They have had no annual leave since assuming the duties seven years ago.

Blue Cross rates due for increase, director hints

If yours a Blue Cross hospitalization member, be prepared for a rate increase.

That's the gist of remarks by John R. Mannix, executive vice-president of Blue Cross of Northeast Ohio, delivered Thursday night at Mansfield to members of the Blue Cross Advisory council of Ashland and Richland counties.

Reason: inflation, continued rise in cost of hospital care.

Cost of a day of care in the plan's 11-county area rose more than eight per cent during 1959, Mannix said, to reach an all-time high.

"Hospital costs are primarily payroll costs," he claimed. "The depend on part on prevailing wage levels. With higher wages agreed upon in the steel industry and other industries set to follow, hospital payrolls and cost will have to follow suit."

But it's still too early to predict, Mannix said, when rising hospital costs will force another adjustment in Blue Cross rates.

Costs per case in 1959 rose more sharply than did hospital costs, jumping more than 11 per cent to an average of $271.28 a case. "This occurred chiefly because the average age of people served by Blue Cross is increasing all the time and the average hospital stays of older persons are longer."

Home ec girls give creed, show on TV

Ninth grade home economics pupils of Mrs. Wood W. Arnold went to Cleveland Tuesday to present a model Future Homemakers of America meeting on Paige Palmer's television show.

All 37 and their adviser repeated the FHA creed and sang an FHA song.

Fog causes crash

Tuesday morning's fog caused a minor collision at 1:45 a.m. at Route 598 and Ft. Ball road in New Haven.

Oboist, horn group, singers win superiors

An oboist, a French horn quartet and a girls' vocal quartet won superior rating at Mt. Vernon Saturday as Plymouth High school musicians competed in the annual solo and ensemble contest.

The superior grade winners will compete in the state contest at Canton Apr. 9.

Carol Ann Hunter, oboist, one of three PHS instrumental soloists, won the coveted superior award. So did the French horn quartet of Robin and Benjamin Root, Nancy Miller and Beverly Hawk. The girls' vocal quartet of Susan Wolfersberger, Diane Williams, Joyce Harnly and Judith Amstutz was similarly rated.

Excellent ratings were accorded a clarinet solo by Shirley Hawk, a saxophone solo by Judith Fetters, and a saxophone quartet composed of Miss Fetters, her brother, Thomas; Marcia MacMichael and Wallis Ann Harnly.

A mezzo-soprano solo by Ehrley Hawk and a soprano solo by Deanne Amstutz also rated excellent.

Very good ratings were accorded a lute trio composed of Carol Sloan, Kay Forsythe and Dorothy Stoodt, a soprano solo by Cheryl Faust and a soprano solo by Annetta Dawson.

Harold R. Davenport, musical director, and John Arndt, vocal music instructor, prepared the pupils for the contest.

Reporter makes big find: most folks ask no change!

"If you could do something before sundown today that would improve the village, what would you do?"

An Advertiser reporter asked that question of 60 persons Tuesday.

And these are the answers he got, with numbers of supporters indicated where feasible:

"Reactivate the Shelby Air depot with just as many employees as before." — 27 responses.

"Install a sewer system here." — 24 responses.

"Take the restrictions off the farmers." — 18 responses.

"Get a new industry for Plymouth." — 35 responses.

"Reduce taxes." — 47 responses.

OTHER RESPONSES were scattered, tended to cluster less heavily and included such as:

"Get the merchants to reduce prices."

"Put on some kind of thing that would put the town on the m.p."

"Do something that would make new people feel at home and take them into friendship promptly."

"Make it so the young people would want to stay here and not move away."

"Make it easier to borrow money to build a new house."

"Have everybody paint his house, as soon as weather permits."

"Cut the cost of utilities — gas and electric are too high."

"Install a swimming pool."

"Get some aggressive people elected to the council and get something done."

"Improve the schools — they're all right but they could be better."

Most frequent response to the question — a total of 48 so responded — was "There's not much anybody could do to change the place and why do you want to change it anyhow?"

Well done!

The high school music program attained some notice last week. A group of musicians went to Mt. Vernon and received superior ratings for their performance of difficult compositions.

It's a fine thing for youngsters to know their preparation and presentation of any task, whether musical or otherwise, are worthy of high rank. The musical judges, who are told, awarded the ratings not by choosing one pupil against another, but by judging how well the rendition of the selection offered approached absolute perfection as the composer wrote it.

To the band director and the vocal instructor and their charges, a hearty well done!

Nothing to be ashamed of

The defeat of the Big Red basketball team at Sandusky Friday night wasn't very pleasant, but we ought to have no complaint.

Vermilion's outfit is a soundly coached one, played well — certainly better than ours — and deserved to win. The officiating wasn't really bad and the Big Red didn't suffer because of it.

The season's record of 16 wins and only four defeats isn't a bad one, by any means. There are only a few teams which have better ones.

To the coach and the squad, our congratulations for a successful season.

For the loyal fans who followed the team hither and yon, often at the risk of life and limb, such as on Friday night, there ought to be some sort of reward. And we think there is one — that after defeating the likes of Bellevue, and throwing a scare into a fine Vermilion team, far fewer folks are asking "Who's Plymouth?" and a good many more are asking "Where's Plymouth?"

Sound thinking that deserves an ear

Some self-satisfied citizens who responded to the inquiring reporter by saying things are all right simply don't realize what the facts are.

Until 1952, this community was a relatively inexpensive place in which to live. For two reasons, mainly: public bodies generally put off capital expenditures as too costly, only to reap a foul harvest when they were finally compelled to make them at inflated prices; and commercial enterprises prospered disproportionately to the size and wealth of the community they served, thus being able to pay assessments which helped to keep direct taxation at a low level.

The present rate of $31 per $1,000 valuation — and there are a few dollars already voted which haven't yet been placed on that bill — will never be reduced.

But unless the commercial community is able to regain its previous level of earnings, it won't be able to contribute those tax dollars which helped to keep direct taxation low. Which is why those who responded that more jobs are needed knew what they were talking about. They deserve to be heeded.

Suzie sez

I see by the papers that a man in Buffalo, N. Y., got mad about the shape of his pizza and threw his bowling ball through the window. He was arrested and sent to jail. But after he cooled off, the judge did, too, and the man was let out.

Apparently he expected a round pizza but got a square one. What a stupid thing to get mad about! And to throw a bowling ball was simply dumb!

Pop says people get mad over the silliest things and that getting mad shows that a person is weak. Before I could ask him if this means him when he gets mad, he tells me, "And that includes your Old Man, too."

THERE IS A BIRD THAT comes underneath our window and waits until all the other birds have eaten the corn that our neighbor put out before he flies off to fight with a bird that has already taken his.

Chip says the bird must be a dumbhead. It is easier, he says, to take what you want from the table than it is to fight with somebody after he has helped himself.

Pop solves this by serving our food from his end of the table and putting what he thinks we ought to have on our plates. It works all right except when he cuts Mom's meat — then she blows up.

He says he forgets whose meat is on the plate. I can't seem to cut some meat well and as he has to cut mine and Mom sits next, he cuts hers too.

One of these days he is going to wake up with a whole plate of meat, potatoes and vegetables in his right eye, because Mom says she will pitch it at him if he does it again.

I WILL BE GLAD WHEN the snow is gone. I just hate to wear boots. And Pop told me Friday that if I don't want to wear boots on my feet I will wear them on the seat of my pants.

He means it, too.

Family Finances

Don't disappoint a little girl by telling her she is going to get a real doll when you send for a 59-cent doll with 10 complete outfits.

Two different ads I have seen in the past weeks with New York addresses offer this "bargain," but there is disappointment in store for the buyer. The illustrations and text are misleading.

Against a drawing of a girl standing next to two racks from which hang various outfits, the copy reads:

"Here's a spectacular 9-inch doll, in color, with beautiful red hair down to her shoulders and the most lavish and complete wardrobe any princess could ever wish for. Clothes for formal balls, playtime, street wear and school."

Problem: There is no hair, no clothes to be suspended from hangers. There is nothing in the offer except cardboard cutouts and printing. No statements are made to this effect in the ad.

Registering of passenger cars for 1960 going on this month prompts Supt. M. J. Coon to inquire if automobiles mix well with scholarship. He says:

"A study made in Madison High school, Rexburg, Idaho, say no. According to the Ohio High School athlete, a study made of the four-year average of a typical Madison senior class and car drivers showed the following:

No straight A pupil had the use of a car. Only 15 per cent of the B pupils drove a car to school. Of C students, 41 per cent brought cars to school. Of D pupils, 71 per cent drove to school. Of F pupils 83 per cent drove to school."

AN OFFICER OF A COUNTY health department said last week Richland county welfare payments are reputed among prospective applicants to be higher than any other county's. Which explains why so many migrate to the county, hang on for a year until eligibility is established, then ride the welfare bandwagon.

But Loain county welfare department: showed it's pretty generous, too. In the case of the Isoms and the Mallones, two families whose children were horrendously burned to death in a fire, the records showed payments of $36,637 to them since 1948. Mrs. Beatrice Isom, mother of James, who lost five of his six children in the fire, got $18,592 in county welfare funds since February, 1950.

Ebb and Sylvia Malone, parents of Mary Malone, who lost two of her three children, received $16,042 since January, 1948. No payments during the past six months are included in these figures.

Physical violence has crept into school problems in Geauga county, where a public discussion of a consolidation involving Newbury school wound up with a face being slapped.

About 250 citizens, said to be opposed to consolidation with Burton-Troy about two to one, heard long harangues on both sides.

Harry Gillis, member of the Newbury board, spoke firmly for consolidation. Robert E. Kolar asked Gillis why he, as a school board member, sent his son to a Cleveland school. Kolar prefaced his question with the remark that perhaps the question might be too personal. The moderator agreed but Gillis was on his feet answering the question before the moderator could rule it as out of order.

Mrs. Gillis followed Kolar and his wife and a companion out of the auditorium and walloped her husband's interrogator across the face.

Legion to serve birthday dinner

Ehret-Parsel post, American Legion, will hold its annual birthday dinner in the legion hall Mar. 19 at 6 p.m.

The affair will be pot luck. Guests are asked to bring a covered dish and their own table service. The meat course will be furnished by the post.

There will be dancing in the hall beginning at 8 p.m. Saturday night to the music of Hohman's orchestra. Another dance is planned for Mar. 26 with Baker's orchestra.

Here's remainder of Old Timer's stuif themselves in a 20th century world of nuclear explosion.

That some students engage in competitive athletics is proper and commendable, and there is no quibble with the principle.

But is it necessary for the combined undergraduate enrollment of the 10 institutions, estimated at perhaps 120,000, to prove to itself and to the rest of the world that it can punt a football or shoot a basketball or swim or run or do anything athletically better than say, west Texas or South Carolina?

We think not. We question that participation in the Rose Bowl or the NCAA basketball tournament or any other post-season activity enhanced the academic standing of any of the Big 10 universities or lessened the financial burden upon the citizens who foot the bills.

And even if, as some athletic directors seem ready to proclaim, the revised standard of establishing financial need of prospective varsity athletes results in a lower level of excellence in athletic achievement, so what? The reputation of Dartmouth college was enhanced more last week by the success of its scholars on the College Bowl program than by the victory of its winter sportsmen in the annual snow carnival.

Which is as it should be.

Bounty's bunk, says expert in fox control

Harvest of quail in Ohio in 1959 bears out what biologists have always claimed, that the age ratio of a hunted or un-hunted quail population will be about 80 per cent juveniles and 20 per cent adults.

An analysis of the wing age data from more than 3,200 birds demonstrated that 78 per cent were juveniles and 22 per cent adults.

Figures recalled a report made in 1958 to the Governor's Quail committee, recommendation from which resulted in the 1959 Quail bill. A subcommittee, headed by Prof. Eugene Dustman, then leader of Ohio Cooperative Wildlife Research unit. Ohio State university, reported that 80 per cent of the fall population is composed of young birds.

"This means that 80 per cent of the quail present in any fall will perish from some cause before the next fall," the report said. "The fact that fall quail population have been consistently high despite heavy losses indicates that normal reproduction made up for the winter losses."

"Bounties are bunk," a survey in Ohio over a 13-year period has shown. And now the National Wildlife federation agrees.

During the 13 years, 1944-1957, Ohio counties paid $594,620 for 219,956 bountied foxes. However, the fox population remained fairly constant, indicating that bounties have little or no effect.

Latest publication, the work of Dr. Roger M. Latham, noted wildlife author and outdoor editor, of the Pittsburgh Press points out failures of bounty systems currently effective in 33 states.

S&H GREEN STAMPS

Green Stamps help keep OHIO PRICES DOWN!

Like the ads of local merchants that you see in this newspaper, S&H Green Stamps boost business. At the same time they help keep prices down.

Here is why: When a store sells more, it can sell for less, since bigger volume brings lower costs.

Stores that use S&H Green Stamps must sell competitively. Ohio housewives are expert shoppers. They read the ads. They check and compare prices. And they can't be fooled!

Trading stamps are being saved today by two out of three American families—about 35 million in all. And their use is still growing in this and other States.

For the best values, shop at the stores in your community that give S&H Green Stamps.

TAKE ONE FAT GOOSE...

Goose grease used to be found in most medicine chests. For a long time, it was a common remedy for chest colds and pneumonia. The high mortality rate of lung patients proves how ineffective this remedy was. Modern medications—particularly the antibiotics—have drastically reduced the death toll of pneumonia victims, shortened hospital stays and relieved untold pain and suffering. Remember this when you're ill: effective medicines may mean the difference between pain and comfort... between life and death. So, don't medicate yourself. Let your physician do the diagnosing and prescribing. Then come to us for any medications he may recommend.

Sailors sink Red in tourney

By THE OLD TIMER

WHAT SOUND REASON IS there for excitement about the decision of Western conference schools to abstain from post-season competition in any sport?

The universities exist, or so we believed, for the purpose of educating the students in the mysterious ways of economics, biology, literature, engineering, medicine, law and other callings. Their purpose is to produce men and women who are equipped to fend for Plymouth's Big Red came to the end of the tournament trail at Sandusky Friday night, out-reached, out-shot and out-played by Vermilion's Sailors, 70 to 59.

It was the fourth defeat of the season for Plymouth, which won 16.

And aside from a few minutes in the opening period and a moment late in the second, when the Red drew even at 30, Plymouth never was a factor in this one.

Why the Sailors won it was shown clearly in the statistics: they shot 66 times from the floor, bagged 26, snared 64 rebounds. Plymouth shot 64 times, made 22, got only 42 rebounds.

In Bruce Eldridge the Red saw a fine shooter, an excellent rebounder and a great team player. He scored 23 for Vermilion, 11 - for - 20. Cliff Bartlome lived up to advance billing with a seven-for-16 record from the floor and a dozen rebounds, two less than Eldridge.

For Plymouth, Craig Harnly was high scorer. He shot 19 times, bagged seven, added two free throws for 16.

Dick Bookwalter had a poor night. He scored only 11, led the Red in rebounding with 13, wound up third-high in scoring.

Despite the unsatisfactory result of this first — and probably only — AA tournament for the Big Red, it was not a performance to be ashamed of. On another night, Plymouth might have dumped the Sailors. On balance, however, Vermilion has a fine team, which would acquit itself well against the likes of Plymouth any time, by reason of its height, its shooting and its floor game.

Sports show plans to open Mar. 18, Cleveland's 23rd

Cleveland's 23rd annual Sportsmen's show will be staged in the Public hall Mar. 18-27.

William Lee Birch, big game hunter and head of Professional Hunters Ltd., will display mounted trophies and equipment of the 60-day safari he headed to game lands in Africa and Asia.

For his finale at the show Robert Walker, champion caster from Trenton, N. J., will use four fly rods, two in each hand, and keep feeding line out to a distance of 60 feet.

Peppy, world's foremost canine log roller, has found that these "too many spots" he had as a puppy have turned to stars. Ohioans have insisted that Peppy and his master, Bill Fontana, return to the American and Canadian Vacation and Boat show.

Zippy, the world famous chimpanzee, flies his own private plane. No simple simian, the lovable chimp commands an annual salary of more than $100,000. The private plane is needed to get him to his many performances on time.

Lovely Ann Marston, 11-year - old world archery champion and Miss Michigan of 1960, will be featured. She's been a cover girl for Sports Illustrated and has been spotlighted in Life magazine.

TWO TWIN SEALS, the newest sport show act in the country, will be appearing in the 33,000 gallon tank during the big all-star twice-daily land and water thrill programs.

Two valuable prizes will be awarded each day during the 10-day run. The prizes will go to the two lucky anglers each day who catch the largest fish in the public trout stream. The catch 'em and keep 'em trout stream promises to be the best yet.

Nothing wrong with a dog's life, say Orin Benson's canines, who will be featured in pointing and retrieving demonstrations. At their kennel in Eagle, Wis., the dogs enjoy controlled heat, a modern hospital and scientific diets. They travel in Benson's "Canine Kennels", an 80-foot trailer that provides spacious and sanitary transportation and living quarters for master and as many as 15 large dogs.

Master of ceremonies at the show will be Frank Weed, Florida outdoorsman, dog trainer, hunter and popular TV personality. He will also bring his famous reptile exhibit to this year's show.

PLYMOUTH FOLLOWERS, and they were legion this nasty, snowy night, held some hope late in the second period that their darlings would snap out of it.

Behind six points early in the quarter, the Big Red applied the pressure. On the fast break, Harnly scored on a feed from Steve Patterson, and Dick Bookwalter had a follow-up after three set-ups failed. The Sailors called time at 4:10 to go and when play resumed Bookwalter snared a free throw for a one-point lead at 23 to 22. Patterson was hacked by Smith and added another.

But Russ Dickerhoof threw Vermilion back into a tie with a swisher from the side, and after Harnly pushed one in from the corner Eldridge evened it at 28.

Ray Lynch jostled Tom Moes in the act of shooting and the oig forward scored two of the nine free throws he tottalled. Lynch made up for it with a set shot from the key slot. But the Sailors applied the heat and went to the dressing room with a four-point advantage after Eldridge and Dickerhoof bagged easy ones.

The winners locked it up, for all intent and purpose, early in the third quarter. They scored five of their first eight shots and never were headed thereafter.

PLYMOUTH SHOWED some life at 6:29 by running five points back to back, but at 46 to 39 it was clear nothing short of a miracle would win this one for the Red.
