Local driver files hit-run charge after Rt. 61 crash

A 74-year-old Plymouth driver told police Saturday morning he had been struck by a hit-and-run driver at Routes 598 and 61.

Albin O. Hahler collided, police later found, with J. E. Williams, 26, Willard, who was charged with drunken driving, taken to Huron county jail and slated for hearing Monday.

A sideswiping collision on Route 61 north of Route 224 at 9:05 p.m. Saturday resulted in injuries to five persons.

Delmos Hall, 23, Willard route 1, driver of one of the cars, was summoned for unsafe operation. He received a fractured thigh, facial lacerations and possible internal injuries.

Nicholas Luma, 23, Willard route 2, the other driver, received abrasions of the forehead and left knee.

Three passengers in Hall's car were also hurt. They were Margaret Wilson, 35 Willard, lacerations of the face and abrasions of the left side; Thomas Alsett, 27, Willard, abrasions of the right arm and lacerations of the face; Lage Risner, 25, Gullett, Ky., abrasions of the right arm and lacerations of the forehead.

Plane forced down, pilot safe

BY CHARLES HILTY

A two-seater Piper Cub was damaged but its pilot, Thomas F. Root, escaped without a scratch, Monday 5:20 p. m. when he was forced to land in a corn field south of Bluffton.

Root, told on-the-scene observers that when his engine began to sputter for lack of gas he attempted to turn the plane around to land on the unused grade for the planned second strip of Route 25. When he lost altitude too quickly to complete the turn, he was forced to come down in the corn field.

The impact in the soft ground doubled up the landing gear, bent the propeller and did some engine and fuselage damage.

Mr. Root is familiar with the Bluffton airport and apparently was trying to make it to that field for refueling when his gas tank ran dry. He was planning to attend the air fair and fly-in breakfast there Sunday.

17-year-old PHS 'lad built 'kart' from scrap, chain saw motor

Parents of a 17-year-old Plymouth High school senior think he has just the right solution to the problem of what to do with himself on week-ends.

"Buzzy" Briggs, son of the Leland Briggses, a husky, 160-pounder, has built a "go-kart" racer, from scratch, with odds, ends, leftover materials picked up here and there, and a five-horsepower chain saw motor.

His father helped him, a little. And the net cost is estimated to be $150.

"Buzzy" races his ingenious little kart on a dirt track prepared in a field near Tiro, north of the intersection of Routes 98 and 39. He says it'll go "50 miles an hour, on a smooth track, but maybe only 35 on the dirt track at Tiro."

Low-slung, and constructed with tubular steel, the "go-kart" has a remarkable stability. "Its low center of gravity makes it almost impossible to turn over," observed "Buzzy's"

B. R. Snyder dies; father of Vance

Father of Vance W. Snyder, 312 East Main street, 70-year-old Bruce R. Snyder died at his home in Cass township at 10:50 p. m. June 15.

Mr. Snyder was a retired carpenter, having been most recently employed at Wilkins Air Force station, Shelby.

He was born in Seneca county Jan. 20, 1890.

His wife, Alverda; another son, Dean E., San Diego, Cal.; three daughters, Mrs. Paul Woodruff and Mrs. Elaine Williams, Shelby; and Mrs. Darwin Hollister, Erie, Pa., and a sister, Mrs. Fred Ross, Plymouth, also survive.

The Rev. C. B. A. Stacy conducted last rites Saturday at 2 p. m. Burial was in Adams cemetery.

father. Sometimes, "Buzzy" admits, the wheels of one go-kart become interlocked, with those of another. "Then there's a little fuss, but not much."

So safe is the tiny speedster that first- and second-graders are racing in similar models.

How long they'll be able to do so depends upon how long their owners resist the temptation to "soup 'em up."

"Take mine," young Briggs explains. "It's got a five-horse motor in it. Some of the fel-

IT'S NEW! And does fantastic things, says publisher

The Advertiser became on Friday the only newspaper in Huron county — and one among three in a six-county area — to be equipped with electronic engraving services that will enlarge photographs.

Engineers of Fairchild Graphic Equipment, Inc., Plainview, L. I., N. Y., installed a new Illustrator engraver, capable of enlarging a postal card illustration into the size of the football picture that appears on page 7 today (which was its first mission) with no additional photographic steps.

The new machine is capable of other remarkable tricks, the publisher says, and he invites subscribers and advertisers to watch it in action.

No weekly newspaper in Ohio of The Advertiser's circulation size has such equipment. Only Mansfield and Ashland daily newspapers are so equipped in the six-county area including Crawford, Seneca, Erie, Huron, Richland and Ashland counties.

lows have only two-and-a-half-horse motors. But other fellows are putting more powerful motors and souping up the drive so they'll go faster. The faster they go, the harder it is for the little kids to handle 'em."

The Briggs go-kart has to be pushed to start. "I took the starter off to make it easier to handle and to make it lighter," "Buzzy" explains.

And so what's this about it being good for young fellows of "Buzzy's" age?

"Why," say the Briggses, "it gives him something to do on the weekends, we know where he is and what he's doing, and he's bound to learn something about safety and speed with it. Perhaps he'll get all the speed out of his system on that track and not use it on the highways."

Parents of Mrs. David E. Cook and Mrs. Roger Ross, the Bruce L. Johnsons will stage open house Sunday form 2 to 5 p.m. to celebrate their golden wedding anniversary.

The Johnsons live at 505 Dale avenue, Willard. They were married in Chicago Junction, now Willard, June 30, 1910. She was formerly Hazel Clark.

Mr. Johnson is a retired railway clerk at the Baltimore and Ohio. He stopped punching the clock four years ago and enjoys himself now "just sittin' and watchin'."

There are four other children, Richard, Willard; Bruce, Jr., Shelby; LeVerne, Pensacola, Fla.; and Mrs. Paul Reed, Shelby, and 16 grandchildren.

Mrs. Johnson is a member of the OES in Willard and of the Navy Mothers club.

Award of an $800 Alfred P. Sloan Memorial scholarship in the college of liberal arts and sciences, Ohio State university, to Deryl L. Ream, apprentice compositor in The Advertiser, was announced last week.

A graduate of Plymouth Ream has been an honor student in the Mansfield branch of the university. He will matriculate at Columbus in September.

The recipient is the youngest son of the Ralph Reams.

Sewer permit renewed, $150,000 to go on ballot

Renewal of permit to dump raw sewage into the Huron river; was announced to village council Tuesday night, subject to usual conditions pressing the council toward compliance with Water Pollution Control board orders.

Permit expires Dec. 15. Renewal is contingent upon completion of a study of means of financing a sanitary sewage disposal system and obtaining the approval of the WPCB thereof.

Fox, Reusch & Co., Cincinnati bonding house, submitted an interim report of its investigations into a financing plan, as ordered by the WPCB. When he had read it aloud, Mayor William Fazio showed some disappointment. He said it appears from the interim report "they're going to recommend more or less what we had recommended to us before."

Meanwhile, Solicitor Joseph F. Dush told the council he has taken steps with Squire & Dempsey, Cleveland bonding attorneys, to place a $150,000 general obligation bond issue on the November ballot. Its proceeds would pay, in part, for the sanitary sewer system now estimated to cost in excess of $627,000.

Henry Trauger, street supervisor, will return to full duty today. He has been ill after surgery for nearly three months.

His first task will be to prepare recommendations for relief of storm sewer pressure in the rear of buildings in East Main street, the council having discovered downspouts of some buildings are connected to a single 10-inch tile which is overloaded, whereas its companion tile, of the same size, has only two downspouts connected to it.

OHIO in the CIVIL WAR

LET'S EXPLORE OHIO

Rankin House, Ripley, Ohio

Rev. John Rankin

As the war clouds were gathering over the North and the South prior to the Civil War, a light burned in the front window of this house every night. High above the Ohio River, facing the Kentucky shore, this beacon held out hope to many an escaping slave.

Here at Ripley lived Rev. John Rankin who operated the first Ohio station on the famed "Underground Railway," the escape route of run-away slaves on the way to Canada and safety.

It was in front of Rankin House that the incident occurred of Eliza crossing the ice, which was immortalized in the book "Uncle Tom's Cabin," written by Harriet Beecher Stowe of Cincinnati.

Across Ohio in hamlets and on scattered farms were other havens of safety where escaping slaves found food and shelter at stations on the Underground Railway. People still show cellar hide-outs for slaves in homes at Lebanon, Spring Valley, Xenia, and other Ohio locations.

Bachrachs' kin excuses himself in unique trial

Son-in-law of Mrs. Samuel Bachrach, Mayor Leo Hughes of Yellow Springs is involved in a bizarre law suit.

The mayor is the brother-in-law of Lewis Gegner, Jr., a barber there. Mr. Gegner is defendant in a suit filed by office Worthan, an Antioch college student, charging illegal racial discrimination in his barber shop.

Through his attorney, Gegner seeks to have the presiding judge named by the Green county common pleas court. Mayor Hughes had previously disqualified himself as presiding judge, on the grounds he is related to Gegner.

But Solicitor Philip Aulman of Yellow Springs, on orders of the council, opposes Gegner's request. He argues the city charter of Yellow Springs provides that the vice mayor shall preside when the mayor is absent or is disqualified.

Gegner is now defendant in four suits alleging illegal racial discrimination.

Mayor Hughes is the husband of the former Jane Bachrach

Some day, I suppose, I will get me a husband, although Mom says I must have a hole in my head.

Anyway, I found this recipe on "How to Preserve a Husband" and I am going to paste it in my scrapbook. Pop says he will buy this recipe, but he doesn't know many wives who've used it.

"Select one not too young, but once chosen, give your entire thoughts to prepare him for domestic use.

"Some wives keep them in a pickle, others are constantly getting them into hot water. This makes them sour, hard to get along with and sometimes bitter.

"Even poor varieties become sweet, tender and good, if garnished with patience, well sweetened with kisses.

"Keep them warm with a steady fire of domestic devotion; a mantle of charity and forgiveness and serve with peaches and cream.

"Prepared this way, they will last and taste good for many years."

I am glad to give up my copyright on this recipe to any wife who wants to use it.

Any husband who benefits by it can send me enough money for an ice cream soda in care of the editor.

THE PHONE COMPANY will skin me alive for telling this Sunday I forgot there were new numbers in force and I dialed a friend. I used the same old five numbers. She answered.

I tried another friend later. It worked the same way. My conclusion is you don't have to dial the two numbers they added Sunday.

But how long this will be true, I don't know. Pop says probably until Aug. 7.

CHIP HAS A SHINER THIS week. Not the kind you catch with a pole and a hook, either. It's a real, blue, honest-to-goodness shiner, the kind you get walking into a door.

Only he didn't walk into a door. He walked into a right hook.

He says, "You ought to see the other guy". But Pop says that's what they all say!

Funny part of it is that Chip doesn't know how he got into the argument. "It didn't concern me at all," he claims.

By THE OLD TIMER

An old baseball hand hereabouts, player, manager and fan for two generations, once told the O.T. "I give it three years, then interest will begin to die off."

The test of time seems to show he's right.

Item: attendance at PML games has tailed off.

Item: parental interest and support is weaker than at any time since the league was founded.

Item: Pony league organizers had to dig into the home-for-college crowd for a coach.

Item: one manager reports his boys want to quit.

The evidence seems strong. Dick Akers has joined the staff of Plymouth Pony league Jets as coach. Manager Fred L. Buzard announced the addition Monday. Richard Stover is the other coach.

What to do about it is anybody's guess. For a sound solution, the O. T. would gladly give his shirt.

Exercises laid out for engineer unit

Co. A, 865th Engineer Battalion, headquartered in Rhine Army Reserve center here, is in Camp Breckinridge, Ky., this week, completing the second half of its annual two-week training period.

Commanded by Lieut. Col. Walter R. Warne, Marion, the engineers are handling the heavy construction needed to keep this sprawling military installation in readiness for the other Army Reserve units which will train there this summer.

Some of the projects the 865th will complete during its two-week stay are a 70-foot long pile bent bridge, nearly a mile of road, anti-tank barriers, and a concrete pit latrine.

Maj. Robert F. Dalton, Mansfield, is the battalion executive officer and Lieut. Joseph S. Gerdner, Mansfield, commands Headquarters and Service Co., both located in Mansfield. Company A, Plymouth, is commanded by Capt. Dean A. Freytag, Ashland and Co. B from Mt. Vernon is under the command of Capt. Donald E. Lambillotte, Columbus.

Willard marsh approved for conservation project

The 1,700 acre Willard Marsh Wildlife area, west of Plymouth, will receive federal assistance in developing a wildlife plan for the entire area with emphasis placed on the 388 acres of farmland recently acquired by the state.

Recreation service, says about 104 Bill Addison, added Soil Conservation service, says about 600 acres of the Willard Marsh lies within the Marsh Run Watershed area, in which a watershed project including flood prevention, land treatment, conservation measures and irrigation features is presently being developed. Addison noted that with approval of this application, together with the recently approved application of the 800 acres John F. Stambaugh & Co. farm, over 2,500 acres, or 87 per cent, of the 2,612 acre muck area in the Marsh Run watershed is now under agreement with the Huron Soil Conservation district.

Local WAC ends course

Pvt. Bobbie J. Barnhouse, daughter of James H. Barnhouse, Plymouth route 1, completed the typing and clerical procedures course at the Women's Army Corps school, Ft. McClellan, Ala., June 2.

Private Barnhouse, 20, entered WAC in January.

She attended Willard High school and was employed by Mid-West Industries, Willard, before entering the WAC. Her mother, Mrs. Claramay A. Wilson, lives in Willard route 1.

Grange sets social

Cubs quit learning phase, trying now to win 'em all

"My teachn' phase is over, friend," exclaims peppery Sam Glorioso, manager of F-R-H Cubs in Plymouth Midget league.

"For a while there I was concentrating on teaching the kids to play this game and the other guys were beatin' my brains out. But that's all over now — we're gonna win all we can!"

And the stocky boss of the Cubs has the wherewithal to do it when he sends Eric Akers to the hill. The southpaw let down the Braves with only two hits Saturday as the Cubs swarmed all over Vance Hoffman's nine, 17 to 1.

Jerry Caudill of the Giants pitched a two-hitter but his infield let him down and he all but lost a close one to the Red; in a make-up game Saturday, 8 to 7.

Thursday night, the Reds downed the Braves, 9 to 1.

Standings as of Monday morning showed the Giants and Reds tied for top spot, with the Cubs and Braves a game out, tied for the cellar.
