Mrs. Christian, Markley win, Lillo beats McIntire, three levies pass

Plymouth school district will undertake a $52,000 school building program as soon as possible.

The controversial bond issue carried, 520 to 467, despite terrific opposition in Shiloh, unofficial figures showed Tuesday night.

Mrs. Miles Christian piled up a total of 623 ballots to win election to the board of education. Donald P. Markley apparently won reelection, narrowly defeating Wayne Hunter, 470 to 457, in The Advertiser's unofficial tally recorded at 10 p. m. Tuesday.

Plymouth voters rejected the leadership of Mayor Thurman R. Ford and chose William Fazio as chief executive of the village. He got 301 votes to Ford's 256.

They likewise rejected the leadership of Robert L. McIntire as president of the board of public affairs. His running mates, George W. Cheesman and Luther R. Fetters, will be joined by Louis Lillo on the new board.

Incumbents on the village council won reelection and Mrs. A. L. Paddock, Jr., ran a

AMID ACRIMONY — Firehouse bond action postponed by council in face of initiative action

Action to postpone further consideration of the $39,000 councilmanic bond issue was taken by village council Tuesday night in the face of an initiative petition with 144 signatures calling for purchase of an alternative firehouse site.

The petition was filed Monday evening by Robert L. McIntire and Ray A. Dinninger principal steersman for it, to "afford the citizens a chance to express their views on the matter of a site for the fire house."

The petition calls upon the council to approve an ordinance providing for purchase of the Charles Hubach property at 27 Sandusky street and to submit the ordinance to the electorate for its approval.

Just what the council would do in the face of the action seemed problematic until John T. Dick moved postponement of consideration of the bond issue legislation until the petition is filed with the county board of elections by the clerk. Ordinance law requires the clerk to hold the petition open for public inspection for 10 days before he certifies it to the board of elections.

It was plain the council was displeased with the suggestion, if not the action.

After McIntire told the council the steersmen were prevented from obtaining 400 signatures to the petitions only by "shortage of paper and time" and Ira D. Brounger had said it was clear the people don't approve the site, Omer G. Burkett asked Brounger if he agrees the village needs a parking lot.

Brounger said he couldn't see where what exists now is being patronized. McIntire then said the "major objection of the people is that the building is obsolete — its prime value is for its second story value, and otherwise is worth about 30 cents a thousand for old brick."

By this time acrimony crept into the discussion. Mayor T. R. Ford said it is his opinion "the objection is to the price of the site and the owner of it and that's all."

Mayor-elect William Fazio entered the chambers at this point, and just as promptly into the debate, which then showed signs of developing into a bitter exchange before Mayor Ford headed it off. The supporters of the initiative petition departed and the council licked its wounds.

Big Red to close NCC season with Western Reserve Friday

Plymouth's Big Red winds up its home season in Mary Fata park tomorrow at 8 p. m. a two touchdown underdog in an NCC contest with Western Reserve's Rough Riders.

Coach Lev Petri's crew won't be at full strength. Phil Ramey is out for the year to prevent recurrence of a head injury. Junior Sammons' folks are leaving for Florida, taking their son with them. The Big Red can ill afford the loss of either.

Big question to be settled after kickoff at 8 p. m. tomorrow is whether the inspired Plymouth defense can continue its tight play when the chips are down.

ing lost to Seville, 20 to 6, and to Lodi, 38 to 6. They're tied with Plymouth in NCC standings with three wins and as many defeats.

Twelve lettermen, only four of them seniors, comprise the nucleus of the Blue and White squad. Dave Eungard and Roger Kuhn, veteran players, and Larry Nosack do the mail carrying for Western Reserve. Eungard as quarterback, Nosack as fullback, Kuhn at halfback.

The visitors' defense is stronger than the league average, having given up but 80 points in six games, an average of under 14 a contest. They held Lodi to only 38 and Seville to only 20. Plymouth will have to buckle down to score against the Rough Riders.

By the same token, the visitors have shown they can score. They've rolled up 92 points in six games, an average of just under 16.

MOTHER,

What's it for?

Darling, that's an hour-glass.
You don't see many of them left these days.

Turn it over once. There! See the sand running in that tiny, little stream? The sand never stops. It never will.

For that sand represents time, dearest. And time never stops either, but goes on and on and on...

The day you were born, God tilted a big hour-glass. It had all the hours of your life in it—and lots and lots of sand.

When you grow a little older, you'll find that time—like sand—seems to run a little faster. All of us have only so many hours—and without help, we might not spend them the way God thinks best.

That's why we have churches and Sunday Schools. Our church helps us make our hours meaningful, to make our time count for something.

Our church helps us make our lives good, and happy. That's why you and your daddy and I go to church every Sunday. For the hour we spend there guides us wisely all the rest of our hours through the week.

So you see, darling, that old hour glass can only measure time...

But our church tells us how to get the fullest measure of time from our lives...

For everything there is a season, and a time for every purpose under heaven.
Ecc. 3:1.

POOR MORPHEUS

Insomnia sufferers of old ate raw white onions to woo the arms of Morpheus. Pity the poor husband or wife! Today we have more reliable methods of inducing sleep . . . sleeping pills and the tranquilizers for example. But, these medications are prescription items and should be taken only upon the advice of your physician. Check the obvious reasons for sleeplessness first—it may be caused by a lumpy mattress. Then, if the condition continues, see your doctor. If he recommends medication, we'll be glad to fill his prescription.

Initiative is lawful, but has duties

Nobody should take offense that citizen electors have petitioned the village council to adopt an ordinance providing for purchase of a specific property and to submit it to vote by the electorate.

The principle of referendum and recall is explicit in the Constitution and its exercise in this instance is well within the precepts of American democracy.

By the same token, the exercise of legislative powers by the village council is well within the provisions of law in Ohio and while we take now, and have taken in the past, exception to its judgment in the acquiring of a site for a fire station, we respect the council's right to so act.

The initiative petition will afford the village the opportunity for wide debate of the advantages and disadvantages of each proposal. This is right and proper.

The obligation of citizen electors who initiate the petition -- and the obligation extends to all of them -- is to present a plan which is comprehensible to all, to submit it for public scrutiny, and to say why it should be supported.

For our part, as we have said before, we favor the Hubach site as opposed to the theatre site. We think there are compelling reasons why it should be chosen, but only if the plan entails the removal of the present police station and village hall and the erecting of a new building to serve both fire and municipal office purposes.

If the petition be found to be valid, the council has no choice but to act upon it. This will delay, if not kill, the action it planned with respect to the theatre property.

The pity is that funds have been spent upon the development of plans and financing for the theatre property which are not recoverable. The council should have taken wider counsel of its constituents in the beginning. We habitually distrusted statements that many persons to whom councilmen spoke about it approved the plan, because it was plain to us that support was weak outside the council chamber.

Little Known Facts about your navy

During the Korean conflict, the tiny LST-735, with a landing net, was used to ferry 1000 feet of spotting mikes.

The fleet oiler OREGON crossed the Atlantic 28 times during World War II, clocking 257,000 miles, more than the distance to the moon.

A total of 41,284,259 pounds of supplies were shipped to the navy in the Pacific during the war. That's 1000 times as much as the average man would fill a sack in 5 1/2 miles long.

OHIO in the CIVIL WAR

The evening of Sept. 17, 1859, Abraham Lincoln, candidate for the office of President of the United States, made a speech from the balcony of the house in the Fifth Street Market Place in Cincinnati.

Probably in the audience was a short statured young man who was vice president of the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad whose office was nearby. Who would have believed that night that this gangling Illinois attorney would win election to the highest office in the nation and that only two years later he would name the railroad executive from Ohio, George B. McClellan, to the post of commanding general of the Army of the Potomac whose assignment was to save Washington and the country in the Civil War?

No one could have predicted that President Lincoln would later relieve McClellan of his command and that the General would be reassigned to the job and be visited by the President on the site of the Union victory at the battle of Antietam. (Shown in this illustration.)

Even more remarkable is the fact that the next time Lincoln campaigned for the Presidency in 1864, his opponent was this same Major General George B. McClellan.

This year is being celebrated in Ohio as the 150th anniversary of Lincoln's birth and in 1961, we will observe the Centennial of the Civil War.

McClellan, a graduate of the U.S. Military Academy, was a captain in the regular army before becoming a railroad man. At the outbreak of the Civil War he was appointed Major General of the Ohio Militia and quickly became a Major General in the regular army. A jump in rank so amazing that the former Captain had difficulty in believing the truth. He was probably the most controversial military figure in the Civil War and this controversy continues to this day among the students of that War.

Students of politics will remember that Lincoln became President because four delegates to the Ohio delegation at the Chicago Convention of 1860 changed their votes on the third ballot from Ohio's Governor Chase to Lincoln, giving him the necessary majority to make him the Republican candidate.

Suzie sez

Now it's official. The famous Dr. William C. Menninger of Topeka, Kan., said in Chicago last week that "Almost anyone is at least a little bit nuts."

This is why, he said, "that we usually manage to see something queer in the other fellow."

People are always making excuses for being an odd ball. In our ice cream place, it says, "You don't have to nuts to work here — but it helps!"

But they don't really mean it. Pop says he wouldn't worry about my being an odd ball if, as he puts it, "your oddness is on the side of your brain." If the oddness is in the way I dress or act at the table, however, he takes a very dim view.

But where does being nuts start and being odd stop? What about the fellow who went into the store and said he wasn't very rich, couldn't afford butter, so he wanted a pen that would write on margarine?

Pop says there is a very thin line between the odd and those who ought to go to the laughing academy. Sometimes, he claims, we all go across that line, but not for long, thank God.

In the same paper that I read about Dr. Menninger I saw where Mr. Ezra Benson, the secretary of agriculture, has a swelled up gall bladder. Henry the customer says he just knew it had to happen. As Mr. Benson has a lot of gall in making the small farmer do what the farmer doesn't want to do.

TRICK OR TREAT IS OVER for another year. This one was probably my last one. When I told Pop about it, he asked me, "Honey, now that you've said it's your last one, ask yourself if you did anything that you'll be ashamed to admit 20 years from now."

Well, I did it, and I'm not ashamed of anything. I did upset one garbage can, but it was accidental. And I went back and cleaned most of it up.

Informal initiation of the new members took place Monday.

Which might well have been the song sung at Beadwood stadium, Saturday night by Sandra Barnes, daughter of the Leo Barneses, and Maryellen Briggs, daughter of the Whitney J. Briggses, met in mid-field as majorettes of their respective college bands, Sigma Chi and Phi Kappa Phi, at the college's Eagle band, Maryellen of Ohio Northern university's Polar Bear band.

Contract agreed

The puii-and-naul between Shiloh's village council and the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. ended Oct. 28 when the council accepted a compromise gas rate ordinance.

New rates: 30 cents per 100 cu. ft. for the first 1,000 cu. ft. used monthly, 6.7 cents per 100 cu. ft. for the next 74,000 cu. ft., 6.5 cents per 100 cu. ft. for the remainder. Monthly minimum is $3.

By comparison with old rates, the new rates for the user of 21,000 cu. ft. of natural gas a month produce 27 cents a month less revenue. Larger users, such as the public schools, will feel the increase. When 75,000 cu. ft. of gas is used in a month, the schools will now pay $53.25 instead of $50.75.

The contract, for a three-year period, calls for a fuel clause, by which the varying price of fuel at the well head affects fuel rates in Shiloh.

Old Timer says rating of top teams is a farce

It was a long and thrilling week of football for the O. T. After Friday's fumble fiasco (five times for each team) on an absolutely dry field, he witnessed two struggles in the rain Saturday and the pair didn't match in ball-handling mistakes what he'd seen Friday night.

Bowling Green's victory over Miami at home, before an enthusiastic crowd, Saturday will probably carry the Falcons to their first undefeated season if the injury to Bernie Casey isn't serious. Here is a candidate to make the pro's forget about the ex-Syracuse star with the Browns. He goes 205, measures somewhere over six feet, runs like a scalded dog and hits like a pile-driver, and what's more is Bee Gee's top pass receiver. And he's only a junior. He was gang-tackled in the third period and lay inert on the field for some minutes before they brought a stretcher and hauled him away. Some little bit went out of the Falcons after that, but they were so far ahead Miami couldn't touch 'em anyway.

John Pont apparently doesn't have it at Oxford this year. The wonder is that the Redskins were rated No. 3 among small colleges in the country.

WHICH BRINGS US TO the ridiculous situation of weekly ratings, both college and high school.

How are they made? Well, sirs and Bob, they're done by wire or telephone, to sports editors and sports broadcasters whose employers subscribe to either the UPI or AP news services. There're hundreds of them and they have to rely upon what they read on the tickers of those very same wire services to make their choices. Because it's apparent a single sports writer doesn't get to see more than a dozen different teams in one season, unless he doubles his brass by covering a Friday game and a Saturday one, or two on Saturday. And chances are he won't see more than two great ones in that whole lot, unless he's working the Big Ten.

Which explains how come LSU, for example, is rated at the top of the nation, with Northwestern second, when the facts are that the Wildcats would probably make mincemeat of the Tigers six times a week and let up only a little on Sunday.

It's plain also that drum-beating is what gets a team on the list. All of which recon-firms our long-standing decision not to pay much attention to top team surveys, and even less to all-American selections.

BUT IN CASE ANYBODY would like to know, Doyt Perry's club at Bowling Green can hold its own against any club in the country. We almost said smaller club, but desisted on the grounds that BG and Miami are no more small schools than, say, Yale or Princeton. Matter of fact, the enrollment of both of the Ohio schools exceeds the enrollment of any of the Ivy league schools.

Six of eight returning lettermen answer first basketball call

Six of the eight monogram winners of the 1958-59 county championship squad answered Coach Harold Daup's whistle Monday afternoon as Plymouth High school got its basketball season underway.

First game is with Savannah here Dec. 1. The Big Red begins its defense of the county championship against Butler at home Dec. 4.

Two letter winners are with the football squad and will report Nov. 15. They are Dick Bookwalter, regular center on the record-breaking squad last season, and Billy Strine, a forward and guard.

Veterans who reported Monday are Steve Patterson, Craig Harnly, Marvin Cok, Jim Russell, Bill Taylor and Gene Palmer.

Others who reported are Jesse W. Hamman, Ray Lynch, Jerry Daron and Larry Waggers.

Coming up from the reserve squad coached by Bill Flaherty last season are Dayton Reed, Danny Carter and Kenny Van Loo, all of whom are with the football squad, and half a dozen others.

A freshman schedule will be instituted this year, Daup reports.

On form, and because they lost only two from the title-winning squad of last season, the Big Red must be rated as favorites to repeat this year.

Red defense produces upset win over LeRoy

Plymouth's Big Red — more big than red, for a change — staged a superb defensive exhibition in Mary Fate park Friday night and upset Westfield, 8 to 6.

Outstated in almost every department, the inspired Plymouth eleven took advantage of the breaks and made a stubborn defense hold up against a visiting outfit figured at least two touchdowns the better.

It was the McQuate family's night to howl and howl it did, within reason. Elder son of the R. Earl McQuates, Cadet 1st Lieut. Jack E., brought a crack drill team from Capital university's AFROT unit to entertain and astound a small but enthusiastic crowd. Then the younger son, Doug, scored the sole Plymouth touchdown and turned in a defensive performance that left little to be wished for.

His score came in the third period and it was at the end of a thread-the-needle pass in the coffin corner from the right arm of Billy Strine, whose play-calling was little short of brilliant.

Strine hit Duane Baker with a short toss for the extra points.

IT WAS A WEIRD contest from the standpoint of ball control. Each team lost the ball on fumbles five times. Westfield's errors came principally in the first period. Twice the Red Raiders dropped the ball deep in their own territory, whereupon Plymouth pushed inside the five without scoring.

The Westfield touchdown came as the consequence of a Plymouth fumble in the fourth quarter. After the Big Red relinquished possession on downs on the Westfield 21, McQuate intercepted Lee Jay Davis' pass on the Raider 25. Plymouth bucked to the two, where Strine fumbled.

Mike Ferrell swept end for 17 yards and then Bob Garner penetrated the right side of the Plymouth line, reversed his field and swept 76 yards before Duane Baker was able to nail him with an heroic effort on the Plymouth seven.

John Smucker and Garner pounded off guard to the six, where Ferrell took over. He hit left tackle, was contained by four Big Red Tacklers but broke loose into the end zone. Ferrell took a direct pass from center for the extra points but was halted a yard short of pay dirt.

SAVE FOR THESE TWO scoring plays, there was no sign of offensive brilliance by either team. It was a defensive struggle and although the Plymouth defense gave up much more yardage than its offense was able to gain, it was there when the chips were down.

Westfield gained 252 yards from scrimmage by rushing, as compared with only 76 by Plymouth. The Red Raiders got a single yard by passing. Plymouth netted 64.

This was the final appearance of an Westfield team in interscholastic football in Mary Fate park. Westfield has consolidated with Lodi, Seville, Lafayette and Chatham to form Cloverleaf district and will play a Class AA schedule next season.

Garner and Ferrell were every bit as advertised and the Big Red coped with them as best it could.

Much of the winners' difficulty in getting its offense underway apparently lay in the guard assignments. Phil Ramsey was declared out for the season with a head injury and his place taken by Tom Myers, who has up to now played mostly on defense. Ken Kiefer was in at the other guard, owing to the absence of Dave Barbour, who'd been out a spell and returned for this game.

Lineups: Plymouth: ends: Carter, McQuate; tackles: Bookwalter, J. Baker, Lawrence, Root, Sammons; guards: Myers, Barbour, Kiefer.

center: Ponting, Bassett; backs: Ferrell, Garner, Davis, Eakins, Farnsworth, Smucker.

Score by periods: Plymouth 0 0 8 0—8; Westfield 0 0 0 6—6.

Scoring: Plymouth: McQuate (20-yard pass from Strine); PAT: D. Baker (pass from Strine).

Westfield: Ferrell (six-yard rush).
