Santa comes late to schools

Santa Claus came late to Plymouth Board of Education Monday night.

Assembled for its annual organization meeting, the board learned that an unforeseen windfall of $16,089 has dropped into the general fund, with which it promptly decided to:

1. Plan salary increases averaging $200 per teacher for the ensuing year.
2. Improve text books, teaching aids, library and school equipment by boosting outlays therefor.
3. Earmark salary appropriations for two new teachers, a high school instructor and an elementary teacher at Shiloh.
4. Anticipate increased utilities expenditures, to cope with the $2,400 annual Shiloh sewer service fee, by boosting that appropriation by that much.

No member of the board, nor any of its employees, could cite a reason why the anticipated $319,550 for general fund disbursements was raised by the county budget commission to $381,039, with $8,400 of it earmarked for the bond retirement fund. Requirements for bond retirement in 1959 are only $27,900, but the fund will now carry a balance of $38,810.04.

But neither was anybody looking a gift horse in the mouth.

board will approach Peoples National bank next week for a loan of $27,000 ($22,000 for teachers salaries, $5,000 for current bills and expenses) to carry it through the month of January. If state foundation fund payments should arrive before Feb. 1, the board won't have to go back to the well a second time.

Donald P. Markley was re-elected president of the board, Judson A. Morrison chosen vice-president, succeeding Haldon Cheesman.

Markley appointed these committees: David E. Cook, chairman, and Gerald Stanley finance; Morrison, chairman, and Stanley, transportation; Cheesman, chairman, and Cook, buildings and grounds.

Applications will be received by the executive head until Wednesday for the post of clerk to the board. Evan P. LaFollette is completing the unexpired term of Earl C. Cashman.

Salary is $1,800 annually. Applicants must be residents of Plymouth Local School district.

Mrs. Kenneth Myers is assistant to the clerk, for which she is paid $1,200 annually.

Presumably LaFollette will turn in his application for the board's consideration of appointment for a full year's term.

Regular meetings will now be conducted the second Wednesday of each month at 8 p. m. in the office of the executive head. This is a departure from the present rule of Thursday meetings.

Three grocers quit Wednesday nights

Three of the villages most important retailers are withdrawing from the "open-Wednesday-night" club.

Proprietors of Plymouth's three grocery and food outlets announced Monday they will not be open Wednesday nights after 6 p. m. commencing Jan. 21.

Closing of these establishments will leave only seven retail stores in the "open-Wednesday-night" club.

Bank assets grew by 2.01 per cent, despite 'recession'

Despite a business slump, assets of Peoples National bank advanced 2.01 per cent during 1958, its quarterly report to the Comptroller of the Currency shows.

Assets of the bank on Dec. 31 amounted to $4,750,527.36, as compared with $4,655,946.70 a year ago.

TIME DEPOSITS — i. e., savings accounts — increased from $2,363,702.08 to $2,463,235.82, but demand deposits — checking accounts — dropped from $1,748,145.71 to $1,593,511.31.

Deposits of the United States government, including postal savings, showed a big boost from $12,511.77 to $64,444.97.

So did deposits of states and political sub-divisions from $183,739.94 to $266,564.41.

Loans and discounts advanced from $1,079,751.59 to $1,309,916.77.

STATISTICALLY, THE INCREASE was the equivalent of each person living in the bank's trading area being advanced $57.54 in fresh funds.

Undivided profits at year's end totaled $61,915.34, as compared with $92,237.52 in 1957.

Annual organization meeting and election of officers will take place at 1 p. m. Tuesday. Owing to the untimely death of its veteran president, Carl M. Lofland, the board must choose a successor.

Driver snaps pole

Ernest Crum, Shelby route 3, skidded and struck a utility pole in Trux street Sunday in front of the residence of Leo Barnes. The pole was broken off.

Parke N. Miller's estate amounts to $17,100, Richland county probate court reports. His wife, Florence B. Miller, inherits under the will.

Not size of dog, but size of fight wins!

Don't believe all you hear about inadequate preparation in small high schools.

A Plymouth youth, Deryl L. Ream, freshman in Ohio State university, Mansfield branch, carries three five-semester-hour subjects in the school — chemistry, college algebra and trigonometry and zoology.

Grades he received for the first quarter: A, A and A.

Grade point average: 4.0. Credit points toward degree: 60.

No student, says President Novice, G. Fawcett of OSU, bettered young Ream's first quarter record.

Youth got 1-5 years for New Haven jobs

A tip on a car parked near the scene of the crime resulted Thursday in the arrest of a 21-year-old Plymouth route 1 youth for the burglary of a Haven business.

William David Salyers, of near Celeryville, was arrested after telling Huron County Sheriff's Deputy John Borgia and Plymouth police he robbed Underwood's Case & Service at North Fairfield Dec. 21 and the Peek-a-Boo inn at New Haven on Dec. 26. He is said to have admitted robbing the Garden of Eat'n of $50 in coin machine funds.

At the Peek-a-Boo, he got $103 in cash. From Underwood's Salyers and his accomplice, whom police are seeking, took two tires, tools and a radio.

Salyers got 1-5 years in the state reformatory.

Tax rate up $2.90 to $31.10, value up to $3.91 million

Property holders in Plymouth corporation will be taxed at the rate of $31.10 per $1,000 of property valuation in 1958, Richland County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe announced last week.

The increase is $2.90 per $1,000 valuation.

Biggest boost of local impact was in that part of Bloominggrove township adjoining Plymouth Local School district and in Cass township. It amounted to $5.40 per $1,000 valuation, up from $22 to $27.40, in the case of Bloominggrove, and up from $22.20 to $27.60, in the case of Cass.

SHILOHANS WILL PAY $31.20 per $1,000 valuation, an increase of $4.60.

Plymouth township taxpayers will cope with an increase of $2.90 per $1,000, up to $27.40.

Tax duplicate in Plymouth corporation, after the recent, re-evaluation, totals $3,913,408, Wolfe said. The increase was $802,841 or 25.4 per cent.

Wife inherits estate

Will of the late Carl M. Lofland bequeathed his entire estate to his widow, Helen, Huron county probate court reported Monday.

She was appointed executrix without bond, with James C. Davis, assistant cashier of Peoples National bank, as alternate executor.

Appraisers will shortly be appointed by the court.

Village gets $1,350 less in '59 than in '58 to operate town

It'll cost $1,349.69 less in 1959 to run the village of Plymouth than in 1958, according to the Richland county budget commission.

Clerk Carl V. Ellis takes vigorous exception to this conclusion but was told by his superiors, the village council, on Tuesday night there is little he or anybody can do save grin and bear it.

The budget commission under date of Dec. 20 approved a table of estimated resources during 1959 as follows:

General fund	$ 28,522.63
Fire equip. fund	2,640.61
Street construction and maintenance fund	10,674.85
State highway fund	1,196.52
Waterworks fund	40,187.42
Sewer serv. fund	34,021.94
Electric light fund	79,229.66
Cemetery fund	3,913.41
Total	$254,947.18

ALTHOUGH THE OVERALL estimated resources for 1959 are about $20,000 in addition to the 1958, the crucial general fund — the money which the council can dispose of to pay its bills and employees — was cut from $29,872.32.

Total general tax revenue in the village is $19,567.05, based on the new tax valuation (for which see elsewhere today) and the fixed rate of taxation is five mills, two mills in the 10-mill limitation and three mills outside, with which no budget commission can tamper.

The budget commission estimates general property tax revenues to go up by $4,014.20 during 1959, owing to the increase in valuation, and classified property tax revenues to advance by about $400. Where the bite comes is that the commission estimates revenues from "other sources" to go down about 1,893.

SINCE THE ONLY material contribution to this source of revenue derives from sales tax, it follows the commission may have concluded that 1959 retail business in Plymouth will drop by a volume of $63,080.

A resolution to adopt the emasculated budget was approved without objection.

The start of the new year had its bright side: the heat is off on the sewer program. Renewal of the permit to Huron river, expiring Aug. 15, was received. But the water pollution control board at Columbus was much less adamant this time. It attached, as usual, two conditions.

And it appeared that some diplomat must have worked on the phrasing: "continue your efforts to provide adequate funds" and "advise the board with your application for renewal of the plan of Plymouth for financing the project."

The conciliatory attitude is PLEASE SEE PAGE 8

Water surplus fight stalemated

The battle of the water department surplus may end in a draw.

Support for the embattled Board of Public Affairs came from an unexpected source last week.

State Auditor James A. Rhodes' office said it perceives no moral objection to the approval of an emergency ordinance enabling the clerk and treasurer to pay the supplemental amount due Continental Fremont Co., Fremont, for work on the water tower.

After refusing twice to relieve the Board of the outstanding obligation, because in its opinion a serious breach of law was committed in the contracting for work exceeding $1,000 without legal advertising for bids, the village council decided to show its good will by submitting a draft ordinance to the state auditor's department.

THE DRAFT PLAINLY SET forth that an error had been made, and that disbursement of more than $1,000 for a single contract without advertising for bids is unlawful.

The state examiners have now said they see no moral objection to approval of an emergency ordinance to allow payment of the outstanding bill of $628.25.

The draft authorizes the clerk and treasurer to draw a check in the amount specified to settle the account.

Should a taxpayer's suit to halt payment of the bill be filed by a citizen-elect of the village, it was learned this week, the court of jurisdiction could not do other than to uphold the suit.

And whether Treasurer James H. Rhine would affix his signature to the check is another question. He has been a stickler for the law in the past, more often to the village's advantage than otherwise.

Additional weight for the Board of Public Affairs' position derived from the report of Floyd G. Browne Associates, Marion consulting engineers.

INSTALLATION OF LARGER water mains in the West Broadway section would serve no useful purpose, the report says, unless lines between the pumping station and the new installation are cleaned.

This involves a substantial expense. It is plain the cleaning of the lines must come first. If the Board goes ahead with the line cleaning, there wouldn't be enough funds to pay for the West Broadway extension from public funds.

Which may be what the Board is looking for. It has in the past been loath to approve disbursement of public funds for what it deems to be private benefit, although West Broadway property holders have disputed the Board on this issue half a dozen times.

Village to defend suit for damages

Alleging negligence by Board of Public Affairs personnel, attorneys for Christian H. Coy, administrator of the Sade Chrysler estate, have filed suit in Huron county common pleas court seeking damages of $231.44.

Village of Plymouth is named defendant.

Petition alleges that water should have been turned off in the premises in East Main street, formerly occupied by Arthur Dann, as requested by the administrator. The Board of Public Affairs, petitioner alleges, failed to do so. When the pipes froze, a subsequent thaw caused water damages in the amount specified.

New Year is grim: 'Buzzy' murdered

It was a grim New Year in the household of the Eugene Mitchells, Shiloh route 2. "Buzzy" wasn't there.

"Buzzy" is dead. He was murdered, the Mitchells say, by an officer of Richland county, unlawfully and without mercy.

"BUZZY" IS — OR WAS — a white-flecked with-brown dog weighing 10 pounds. Aged about 14 months, he was especially gentle with children. He was murdered for sheep killing.

The Mitchells explain it this way:

"On Nov. 28, at about 11 a. m., the Richland county dog warden came to our house in Route 603 at Rome. Mrs. Mitchell opened the door. 'Lady,' he said, 'I got to have your dog.'"

"He picked up the dog and removed the collar, to which was attached a valid dog license, and threw it in the back yard."

"We went to see the dog warden that night. He said we weren't going to get the dog back. He said the dog was a sheep dog. He said the dog had been shot, then when we asked to see it, he said it hadn't been shot."

"It was reported to us a neighbor had turned the dog in as a sheep molester. We telephoned the neighbor and he denied the charge. He said none of his sheep had been destroyed. We asked him to go to Mansfield with us and have a test made of the dog's stomach. But he refused; he said our dog hadn't attacked his sheep.

"ON DEC. 1, WE REPORTED these facts to Fred Dawson, the county commissioner, who told us the dog warden had unlawfully taken our dog. Mr. Dawson promised us that he would let us know on Dec. 3, after he had a conference with the other commissioners, what he could do for us.

"Although he said we could attend this meeting between the commissioners and the dog warden, but we were not invited to any meeting anywhere."

"We then called Mr. Dawson and he told us a meeting wasn't needed. He said the dog warden admitted he had done wrong and was willing to bring us another dog."

"We said nothing doing — we would not accept this as payment for damages to us. We approached two lawyers and they both told us we had a strong case but we could probably not get much in damages, as the dog wasn't a purebred and a jury would give us what he was worth as a mongrel."

"Mongrel or not, he was our 'Buzzy' and we loved him. Does a citizen have to put up with this kind of high-handedness?"

It is understood the SPCA has been asked to investigate these charges.

SELF EXAMINATION

"It is about time I thought this matter through and then did something about it. I have been telling myself that the reason I don't attend my church is the feeling that among its members some are hypocrites, therefore I stay away. But that's a lame excuse and no one knows it better than I. I wouldn't stay away from a dinner, a party or a show even though I knew those people I call hypocrites would be present. So why haven't I been attending church? It is just because I have been lazy, too lazy to think this matter through. I have been using a shallow excuse that has been a crutch for many like myself, for years.

"As of now the situation changes. I know I need my church and it needs me. Attendance will help me sluff off my laziness and once again stimulate thinking. If my neighbor be a hypocrite I ought to want him in my church, and if I go, too, it may result in my loving him and in that would be the glory and joy of attending."

Why are some drugs like "ecstasy sauce?"

If you read "LPI Aber" you may recall how the Gourmet's Club plotted to make "Ecstasy Sauce" from the Yokums' pet pig, Salomey. Recipe: Boil down one hamus alabamus (Salomey) until just one single, solitary delicious drop remains—and that is "Ecstasy Sauce." In terms of food, this is humorously ridiculous, but it's actually routine in the making of drugs. Often hundreds of pounds of raw materials must be processed and reprocessed to obtain one tiny pinch of the active medication. Which helps explain why modern drugs are so potent, and why we pharmacists dispense them only when your physician writes a prescription.

Car insurance rates go by $1 and $4

If Junior is the principal operator or owner of a passenger car, it'll cost you $140 a year for basic minimum bodily injury and property damage liability.

New insurance coverage rates announced for district 39, which includes all of Huron and Richland counties save the city of Mansfield, boost premiums $19 a year, for property damage, $4 for bodily injury, $10,000 single accident and $5,000 property damage, on unmarried male drivers under 25.

Basic rate in this district was advanced $1 for bodily injury coverage, $4 for property damage. And if your car is one of the new models with a wrap-around front and rear, you pay a supplemental premium.

JUNIOR'S SISTER GETS by seat-free. She pays — or Dad pays for her — only $39 a year for the same coverage, same as what her parents pay. This is an increase of $5 annually.

If Junior is not the principal operator or owner of a passenger car, but drives Dad's occasionally, the rates are $74 a year, a boost of $10.

DISTRICT 39 RATES ARE among the lowest in the state, indicating drivers resident therein are relatively safe operators than those elsewhere.

Unique fact: If Junior, or his sister, has completed satisfactory driver training course in an accredited high school, rates are reduced 10 per cent.

Liability insurance is not compulsory in Ohio — like the neighbor's dog, you get the first bite free (although you're subject to civil suit to recover damages).

inexpensive precious moments; children grow up so rapidly, fly from the nest so soon!

"I remember with joy how my father would stop on the edge of a tight curve in Northern Michigan and look off across the thrillingly beautiful panorama of hills and lake, forests, fields, sky, sunshine and blue haze, and say, 'Let's stop and soak this in. It's a sight I like to remember during the winter.'

"We hurry past too many beautiful views, beautiful moments of family intimacy or friendly companionship. We hurry heedlessly past too many opportunities to enjoy life to the full; we fall too often to live it up in the most satisfying sense of that phrase.

"THE nature of such moments will vary from person to person and day to day. Some will be big moments and some quite small. They may be moments of accomplishment, or of insight, of inspiration, of companionship or solitude, of beauty seen or heard or felt, of laughter, of understanding, of compassion, of faith, or of mere healthy exuberance... the possibilities for joy are unlimited! They may be closely akin to prayer. I doubt that material wealth is required for most moments of real joy. I doubt that such moments are found in any form of mere escapism; for example, the noisy, gleeful, artificial hilarity with which traditionally many people welcome each new year. Enjoying yourself implies, I assume, that you are not trying to run away from yourself.

"A few people, of course, seriously ill or terribly harried by some other unfortunate circumstances, will know little if any happiness. But most of us should try to savor now fully each moment as it passes, to recognize that the here and the now, this hour, this day, this situation can be marvelous.

"For anyone with eyes to see, ears to hear, the mind and heart to comprehend, life is filled with opportunities for such joy, moments we can grasp and say, 'This is it, this is what makes those other hours of work and worry worthwhile, this is what life means. Regardless of the past or the future, this moment right now is wonderful!

"Considering that each hour, each day is so quickly gone forever, that each opportunity for joy we neglect is lost forever, and for each individual the moments and opportunities are running out faster and faster with each passing year, such moments deserve to be treasured.

"I doubt that happiness is to be found in possessions alone or in personal security, or in the search for these. Mere security is forever may be, is seldom captured more than fleetingly. And tranquility, wonderful as it maybe, is seldom captured more than fleetingly.

"True joy is most often found in struggle and accomplishment, in some form of dynamic relationship... in the satisfaction of useful doing."

I had a dandy Christmas. Got what I wanted most of all, and a trip to New York in the bargain.

Girls, take it from me Fifth Avenue is the peachiest place! Only Pop says he's going to write a new song to go along with that one that goes "You Gotta Have Heart." He's going to call his "You Gotta Have Dough!"

Pop says the only difference between the New York rat race and the Ohio rat race is they have more and bigger mice.

MY FAVORITE STORY teller told me this one. A man went to see his doctor, complaining of a cold.

"The doctor told him to leave his jacket at home and to walk to his office in the driving rain in shirt sleeves.

"But I'll get pneumonia for sure," said the man.

"I know," said the doctor, "but for pneumonia we've got penicillin. We can cure that. But for a cold — sorry, bud, we don't have anything."

In a country that has everything (well, in New York they do) isn't it ridiculous there isn't anything for a cold?

A MAN I KNOW PUT HIS old mother in a nursing home because he couldn't take care of her at his house. She got the best of care possible and he went to see her often. Every time he did, he brought her good things to eat, including a quart of homogenized milk with a little brandy in it, in a plain white bottle, which the doctor told him to do.

His mother was always pleased to have these things. After she had drunk the milk one day, she said, "Son don't ever sell that cow!"

POP SAYS THIS CHRISTMAS was a better one than most people think. He claims he said a year ago it would be. He says we shouldn't get so worried about a war — the Russians are bluffing, and if you twist a tiger by the tail long enough, it goes out and does things you're sorry for.

That's how he explains the new American Sputnik. But, he complains, all that money up in the air!

POP TROOK US TO SEE HIS old girl friend when we were in New Jersey. She is a charming lady. Chip asked how old she was and Pop told him.

"My," he said, "she's pretty well preserved for a gal that age!"

One of the things about men, Mom says, is they don't realize what $25 worth of new hand-binder will do for a girl.

The Plymouth Advertiser — $3 a Year

By Phineas Whittleseed

Phineas has repeatedly urged upon all who will heed the wisdom of reading widely, with catholic tastes, for the rewards that reading brings.

Part of his weekly stint under the new lamp is the reading of 25 weekly and daily newspapers published in half-a-dozen states.

No reading in 1958 was so rewarding as this bit from the Oberlin News-Tribune, penned by Charles A. Mosher, publisher of that estimable journal. Mr. Mosher also serves as Ohio senator from this district.

"THERE will be moments for most of us in 1959 when life may seem not worth the bother... routine, boring or apparently meaningless, if not actually painful moments.

"There also will be moments for most of us, I hope, when life will seem wonderful.

"Fortunate is he who knows more of the joyful moments than of those which are meaningless or painful!

"Awareness, the knack of recognizing a good moment in life, of consciously enjoying it and treasuring it, seems to me desirable and important.

"Now that I have reached a grandfatherly age I am aware, and in fact for some years back have been increasingly aware of how fleeting and incomplete life can be. The opportunities and potentialities for doing and enjoying crowd about us, far larger and more numerous than are the moments we grant to ourselves for doing and enjoying. I suspect that many people would like life far better if they only could remember to pay more attention to the present good moment before rushing on to the next or without being so concerned about the next. I do not say we should ever live without foresight and for the present alone, I say only that because of haste, ambition, anxiety or mere busyness we too easily and too constantly miss the best of present joys.

"My wish for all of you for 1959 is that you often will know moments when you can say to yourself, 'Now this is what makes worth living!' I hope you will know many a moment worth lingering over for itself a moment, moments to savor, to capture and store away as most happy memories.

"HOLDING a first grandchild in your arms, or any child anytime, should be that kind of an experience. Being a parent should mean

HALF CENTURY IN BANKING BUSINESS was observed in mid-summer by Carl M. Lofland. His sudden death in December shocked the community.

PLYMOUTH'S NEWEST writer-for-pay is Mrs. Dell Ockerman, author of a romantic novel due to be published in the late spring by Comet Press.

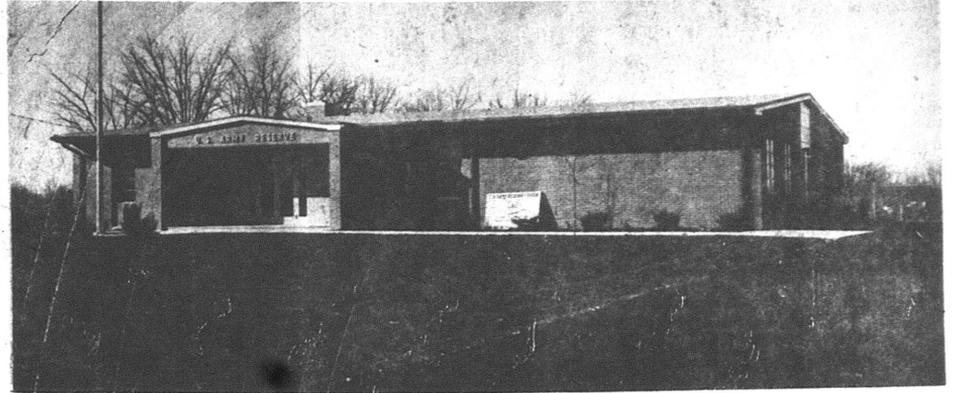

HARD WORK BY TWO OLD SQUARE hands got this 40-foot stork in the Square for the New Year. No other community project brought such favorable publicity throughout the Middle West.

IT WAS A GREAT YEAR for reunions. Class of '33, Plymouth High school, only class in its history forced to abbreviate its curriculum because of lack of money, foregathered in the summer to celebrate its first legal drink as a group. Repeal of Volstead act didn't occur until later that year — after an early graduation. A quantity of champagne was laid on by the C. J. Kristers (she was formerly Mary Gebert). President Dick Webber is only bachelor.

NEW ARMY RESERVE DRILL CENTER was erected in Sandusky street and dedicated on cold afternoon in fall. It was only new construction undertaken in Plymouth in 1958, when new building fell to a post-war low.

E. P. LaFollette received appointment as the school board's clerk, to succeed E. C. Cashman, resigned.

CENTER WAS NAMED in memory of Lieutenant Charles H. Rhine, a son of Plymouth who was slain in the ETO in 1944. His mother, Mrs. Huff Rhine, and his brother, Village Treasurer James H. Rhine, were on hand for dedication with Maj. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, commanding XX Army Corps, and Brig. Gen Alden E. Stilson, corps engineer.

CAMERADERIE OF OLD DAYS around organ and piano while rehearsing and performing as the choir of First Presbyterian church was re-lived by Big Red trounces Bucyrus, 85 to 72, after walloping by Northwestern . . .

A decisive thumping at Northwestern at the hands of Ohio's 1957-58 class A champs and a convincing defeat of class AA Bucyrus here marked Plymouth High school interscholastic basketball play over the Christmas holidays.

The less said of the defeat at Northwestern, the better. Bookwalter led the Big Red to a narrow lead after eight minutes, but then the Huskies solved the Red's weave-and-dash offense and from that point it was no contest Score: Northwestern, 90; Plymouth, 57.

ON DEC. 30, THE IN-AND-OUT Redmen, from the Crawford county seat came here to receive a sound wallop. It was a rough contest, and the Big Red never was in trouble in coasting to an 57-72 victory.

Dave Katterhenrich, vaunted Bucyrus grid star, led the visitors with nine buckets and seven-free throws, totalling 25. Bookwalter, rebounding with improvement, scored 21, and Milford Williams, a veritable demon on offense, particularly in his floor play, had seven baskets and eight penalty tosses for 22.

Each of the remaining three Plymouth starters was in double figures, Jiggs Hughes with 13, Craig Harnly with 14 and Steve Patterson with 13.

IF COACH HAROLD DAUP had any doubts about the ability of his club to rebound from a crushing defeat, he could put it aside after four minutes. Harnly's sensational corner shots pumped the Big Red to an 11-point lead and the locals went to the dressing room with a 47 to 33 lead.

Plymouth's all-but-fantastic accuracy on its home floor showed not only from the field, whence it scored 32 times, but from the foul line as well. The Big Red dumped 21 of 27 tries. Bucyrus could only drop 14 of 24.

That Bucyrus turned about a few nights later and defeated the Shelby Whippets in overtime, 54 to 50, suggested to many Big Red fans that an interesting rivalry — for this season, at any rate — might be built up with a home-and-

'This is a good club, but has it's'

By THE OLD TIMER
The high-flying Big Red, with one setback against its record, is a good bet to win the Richland county league diadem this season. But there are some ifs.

On the positive side, the locals have in Milford Williams and Craig Harnly two athletes who could make any club in the state.

FOR HIS SIZE, WILLIAMS is as fine a floor man as there is anywhere. He is the quarterback of Coach Harold Daup's quintet, the lad who sets the plays up, whose uncanny dribbling skill can almost always be counted on to draw a foul at a crucial time, and whose drive and confidence wear off on his teammates. If he can stay eligible, the Big Red should go far.

Craig Harnly's corner shot, dandy Big enough to get the shot off, and with a grace that defies comparison, young Harnly should be a consistent double-figure shooter.

Atop which, he is a good student, a fine boy, well-liked, a credit to his school and team.

ONE SNOOPER — WHICH is not necessarily a bad word because every team scouts its home pair of contests to benefit the respective athletic funds.

It would have to come, of course, after each team is eliminated from state tournament play.

opponents — at the Bucyrus contest said he thought the Big Red will go farther if its center can solve consistently a big man.

This is something he has not done this season. His rebounding suggests he may have struck his stride.

Another sideline expert says he wonders if the Big Red can pass fast enough and well enough to break through a modified zone. On small floors, such a defense often works well. On some occasions, the locals haven't solved the modified, or shifting, zone so well. On the other hand, in early stages of the season it's unreasonable to expect schoolboys to do so. And Northwestern solved Plymouth's weave-and-dash after the first period. The danger of tight handball is always present in any ball club, schoolboy as well as college and professional.

Cpach Daup has coped with such problems before and surely can be expected to nip such attitudes in the bud henceforward.

The resounding defeat by Northwestern was a good thing. It cooled off a lot of fans who never played a game in their lives and were beginning to let their imaginations run away with them.

The O. T. forecasts a whopper of a season for the Big Red, and a good record in the district and regionals.

But if this forecast is wrong, it's still a good ball club.

Mr. and Mrs. H. James Root are additional contributors to the library fund in memory of Carl M. Lofland.

Whatta Xmas gift!

It was an especially Merry Christmas for Donald E. Leininger, Willard, manager of Jump's clothing store here. His ticket was drawn as the winner of a new Ford station wagon in the Christmas fund raising program of Willard Golf club.

FRANK ALBRIGHT FARM in Richland county was spotted by young man whose need for ice cream is great this week. Ray Hankammer is home with busted noggin, received in fall on ice.

Community chest ends '58 with small balance, $280 to agencies

Plymouth Community chest wound up its 1958 affairs — the second year of its existence — with 111.5 per cent of its campaign quota, increased support of 10 participating agencies, and enough to get started again in October.

Contributions to the chest totalled $3,401.46 against a quota of $3,050. Expenses of conducting the campaign were $90.87. Balance of $329.09 was distributed thus: $20 to each of nine agencies. $100 to Mary Fate park. $49.09 to reserve operating fund.

Fred L. Buzard was drive director this year.

The chest, encouraged as a community project by The Advertiser for nearly two and a half years before it was begun, was the first in Ohio to reach its goal.

PROCEEDS OF THE CHEST paid to the Salvation Army fund revert, in part, to the village. A committee approved by the Salvation Army administers the funds.

One family, having 10 children, was assisted during the Christmas season.

Soldier re-enlists

Cass township man dies in Illinois; Mr. Hudson dead

A 53-year-old Cass township resident, father of 15 children, died suddenly in a motel in Effingham, Ill., Dec. 31.

Raymond Clagg, a 17-year employee of Michigan Steel Tube Products division, Shelby, had been visiting in Missouri and was returning home. His wife, Ethel; minor children, Alice, Violet, Sherry, Bonnie, Willard, Charles, Davis, Daniel, Timothy, Samuel, Ronald and Donald; married daughters, Mrs. Oliver Patrick, Mrs. Marcus Hamilton and son, Clifford, all in Shelby; three brothers, Walker and Luther, Columbus, and Daniel, Toledo, and three sisters, Mrs. Mabel Ballinger and Mrs. Della Moore, Hunting, W. Va., and Mrs. Edith Flora, Southside, W. Va., survive.

Interment in Maple Grove cemetery, New Haven, followed funeral services from the Church of God, Shelby, conducted by the Revs. John Wheeler and Arlie Jordan Saturday afternoon.

A former Plymouth resident,

Darrell R. Hudson, 52, member of the U.S. Forest service, died suddenly in El Jobean, Fla., Dec. 20 while fighting a fire.

The Hudsons lived here from 1946 to 1954, at 189 Trux street, where he operated Hud's Garage. Born in Deshler, he was a member of the Lutheran church and a veteran of World-War II.

His wife, Mabel; two sons, Darrell, Jr., Akron, and Donald E. Greenwich; a daughter, Mrs. Robert Campbell, Mansfield, and a brother, M. E. Hudson, Attica, survive. There are two sisters.

Funeral services were conducted in El Jobean Dec. 24, with burial in Indian Springs cemetery.
