A Plymouth woman who made her mark upon the world as the founder of organized home economics was honored last week when Miami university renamed its home management house Bevier Cottage.

The name change honors Isobel Bevier, born in 1860, graduated from the College of Wooster in 1885 and the first woman chemistry student in Case School of Applied Science, now Case Institute of Technology, Cleveland, which coincidentally over the week-end announced that next autumn, for the first time in its history, it will admit female students on a full-time basis.

Miss Bevier taught at Pennsylvania State College for Women for 4 1/2 years, and was accorded an offer to head the home economics department of the University of Illinois at Champaign Urbana.

In 1920, IOWA STATE college at Ames awarded her an honorary doctorate. Her alma mater, Wooster, accorded her the honorary doctorate in 1936 in recognition of her contribution to home economics.

Miss Bevier was the aunt of the late Mrs. Cornelia Johns and of Nellie Bevier and a first cousin of Frank and George Bevier.

She died in 1942 and is interred in the family plot here. As a professional educator, fighting for the recognition of her special field, Miss Bevier maintained a hard and fast attitude toward scholarship.

Prof. Lita Bane of the University of Illinois, in an appreciation of Professor Bevier delivered Mar. 29, 1935, said, "(she) is consistently unwilling to offer college courses devoted almost entirely to skills, unwilling to mortgage the student's time with specialized home economics subjects to the point where courses in economics, literature and art were crowded out, always standing for a liberal college education with a major only in home economics. . . . Not only in the development of college courses and the consequent effect on secondary and elementary home economics education has her influence been felt. . . . Her score might have been given her an insight into the problems that has enabled her to render invaluable service in developing plans and policies. Her prophetic words, written some years ago, are worth rereading in these troubled days: 'The new farm life, whatever else it may mean, implies an appreciation of the fact the farm is no longer to be judged by the quantity of its crops, neither by the number of its flocks and herds, but by the character of the life maintained in the farm home. . . . Her largest contribution to home economics. . . has been her point of view, a respectful, critical appreciation of homemaking, its rewards and difficulties, its demands and sources of help in training to meet these demands; in all, a comprehensive, sane evaluation of homemaking as a course of personal satisfaction and a means of serving society.'

"DURING WORLD WAR I, Miss Bevier was called by President Wilson to serve in the Food Administration, which she did with high distinction. Nearly 50 years ago, she became the second president of the American Home Economics association, which this year marks the 50th anniversary of its founding.

"The final aim is gracious womanhood" was Miss Bevier's motto during nearly 60 years of service to home economics.

Red nails third victory at New Washington

Board to choose school location at Shiloh this week

Selection of a site for the new elementary center at Shiloh is due this week.

Plymouth Board of Education has inspected five proposed locations, each of which "entail considerable expense for grading prior to construction."

James Crawford, of Marr, Knapp & Crawfis, Mansfield architects, will consult with the board in final choice. Negotiations with the owners of land will commence immediately after the site is chosen.

Final transaction cannot be effected, however, until the $552,000 bond issue is sold in January.

Freeman losses hat in ring to continue; who'll fight judge!

Incumbent Huron County Prosecutor, Bernard W. Cheeman, announced last week he will be a candidate for reelection, subject to the Republican primary.

A rumor was strong in the county seat that efforts are being made to induce a candidate to oppose incumbent Don J. Young, Jr., Democrat juvenile and probate judge. Whether the efforts will succeed seemed problematical yesterday.

The probate and juvenile judge's salary is augmented by a unique provision of Ohio law by which he may lawfully retain some of the fees paid to him. This makes the job more attractive to some lawyers who otherwise shun election to the post would deprive them of substantial income available to them in private practice. In a county of Huron's size, the annual pay of the juvenile and probate judge should be about $11,500.

An important obstacle, it is understood, is that non-county seat lawyers have little chance to break into the Newark voting strength, unless they have previously served in an official capacity by appointment. Incumbent Common Pleas Judge Robert J. Vetter, a Willardite, for example, was previously probate and juvenile judge by appointment.

Incumbent recorder, Lee Hudson, regarded by his party as a keen political forecaster in the county, is a candidate to succeed himself. So is Dr. Charles Edel as coroner. Both are Republicans.

The Red began to roll in the second half, scoring 27 in the third quarter and 28 in the fourth.

Craig Harnly's remarkable accuracy from the right corner produced seven field goals for his account and showed he has not lost his old skill. But ragged passing and poor shooting prevented the winners from locking it up a lot sooner, for as late as 3:28 in the third quarter only nine points separated the two clubs.

For the Red, it was the third straight victory. For the Indians, it was defeat No. 3 in five outings. Plymouth reserves, marshaled by Jerry Daron, whipped the Little Braves, 34 to 27.

Pearl Harbor attack recalled by reporter and nobody else

Sugar snow beat in from the west here Monday afternoon on the 18th anniversary of Pearl Harbor, the day of infamy when Japan attacked United States installations in Hawaii.

No observance or special ceremony marked the day, so far as an Advertiser reporter could ascertain. Neither could anybody be found whose military service required his presence in Hawaii Dec. 7, 1941.

The Advertiser's issue of Dec. 11, four days later, said Capt. Elmer Parsel, Army Air Corps, was somewhere in the Philippines, unreported to his family. He was subsequently to lose his life in aerial combat, the first Plymouth soldier to die in World War II.

Robert Brothers, who'd seen Parsel a few weeks earlier in Hawaii, was still there but no word had reached his family. Thomas DeWitt, a Naval Reservist, hadn't communicated with his family in some weeks and The Advertiser surmised he was in the combat zone.

FATE-ROOT-HEATH CO. received telegraphed instructions from Washington to be alert for saboteurs and was ordered to establish a 24-hour watch around its buildings.

And what else going on? William Feters, William DeWitt, Charles West and Tom Roberts had joined the Naval Reserve and were awaiting orders.

Of a less militaristic nature, Plymouth defeated Shiloh, 34 to 21, in basketball. Jim Rhine took the place of Sid Thomas at guard, the latter being home sick in bed. Dick Rule scored 13 points for Plymouth.

The Revs. Henry George Springer, H. T. Wintermute and Howard L. Bethel, Protestant ministers here, united in a common signed statement urging Christians to resort to prayer now that hostilities had begun.

Teen-agers buy Suttles property

Purchase of the Charles Suttles property in Trux street consisting of two lots each 135 by 320 feet in size, was announced Tuesday morning by Teen-Time Rendezvous, Plymouth's self-supporting young organization.

Consideration was not announced, but Suttles had offered the land to the village for $1500 and the present fire house.

Donald B. Shaver, adviser to the Rendezvous, said "Mr. Suttles has accepted a check, the deed has been transmitted, and the young people plan to begin construction of their own building as soon as weather permits in the spring."

HELP! SANTA SAYS

S. Claus won't get around to some needy youngsters in this area unless his friends get busy — and quickly, too.

Following custom of many years standing, Plymouth Firebells — auxiliary of the fire department — issued a call for used toys in good condition to be refurbished in time for the Old Gent to take to children who wouldn't otherwise have a merry Yule.

Mrs. Francis Guthrie, chairman, reports "the bag's empty so far". She'll send items if notified at 7-5752 after 5 p.m.

The Orva Dawsons were installed as worthy matron and patron of Plymouth Chapter, OES, Dr. Alvin Loose, 78, local optometrist, died. Fire destroyed the large bank barn on the farm of Olive Gottfried in North street road.

The D. Karl McGintys became grandparents twice in the same week. Daughters were born to the John Predis and the Robert Ruds.

Miss Rosemary Bachrach was wed to Bernard Edelman in Chapel of the Temple at 82nd and Euclid, Cleveland.

EIGHTEEN YEARS IS half a generation. The village's population has advanced 24 percent and changes have occurred at a greater rate in the ensuing period since Pearl Harbor than during any period of Plymouth's previous history.

And it all started from the attack at dawn on Sunday morning, Dec. 7, 1941, at Pearl Harbor.

SORRY, KIDS!

Pupils of Plymouth public schools will be dismissed for Christmas recess at 3:30 p.m. Dec. 22, not 23, as stated in last week's Advertiser. The editor regrets this error.

F-R-H pays bonus for 19th year; 300 share in $70,144

Santa Claus got a big shot in the arm this week. For the 19th consecutive year, Fate-Root-Heath Co. paid a five per cent Christmas bonus to its 300 employees. The amount $70,144, brought to $887,368 the sum which the firm has paid out in holiday bonuses to its deserving employees since 1940.

With each bonus check, averaging $233.80, is the company's annual Yule greeting, reading:

"Once again it is that time of year when more thought is given to our fellow men and the well-being of him and his family."

"Your continued cooperation has again made possible the gift of another five per cent bonus on your year's earnings and with the enclosed check we wish you and yours a very Merry Christmas and a happy and prosperous New Year."

New hours listed for Xmas shopping

Christmas shopping hours begin tomorrow night.

Stores will be open until 9 p.m. and also on Saturday, Monday and Tuesday they will close at their regular time, Wednesday through Dec. 23 they will remain open until 9 p.m. and will close at 5 p.m. on Christmas eve.

Tomorrow night will begin a series of caroling by various groups. Junior choir of First Presbyterian church will sing under the east tree from 7 to 7:30 p.m. Wednesday night the sixth grade Girl Scout troop will carol at the same time. Fourth grade Brownies will carol Dec. 18, and the fifth grade Scouts will sing the next night, Dec. 19. The Cub Scouts are tentatively planned to carol Dec. 21. Second and third grade Brownies will sing together on Dec. 22, and the Boy Scouts on Dec. 23.

Yule observance in Plymouth public schools will reach a climax Thursday at 7:30 p.m. when 18 elementary pupils directed by John Arndt present a music play, "The Night Before Christmas."

The play will also be presented in the afternoon. James Broderick and Bonnie Jo Lasch have been assigned roles as Father and Mother. Richard Lahmon and Linda S. Washburn will be Little Boy and Little Girl. Roger Roberts is the Mouse and Ross Stephanchick Santa Claus.

Four Candy Canes, singers, are Kathy Willet, Stephanie Morrison, Minnie Fazzini and Martha Carter.

Four Sugar Plums are Steven Young, Terry Henry, Philip Bushey and David Root.

Four Lollipops, also singers, are Marjette Caudill, Suzanne Padlock, Sunday Robinson and Ann Fenner.

BPA toots own horn by citing surpluses

Final 1959 meeting of the Board of Public Affairs Monday night was mainly devoted to back-patting.

It formally entered the certificate of merit in its official minutes which the Plymouth water department received from the American Water Works association. It was one of only 30 issued to communities in Ohio for the greatest amount of improvement from July, 1956 to July, 1959.

Clerk Carl V. Ellis read from the official financial reports of the water and electrical departments. When the three incumbents, Robert L. McIntire, George W. Cheesman and Luther R. Fetters, took office in January, 1956, the water department had $5,553.36 in its active fund and the electrical department $9,314.40.

Clerk's report for Dec. 1, 1959, shows $22,364.35 in water funds and $34,718.91 in electrical funds. During its tenure the board paid off a first waterworks mortgage of $9,000 and has asked the solicitor to prepare a resolution to notify the bonding company that a second water mortgage of $12,000 is to be paid in February.

Apparent jump in revenue for both departments is the partly the result of more efficient management and the fact that villagers are using more water and electricity. Air conditioning and more automatic washing machine contribute to this.

Regular business was readily dispatched. It was agreed the clerk will include a sum of $6,500 to be earmarked for a new ladder truck for the electrical department in the 1960 budget. Another $4,000 is to be included for a new billing machine. Provision for new transformers will also be included.

No action was taken upon the council's ordinance of the enlarging of the West Broadway water line. Present board members said they plan to act on it when the new board is seated.

A short discussion ensued over village bookkeeping practices. As it is done now, no charges are made against the water department for electricity used. An estimate of what is used at the water plant is about $1,800 per year. The only problem involved, because the money actually comes out of pockets belonging to the same suit, is that it does not give a true picture of the revenue of the department.

Thieves make off with school's voice

Thieves apparently seeking money paid by pupils for class photographs broke into New Haven school some time after 3 a.m. Sunday. The money wasn't there.

They took a public address system amplifier and microphone and a radio and about $1 in cash and ransacked the building.

Deputy Sheriff John Borgia reported he "checked the building about 3 a.m. Sunday". He deduced the burglary occurred between 3 a.m. and 9 a.m., when Supt. Robert Pleunik reported the theft.

A night earlier, thieves broke into Greenwich Mill and Elevator and Greenwich High school. A car which was seen in the vicinity of those places, behaving in a suspicious manner, was also noted by Deputy Borgia near New Haven. He deduces the occupants of the car may be the culprits in the school burglary.

training company at Great Lakes Naval Training Station, Ill. Seaman John L. Feters will receive the honor plaque during graduation ceremonies Saturday.

His mother, Mrs. Donald E. Feters, and Miss Mary Robertson will attend the graduation.

A 1956 graduate of Plymouth High school, he attended Fenn college before enlisting. He anticipates a Christmas leave beginning Dec. 19, plans for return home for the holidays, and then will return to Great Lakes for additional training.

His father will be unable to attend Saturday because he plans to enter Mansfield General hospital for eye surgery.

First-line fiction among acquisitions of library; 'Johnny Shiloh' available

"Take time out during the busy holiday season," says Mrs. Harold Shaffer, librarian, "to sample some of our new, first-line fiction."

John Hersey, the celebrated author of "Hiroshima," to the text of which the New Yorker magazine devoted an entire issue, is the author of another, "The War Lover," the story of two air corps pilots. Critics are divided as to its stature as a first-rank novel.

James A. Rhodes, Ohio state auditor, and his collaborator, Dean Jauchius, have come up with a second fictionalized development of an incident of history. Their first was "The Trial of Mary Lincoln." The current one is "Johnny Shiloh," based on an Ohio drummer boy who fought in that great battle.

Shirley Jackson, one of the foremost figures in American letters, is the author of "The Haunting of Hill House," favorably reviewed by the New York Times.

Meyer Levin, who wrote the controversial study of the Lohb-Leopold story, has written "Eva," on which critics are also divided.

Other volumes newly received: "The Rack," A. E. Ellis;

"Station Wagon in Spain," Frances Parkinson Keyes; "The Laugh's on Me," Bennett Cerf; "The Stranger," Burt and Budd Arthur; "The Case of the Mythical Monkeys" and "The Case of the Singing Skirt"; Perry Mason thrillers by Erle Stanley Gardner;

Also, "Crime and Mr. Campion," Margery Allingham; "Only in New England," Theodore Roscoe; "Strangers in the Forest," Carol Brink; "The Slender Thread," P. J. Merrill; "One Hour," Lillian Smith; "The Fabulous Showman," by Irving Wallace, and "Subway to the Met," Kyle Crichton.

Someone has called our century the century of the vitamin pill. Most of these pills sell for a few cents apiece. That's cheap enough for the benefits to our bodies they perform.

But there's one vitamin that's never advertised, never washed down with a glass of water. Yet you can't do without it.

"Next to bread, kindness is the food all mortals hunger for—it is the one essential vitamin of the soul."

If you want to test the vitamin of friendship-kindness and see it at work, visit your church next Sunday. In a world which seems to forget its value—and is paying dearly for its forgetfulness—kindness still reigns in the sanctuary of the church. You can hear kindness in the words of the old hymns; you can feel kindness in the handclasp of a friend or neighbor; you can sense kindness in the ever-glowing words of the gospel of God.

This vitamin is yours for the asking. It is as free as morning sunlight; as clean as summer rain; as limitless as eternity.

Take it only once a week—in church.

It will make your own week, and the week of all you meet, a better one—through kindness.

And to godliness, add brotherly kindness...

At modest expense, lamp posts are festooned with Yule greens and colored lights and two handsome trees donated by civic-minded residents light the broad plaza that is the hub of Plymouth's activity.

Are surpluses sinful?

It is difficult not to praise the Board of Public Affairs on its record over the past four years.

The municipal establishment is in sound fiscal shape. There is a substantial surplus, more than a year's tolls, in the water fund. The electric department has enough money to cope with most emergencies and to undertake some work which is long overdue.

But as the board itself points out, circumstances over which it had little control contributed immensely to the strong fiscal performance. Customers installed air conditioners and automatic washers consumed more water and power. The rate structure is built so that greater profit accrues to the village as use increases.

Nevertheless, conservative management — what some detractors, including us, term the "pack rat" notion of management — also contributed to the results which the board so proudly proclaimed Monday night.

We believe the new board has its work cut out for it. Implementation of the ordinance to extend water to the West Broadway area needs to be undertaken at once.

Some large users of electricity around the Square have a right to expect that service will be improved.

Were we in its shoes, we would plan the board's next two years thus:

There are a few who gave of their time and effort freely to accomplish this splendid display, and we join in extending thanks with their fellow citizens, appreciative of a good job well done.

Each of them must realize, as inevitably we all do, that those things which they do without thought of recompense are the most rewarding.

1. Announce promptly a program of development consonant with our resources and with the needs of customers, give it wide publicity, and stick by it.

2. Comply with the directive of the council to extend water services to West Broadway.

3. Do something constructive with the water survey report, which cost the board $600.

4. Improve the performance of the water softener.

5. Develop a book of rules by which the board's services will be spelled out for all to see, publish it inexpensively, and stick by it.

6. Establish sounder procedures with respect to water and electric meters, including multiple dwelling service. There is no reason why each family unit should not pay a minimum water or electric bill.

Had some or all of these things been done during the past four years; there wouldn't be such a surplus as is now reported.

In private business, a surplus — which is no more than savings to replace worn out or outdated equipment — is a necessity.

But in public business, it's tantamount to a sin, because it means the public has been taxed more than it agreed to pay for, and it amounts to taxation without representation.

Policy on transfers limits changes to 90-day period

Firm policy on transfers of school district territory was adopted Saturday night by Huron County Board of Education.

Under legislation effective in July, 1959, a county board of education may transfer directly territory from one school district to another. Such transfers become effective after 30 days if 55 per cent of the qualified electors in the district do not petition to submit the proposal to referendum.

Huron County Board of Education will not transfer territory during school terms. It will do so only, the board ruled, during June, July and August.

When transfer is considered, a public hearing will be called, the board said, when arguments may be presented. All property holders, residents and school boards affected will be notified at least 10 days in advance of such hearing.

Two such requests are pending before the board. Public hearing will be conducted at the next formal meeting Jan. 16 to determine the arguments for or against transfer of property of the Homer A. Robinsons and the Walter Sparkses, amounting to about 30 acres in Route 61, from the Monroeville Local district to Norwalk City school district and of property of the George B. Nagels, amounting to 179 acres, from Huron Valley district to Attica district in Seneca county.

Suzie sez

It is getting to that time when I have to buy Christmas presents.

And it is also getting to that time — heck, it's already here — when Pop starts his annual diet.

I think the first thing I will buy when I get paid for writing this column is a transparent vest, which is especially for men who have to watch their waist lines.

And I will also try to find a thing that keeps people from smoking gaspers. Then Mom can put into a box the money she spends on gaspers and have whatever she wants at the end of a year.

Arithmetic is my weakest subject, but I have checked this and this is what she will save:

13 packs of gaspers a week x 30 cents equals $3.90 a week; 52 weeks a year x $3.90 equals $202.80

Mom, that would buy about four of those hats you have your eye on.

THE BOSS IS HOPPING mad this week. He got a letter from some preacher in southern Ohio. This man is also a home builder. He was building houses at the rate of one a week, to sell for $7,500 each. From the picture that he sent with his letter, they are pretty ritzy houses.

Well, this preacher got into debt, like that one over at Akron. He was called in by a court at Cincinnati and all his money was placed for four years under the control of a man appointed by the court. A loan of $200,000 was given to him by Uncle Sam.

What makes Pop hopping mad is now this preacher wants his picture in this paper, to show the world he is a good fellow.

Pop says the world has come to a stage of a pass if we give praise to those who do what they are supposed to do, like pay their bills and tell the truth.

It's why he is mad at Van Doren and Dave Garroway and Jack Paar and Bob Hope (and for him to be mad at those fellows is pretty bad, believe me). He says they are sticking up for a man who lied when he promised on a Bible he wouldn't.

"If a man's word isn't any good," Pop says, "he's just about as low as they come. And I'm darned (Pop didn't say darned but I have to be careful) if I'll give him a picture in the paper, or a man who only does what's right, like who his bills."

So that is the reason, Mr. Preacher, why your picture isn't in this week.

And don't ask me where it really is.

Bookwalter leads Red to win over Butler in RCL opener

Plymouth opened defense of its Richland County league championship here Friday night with an easy 73 to 53 win over Butler.

The Big Red was clearly superior throughout, swept to a 20 to 6 lead after eight minutes and romped thereafter.

Dick Bookwalter scored 25 points to lead both quintets.

Most of his scores came off tip-ins and short rebounds.

Craig Harnly got the Big Red off to a fine start on a three-point play shortly after the opening whistle and after that the Big Red could do no wrong.

At no time during the contest was Butler able to string more than seven points together at one time, although the Bulldogs outscored the winners in two periods, 13 to 10 in the second and 17 to 14 in the fourth.

Plymouth's performance in the third period, with Bookwalter, Russell and Harnly taking turns at the pivot was outstanding. The scoring was evenly distributed and the floor plays off the pivot succeeded admirably.

Bookwalter has grown considerably in poise and aplomb since last season and handles the rebound with a sharper eye and more effective jump.

Patterson steers the offense and Harnly and Russell handle the corners. If Coach Harold Daup can develop his bench strength, the Big Red should go far in its league this season. What it will do in tournament play is, of course, another matter.

Daup gives the impression he wishes his team wouldn't win so convincingly early in the season. He insists "we've got a long way to go, this can be a good team but we aren't home yet."

On the Sidelines

By THE OLD TIMER

Roundball having taken over the sports scene, it's never the less a little difficult to assess potentialities at this early date.

In this neighborhood, young Jim Langhurst at Willard seems destined to break all records at his school. But Willard couldn't cut the mustard against Shelby, which has only a fair team.

Shelby, after winning a couple, collapsed against Bellevue.

Mansfield Senior (and we might just as well point out here that ordinarily these schools wouldn't get a line of mention in this pillar, chiefly because their affairs don't concern us, whereas now Plymouth is in Class AA and could conceivably meet any or all of them in tournament play) is as bad in roundball as it was in football.

In the Richland County league, if Plymouth can contain Union and Bellevue, it should go the duke for the second year in a row. Lexington is weaker than usual, Lucas is just fair, Butler simply hasn't got it up front, where it counts, and Ontario can't strike its stride, although ex-Plymouthite Jack Gage should start hitting soon.

THEY'RE PLAYING MOSTLY for kicks, and the scores run to astronomical figures. Nevertheless, the sport on the high school floor Thursday nights, when Weber's Cafe plays a double-header most weeks, is worth the price of admission and then some. There's no charge to get in and you'll see some of the best senior amateur basketball hereabouts.

In the invitational tournament later this month, the competition will be keener, because there's money on the line.

To John Kleer and his partner, a cheer for sponsoring the game here.

A STUDY OF THE SQUAD rosters from junior high school up to varsity shows the value of getting kids started in roundball when they're young.

Percentage of players with organized experience in competitive basketball at the grade school level on the rosters as compared with those who had none:

Varsity: 75 per cent
 Jayvees: 87 per cent
 Frosh: 100 per cent
 Jr. High: 100 per cent

We've not always agreed with the method of Freddy Buzard, and we've told him so. But he was absolutely right about the need to interest Plymouth youngsters in basketball — and baseball — at the upper elementary age and he deserves some kudos for doing it.

All save one of his "boys" apparently has made the team coached by Ed Kinsel at Shiloh.

Hamman leads frosh to victory

Deer season opens

Ohio's deer season opens today and closes Saturday, for hunters with shotguns. Bowhunters may shoot legally until sundown on Dec. 31.

Deer may be taken only with shotgun loaded with a single ball or rifled slug or with long bow and arrow.

A deer hunting permit, costing $5, is required in addition to the routine hunting license.

Only one deer of any age or sex may be taken during the bow or gun season. A bow hunter who gets his deer may not take another with shotgun.

Presence of deer is reported to be "somewhat less than last year" in most Huron county areas and on Willard Marsh hunting grounds.
