

School issue defeated

Plymouth votes swamp county board leadership

Forget all about a new high school out of town.

Voters of Plymouth Local School district emphatically disapproved the proposed $750,000 high school bond issue in Tuesday's election. Unofficial returns showed, of 1,006 valid ballots, 658 opposed to 361 favoring.

Veteran poll watchers said the results of the election showed these trends:

1. Plymouth voters turned

A FIRST SACKER?

out when the chips were down to protect their "vested interests".

2. Shiloh voters supported the issue because they believed the school board could be prevailed upon to alter the site choice.

3. Majority of voters rejected the leadership of the Richland county school board.

4. A final, last-ditch, illicit effort to change the opinions of many voters fell on deaf ears.

HERE'S THE VOTE

The vote was along straight community lines, thus:

Plymouth	for	against
Richland	25	206
Huron	26	180
Plymouth Twp.	9	76

Cass Twp. 84 73
Bloominggrove Twp. 48 40

Shiloh 169 38
New Haven Twp. 0 23

Auburn Twp. 0 25

The school board decided by 3 to 2 vote Friday night to reject a petition alleged to contain over 800 valid signatures of electors of the district requesting the site be changed from the Barnes property east of town to the Kesler farm three miles further east.

Vote of Donald P. Markley, president of the board, was decisive, after David E. Cook and Gerald Stanley had voted in favor, Judson A. Morrison and Haldon Chessman against.

A letter — unsigned in contravention of Ohio election laws but forwarded by first class mail — was sent to school district patrons Monday.

It urged them to forego differences and support the bond issue.

But it had virtually no effect.

Property owners offer to pay for gravel

Willow and Parkwood drives will be widened to 18 feet and paved on a split-the-cost arrangement between the village and residents there if a few details can be ironed out, village council ruled Tuesday.

A delegation from Willow drive attended the meeting to discuss ways and means of effecting the repairs.

STREET COMMITTEE — Whitney J. Briggs and Elmer E. Markley — recommended the repairs if property owners in the two streets would bear the major share of the cost of $1,200.

THEY WOULD PAY, THEY SAID, for the gravel and its hauling, estimated to be $800.

Village share would be $400. At this point, William Moore revealed that an underground spring in the edge of his property will prevent laying a firm bottom under any repairs.

This was something the council had forgotten. To straighten the street as it was dedicated and to widen it to 18 feet will necessitate digging at the edge of the spring, Moore pointed out.

A conference yesterday with Huron county road supervisor was to iron out details so the work can be done.

VILLAGE FUNDS IN THE amount of $591.60 will be applied to the repair of Walnut street (between New street and Park avenue), New street (between West Broadway and Brazilian) and Brazilian street.

Police Chief Robert L. Meiser reported an attempted break-in at the home of Mrs. James J. Ryan, 223 Sandusky street, and theft of a 65-pound pig from Leo Barnes.

Efforts to detect the felons are being continued, he said.

IT'S DONE WITH BOOKS, not mirrors, say co-valedictorians of Class of 1959, D. Richard Akers (who got $900 scholarship to Case Institute of Technology) and Nancy Ballitch. They'll be graduated in exercises May 20.

Parma man fined for dumping

A Parma man was fined $35 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in the Richland county jail by Shelby Municipal Judge W. R. Morris Friday after conviction on a charge of dumping six tons of baled rubbish on a Shelby route 3 farm.

Complainant was Henry Newmyer, who said he found the rubbish on his farm in Dinger road. Jail sentence was suspended for Stanley R. Sadowski on condition he clean up the rubbish.

IN OTHER CASES, JUDGE Morris: Fined Billy Vanderpool, Plymouth, $15 and costs, on a charge of speeding.

Fined Duane W. Swartz, Shiloh route 2, $10 and costs for having an inadequate muffler with half the fine suspended on condition the muffler is repaired.

Fined Leo A. Kendig, Shiloh, $10 and costs for following another vehicle too closely. Fined Gerald L. Bendle, Plymouth, $10 and costs on the same charge.

Sentenced James Southard, Shelby new car salesman, for three days in the county jail, fined him $150 and decreed he can drive a car only to and from work on a charge of drunken driving.

Post office muddle results in contract for Toledo builder

Because his bid was prepared for property that was misrepresented to him, Albert J. Stankie of Lakewood withdrew from his offer to construct a U.S. Post Office building here, The Advertiser learned this week.

Instead, the Post department has awarded the contract to erect the building and lease it to the post office department for 10 years to a Toledoan, William B. Biebsheimer, 3927 Garrison road, Toledo 13.

Plans as otherwise reported in the April 9 issue of The Advertiser are unchanged. Biebsheimer will construct a brick and masonry building covering 2,880 square feet at 29 Plymouth street, adjoining First Presbyterian church. He will install a parking-and-manuevering area of 4,292 square feet in the rear, from which access is by an alley leading from Trux street to Mills avenue.

Rep. Clarence W. Brown, Ohio's senior GOP Congressman, confirmed these details in a special interview with the newspaper.

Stankie had prepared his bid on property erroneously — the post office department won't say where — labeled. When the time came to affix signature to contract, he discovered more money than he had reckoned on was required to bind the transaction. He thereupon declined and Biebsheimer, an experienced contractor, was awarded the contract.

Short circuit cause of fire, maybe two

Two fires believed caused by short circuits in wiring summoned Plymouth Fire department over the weekend.

Friday night fire in the station wagon of Dr. Pierre E. Haver was ablaze when firemen were called. Damage was estimated at $250.

Early Sunday morning, shortly after young Dennis McGinnis drove his sedan into the family garage in Willo drive after an evening out, his mother said she smelled rubber burning. An investigation by her husband, Kenneth McGinnis, disclosed the garage filled with smoke.

The boy's sedan was afire. It was all but destroyed inside by the time firemen extinguished the fire.

Don't let baby get bolt, say Kosers

Don't, say the Eugene R. Kosers, let the baby play with an inch-and-a-half iron bolt.

They speak from experience. Their eight-month-old son, Randy Paul, was given one such infernal internal device by his two-year-old brother.

Mrs. Koser found the baby turning blue and gasping for breath. He'd swallowed the bolt.

A local physician relieved the obstruction and the child was admitted to Willard Municipal hospital to recover.

'Way far away is just that for toddler

Take it from Supt. M. J. Coon and Police Chief Robert L. Meiser, when a small boy says he lives "way far away", he means it.

At 8:30 a. m. Monday, Mr. Coon was proceeding on foot to his office in the elementary school. He met a young toddler moving east in West Broadway at full steam.

"Sonny, hadn't you better come over here on the sidewalk?" asked the school man. The boy responded reluctantly.

"What's your name Sonny?"

"Me Jeff."

"Jeff, what's your Daddy's name?"

"Him Daddy."

"What's your mother's name?"

"Her Mommy."

"Where do you live?"

"Way far away that-away," pointing east.

MR. COON LED THE BOY by the hand to the premises of the Leo G. Barnes in Trux street.

By this time, he thought, surely such a small boy couldn't have strayed that far from home. Inquiries in the neighborhood produced no results. Chief Meiser was summoned.

He followed the tack of Superintendent Coon.

The trail led them to Shiloh, because the boy kept pointing in that direction.

Not having any sign by this time, Mr. Coon called on Mrs. C. David Rish, deputy to Precipal Harold Daup at Shiloh.

She didn't recognize the lad.

But she got a clue. His brother's name is Ronny.

So she canvassed all boys answering to that name having a brother named Jeff.

One such responded.

"His face lit up like a neon sign," Mr. Coon said. "He identified the boy as his brother, Jeff Clabaugh."

SO MR. COON, CHIEF Meiser and the boy set out for home.

When they reached Planktown the boy said, "No turn there, turn here."

They did and encountered the lad's distraught parents, the Marshall Clabaughs.

Mr. Clabaugh explained he had driven to Fate-Root-Heath Co. on business and left the boy in the truck. The boy grew tired of waiting and set out for home.

When Clabaugh returned, the boy was gone.

Miss Wallace wed at home to Mr. Ross

Miss Frances Faye Wallace chose a gown of traditional white for her wedding to Stanley Ross Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Wallace, Shelby.

The Rev. Thomas S. Taylor read the vows.

Her gown was a ballerina length brocade with a full skirt, tight-fitting bodice with a wounded neckline ending in short sleeves. She wore a short veil held by a rhinestone tiara on her head. White mitts completed her costume. Her bridal bouquet was of white carnations.

Mrs. Glenville Wallace was her sister-in-law's only attendant. She wore a street-length blue dress with matching accessories. Her flowers were a corsage of white carnations.

The bride's mother chose an off-grey shade in a lace afternoon dress with matching accessories. Mrs. Ross, the bridegroom's mother, wore a blue suit with white accessories both were corsages of white carnations.

Mr. Ross, son of the Ira Rosses, and his bride are now at home on the Phelps farm in Springmill road.

Tiro whips Red, 12-6

Unable to hold a three-run lead, Plymouth's Big Red baseballers bowed out of the Class A district tourney at North Robinson Thursday, losing to Tiro, 12 to 6.

The Plymouth nine spotted Tiro two runs in the first frame and came back to get four in its half. By the end of two, the Big Red had a 5 to 2 lead.

But Tiro bunched hits in the fourth and fifth for two runs in each and added four more in the seventh.

Billy Strine, Jess Hamman and Steve Patterson all had a fling from the hill for Plymouth. Collectively they allowed nine blows, including a triple and a pair of doubles.

Plymouth, meanwhile, was able to get only five hits off the slants of Gene Shull.

Trackmen ready to meet Bellville

Couch Lewis J. Pettit's trackmen go to Bellville today to meet the powerful Blue Jays and Class A Acreline in a triangular meet.

Pettit's squad figures as a decided underdog in the coming, although it has good chances of winning some blue ribbons.

Steve Patterson is expected to prove Plymouth's top point getter.

In the first annual North Robinson Relays Saturday, Patterson dumped the best Bellville could offer in the broad jump, with a leap of 20 feet, took second in the century dash, tied for second in the high jump with a vault of 5-7, and ran fifth in the 180-yard hurdles.

ONLY IN THE LAST-NAMED event was he bested by any Jay.

Saturday the Big Red goes to Mansfield for the county meet, with a good chance of first place.

Bellville is believed to have too much balance, notably in the field events and in the relays, to be upset.

Ontario could press the Jays especially if its distance runners are in form.

But Plymouth scored well — it had 18½ points for sixth place, with Bellville first, Ontario second, Lexington third, North Robinson fourth and Marion Central Catholic fifth — considering it has no home track.

Mother away on her big day?

Remember to call her!

Fortunately, most mothers can be reached by their families on Mother's Day. But when circumstances make this impossible, long distance telephone service really sends a helping hand.

It's the most appreciated way to keep in touch. Your mother is certain to be pleased about your thoughtfulness on her day. And you'll be delighted, too, at the wonderful way long distance lets you say just what you want at the time you want to say it.

If Mother is away on her big day this year ... you remember to call her. You'll both be glad you did.

Why not fitness reports?

There has been a considerable fuss of late over the failure to renew contracts of teachers by school systems in Shaker Heights and Mt. Gilead, to mention but two communities. There was a serious case in Oberlin a year or so ago.

Events in Shaker Heights led to a disgusting exhibition by pupils of the high school, who went on strike, committed malicious vandalism and otherwise brought discredit upon themselves and their community.

At Mt. Gilead, the executive head of the school system asked to be relieved and the board of education offered to resign en masse.

Reports that we believe to be true are to the effect the teachers whose contracts were not renewed lent their support to, if they were not actively engaged in, the acts of pressure that were brought to bear.

A teacher is entitled to job security even as a metalworker or a ditch-digger is entitled to job security.

Tenure of office is normally accorded teachers by other states and dismissal after tenure is obtained may only be by public hearing on formal charges, whether of inefficiency as a teacher or of conduct unbecoming a teacher.

Ohio's law is somewhat involved, and discriminates against a teacher in a small system. But tenure can be obtained nevertheless. A continuing contract in Ohio affords a teacher indefinite tenure unless he is properly discharged for cause, resigns, retires or is requested to retire in pursuance of law.

It strikes us that teachers should not be so anxious to raise disturbances in matters of job security unless they are willing to submit to efficiency ratings.

The professional teachers' organizations oppose vigorously such an innovation, but the arguments advanced to support this position are, to us, at least, not convincing.

There should be, we think, no objection by anybody to the rating of a teacher's efficiency as a teacher, in some manner generally accepted to be valid, and affording a dis-rated teacher some manner of appeal.

The disturbances in Shaker Heights, Mt. Gilead and other communities are, we believe, another instance of the failure of local self-government.

Citizens-electors of school districts in particular seem to resent the exercise of the full powers of the Ohio Constitution by school board members.

The law is clear: the discretion to re-employ a teacher is vested in the board of education (Ohio Revised Code, par. 3319.11).

Although a teacher becomes eligible to be granted a continuing contract, there is no provision of law that requires a board of education to grant such contract, if a board in the exercise of its discretion decided not to re-employ such a teacher.

It is morally wrong for discharged teachers to engage in acts which may seek to upset the principle of a board's discretion.

But by the same rule, it is wrong for a board of education or the executive head not to inform a teacher of his deficiencies in ample time to allow him to correct them. Certainly, refusal to re-employ should not be taken unless the teacher has been notified of his shortcomings, and in no case unless his deficiencies are of a professional or moral nature clearly spelled out and communicated to him.

If the law were to be amended so as to make efficiency ratings mandatory, much of the current fuss would be eliminated. And we'd have better schools in Ohio.

go, Chip says, the Whigs were powerful in our country. Now, he claims, it's those who flip their wigs over old Whig ideas.

I WOULD LIKE TO CONGRATULATE my friend Dick. He got a dandy scholarship. It proves that if you work hard, you'll win.

On the Sidelines

By THE OLD TIMER

Considering that it has no home track, the cinder squad coached by Lew Pett deserves a considerable pat on the back for its fine showing so far.

Admittedly, its record owes more to individual brilliance than to team effort, since one or two performers have scored the principal share of the points. But it is significant that any respectable record at all could be made, whether by one performer or a balanced squad, when there's no home track.

THE HIGH SCHOOL BASEBALL season is all but shot. The pattern developing elsewhere — the continuing of the varsity high school baseball season through the summer months under OHSAA rules — hasn't been adopted here. This we regret.

Of course, it'd mean the Midget league would be without a home. So what? It could find another, using the same effort that got it started in the first place.

And it'd mean, on the other side, that an organized program could be carried on, for the development of the players physically and morally and for the edification of the spectators, during weather when a man's not at the risk of his life to watch a seven-inning game.

April is hardly the month to play high school ball in northern Ohio.

By May the school year is all but over. There's no time to develop a team.

Why not kill several birds with one stone? How? By organizing high school ball through the summer, eventually perhaps under the lights, a development which the O. T. contends would be supported by fans.

Suzie sez

If the Yankees don't start doing better, Old Grump is going to be hard to live with.

They were beaten twice Sunday and he wouldn't speak to us at all.

Chip says that's better than having him speak harshly.

I said I liked Cleveland and you'd have thought I said I liked murder. Old Grump doesn't like Cleveland. He says Cleveland is "bush".

Some day maybe I can get him to tell me how he can tell when anybody is "bush".

Please, Mr. Casey Stengel, win some games so Pop won't be Old Grump any more.

LAVENDER FLU

Your grandfather probably knew this cure. Flowers of lavender quilted in a hat were supposed to ward off "stuffed-up" noses and head colds. Pleasant treatment—but certainly not a sure cure. Today, thanks to medical science, we have numerous effective vaccines... against flu, whooping cough and other respiratory diseases... to immunize and protect us from the discomforts of infections. So, why suffer needlessly. Ask your physician about them. Let him prescribe the medication that is most effective for your needs. Then come to us for prescription service.
