El'm'n'try, ol' boy, fuse simply blew

A burned out tip fuse on the middle phase of the Ohio Power lines which serve Plymouth village left a third of the village without power early Sunday morning.

Reports say that lights went out about 5 a. m., but it was not until about 6 a. m., when Supt. of Light & Power Russell J. Moser awoke to find his house had no electricity in Trux street. Unable to locate the cause, he called Ohio Power Co. After several hours of searching Moser and the power company found the trouble. While repairing the phase, another of the three phases was accidentally "knocked out," which accounts for another section of the village being without electricity. Finally, about 9 a. m., all the power was turned off for a few minutes and the repairs made.

Head count reported

Head count of the recent census proved residence in the northern tier of townships of Richland county that: Bloominggrove, 321; Butler, 667; Cass, 1,614; Plymouth, 2,090.

This count does not include populations of two incorporated villages, Shiloh and Plymouth.

Car-truck collision fatal to Shiloh woman, child

A 28-year-old Shiloh woman and her infant daughter died in a head-on crash in Bowman Street road 1.3 miles north of Mansfield at 2:15 p. m. Tuesday.

Another Shiloh woman and the dead woman's two-year-old son were admitted to

'Indefinite term' set for school levy

To clarify widespread comment among the electorate respecting the 10-mill operating levy appearing on the Nov. 8 ballot, Supt. M. J. Coon this week sent home with pupils a detailed explanation of the financial plan adopted by the Board of Education.

The 9.5-mill operating levy for school purposes expires Dec. 31, 1960, he said. Ohio law requires that a school district levy at least 10 mills, for an indefinite period, to participate in state foundation funds. (About 65 per cent of local school costs derive from these.)

Board of Education, Coon pointed out, is asking for 10 mills—renewal of the 9.5-mill levy and an additional half mill—to comply with the law.

The additional half-mill will help to operate the new elementary center at Shiloh and the high school addition, Coon said.

Mansfield General hospital. Mrs. Jerry Hoover was dead on arrival in Mansfield General hospital. So was her nine-month-old child, Cindy.

They were passengers in a sedan driven by Mrs. Gladys Mae Coffey, 31, 49 Petit street, Shiloh, who received severe facial lacerations and was admitted to the same hospital. Gene Hoover is in fair condition with a possible brain concussion.

Mrs. Coffey's sedan collided with a truck driven by Gleason Whisler, 59, 399 Hammond avenue, Mansfield, said by state highway patrolmen to have been driving left of center.

Mrs. Coffey was the driver of a sedan which skidded in snow in Route 61 at Route 598 on Dec. 8, 1958, in which a young mother, Mrs. Myrtle Gibson, 27, died.

Mrs. Hoover was the wife of Harley Hoover, proprietor of a service station in Shiloh.

The bodies are in McQuate Funeral home there. Arrangements are incomplete.

Patrolmen are continuing their investigation. Save for a finger laceration, Whisler was uninjured.

Mrs. Hoover is also survived by a son, Roger Tabor, and a daughter, Ginger Gale Tabor; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Stevens, Pumber's Landing, Ky., three sisters and as many brothers.

Mrs. Eugene Koser dies at 25; F. J. Hetler succumbs at 51

Ill six weeks of a liver ailment, 25-year-old Mrs. Shirley Jane Koser died in Cleveland clinic Thursday morning.

She leaves three pre-school sons, among others.

Mrs. Koser had been treated intermittently for nearly two years for several liver complaints. The final one put her in the clinic, where she suffered great pain and distress in the past two weeks.

Her death came with great shock locally.

A native of Coalport, Pa., she is survived by her husband, Eugene, a local grocer; the three boys, Eugene Richard, Mark Allen and Randy Paul; her parents, the Lloyd Blooms; Coalport; a brother, Larry Coalport; a sister, Mrs. Larry Goff, Plymouth; and her grandparents, the Orel Blooms and the Harry Killions, all of Coalport.

A member of Grace Gospel church, Mansfield, and of the Youth for Christ Mothers club, Mrs. Koser lived with her family at 29 1/2 West Broadway.

The Rev. William Allen conducted a funeral service Sunday at 3 p. m. from the church. Interment was in Greenlawn cemetery.

Uremic infection after surgery fatal to township man

A kidney infection after abdominal surgery resulted Thursday in the death of Floyd J. Hetler, 51, in Bucyrus Community hospital.

He had been operated upon for ulcers when the infection advanced.

An employee of Seamless Tube division of Copperweld Steel Co., Mr. Hetler farmed in Plymouth township for many years. Hewas a prominent member of Plymouth Grange.

GOP asserts confidence in integrity of Borgia

Aftermath of the firing of Deputy Sheriff John Borgia is still up in the air, an Advertiser survey in Norwalk showed this week.

Huron county GOP executive committee expressed its confidence in Borgia, refusing to dump the nominee at this stage of the game.

Borgia meanwhile admitted that what he did was irregular but insisted it was not willfully wrong nor was it illicit. He admits that he summoned a group of teenagers to a Bellevue barber shop, appealed to their "better natures", apprised them of the amount of the damages to a vacant house which some of them admitted they depredated, and asked for their "suggestions".

When they "suggested" the obligation be paid, he left it to the barber to collect and disburse moneys paid in by the youngsters.

An inquiry of one of the children's grandparents was what touched off the investigation. The grandparent asked the chief deputy, Martha Frey, defeated GOP candidate for the nomination for clerk of courts, about the matter. She referred the inquiry to the juvenile court.

A juvenile court attache's investigation soon apprised Judge Don J. Young, Jr., of the details. He informed the sheriff, Mrs. Harry Broome, and the dismissal of Borgia resulted.

Robert Allingham, 35, 546 Laurel street, Willard, a special policeman at Willard and a Westinghouse employee in Mansfield, was appointed and sworn deputy to succeed Borgia.

It was plain that Borgia's predicament deeply involved his supporters and detractors. Prosecutor Bernard W. Freeman is said to be four-square behind Borgia. Huron county commissioners were reported to have asked Mrs. Broome and her chief deputy to get out.

Democrats chortled over the situation and some said that embarrassment of the Republicans in the Borgia case gives them a good chance to elect a Democratic sheriff. Their candidate is Paul Simon, Norwalk.

Vermilion favored by 15 to sink Big Red

Vermilion's Sailors are a 15-point favorite to add victory No. 2 to their home field tomorrow night, pitting their short punt formation offense against Plymouth's Big Red.

Game time is 8 p. m., Eastern Daylight Saving time.

Best route to stadium: follow Route 61 from Norwalk, proceed east at intersection with Rts. 2 and 6 to Vermilion Stadium adjoins high school. Turn right at first traffic signal in Route 6 (may not be operating after 3:30 p.

m. EDT) and cross railroad tracks three blocks to school. Admission is $1 for adults, 60 cents for bona fide pupils.

Vermilion dumped Ferrysburg 20 to 15 Friday night, largely because Quarterback Denny Owen can both run with and throw the ball.

He scored the winning TD on a one-yard plunge in the hire period. In the second quarter, he was part of a 70-yard pass-lateral play.

Perrysburg punched Vermilion's defense to within the 10-yard line three times, but was thwarted each time, twice on fumbles.

Hugh Darley and Russ Dickenhoof are back for the Sailors who on form and experience are at least 15 points better than Plymouth.

Coach Lew Pettit was less downhearted after Friday's preview than many of the Big Red supporters. He thinks the offense is more advanced than at any time in the past three seasons. The defense needs polish, he claims, and he'll be working on that this week.

The Big Red's first score of the young season was called back on a clipping penalty.

It likely Pettit will start Dayton Reed at quarter, Jim Russell and Dan Carter at the halfback posts and Gary Utts or Fate Christian at full.

Offensively, the forward wall is apt to be Ken Van Loo and Dick Lewis at ends, Ben Root and Jim Pettars at tackles, Noah Sammons and Dave Huston or Dennis Sprowles at guards and Phil Stone at center.

Be sure of driver, Coon tells parents

Parents of school pupils who ride to school in other than official buses were asked this week by Supt. M. J. Coon to consider whether their children are safe.

"We hope that our bus transportation is the safest transportation," Coon said. "We carry liability insurance on the passengers. Is your teen-ager insured while riding with a friend? Is the teen-ager driver a good driver? Is he a safe driver? Does your teen-ager ride in over-crowded cars? Does he come home directly from school? Please ask yourself these questions before you allow your son or daughter to ride with whom they please."

Pop was getting on Chip because he didn't read so many books from Pop's selected list. He said Chip missed the boat. He was making a lot out of it and finally he tried to show Chip what he missed. "What do you know about 17th century writers, for example?" Pop asked.

Chip thought for a minute and then he stopped Pop cold. "Well," he said, "they're all dead!"

You can't win, Pop. MY FRIEND MR. D LIKES shaggy dog stories. Well, here is one that will make him groan.

A man sent his two boys out to herd the sheep and he gave each of them a lantern. They started out and later the man went out to see how they were doing.

He found the first one watching the sheep but shivering. "How are you making out?" asked the father.

"Fine, sir," said the boy, "but my lamp has gone out and I'm cold."

The father gave him a new wick for his lamp and went to look for the other boy.

He found him sound asleep under a tree.

The father woke him up and asked, "How are you?"

The boy said, "I am fine, father, but I am cold as my lamp needs a new wick."

The father shook his head and said "Nothing doing. There is no wick for the rest-ud."

I just bet Mr. D will squirm and groan like anything.

Being a periodic, but irregular, presentation of human interest stories that come to the staff's attention yet seem for one reason or another not suitable for treatment elsewhere in the paper.

The cause of better education got a punch in the nose from Auditor James A. Rhodes last week.

Just when many forward-looking school districts were making some funds available to defray some of the expense of additional study by teachers seeking accreditation, Rhodes' office ruled it's not legal.

"Expenses incident to taking college work are the personal expenses of the persons taking the work. Nowhere in the statutes is there any authority for a school board to make such payments from its funds. Without any doubt, this money should be returned to the board's treasury."

The ruling was made in the case of York Local districts Athens county, but of course applies wherever Rhodes' minions examine books.

Big man for big job, says Ike

Campaign slogan for Charles A. Moshier, Oberlin Republican seeking the 13th district Congressional post, was suggested by President Eisenhower, who quickly measured Moshier's height of six-feet-four and said, "You should force us to elect a big man for a big job."

An Ohio state senator since 1958, Moshier is shown here being greeted by the President in Washington, where a group of Republican congressional candidates met for briefing sessions. Moshier forces us to elect a big man for a big job, says they'll use Ike's good advice and carry the slogan "A Big Man for a Big Job" in their candidate's literature. The Oberlin newspaper publisher and senator has appointed Alfred Forkleah, Lorain, to manage his campaign. Moshier will devote full-time henceforward to defeating J. William McCray, Elyria Democrat.

Red brings up rear in preview

Surprising Berlin Heights and Western Reserve picked up all the marbles in the North Central conference preview here Friday night.

Colonel Crawford took third honors and Plymouth brought up the rear.

Western Reserve held Colonel Crawford to a scoreless tie and downed Berlin Heights, 6 to 0.

The Tigers of Coach Spec Sanders downed Plymouth, 8 to 0, Crawford and Plymouth were scoreless.

It was not a satisfactory performance by Plymouth, which had a touchdown called back because of clipping. Completely outclassed by Western Reserve smartly and with a sensational bootleg play by Monte Harris, which twice caught the Big Red napping, scored late in the fourth period. Harris went in from two yards out, after a personal foul against the Big Red (there was universal violation of the new rule which requires the offending player to raise his right arm when a penalty is assessed) had nullified the only sound defensive move Plymouth made all night.

The Tigers kicked off to Jim Russell, brought down on the Plymouth 25. Carter and Christian advanced to the 42, where a fumble cost possession. Berlin Heights then moved smartly to the 25, whence Harris bootlegged 23 yards to the two.

HERE RUSSELL BROKE through the Tiger line and converted Harold Linden, with Bob Robertson easily the outstanding back on the field.

But the personal foul set Plymouth back half the distance to the goal and it was easy for Harris, wholet the Big Red defense standing open-mouthed for the second time in three plays.

Berlin Heights insisted on lining up to the left of the goal posts, from which the defense should have surmised a pitch-out to the right was coming. It came and Linden went in for the PAT without being touched.

Plymouth did not move so well against the Tigers. The Big Red got 15 yards through the air on a Reed-to-Russell play and 27 yards on the ground.

Against Colonel Crawford, Plymouth did somewhat better. Offensively, at least. The Red moved for a total of 53 yards, 21 of them aerially on a toss from Reed to Ken Van Loo.

Jim Russell's 23-yard ramble around left end was the big gainer.

Colonel Crawford showed it will have a strong team later in the season. The Colonels moved in sustained drive from their 37 to the Plymouth 18 before running out of gas and downs.

Nine yards came on a jump pass on a critical fourth down play. But in rolling up their three first downs, the Colonels simply crunched through Plymouth forward wall, where only Junior Sammons was doing any tackling. Most of the Big Red tackles were delivered by the linebackers.

IT WAS NOT A WHOLLY discouraging performance for local fans, though many of them showed keen disappointment.

This is a team that can play and can win if it wants to. When each player carried out his assignment, Plymouth advanced crisply, admittedly more so through the air than on the ground.

But there is work to be done, and done promptly, if this team is to match the record of last season.

Of the others, Western Reserve showed the most horses. Larry Nosack and "Hopalong" Cassidy and Patrick are three backs to be reckoned with and Coach Tony Aiello has a formidable first line although he is not deep in reserves.

In Haberning the Roughriders have a left-footed punter who can get range, something no other punter of the evening could demonstrate effectively.

Results: Plymouth 0, Colonel Crawford 0 — Western Reserve 6 Berlin Heights 0 — Western Reserve 0 Colonel Crawford 0 — Berlin Heights 8 Plymouth 0.

Touchdowns: Western Reserve, Nosack (2-yard buck); Berlin Heights, Harris (2-yard rush); PAT's: Berlin Heights, Linden (rush).

On the Sidelines

By THE OLD TIMER

Coach Forest Evashevski at Iowa tells the O. T. privately if the Hawks can win one or both of their first two Big Ten games Northwestern and Michigan State — they're apt to take it all. Ery is in his last year at Iowa City, has bo-coo horses and lots of hard-nose, but lacks experience. If the young Hawkeys can develop their confidence by winning a Big 10 contest early in the year, look out!

But it ought to be between Illinois, the Spartans and Northwestern for the championship, with Iowa in the second flight and the others further behind.

This specifically includes Ohio State.

IF YOU'RE A GAMBLEE, you might risk a bob or so on the chances of the Chicago White Sox to win the pennant. Al Lopez' crew has no remaining games with first division clubs, four with each other and five with Washington.

No matter who cops the flag, the O. T.'s choice for Al manager of the year is Harry Lavagette of the Senators, who got more from less than any boss in the business.
