JOHN A. ROOT

Root to get 50-year pin

Fifty years a member of Richland Lodge 201, Free and Accepted Masons, John A. Root will receive a 50-year pin and jewel Monday night from the lodge into which he was raised in 1910.

Richland lodge will conduct an open house meeting in the elementary school auditorium at 8 p.m. The presentation will be made by Mr. Root's brother-in-law, past grand commander of Ohio, Earl C. Krueger, Sanducky, who will make the principal address.

A short musical program and refreshments will follow the open house meeting, to which the public is invited.

Mr. Root is president of Fate - Root - Heath Co. Mr. Krueger is married to the twin sister of Halse F. Root, the former Bass Root, who observes this month, on the 29th, an infant birthday.

Mr. Root was made a master Mason in 1910 "and has maintained his Masonic affiliation with great sincerity", lodge officers said.

Members of Plymouth's chapter, OES, will assist the Masonic lodge. Mrs. William Day is in charge of the committee.

The half-century membership award will be the second to be bestowed by Richland lodge in a fortnight's time. Sunday, a delegation of the local lodge — Worshipful Master Leonard Wilson, Robert Lewis, Orva Dawson, Robert Fogleson, George Ellis and Thorr Woodworth — went to Utica to present a 50-year pin to A. E. Campbell, former Baltimore & Ohio agent here.

23 PHS musicians gird to perform in district contest

Fifteen Plymouth High school musicians and eight girl vocalists will participate in the annual District 7 solo and ensemble contest at Mt. Vernon Mar. 5.

The contest is directed by the Ohio Association of Music Educators, of which R. Byron Griest, Massillon, son-in-law of Harry Chronister, is secretary.

Director Harold R. Davenport has chosen a French horn quartet, a flute trio, a saxophone quartet and five soloists for music participation. French horn quartet is Nancy Miller, Benjamin and Robin Root and Beverly Hawk. Flute trio is Carol Sloan, Kay Forsythe and Dorothy Stodd. Saxophone quartet is Judith and Thomas Fetters, Wallis Ann Harmlay and Marcia MacMichael.

Soloists are Judith Broderick, trumpet; Shirley Hawk, clarinet; Judith Fetters, saxophone; Diane Williams and Gail Aumend, trombone.

Vocal music director John Arndt has chosen four soloists and a quartet. Soloists are Deanne Amstutz, Anetta Dawson, Shirley Hawk and Cheryl Faust. Quartet is composed of Judith Amstutz, Susan Woltersberger, Diane Williams and Joyce Harly.

Self-finance plan by purchase of own bonds lures council

Possibilities of self-financing by purchase of its own bonds prompted village council Tuesday night to postpone approval of a bond issue which will pay for the new firehouse site.

It was a long session, lasting until midnight, which also showed:

1. Mayor Fazio intends to appoint Hugh Washburn, George Lesko and Alfred Parkinson to a municipal planning commission if he can get council's approval.

2. The village intends to make heavy investments in equipment — a new police cruiser, a new aerial ladder truck for the electric department, a new billing machine for the clerk.

3. Board of Public Affairs wants to hire engineering help — the same help that prepared a $600 study of needs over a year ago — to prepare cost estimates of the two plans for extending water service into West Broadway.

SOLICITOR JOSEPH F. Dush told the council it may transfer inactive funds — moneys which won't be needed for six months, at least — into a bond purchase account and buy up its own bonds.

This would enable the council to use moneys now on deposit in the sewer service fund and in the water fund to buy the councilmanic bonds to pay for a new fire house.

It would enable the council to save substantially in interest payments and permit the approval of bonding attorneys.

Some delay would be encountered in arranging the administrative details of the proposal, Dush pointed out, and the entire matter requires the approval of bonding attorneys.

But the proposal was so attractive to the council that it adjourned its meeting until Tuesday night to consider it further.

COUNCILMAN DONALD E. AKERS broached again the question of whether expenses of repairing sewers should not

Mrs. Fenner dies suddenly in Shelby

Mother of Frank C. Fenner, Route 598, 82-year-old Mrs. Ida E. Fenner died early Tuesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Howard Underhill, 152 East Main street, Shelby.

She had been in apparent good health and her death was unexpected.

Born Sept. 19, 1877, she lived her entire life in the Shelby-Plymouth area.

Her pastor, the Rev. D. Bruce Young, First Lutheran church, Shelby, will conduct funeral service today at 2 p.m. from the Barkhill Funeral home, Shelby. Interment will be in Greenlawn cemetery here.

Another son, Paul, Columbus, and two daughters, Mrs. George Swenk, St. Petersburg, Fla., and Mrs. W. H. Flythe, High Point, N. C., also survive. There are seven grandchildren.

R. H. Major, 43, dies at Parma

A 43-year-old Plymouth native died at his home in Parma Feb. 10 after a long fight with cancer.

He was Richard H. Major, born here Oct. 16, 1916, a veteran of 44 months of Army service during World War II. He served in the African and European theatres of operation.

Mr. Major was a member of Richland Lodge 201, F&AM, here, of the American Legion in Parma, of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and of Ridgewood Methodist church, Parma.

His mother, Mrs. E. L. Major, 6½ West Broadway; his wife, Eleanor, and two sons, Lee and Scott, both at home, survive.

The Rev. Thomas S. Taylor conducted last rites Saturday at 2 p.m. at the McQuate Funeral home. Burial was in Greenlawn cemetery.

Army to build on armory ground

U.S. Army District Engineers will solicit bids on or about Feb. 26 for the construction of a one-day maintenance shop, an addition to the Rhine Army Reserve center here. The center was completed in November, 1958.

Interested persons, says A. D. Baumhart, Jr., 13th district Congressman, should communicate with U. S. Army Engineer District, Huntington, Corps of Engineers, 237 Fourth Avenue, Huntington, W. Va.

Governor Michael V. DiSalle will address the annual banquet of Plymouth Chamber of Commerce in the elementary school Mar. 17.

Although details of the governor's visit haven't been ironed out, his executive assistant confirmed Tuesday the governor's firm acceptance.

Mayor William Fazio said Tuesday night he will seek to close schools and declare a municipal holiday.

Chamber will award its second Lofland award, in memory of Carl M. Lofland, to the outstanding citizen of the year. It is understood Donald Shaver has substantial support for the award, recognizing his efforts in the field of youth recreation.

Buzard gives ultimatum to midget league board

Its first president served an ultimatum on Plymouth Midget league Tuesday night — advance the age limit or he'll start another league.

Fred L. Buzard told the reorganization meeting of the league that unless his son and eight other boys whose play in the league terminated by reason of age are allowed to compete this year, he will apply to the school board for use of the field and organize a Pony league.

This touched off a heated debate. Outcome was that action will be withheld until registration of players is completed. If there are insufficient registrations to support the Midget league, consideration will be given to Buzard's petition.

Ecksteins tell how to reserve plates beginning Mar. 1

Reappointment of Mrs. Royal W. Eckstein as deputy registrar for motor vehicle licenses was announced last week by the Department of Motor Vehicles in Columbus.

Mrs. J. R. Fage was reappointed in Shiloh.

License tags, which go on sale Mar. 1, will be gold on blue, commemorating the 50th anniversary of Kent State university. It is the second consecutive year that Ohio has honored a state educational institution by appointing its colors to license tags. Last year the state commemorated the sesquicentennial of Miami university at Oxford by choosing red-on-white.

Vehicle owners wishing to reserve 1960 license tags in the XJ series — XJ51 through XJ-1200 — may do so by presenting:

- 1. Title
- 2. Fee of $10 plus 35 cents for registrar before Mar. 1.

Mrs. Eckstein will continue to sell the tags in the family hardware at 14 West Broadway.

William Teal, 87, dies in rest home

William E. Teal, 87, a resident of Plymouth for 42 years, died early Sunday in Rest Home Convalescent home, Norwalk, where he had been a patient for 13 months.

Born in Wawaka, Ind., June 13, 1872, he was a retired signman on the Akron, Canton & Youngstown railroad.

The Rev. Moss Ratan, pastor of First Presbyterian church, conducted last rites Tuesday at 3:30 p.m. at the McQuate Funeral home. Burial was in Greenlawn cemetery.

Single ad draws flood of response

Does an Advertiser classified get result? A single want ad, consisting of four lines, in the Feb. 11 issue produced over 50 inquiries between Wednesday night and Monday morning.

Because a good many prospective sellers wanted to know the identity of the prospective buyer, The Advertiser staff was forced to ask them to submit offers, in detail, in writing.

About eight did so. "What's it all mean?" "Not sure," says the editor. "To have that many houses for sale in Plymouth isn't healthy, but that a single classified drew such results obviously means Advertiser classifieds sell."

Plymouth underdog if Redmen down Clyde in AA tourney

Underdogs for the second time this season, Plymouth's chastened eagles need to come up with a sparkling performance Feb. 27 to stay alive in the Sandusky district AA tournament.

Probability is that second-seeded Bellevue will survive its opening match with Clyde and meet the Big Red in the upper bracket contest in the second game at Sandusky senior high gymnasium.

Upper bracket finals will be played in the same hall Mar. 4, lower bracket finals the next night. Seven hundred 50 tickets will be made available to local fans should the Big Red survive.

FOUR HUNDRED 75 TICKETS will be available to Plymouth pupils and fans by sale from 9-12 a.m. on Saturday, Feb. 27. No tickets can be sold after 1 p.m. on Feb. 27.

Tickets will be placed on sale at Plymouth and Shiloh schools Wednesday at 12:30 p.m. Tickets sales will continue through Feb. 24, 25 and 26 from 9-12 a.m. on Saturday, Feb. 27. No tickets can be sold after 1 p.m. on Feb. 27.

No reservations will be accepted prior to date of sale.

Each school will be given 25 passes, to be used by 12 players, two coaches, manager, faculty manager, six cheer leaders and two other school personnel.

Artificial noisemakers will be banned and there will be no band music allowed.

Upper bracket teams will wear white jerseys for their games.

THE DRAW HAS NORWALK, which beat Plymouth earlier in the season, as top-seeded team. Bellevue is next.

Plymouth (6-2) was not seeded in the tournament because only eight AA games were played and nine are required. Other second round games place Port Clinton (6-7) against the winner of Willard and Vermilion; Tiffin Columbian (4-10) against the winner of Sandusky-Norwalk, and Sandusky St. Marys (4-4) versus the winner of New London-Huron.

Clyde (5-4 in AA) opens the tournament Feb. 26 with Bellevue (9-4) Willard (9-5) meets Vermilion (7-3). Sandusky (5-9) plays Norwalk (12-2). New London (2-6) engages Huron (8-3).

Here's the schedule: FRIDAY, FEB. 26, SANDUSKY JUNIOR HIGH GYMNASIUM: Clyde vs. Bellevue, 7 p.m. Sandusky vs. Norwalk, 8:30 p.m. FRIDAY, FEB. 26, SANDUSKY SENIOR HIGH GYMNASIUM: Willard vs. Vermilion, 7 p.m. New London vs. Huron, 8:30 p.m. SATURDAY, FEB. 27, SANDUSKY JUNIOR HIGH GYMNASIUM: Port Clinton vs. Willard-Vermilion winner, 7 p.m. Sandusky St. Marys vs. New London-Huron winner, 8:30 p.m. SATURDAY, FEB. 27, SANDUSKY SENIOR HIGH GYMNASIUM: Tiffin Columbian vs. Sandusky-Norwalk winner, 7 p.m. Sandusky vs. Clyde-Bellevue winner, 8:30 p.m.

School board to receive bids for addition; curriculum OK'd

Bids to construct the addition to Plymouth school will be received until noon Mar. 23, the Board of Education ruled Feb. 10.

Plans and specifications for the addition were unanimously approved by the board.

A special meeting of the board was held at 8 p.m. Mar. 23 to deal with the bids. But architect James Crawfis told the board it's not all milk and honey at the school site.

Rebun: "the deeds are all balled up content at 8 p.m. Arthur Burras, veteran North Fairfield surveyor, was present to tell the board what he has found — and what he can't find. So was J. A. Seiler, another surveyor.

WHERE IT ALL BEGAN, both surveys said, was in sale by the late Nellie Oates of land that was improperly recorded. Deeds of properties north of the school site seem to be faulty, the surveys said. That of Reed White immediately adjoining the school grounds is less so than any others. And that of Luther R. Fetters is apparently more so than any other.

In any event, Crawfis and Supt. Maynard J. Coon will hand-wrestle the problem with the separate owners.

Purchase of 70 pupil desks for use in Shiloh and 35 for use here was approved, but not until Mrs. Miles Christian made her first formal position statement since becoming a member of the board. She objected to high-cost desks "because the physical education department needs some things and we ought to spread our money around". Difference between high and low-cost desks was quoted at $3 and on motion of Gerald Stanley an order for low-cost desks amounting to $2,147.25 was approved.

AN APPLICATION BY Plymouth Midget league for use of the baseball stadium during the summer was tabled. Donald P. Markley inquired of whether other groups are interested in use of the grounds and whether there is any notion of raising age limits for players.

A required curriculum of study for high school pupils was approved after some discussion.

Required subjects are:

9th grade: English, health and physical education, general science;

10th grade: English, physical education;

11th grade: English, American history, physical education;

12th grade: Problems of American Democracy, physical education.

Elective subjects are:

9th grade: general mathematics, algebra, business arithmetic, civics, Latin I, Spanish agriculture, home economics, industrial arts, general business training, band, chorus and art;

10th grade: plane geometry, world history, Latin II, Spanish II, biology, agriculture, home economics, industrial arts, bookkeeping, typing I, driver education, band, chorus and art;

11th grade: advanced algebra, Spanish III, Latin III, chemistry, agriculture, home economics, industrial arts, typing I and II shorthand, driver education, band, chorus and art;

12th grade: English, solid geometry and trigonometry, Spanish IV, physics, agriculture, home economics, industrial arts, mechanical drawing, typing II, office practice, shorthand, business English, band, chorus, art and consumer education.

How much wind does it take to sway a legislator?

Suzie sez

Pop keeps saying Mom needs to take speech lessons. Not to give a speech but to learn how to call him for something not very important, without making him think the house is on fire.

Last week he was resting (that is what he calls lying on his backside with his feet over the bedrail, reading and drinking a beer) when Mom called him. "Petie! Petie! Come quick" she said.

He usually just lies there. But he got up and ran down the stairs. All but the last six. He fell down those. Then he started to cuss like the dickens and finally asked Mom what was the matter.

"I just wanted you to see this silly thing on TV," she said.

Well, if you know Pop, he just blew his stack. And he made like the brute on his leg was as big as a house and would keep him from walking all the rest of his life.

I agree with him that you can't tell when the house is on fire and when it's not. When she calls you, it could be either.

And I think that maybe she just makes it that way, so that you'll be sure to come.

Maybe she ought to read the story about the boy who called wolf.

POP KEEPS COMPLAINING about people in the government who he says are a bunch of knuckleheads. They don't think straight or talk straight or act right, he says. I told him if he doesn't like it why doesn't he run for their jobs.

This stopped him for a minute. Then she said he is already working for the government a good part of the time. And if you don't believe it, he says, come in and look at his income tax.

A JOKE A DAY KEEPS the doctor away. Here is my joke for this week.

A cannibal chief who could speak English asked his victim-to-be what he did for a living.

"I was an assistant editor," the man replied.

"Clear up," said the cannibal chief. "Tonight you'll be editor-in-chief."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Sir:

Since my recent introduction into politics I have been astounded by the complacency and defeatism of the common citizen. I have found that potential voters have not registered where or when it is necessary because of the other. I have also found voters who do not wish to vote in the primary because they do not want to disclose their party. Others are satisfied to allow a few to select the candidates for a general election.

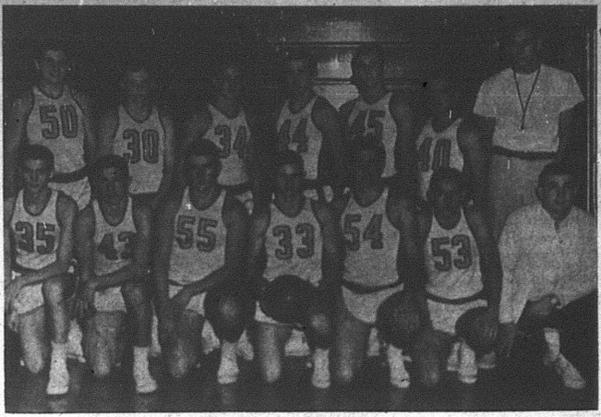

Personally I am proud to say that I am a Democrat and if my views were different I could be just as proud to be of another party.

The primary election likens me to the sorting of a barrel of apples in spring. If they are not sorted properly the poor ones are all that might be left at a later date. I prefer to sort my candidates in the spring for the fall election.

My wish is that all voters register before Mar. 23rd and that all voters get to the polls on May 3.

Respectfully yours,
William R. Henson

HOTSHOT Ron Baker is No. 54, ace set shot John Gray No. 33. Mentor Ed Gunderson, upper right, is in first season in command of Fliers. Robert L. Dubbert, former band director here, heads music at Clyde.

Clyde Fliers have Baker, Gray but lack real speed, scout says

Here's scouting report on Clyde Fliers (8-5, one game left, tomorrow at Lakeside): "Clyde has been charged with excessive fouling, which resulted in a couple of defeats. By same token, Clyde appears to be a team that opposition can draw many fouls from. Overall, the Fliers don't fly — they play a rather slow game.

"Defensively, Clyde relies mainly on man-to-man with periodic shifts to zone. Offensively, Fliers use fast break, which is quite impressive when led by Ron Baker (over 200 pounds 6-2, senior) and John Gray (5-9, senior). Baker drives up the middle, never varies from that pattern. Gray is fastest man on the team, very tricky, exceptional ball handler — you never know what he'll do with the ball.

"Baker leads the Fliers in shooting, average 23 points a game. Deadly under the basket good from the pivot, whence he shoots most of the time. Highest output in a single game was 26. Gray is an outstanding set shot in Sandusky Bay conference, which also includes Fremont St. Joseph's and Sandusky St. Mary's.

guard, is especially good with two-handed jump shot overhead. Nobody's been able to defend against it so far. "Rebounding of the Fliers is exceptionally good. Fliers have controlled boards in most games. Baker is outstanding. And a dandy on the tip-in shot. "Foul shooting is a Clyde weak point."

John H. Jackson, Jr., sports editor of the Clyde Enterprise, winds up his review: "Clyde's school enrollment is just over 1,700, with 220 males in high school. Fliers will have to do better than during regular season to get up Bellevue."

From the way they spout figures in Washington and Columbus, a man is hard put to keep it straight in his mind how much is one.

And now that the space scientists fling around figures like light years and millions of miles, the same man tends to be swamped by numbers so big that he forgets we owe some of it.

For instance, we are told the valuation of Capitol hill in Washington is $2,716,714,015.62. Ostensibly this is the price that the whole ball of wax would bring if it were for sale. It's not, of course. But if you want to buy it and you had that much scratch, you'd be paying $2,233,695,000 for books. That's how much the collection of the Library of Congress is said to be worth. In dollar bills, it'd represent 704 piles as high as the Empire State building.

So when President Eisenhower proposes a budget that exceeds all reason, something just under 80 billion smackers, the man who protests just a little is handed some information sheets which go on about figures that actually dwarf the budget and the national debt.

M. Paul Emile Victor, head of the French polar expedition during the International Geophysical year, got to talking about measurements.

The Greenland ice cap, he says, freezes to a thickness of 12,000 miles. That makes 700,000 cubic miles of ice — two tons of ice delivered each day for a year to each inhabitant of the earth, all 2.5 billion of 'em.

And, adds M. Victor, to use up that ice in Scotch-on-the-rocks, you'd need enough of the Hibernian fluid to raise the oceans of the world 30 feet and flood out every harbor.

It's fashionable for scientists — and public officials — to relate figures to what a man spends or eats or smokes every day. It helps, they say, to bring magnitudes home to the average citizen.

M. Victor, we hold, has gone a bit too far. Who'd want to pour Scotch in the ocean?

So when the new mayor's proposal for a 35-mill tax levy is broached; think of the value of Capitol hill. Or if you're not morally opposed, to all that Scotch it'd take to meet the Greenland ice cap.

It's not so large, in that light.

Being a periodic, but irregular, presentation of human interest stories that come to the staff's attention yet seem for one reason or another not suitable for treatment elsewhere in the paper.

Danger of jumping to conclusion were illustrated by a prominent local housewife last week. She hopes the lesson took.

"I've got a secret," she announced to her teenage children, one male, one female, at breakfast.

After the custom of knowledge-all juveniles, they scoffed. "I'm expecting," she said. Amused by the look of consternation and affront which passed over the faces of her young, she pursued the matter a bit.

"Would you like the idea of having a baby brother?" she asked her son.

"Sure, Mom, then I could treat him the way my big brother treated me."

Daughter was offended. She swooped up her books from the breakfast table and snorted "I'm going to tell everybody in school my mother's expecting." As daughter cleared the threshold, Mom let the cat out of the bag. "Go ahead," she called, "tell 'em I'm expecting your brother home from Cleveland for the weekend!"

THE WARREN HOLLENBAUGHS have been redecorating on the do-it-yourself basis.

Such, they say, is life.

TWO LOCAL YOUTHS feeling their oats a bit early ran away from home over the weekend.

The boy equally laughingly replied he wasn't.

But that's what he did! THERE'S A YOUNG LADY in Plymouth street who won't live down a faux pas she made at bedside, when repeating her prayers.

Anxious to impress Father, she said the familiar one that begins "Now I lay me . . ." When he rose to extinguish the light, she said, "Daddy, I learned another one. Please let me say it!"

He acquiesced, sat down on the bed again, and waited. When no prayer was immediately forthcoming, he looked at her and she at him.

Obviously flustered and somewhat forgetful, she said, "Daddy, how does that other commercial go?"

Red balloon stabbed by Union in RCL finale

The refereeing wasn't anything to brag about, but you can't take it away from Union on its home floor — the Indians are tough as nails.

Plymouth's cocky Big Red dropped a close one there Friday night after blowing a five point lead. Final score was 61 to 58.

The Big Red outshot the winners from the floor, 23 to 15. But Union's accuracy from the foul line — and let's face it, the Indians had so many more chances to be accurate — won it for Coach Dick Gross' outfit. Union sank 31 free throws, Plymouth only 12.

The officiating was so rank that Plymouth's ordinarily bland coach, Harold Daup, rose to hit feet in violent protest and was socked with a technical foul.

Plymouth's big gun, Dick Bookwalter, had a bad night. He scored only 14 and fouled out.

Steve Clingan, stellar Indian guard, had 18.

Craig Harnly led the Big Red with 18.

It was the sole Richland County league loss for Plymouth, which wound up the official season with 15 wins and three defeats, only one of them to a class A team.

Controversial boat licensing law to be enforced after Mar. 15

Ohio boaters may obtain license certificates, numbers and boat plates required under

Candy to be sold

Sixth and seventh grade youngsters will have another fry at raising enough money to finance the junior high football program.

Saturday they'll seek buyers for candy bars specially boxed for them, at two for $1. Profits will buy equipment for the soon-to-be-instituted junior high grid program.

Cage carnival set

Booster club's Cage Carnival is set for tomorrow in the high school gymnasium.

Four games are slaked, with proceeds to settle the bleacher debt.

Weber's cafe quintet meets Shiloh Shell in what's billed as a grudge match at 9 p.m.

All-Stars, composed of volunteer old-timers, will play the high school faculty at 8 p.m.

Junior high school games are planned for 6 and 7 p.m. Admission is $1 for adults.

der the new law from local agents sometime after Mar. 15, James D. Wells, administrator of the Division of Watercraft, announces.

"License agents will be appointed in each county and their names and locations announced shortly," Wells says. "Boaters should be prepared to supply full information on their boats and motors when they are ready to get licenses from their local agents."

Under the law approved by the last General Assembly, all boats used on public waters of the state are required to be licensed and numbered.

The license certificate, printed on waterproof paper, will be pocket size and must be made available for inspection by authorized enforcement officers whenever the boat is in operation. It must be renewed each year.

To obtain a license certificate, boaters must furnish the agent with this information: name of owner or owners, address, citizenship (U.S. or other), principal place of moving and use, craft (outboard, inboard, row, sail or other), make of boat, craft manufacturer's serial number, model (year), horsepower or length of craft, type of use (pleasure, rental, commercial), type of fuel used (gasoline, diesel or other), hull material (wood, steel, aluminum, plastic or other), make of motor, motor manufacturer's serial number.

THE CERTIFICATE WILL carry the permanent Ohio number assigned to the licensee's craft. This number must be painted or affixed on both sides of the bow in block characters at least three inches high. In addition, the boater will be issued an annual boat plate which must be attached to the stern of his craft.

Ohio law provides for this schedule of fees: unmotorized boats, canoes, rafts, barges (except sailboats), $1; sailboats, $3; sailboat with inboard motor, $7.50; sailboat with outboard motor under 25 cubic inches of piston displacement, $6; sailboat with outboard motor in excess of 25 cubic inches of piston displacement, $7.50; inboard motor boat, less than 100 horsepower, $7.50; inboard motor boat, 100 horsepower or more $10; outboard motor under 25 cubic inches of piston displacement, $3; outboard motor, 25 cubic inches of piston displacement, $4; outboard motor for exclusive use on rented or borrowed boats, $2. In addition, a 25-cent fee goes to the agent for writing the license.

If a boater owns a craft with an outboard motor under 25 cubic inches of piston displacement, the license fee is $1 for the boat, $3 for the motor and 25-cents for preparing the form, a total of $4.25.

The term "cubic inches of piston displacement" used in the law is employed in technical data provided by motor manufacturers for dealers and purchasers. Commonly, those motors of less than 20 horsepower have a piston displacement of not over 25 cubic inches, while those over 20 horsepower have a piston displacement of 25 inches or more.

In event two outboard motors are used simultaneously on one boat, each motor must be licensed under the appropriate fee. If two outboard motors are carried on one craft but not used at the same time, only the motor with the greater horsepower should be licensed.

Tiro HS washed up by state's edict; Duitchtown OK'd

New Washington High school has serious deficiencies, a state department of education inspector says, but it's continued as a first grade institution.

Tiro, Lykens and Chatfield weren't so lucky. Stanley L. Fox, inspector, recommends their characters be revoked. Reason: they aren't complying with the department's high school standards regulations.

The department has recommended a consolidation among Chatfield, Tiro and New Washington, which would produce a valuation of slightly over $12 million (which is just higher than Willard's tax valuation), a high school enrollment of 308 (66 over the prescribed minimum) and practically no change in tax rates.

Maryellen Briggs, student in Ohio Northern university, Ada, was a weekend guest of her parents, the Whitney J. Briggses. She is a member of the Polar Bear band which has been invited to participate in the Cherry Blossom festival, Washington, D. C., in April.

The Earl Hazards, Blissfield, Mich., were Sunday guests of Dr. and Mrs. Darrell B. Faust.

Seaman John Fetters, USN, visited his parents the Donald E. Fetterses, over the weekend. He is stationed at Great Lakes Naval base, Ill.

Haldon Myers, accompanied by his brother and sister-in-law, the Kenneth Myerses, reported to Critic Veteran's facility for a medical check-up Tuesday.

The C. M. Elders will be guests this week of the Percy H. Roots and Miss Pearl Elder. The H. James Roots attended Sunday at John Simpson Junior High school, Mansfield, a Youth for Christ rally. The Rev. David Koser, formerly of Plymouth, is youth director of the group.
