Shiloh cafeteria asks pay hike

Shiloh cafeteria workers asked the Board of Education for a raise at the Sept. 9 meeting, despite the fact the cafeteria didn't break even last year.

They want $1 an hour take-home pay, not $1 less deductions, they said in a written request. All other personnel in the school system received raises, they said.

The request was tabled for another month by unanimous decision of the board. Meanwhile, it is hoped the cafeteria will break even. At the opening of the school year, they took $534 in the hole.

The board heard reports from the three school principals, Wayne H. Strine of the High school, Harold Daup of the Shiloh building and John Fazzini, Plymouth Elementary.

All three said they were pleased with the good start the schools made and complimented the board on the fine group of faculty members who are teaching this year.

Asked for suggestions concerning their buildings, they answered: for the high school, a third shower in the girls' dressing room, a larger fan for ventilation in the boys' locker room, and more office help. The last request was to be forthcoming. Supt. M. J. Coon was empowered to ask a local person to work part time, which will allow Mr. Strine more time for student guidance.

Fazzini suggested in the future the board should consider a physical education instructor for his building. Daup's suggestions centered mainly on equipment for his building. His request of charging ninth graders only 30 cents for school lunches was approved. The board had originally set a 35 cent price tag on lunches for the four upper classes. Ninth grade pupils in the Shiloh building eat along with the 30 cent bracket and too much confusion was resulting.

Coon reported bus routes seemed to be working smoothly. Another bus will have to be added within a year, he said. Some children are being dismissed from school, he said, at 3:10 and not arriving home until 5 p.m.

Marion Hughes was hired as night custodian at an annual salary of $3,500. He will work in all three buildings and do outside work in the summer.

The faculty was completed officially by the hiring of Mrs. Max Smith to teach second grade at Shiloh on the salary schedule and with the hiring of Mrs. Earl C. Cashman, who will teach one hour a day of remedial English at an annual salary of $665.

Approval was given for a policy with the Hartford Steam Boiler Inspection & Insurance Co. The policy will run for three years at a cost of $371.50. Included is $100,000 protection in case of an explosion from a boiler which is not covered in any fire insurance policy plus annual and when-necessary inspections of the boilers. Under school regulations, the board is paying $90 a year for the required inspections without any insurance protection. The policy covers damage to the boilers, damage to school property and damage to other persons' property in one package.

The meeting ended with the approval to pay $4,058.97 in bills, which leaves $20,568.24 in the general fund. This sum is estimated to last through most of this month, but another tax payment will be forthcoming soon so the books are still being written in black ink.

Preliminary plans for the proposed elementary building in Shiloh may be examined by patrons of the school district in the office of the executive head.

Drawn by Marr, Knapp & Crawfis, Mansfield architects, the plans call for eight classrooms, a multi-purpose room, cafeteria, office and clinic.

The building would be erected if approval of a $352,000 bond issue is forthcoming in November.

44 x 38 FT., SINGLE STOREY, FIREPROOF —

Firehouse to cost $12.56 a square foot

A 44 x 38 ft. single storey fireproof building abutting the old Plymouth theatre, having only three stalls for fire protection vehicles, and costing $12.56 a square foot, is what's planned by the village council as a firehouse.

Its architect, Thurman J. Peabody, presented drawings which he described as 75 per cent complete for the council's consideration Tuesday night and said he can't continue until a survey of the site is completed.

The proposed building would have no quarters for storage nor assembly. "It'll consist of four walls, a roof, and three doors," Councilman John T. Dick told an inquirer.

The council's self-imposed budget of $39,000 was broken down this way, after some pulling and hauling that was plainly political in nature: $18,000 for site acquisition, including $6,000 for unoccupied land, $12,000 for the theatre building

$4,000 for improvement to the theatre (installation of a fireproof staircase)

$19,000 for the new fireproof building

$1,000 for outside improvements

Thirteen lettermen will be wearing Vermilion Sailor uniforms in Mary Fate park tomorrow at 8 p.m. as Coach Jerry Martin brings his Lakeland conference eleven here to open the 1959 grid season.

On form, Plymouth's Big Red should be favored by a touchdown.

The Sailors won only one last season, and tied another, in a nine-game schedule. Vermilion pre-viewed at Huron Friday night.

Huron scored with eight seconds remaining to down Vermilion, 8 to 0. The Sailors downed Margareta on a partially blocked punt and a 15-yard penalty.

Cliff Bartolome, a six-footer who weighs 165, runs the Sailor attack from quarterback. He can throw and handles the option play well.

Three other senior backs join him behind the Sailor line. They are Bill Bors, six-one and 156; Tom Hoyman, five-eight and 168, and Paul Kendra, five-eight and 150.

Each is a letterman. Five monogram winners are back for line duty. They are Joe Szekeley, 157 pounds, a guard; Tom Komp, 157 pounds and also a guard; Tom Trinter, a senior tackle tipping the beams at 162; Ernie Mello, another fourth classman, a guard at 140; and Fred Smith, a junior end, weighing 150. But he measures six-three.

The purple-and-gold clad Sailors have suited a squad of 41, including 12 seniors, 20 juniors and nine soph.

"Parental interest was so weak," she said, "that after I discussed it with Principal Strine it was decided simply not to do anything about a P-TA this year."

She said interest was characteristically low last year and cited one instance when, after a major effort by officers to stage a program involving the Holy Land prior to Holy Week, only six persons turned out.

Innocence claim of Mrs. McKown

Plea of innocent was filed in Huron county common pleas court Friday by Mrs. Mary G. McKown, 44, on a charge of manslaughter deriving from the traffic collision and death of 17-year-old Gertrude Ryan June 5.

Mrs. McKown was indicted by the Huron county grand jury and bond set at $1,000.

A 20-year-old Plymouth driver was charged with operating a motor vehicle without a license Sept. 9 after he collided with a 19-year-old Willard man in Route 298, three miles south of Route 224.

Herman Gayheart, operating a truck, was struck by Malcolm Bramham, who was overtaking the truck. Bramham went into a ditch.

A. L. Paddock, Jr., 39, posted bond in Wellington mayor's court Friday night after arrest by a police radar unit for speeding in a 35-mile zone.

Chest elects E. B. Miller

E. (for Ervin) Beryl Miller, veteran Main street hardware man, was elected president of Plymouth Community Chest Thursday night.

He succeeds H. James Root. Maynard J. Coon, executive head of Plymouth schools, was elected vice-president. Mrs. Ben Kensingner, an employee of Peoples National bank, was named secretary-treasurer.

Hugh Washburn, proprietor of Cornell's restaurant, was appointed drive director. The drive will be conducted Oct. 15 to 30.

Nicholas, Pirates, Barbers shine, East wins preview

Not surprisingly, eastern teams thumped the west, 38 to 0, in the North Central conference preview at Medina Friday night.

What was surprising was the performance of Black River's Pirates, Seville's Barbers and Lodi's Jim Nicholas.

In keeping with the widely accepted theory that the last shall be best and the best last, Nicholas ripped Berlin Heights' forward wall to shreds during Lodi's 12-minute performance and sent rival coaches out of the arena talking to themselves and each other.

"Stop Nicholas and you've got a chance against Lodi," two of them said.

With what seems to be the fastest quartet of backs in the loop, Coach Dick Brockett's Seville crew moved smartly against inept Plymouth and scored 14 points.

Bob Chidsey bucked tackle for two yards early in the period in a sustained drive that carried 70 yards in nine plays and Bill Oberli went 26 yards around his right end later for the second score. Oberli added the conversion by rushing.

The east started out against Plymouth with a two-point lead, the result of a safety in the waning moments of the first period, when Western Reserve's Paul Adams was tackled in the end zone by a West-field team that seemed shoddy.

Sporting a single-wing offensive coached by Ron Mack, Black River's Pirates rushed out with resplendent new uniforms and proceeded to decimate Milan's Indians.

Dave Howe bucked four yards for one touchdown early in the third period and Bill Benford danced 50 yards down the sideline for a second a few minutes later. It was the longest run of the night and showed the Pirates will be a force of contention in the league this season.

BERLIN HEIGHTS' COACH,

Carroll B. (Snag) Sanders, passed the word in the dressing room that he's not satisfied with the attitude of his squad this year. He said the players think "they've got it made and are not working". This was apparent after the fourth period got underway.

The winged-T offense which Sanders uses sputtered largely because his backs fumbled. And the defense crumbled before the inspired play of Lodi's forwards because its manners were out of shape. Three times a Berlin Heights player fell faint on the field, gasping for breath. Opposing coaches made mental notes of their names and numbers, for here, they said, were loafers — "men out of shape, easier to move against."

It was the second successive year that eastern teams swamped the west. If it be an omen, look for Berlin Heights to snap out of its lethargy and produce winning football. And if you're a schedule studier, note that each of Plymouth's opponents save Berlin Heights has to play the league's power before meeting the Big Red.

Veteran official: rules changes few, watch good plays

Ohio high schools won't adopt the wider goalposts nor the liberalized substitution rule, says James (Jim) Langhurst, Ohio State's 1940 football captain and experienced school-boy and collegiate official.

But number of time-outs per half is increased from three to four for high schools, the burly ex-Buckeye fullback points out.

During the try for extra point, if the try is good and the offensive team is fouled, it may decline the point and try for a two-point play after the penalty. Alternatively, offensive team may accept the point with the defensive team penalized on the next kickoff.

Distance penalties, Langhurst reports, are limited to half the distance to the goal from the point of offence.

the pre-view:
The word was out early that Berlin Heights' coach Snag Sanders is unhappy about the attitude of his squad. Some Berlin Heights fans (?) were shouting some nasty things about John Barleycorn and the friendship of some of the Tiger players with it.

It shouldn't happen to Snag — he's too sound a coach and too nice a fellow.

THERE MAY BE DIFFICULTIES at Black River, but those spanking orange-and-black uniforms make the Pirates look like a ball club. The single wing installed by Coach Ron Mack, who never played competitive football, gained some ground Friday.

NOT EVERY COACH WAS on hand Friday. Bill Dunham, assistant to Coach Ben Spechalske at Lodi, was watching Smithville at Orville. Karl Frick, the silent type, was handling Bill's duties.

IF SEVILLE'S LINE IMPROVES, watch for the Barbers to scare the bee-jaybers out of everybody.

PLYMOUTH'S OFFENSE got going a couple of times with a snappy pass pattern. Billy Strine to Doug McQuate and Strine to Butch Baker.

Fate Christian handled the "up-the-gut" play well. He'll bear watching.

If the Big Red can develop its defense, Coach Pettit's year may not be so gloomy, after all.

THE CHIT-CHAT AMONG some coaches was that financial advancement in class A schools is not so fast as in private industry and at least a couple of them are thinking of leaving coaching.

Ben Spechalske is in line for the big Cloverleaf High school head coaching job if his Tigers perform as expected this season.

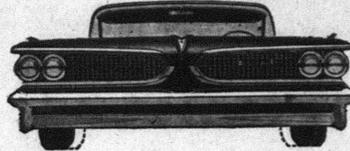

It couldn't happen to a better guy.

THE VOICE OF THE ADVERTISER

A suggestion for the sake of equal justice for all

We've long plumped for a revision of the standing ordinances of the village so that 1959 laws reflect 1959 conditions.

And we commend the village council for pushing forward with this job. From what we've seen, the draft of revised ordinances is well done.

But there is one principle with which we take serious issue. It is that any mayor and clerk should select from among the eligible voters of the village a panel of 100 from whom jurors in any trial before the mayor would be selected.

The technique of choosing prospective jurors in Ohio doesn't meet with our approval at all. Until last week, it was our understanding that jury panels were chosen by the jury commissioner by lot from the names of citizens who voted in a primary election. Then a councilman said he hadn't voted in a primary, yet he was selected to be a juror.

For the life of us, we've never been able to understand why a citizen has to declare his politics to qualify as a judge of his peers, which we thought was guaranteed by the Constitution.

What possible difference can it make whether a juror is a Republican or a Democrat? If his political opinions or attachments affect his judgment as a juror, that is a fact to be revealed by counsel in court and acted upon by use of the peremptory challenge or the challenge for cause.

There are, more or less, about 650 eligible voters here. By what criteria shall the mayor and clerk select 100 from among them?

Will all the names be placed in a rotating wheel and the 100 prospective jurors selected among them?

Until we have registration here, how will the mayor and clerk know who is and who isn't a voter?

The draft ordinance doesn't say how they'll choose. We think it should. It's no reflection on the incumbents when we suggest the citizenry is entitled to a more suitable method of choosing jurors. Some day, who knows, we may elect a blackguard to one or both posts.

The mayor, whoever he is, is happy there aren't many jury trials. We don't blame him. But law and custom direct that an accused shall have the right to a jury trial in a magistrate's court. So long as we are observing the law, let's implement it so that in its observance we discharge justice fairly and impartially, without fear or favor, in accordance with the finest precept of American liberty.

Here's remainder of council story

Architect Peabody's estimate of the value of the unoccupied land and the building did not coincide with that of the council, but led by Councilman Elmer E. Markley a strong contingent of members supported a breakdown which imputes $6,000 as the value of the unoccupied land and $12,000 as the value of the theatre.

"This way we can keep some of our opposition off our backs," Markley said.

He said he felt the $6,000 land value figure is not unreasonable for a site of nearly two acres, when William Biebesheimer of Toledo was required to pay $7,000 for the Enderby property in Plymouth street, with only 44 feet of frontage and less than 200 in depth, as a post office site. Peabody's drawing were handed to Markley for detailed study and report during special session Tuesday.

IN ROUTINE BUSINESS, the council:

1. Told the street committee to look into a tree alleged to be situated in a public alley running west off Mulberry street adjoining the properties of D. Guy Cunningham, Sr., and Miss Edith Keneseth.
2. Instructed Street Commissioner Henry Trauger to see to it the village dump remains open until 5 p.m. Saturdays. The custodian, H. Neely, who works without pay, was told he'd have to continue on that basis. He was giv-

Conflict of interest not present in wife of editor: opinion

Legal notices of the village of Plymouth would not be obstructed from publication in The Advertiser if the wife of its publisher is elected to the village council, the Ohio Newspaper association reports.

"Mrs. Padcock doesn't own the paper, for one thing, and if she did, so long as it is the only newspaper which can qualify as an official publication in Plymouth, there would be no statutory obstruction to publishing the legal notices of the village in it."

"In other words, if she is elected a village councilman, there is no conflict of interest merely because she is the wife of the newspaper publisher; nor would there be if she in fact owned all or any part of the newspaper."

The opinion came on inquiry of the publisher and is based on the Revised Code of Ohio and opinions of the attorney-general.

The candidacy stands on its merits, for good or bad, and is independent of any connection with this newspaper, which will state its opinions, if any, in due course. But it is manifestly unfair to attack the candidacy on the grounds that if it is successful the newspaper wouldn't be allowed to publish the village's ordinances and legal notices, because it's not true," the publisher said Monday.

Channing boy wins award for welding

A Plymouth High school junior has received honorable mention in a national electric arc welding contest for farm boys, sponsored by the James F. Lincoln Arc Welding foundation, Cleveland.

Richard Channing, son of the Forest Darons, Willard route 1, and grandson of the Karl Bauers, Willard route 1, has received a copy of "Farm Arc Welding" for his entry, coached by A. E. Strickland, vocational agriculture teacher last year.

Young Channing's entry was a farm wagon which he built himself. It has already won second prize of $10, sponsored by Ohio Edison Co., in the Richland county fair FFA sweepstakes.

The 18-year-old youth has been an outstanding pupil in vocational agriculture in Plymouth High school and is exhibiting this week at the Huron county fair.

I read in a paper that a 19-year-old boy in South Bend, Ind., has been arrested for forging birth certificates.

He learned printing in high school. Then he bought a used press and put it in his cellar. Then he printed fake birth certificates, which he sold to his friends so that under-age boys could buy whiskey.

I wish I could print up some fake birth certificates. Then I would give them to kids in my class and send them to the voting booth in November so they could vote for my Mom.

She is running for village council. I hope she gets elected because this will mean some changes around our house.

For one thing, we will look to the other end of the table for lectures about how things should be done.

For another, it means Pop will do the cooking on Tuesday nights, when the council meets.

He always mixes up some stuff that doesn't sound so good when you talk about it but it sure does taste good!

And he doesn't dirty so many dishes on Tuesdays. So when I have to do the dishes I don't have so many to do.

Finally, it means the town will have somebody who really wants us to grow! serving on the council.

(Ed. Note: Dear child, it gladdens our heart to note your idealism and enthusiasm, but you have much to learn. Being female, you already know of some prejudices against women. As women grow older, these prejudices grow. And they are especially strong if one particular woman is strongly-minded and wants or desires change. We, too, hope your Mom gets elected. But you wouldn't want her to win by cheating, would you?)

Mrs. Krueger cites memories of 1890's

Sir: Through the courtesy of Maurice Bachrach, a Plymouth schoolmate, and a kind editor, I was permitted to view a picture in a recent Advertiser of the primary class of 1895 of Plymouth school, of which I was a member.

It brought many nostalgic memories, especially of our beloved teacher, Mary L. Sibbett, who taught us not only "read-in," written arithmetic, but also brought into our lives that intangible something which best can be summed up in the words of Polonius, who said "This above all, to thine ownself be true."

That school picture conjured up other scenes and faces of that era. Around the square, north, Fred Kirkland's dry goods store, Willment's hardware, Chauncey - Hamilton's saloon, Lev Gebert's grocery, and Henry Nelson's shoe store, where the bank is now. East side, J. D. Parker's dry goods store, Kappenberg's meat market, with slaughtered half-beeves hanging on hooks along the wall over a sawdust floor. McClinchy's Harness shop, Dr. Fackler's office on the corner.

Dr. Sykes had his office at the back of Nelson's shoe store. Next to Parker's store was Wells Rogers & Son shoe store, Moses Shield & Son Clothing store, Artz's Bakery, Curpen's residence and Jewelry store at corner of Portner. Mr. Wilson, father of Laura Gaskill, had a fish house just beyond Portner, and Mr. Hanick, father of the milliners, Daisy and Grace, had a small shoe repair shop.

South side, Kappenberg's meat market, the hotel run by Cap Rhoades and family, Weber's saloon, Solomon Spear's clothing store, Brubaker's grocery, Bachrach meat market, Josiah Wyandt and brother, grocery, D. B. King's dry goods store, Tom Webber's drug store, Post office, D. B. King residence, Banker Kirkendall's residence, (present library location) Molly Briggs' Millinery. I still remember the yard of lovely flowers in front of the little white house of Mrs. Strong and sister, Mrs. Fogle, just west where the Dr. Searle residence was built.

Most any summer day, Hank Lofland and Esley Smith, seated in a harness cart, would trot their fine race horses down the Sandusky street hill. Crossing the B O bridge on a snappy winter day, we could hear the telegraph wires "sing" along the railroad.

We had our hair "crimped" and wore our best wool dresses for speaking day on a Friday. I learned the catechism from Rev. Miller on a Saturday morning, skated on the Huron river winter afternoons, while ice was being cut for the slaughter houses. Cuykendall's mill dam was the "municipal swimming pool" in those days. From Rev. Miller on a Saturday morning, skated on the Huron river winter afternoons, while ice was being cut for the slaughter houses. Cuykendall's mill dam was the "municipal swimming pool" in those days. From Rev. Calvin Coolidge said "Country life may not have breath, but it certainly has depth." I think he was right.

Sincerely yours,
Elsa E. Krueger

Miss Smith named to chairmanship of opinion polling

Appointment of Miss Madeline H. Smith as chairman of the Plymouth chapter of the National Federation of Independent Business was made today by G. A. McGinnis, district manager.

Each business member of this organization maintains a voting membership and is polled by ballot each month on the bills and issues that affect independent business enterprise in the nation.

To maintain the American way of life, and keep the free competitive system of business, the businessmen express their own opinions on the ballots each month and turn them over to Miss Smith, who makes a tabulation of the total number and the manner in which they voted.

This tabulation is sent, with the signed ballots, directly to the desk of Rep. Robert W. Levering in Washington. In this manner Mr. Levering can know the personal opinions of his independent business constituents in an organized manner.

The NFIE is a non-profit organization, McGinnis says, "that has the largest individual membership of any business organization in the United States and independent business and professional men of every vocation participate with voting memberships, regardless of the other civic or trade affiliations."

Snow purchases champion boars

J. A. (Bert) Snow, Plymouth route 1, is the new owner of Golden Image III and Golden Image IV, first and eighth ribbon winners, respectively, in the Chester White breed in the Ohio State fair hog exhibition.

C. W. Squires, Chesterville, was the seller.

Mr. Snow also bought the son of the grand champion boar The Guide from Ray Overymer & Son, Indianapolis, Ind., at the fair.

Citizen of tomorrow

When the penalty is toward the goal line and full enforcement would exceed half the distance from the enforcement point to the goal line, the penalty actually enforced is precisely half the distance to the goal. Example: a 15-yard penalty from the 29-yard line will stop at the 14½-yard line.

"The one tip I have to offer fans watching schoolboy football," Langhurst says, "is not to watch the ball carrier every time. Single out one player; for instance, a right guard on offense, and watch his actions for a couple of plays. Then pick out an offensive end and follow his movements. The same applies to watching defensive end and follow his movements. The same applies

To see a man throw a good block to shake the ball carrier loose or to watch a defensive man fight through a blocker to get the ball carrier — man, that's football at its best!"

Garden club . . .

Mrs. Harry Dick will lead tomorrow's meeting of the Garden club at the home of Mrs. George Young.

Marriage on rocks

Marriage of Thomas P. Marvin has ended in the Richland county divorce court. His wife, Angeline Owens Marvin, whom he married at Auburn, Ind., May 21, 1957, has filed suit on grounds of neglect and cruelty. There are no children.
