a grant of state money to the Plymouth district, unless supported by the voting of a bond issue, would not be forthcoming if the district joins up with Huron Valley. The complete picture would be changed as to school population, building needs, and tax evaluations, thus requiring an entirely new application for aid. Superintendent Kinney brought the meeting back to order, with some difficulty, and the board proceeded to the vote.

Markley and Cheesman stuck to their guns. With Stanley safely in the bag, Morrison's vote — he comes No. 4 in the alphabetical list called by the clerk on roll call votes — was crucial. He voted yes.

Kinney corrected this in a letter to President Markley Tuesday.

IN A SPECIAL MEETING Monday night at the Plymouth elementary school, the Board of Education passed two motions.

The first motion was to accept ninth grade pupils of the Huron Valley school district on a tuition basis in a Huron Valley building. The Plymouth district will maintain the classes at the New Haven school for the 1958-59 school year. This move came about when Huron Valley was rejected for a high school charter. Tuition costs will cover instruction and supervision.

The second motion accepted 10th, 11th, and 12th grade pupils of the Huron Valley district on a tuition basis in the local system.

Seven Shiloh High School pupils made honor roll grades in the final period, Principal H. E. Daup reported yesterday.

Seventeen had perfect attendance for the school year, he said.

Twenty-three elementary pupils had perfect attendance.

Small crowd attends Memorial day rites

A small but attentive audience heard the Rev. Robert F. Hall make an unusual confession in Greenlawn cemetery Friday morning.

He told a Memorial day crowd assembled to pay respect to the dead of seven-ways how he was called to the ministry.

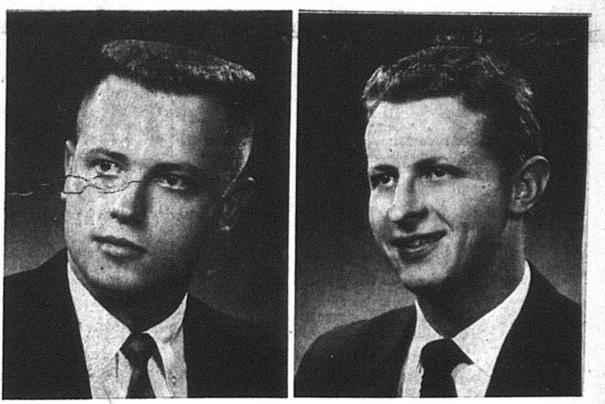

THE REV. MR. HALL, SON and grandson of a Lutheran pastor, was a private first class in a Marine unit sent ashore June 14, 1944, on Sipan.

With communications cut off, the young soldier, a sergeant and a second lieutenant sought refuge in a cave that had been used by Japanese troops to store fish.

As the two enlisted men gained the cave, a round of artillery struck it, causing it to collapse. The sergeant was decapitated. His body fell across young Hall's.

THERE, HE RESOLVED, HE owed his life to God. And he determined to follow in the path of his parent and grandparent.

The parade formed in West Broadway at 10 a.m. with a large contingent of World War I veterans in uniform, many of them only two World War II veterans, and none of the Korean conflict, marched with the American Legion group.

Two Roots, Vale Reed to get degrees

Candidates for the baccalaureate degree at Ashland college tomorrow at 10:45 a.m. are the second and third sons of the John F. Roots and Vale Reed, 1953 Sandusky street.

Louis F. Root, a veteran of Army service, is a 1951 graduate of Plymouth High school. He majored in music pedagogy and will teach music next year in the Black River local school system, Medina county.

Lawrence J. Root, a graduate of Plymouth High school in 1954, was first baseman on the varsity baseball squad for two seasons. He majored in physical education and biology and has been called to take his physical examination for the selective service system (Saturday).

The eldest son, John, has another semester to complete.

Reed will receive a bachelor of science in business administration.

Bank to install new night depository

A night depository for the convenience of its depositors will be installed by Peoples National bank before July 1, its cashier, Earl C. Cashman, notified depositors by mail this week.

The depository unit contains a letter slot which will accommodate deposits by letter or any other transaction by envelope as well as a standard key bag arrangement for depositors of larger amounts of coin or currency.

A fee of $5 a customer will be charged to users of the key bag deposit system. A bag and key will be issued to the customer against his written authorization to the bank to open the bag and process the deposit or a statement that he will call for the bag before it is opened by the bank to prepare his own deposit.

There will be no charge, Cashman said, for use of the envelope slot.

Council decrees end to public weed mowing

Mowing of weeds for the public will no longer be a public service, even though the service was paid for, village council ruled Tuesday night.

Householders who in the past have relied upon the street department to mow their weeds will need to find a private contractor to do the job.

"The wear and tear on the village mowing equipment is too expensive to continue at present rates," the council said. Rather than raise rates, it ruled no more

Board of Public Affairs will be asked to meet with the council prior to June 20 to discuss a water-tension policy.

After lengthy debate, the council discovered a considerable difference of opinion among its membership, but unanimity on a crucial point — that the Board of Public Affairs shall be given another opportunity to discuss the problem with the council. Two of the councilmen, Omer G. Burkett and Donald E. Akers, think it a matter for the council alone.

Greenfield township rich in green fields

This is the kind of resource that would support the proposed Huron Valley school district — the farm of J. Hadamuscin in Route 99, immediately north of where it intersects with Route 162.

Firstly, the farm boasts four rugged children — John, a junior in Willard High school; Joe, a 15-year-old Willard pupil; Larry, due to enroll in Huron Valley

Junior High at New Haven next year, and Betty, who's still in the Greenfield elementary center at Steuben.

SECONDLY, THIS IS RICH farm country. Once it measured over 600 acres. Of late, parcels have been sold off. A group of golfers in Willard has purchased a substantial portion on which to construct a new nine-hole course. But this land rolls nicely, it is fertile, it will produce good crops if you'll work with it.

And it is from such resources as these, which the honest folks of Greenfield township cherish beyond measure, that a new school for an enlarged Huron Valley district would derive its finances.

That this is a hard-working family is apparent. Father Hadamuscin works the second trick at Miller Products, Shelby, these days. Mother H works 8 to 4 in town. The boys and their jone daughter go to school when school is in session, do farm chores when it's not.

THERE'RE PLENTY OF chores to do, but it's not all work. Item: two-year-old spotted colt, who belongs to all the kids. Item: plenty of acreage and room to cavort. Item: small house built on adjoining ground, now occupied by friendly neighbors whose daughter is about Betty's age.

Item: record player that belts out rock'n roll all afternoon, until Mother H comes home. There's even a gaggle of geese, if eight make a gaggle. The Hadamuscins used to breed geese for market, now confine themselves to a few for fun.

IN THE SPRING, EVEN when a raw wind with rain in its teeth blows into the east across the hills from the west, this land shouts its wealth. For a century and a half it has brought health, wealth and happiness to those who farmed it.

And it shows no sign of stopping now.

STAN CHERRY was the first to identify the J. Hadamuscin farm in Route 99, Greenfield township, and can have a free quart of ice cream by calling at R. H. Mack's market here.

Nature's Gift . . . to fine Furniture.

The tree that makes the difference in MAPLE . . .

Do you know . . . there are 75 types of maple growing in the northern hemisphere . . . 13 in the U. S.? Of these, only two are hard maple. The most rugged is sugar maple . . . the only wood used in Sprague & Carleton Maple.

At that, Sprague & Carleton uses just 25% of the sugar maple's precious sapwood section . . . because only this part is the most beautiful, most perfect maple available.

More important, Sprague & Carleton uses this maple only. While many other lines are simply "maple finish", Sprague & Carleton is solid rock maple throughout.

Look for this tag . . . it's your sign of the finest maple manufactured.

POOM Giants overcome Reds, 9 to 5, in feature Memorial day game

The rich get richer, the old saw goes, and the poor make errors. So it was in Midget League park Friday as Manager Tug Mellett's Plymouth Order of Mechanics Giants started their second season as they finished their first — in first place in the PML.

TWO THREE-RUN FRAMES, highlighted by a triple off the bat of the manager's nine-year-old son, Dick Lahmon, led the Giants to a 9 to 5 win over the Legion-Firemen Reds.

Dick Chapman pitched steadily, allowing only five hits, and never was in trouble after the Giants got to Tim DeWitt for three passes in a row in the fourth.

Two more hurlers went to the ton's crew before the Giants went down. Tom Young was earnest but wild and Nero Howard came in from shortstop to put out the fire.

JIMMY CLARK, GIANT keystone sacker, atoned for two errors with two hits, one a double. The Reds drew first blood when Bill Phillips scored from third on a wild pitch.

The Giants tied it up in the when the Reds got another unearned counter, and broke it open off DeWitt in the fourth.

The line score:
Giants 001 332 — 9
Reds 011 030 — 5

IN THE FIRST CONTEST, Gene Osborn, Brave right-hander, lost a heartbreaker. He allowed the Fate-Root-Heath Co. Cubs just three blows but dropped a 6 to 4 decision to the Bachdach Co. New Haven Supply Braves.

John Wilcox hurled creditably for the Cubs, was tight in the clutch, and scattered nine Brave hits.

The line score:
Cubs 040 101 — 6
Braves 102 010 — 4

2nd places won by Miller, Knapp

William R. Miller took second place in the archer class and Larry Knapp second in the cadet class Friday as 12 members of Horon Valley Bowmen took part in the Lost Creek shoot.

Monthly meeting of the Bowmen will be tomorrow night. Sunday the Bowmen will take part in the invitational meet at Bellevue.

A Milestone...

The diploma, symbol of work accomplished, is one of the graduate's most cherished possessions. It signifies a milestone in life—an end, but also a beginning!

With commencement comes thoughts of life still to be lived. Knowledge alone is not enough; degrees are not enough. There must be something more.

Through the Church comes a knowledge of life lived for others, of nearness to God, of strength and power which carries one beyond the needs of the present, which makes the individual adequate for tasks too great for human strength.

In the Church you will feel a nearness to God you never felt before, and the more fully you enter into the life of the Church, the stronger you will become.

Why not have a commencement of your own now—a commencement of life in the Church?

Copyright 1958, Kristler Adv. Service, Strasburg, Pa.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a source of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Shelby depot commander says freedom's struggle still top aim

Memorial day in Shiloh was observed with the customary parade up West Main street, led by the Shiloh High school band, followed by a program at the school where Colonel Lester L. Kunish, commander of the Shelby Air Force Depot, delivered the Memorial Day address. Many local citizens as well as out-of-towners, former Shiloh residents, lined the sidewalks as the band marched by. Following were the American Legion color bearers and firing squad and veterans of World War II and Korea. Cars bearing World War I and Shiloh's lone remaining American War veteran, Charles H. (Billy) Lamerit, marching members of the Legion Auxiliary, Boy Scouts and the community's fire truck

Here's gist of remarks by Col. Kunish Friday

"We can no longer feel that the struggle for freedom is past history. We have an obligation to insure, in present danger that those whom we honor today shall not have made their sacrifice in vain. We owe them and those who come after us the continued security of the free way of life which they fought and died to perpetuate." Col. Lester L. Kunish, Commander of Shelby Air Force depot, said in Mt. Hope cemetery Friday.

"Two immediate duties confront us in giving Memorial day real meaning in the light of our times. First, we must be certain that our own nation achieves and maintains the necessary military strength to warn off any aggressor who might, irresponsibly, spark a third world war. The primary objective of our military preparedness is to deter war. If that fails we must be able to win quickly and decisively any conflict which might develop.

"As long as we can keep the peace, even precariously, there is hope that our second, longer-range effort, our second duty to our honored dead can succeed. This is the effort to firmly establish and bring intact through its crucial years the machinery of world peace which the United Nations represents.

"If, by the alert strength of our armed 'Power For Peace' we can hold at bay the forces of ruthless aggression during the critical years to come, we must in time achieve real international law. Men of all nations shall learn — even though slowly and with many setbacks — to settle their differences at the conference table, by reason rather than fruitless force.

"When that day comes — and not before — we may once again honor our heroic deed in the gentle terms of peace. We will at last have written, 'Paid' across some small part of the debt to them in our hearts'.

Sewer rate set at $3 monthly, year of grace set

Village council at its meeting May 28 passed a resolution setting a monthly sewer rental rate of $3 to be paid by users on a quarterly basis.

This coupled with the $1.50 monthly water rate, will make the quarterly payment $13.50.

The measure becomes effective July 1 for users who have already hooked on. Others will have one year from specified date of completion of sewer system to hook on.

Shiloh Pals 4-H club met Tuesday with Carolyn Hamman.

Demonstrations were given by Susan Ferguson, Judy Amstutz, Anetta Dawson, Susan Murphy and Karen Huston.

Jayne Wales gave a talk on lawn mower safety.

On June 17 the club will go to the Richland Rural life center to clean the cabins, recreation hall and downstairs of the house.

A picnic lunch will be served.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pittinger and son of Alma, Mich., returned to spend the Memorial day weekend and attend the alumni banquet at the school Saturday night. They returned to Alma Monday.
