

Capt. Cramer sails for Berlin to fly with Soviets in VIP work

A Plymouth High school graduate of 26 years ago is off to West Berlin to get a firsthand look at what the Russians are up to.

Capt. Dayton Cramer, son of the Clarence O. Cramers left New York Tuesday in transit to Bremen where he will be assigned to the 757th Flight Service squadron.

This unit, whose organizational equipment is fast propeller-driven transport and freight-type planes, is engaged in VIP flights for The Four-power Agency which governs Berlin. Captain Cramer will be one of about a dozen American pilots flying to and from Berlin, perhaps eastward to Russian points certainly across occupied Germany between Berlin and Frankfurt-am-Main and Stuttgart.

He looks forward to the assignment, for several reasons. Not the least of them is that a professional officer needs to know what he's up against.

"I've got 19 years in the service now," Captain Cramer says, "with only three years as a regular officer. I was a reserve officer until then. I think this assignment will be interesting and absorbing, but it's kind of hard to go now. I all but had my degree from the University of Miami, but now I'll have to wait three years — the last 30 hours have to be completed in residence — to get it."

Eight Soviet pilots will be attached to Captain Cramer's squadron, to furnish guidance and navigation during overflight of Soviet territory. "You've simply got to know what makes them tick," he says, "when you're that close to 'em."

The Cramers — Mrs. Cramer and their three sons — will follow later, after housing has been furnished.

Lesho succeeds to Cubmaster's job as pack skates

George Lesho is the new Cubmaster of Plymouth Pack 1.

David E. Cook will be assistant Cubmaster.

Lesho succeeds Maynard J. Coon.

Powell Holderby is committee chairman, William R. Miller activities chairman, Oliver Fairchild new Cub chairman.

All Cubs and Boy Scouts will attend services in uniform at the churches of their choice Feb. 12, the beginning of Boy Scout week.

Plymouth Methodist church will host to the annual union Protestant Scout service. Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts wishing to attend this service meet on the church steps at 10:30 a.m.

Next Pack meeting will be Feb. 23.

Cubs skated on E. B. Miller's pond Friday night, supervised by Cubmaster Lesho Vance C. Hoffman, Sr., Lacy Williamson, Thomas Henry and William R. Miller.

Plymouth Cub Scouts will present a program Tuesday afternoon before the Mothers club in the Plymouth Elementary school.

They will be assisted by Den Mothers Mrs. Benjamin Smith, Mrs. Russell Kannan, Mrs. George Lesho, Mrs. William Reed and Mrs. David E. Cook.

Shiloh Cubs to sell

Shiloh Cub Scouts will sell Kel-cold, a patented spray to relieve hay fever and sinusitis, to raise funds to support their pack, which presented a television slot Jan. 24 in the Methodist church.

Each Cub represented a South American country.

New boys are cordially invited to affiliate, Cubmaster James Sheely reports.

Women's association to mark church birthday

Women's association, First Presbyterian church, will observe the church's 142nd anniversary Tuesday night with a special program at 7:30 p.m. in the church room.

Miss Florence Danner, president, invited all women of the church to attend. A social hour will end the evening. Mrs. Charles H. Dick and Mrs. George Roberts will assist.

The association was formed in 1959 when the Ladies Aid and the Missionary society merged their efforts. Mrs. J. Raymond Willett was the first president. All women in the church comprise the membership.

Two women's Sunday school classes in the church have worked with the larger group. The Catherine Taylor class, which began in 1938 and included men, with Mrs. Harold Sims as its teacher, was formally organized in 1941 to continue Bible study. Charter members of the group were Mrs. Sims who was its first president, Miss Danner, Mrs. L. R. Fetter, Mrs. Richard Hampton, Mrs. Marion Frank and her mother, Mrs. Moody Sponerler, Mrs. Donald E. Fetter, Mrs. C. M. McPherson, and Mrs. C. S. Eckstrowicz, nee Helen Dick.

Three major projects have marked the progress of the class. In 1944 funds were raised to purchase an organ. Later the altar cloth and a piano were bought through the class's efforts.

Another women's group was formed in 1944 when the Nora Wyandt class was organized by Mrs. H. L. Bethel, the wife of the pastor.

Presidents of the class through the years have included Mrs. Donald E. Fetter, Mrs. McPherson, Mrs. Bethel, Miss Martha Bowman, Miss Elizabeth Mohn, Mrs. James Cunningham, Mrs. Franklin McCormick, Mrs. Emma Lou Van Brunt, Mrs. Charles H. Dick, Mrs. J. Raymond Willett, Mrs. Vincent Taylor, Mrs. Gordon Seasholtz, Miss Louella Vandervort, Mrs. Harry Vanderwert, Jr., and Mrs. Adam L. Mumea.

Like the Catherine Taylor class, it meets once month in homes of the members to continue Bible study and follow its motto — "May it never be said of us that having come to an open door we closed it; having come to a lighted candle, we quenched it; having heard the voice of our neighbor beginning bread, we made denial."

Local electric rates range higher than U. S. average

How do Plymouth's electric rates compare with those paid in other communities?

A survey of residential electric rates covering 4,820 communities in the United States has just been released by the Federal Power Commission.

It shows rates in Plymouth are higher than the national average, by as much as 16 per cent.

Rates are affected, the FPC survey said, by kind of area involved, its compactness, distance from source of fuel and type of ownership of utility.

Survey took 100, 250 and 500 kilowatt-hour consumption as basis for its study.

Housenholders using 100 kilowatt hours normally have lighting, refrigeration and small appliances. National average billing was $4.04. Same service in Plymouth costs $4.55.

Most families use about 250 kilowatt hours of electricity a month. Typical bill nationally was $7.44. In Plymouth it is $8.65. National range is $3 in Eugene, Ore., to $11.69 in Great Barrington, Mass.

For consumers of 500 kilowatt hours monthly, the national average is $10.18. In Plymouth such a bill is $11.80 a month.

Plymouth thus exceeds the national average by 16.2, 16.2 and 15.9 per cent, respectively, in categories cited.

State house parley draws district group

Plymouth school district sent four delegates to the state house conference on education in Columbus Thursday.

Sup. M. J. Coon and Earl Cashman attended the round table discussion on school programs. Mrs. Edwin Beeching and Mrs. Lace Williamson, who went in place of Mrs. Paul Kranz, were part of the table discussing high school issues.

None of the recommendations is binding upon the legislature, which is only committed to consider them.

Some of the conclusions of the 3,500 persons who attended the conference included a need for better teaching staff, more adequate salary schedules, more branches of the junior college system operated by the state universities, and a need for more technical training for high school graduates.

None of the recommendations is binding upon the legislature, which is only committed to consider them.

BY DOWNING BELLVILLE IN PARTIC FIRST HALF —

Red clinches tie for RCL title

Big Red clinched at least a tie for its third straight Richland county league title at Bellville Friday night with an easy 65 to 53 win over the Blue Jays.

Plymouth's record in the league was unblemished as of Monday night.

Only Ontario had an outside chance to topple the Big Red from its perch.

Plymouth shot the nets off the baskets in the first half with a 70 per cent record — 18 of 25 tries. Bellville bagged 58.9 per cent — 15 of 31 tries.

Ahead at the half by 43 to 35, Plymouth coasted in the third quarter and held Bellville even in the final canto.

Jim Russell, playing his final season, rode the bench for part of the game, because he had four personals slapped against him. But he was high scorer with 19.

Two Books

Old Mother Goose
When she wanted to wander,
Would ride through the air
On her very fine gander . . .

Long ago, perplexed parents gave up trying to make "gander" and "wander" rhyme. They found that it made no difference to children anyway. Mother Goose was, and is, a children's classic—their ticket to fairyland.

But children also appreciate—and deserve—entrance into another interesting, important world. That is the world of Bibleland—peopled with men and women whose lives and sayings have come down through the ages to us. At home and in Sunday School, children welcome these stories. In them, a child's first faith is formed, and the first dim religious questions and longings find answer.

The Prodigal Son and Little Boy Blue; the story of David and the story of the Crooked Man—be sure your child hears them all. From Mother Goose, he will learn the delight that he may enjoy throughout his life from the printed page. From the pages of the Bible, he will sense the love and protection that is his throughout his life when he learns to cherish and worship God.

Two books: One good. One the greatest.
Children should have them both . . .

New methods

Decision of the village council to improve accounting methods was a long time in coming. There are those who contend it may even be too late.

Because less than maximum efficiency and economical management are the harvest of shoddy accounting methods. The village clerk is in an anomalous position. Elected by the people as clerk, he is the fiscal officer of the village but can't introduce fiscal practices he knows to be sound and desirable without the approval of the council. And up to now the council simply wasn't having any of the notion that each department should carry its own load.

Only way for us to know if the water department, for example, is paying for itself is to charge against it all of its proper expenses. Then it's a matter of simple arithmetic. But unless the council gives the go ahead, these sound fiscal practices can't be adopted.

We're told the electric department has by now instituted measurement of current used by all departments of the village. It is to be hoped these records will soon be available to the public; as owners of the system, the subscribers to the service ought to know where the current goes.

The street and water departments should reimburse the electric department for services rendered.

The recent step to compel dept-

Normal channels

A newspaper's proper interest is the truth, fairly told, promptly told, thoroughly well told. The tendency in the federal government, according to those who ought to know, is to obstruct access to the truth, by a kind of side-door censorship. Material that is or ought to be in the public domain is classified, or hidden, or glossed over, so that newspapers — and their reasonable competitors, radio, television and magazines — cannot get it.

Sigma Delta Chi, the national professional journalistic fraternity, is working hard to overcome this tendency. It has enlisted the support of some in the Congress. But progress is slow.

It is slow, in part, because there are substantial citizens (at least they regard themselves as substantial), who believe the public ought to be shielded from the facts, apparently on the grounds that the public can't cope with them.

We reject this notion out of hand.

But comes now word from Washington that Mr. Kennedy apparently wishes to conduct our dealings with the Soviets through normal diploments to submit written budget proposals was a sound one. It's distressing that such a system has been delayed for so long, but those who instituted it deserve a pat on the back.

But as we've often said, this is 1961 and it's high time we start to live up to it.

Nobody wants to develop a system of paper work that'll burden the village administration to the point that no work of a productive nature gets done.

But there are some papers that're absolutely necessary, required by law and custom, and ought to be emphasized. Among them are:

1. A police log, in which all actions by the police department are promptly entered, with a record of disposition of all cases, for public inspection at any reasonable time.

2. A record, to be kept by the electric department, and open to inspection, showing how much current the municipal electric system distributes to village services, as the fire department, the water department, village buildings, street lighting and such.

3. A record showing how much the village spends — apart from the exchange of services — to operate its buildings, such as the fire house, the water plant, the police station, the village hall, and for what specific purposes.

Having had some direct touch with normal diplomatic channels we know them to be relatively colorless, formalized as to form and frequency, not spontaneously productive. And, of course, they are usually private, in the sense that plenipotentiaries or their delegates conduct their discussions without the presence of third parties.

This tends to keep the news affecting the lives and happiness of millions of Americans out of the newspapers. And when there is a decision such as at Yalta, normal diplomatic channels take a beating until we remember that what took place at Yalta wasn't normal, it wasn't channels and it was hardly diplomatic.

We see no reason why anyone should object to Mr. Kennedy's intentions, so long as the Fourth Estate has a reasonable access to the president and he furnishes it with amplification of broad policy lines without disclosing their implementation until it has been accomplished.

Our dealings with the Soviets haven't been so satisfactory that a different approach, at least as to form, ought not be tried.

Suzie sez

This is puzzle week at our house. Pop is a whiz at finding them and pretty good at figuring them out.

Here are some of the best ones:

1. You go to bed at 8 p.m. and set the alarm clock to wake you at nine o'clock in the morning. How many hours of sleep do you get?

2. Do they have a fourth of July in Italy?

3. Jones was a young man with a good education and a new wife who was very pretty. He was hired by a big firm and moved to a new town. When he got there, he impressed everybody, including his boss, Smith. In a few weeks the Joneses had a dinner for a party of 60. Their cat jumped on the table and knocked over the candles. The fire spread to the tablecloth, the curtains and eventually the whole house, killing everybody in it. When the firemen came they discovered only three bodies. How did this happen?

4. How many feet have 40 sheep, the shepherd and his dog?

Have you figured them out? Well, here are the answers.

1. One. When you set the alarm for nine o'clock, it rings at night and the morning.

2. Sure. There is a July 4 on every calendar everywhere.

3. The three bodies were Jones, Mrs. Jones and Smith, who was the "party of 60."

4. Two. Sheep's feet are called trotters and dog's feet are called paws.

If anybody has any such riddles, I'd be glad to get them.

I ASKED GEORGE IF HE thought the Portuguese ship would stop at a port and let its passengers off. He said he didn't know, but added, "Hasn't this been a great year for the Pirates?" I didn't catch on until Pop reminded me George is a Pittsburgh Pirate fan.

OLD MR. REPUBLICAN

suggested that Mr. Kennedy must not be legally sworn in as our president, because he did not keep his hand on the Bible. (Old Mr. R is not Pop, because Pop was out of town and didn't sit on TV.) Well, he is all wet. Keeping his hand on the Bible isn't important, it's only custom. What he swore to is important, that's the oath. So Mr. Kennedy is the real president.

RULE WINS CONTEST

A former Plymouthite, Robert (Bob) Rule, now of Hilliard, is the lucky winner of a trip for two to Hawaii.

With his wife, he will depart by jet plant Feb. 20 for a 10-day tour of the 50th state. He won the trip as a door prize when a new bank opened.

The son of the late Bert Rule, a clothier here, is the nephew of Mrs. Harold E. Teal, employee of Westinghouse Corp. He moved to Hilliard when Westinghouse closed some Mansfield operations and transferred them to Columbus.

During the fire, E. Dean Wolford, lost his air mask and was overcome by fumes and smoke. Even now he is unable to recall all that happened.

While Marshal Joe Harris had his station wagon parked along the curb in West Main street, near the business section, Saturday night, a passing motorist drove into the rear end, shoving the front of the car into a utility pole. Both ends were extensively damaged.

OES stages instruction school; Belt house burns, damage big

Twenty-ninth session of school of instruction for officers and members of the 13 chapters of District 10 OES, was held Friday in the Masonic temple here.

There were 174 registrations. District officers elected were Mrs. Elizabeth Barth, McChinville, president; Mrs. Mary Cowgill, Crestline, vice-president; Mrs. G. T. Moore, Plymouth, secretary; Mrs. William McConahy, Nevada, treasurer.

Mrs. Ross Addams, Angelus chapter, was appointed Grand Representative of Colorado by the worthy grand matron.

A luncheon was served at noon by Shiloh church women.

Afternoon was spent largely by the exemplification of the ritualistic work of the order of the worthy matrons and patrons of the various chapters.

This was in charge of the worthy grand matron. She suggested that the morning donation be given to the Bible association and that the collection of the afternoon be turned over to the cancer fund.

Tea was served at the close of the session by the Past Matrons association of Angelus chapter.

Among guests were Doris Preston, worthy grand matron of Ohio; Grace Grepper, associate grand matron; Marguerite Hale, grand conductor; Mary Jarvis, grand chaplain; Jessie Negus, grand warden; Alice Ryder, deputy grand matron; Donna Lawrence, deputy grand matron, District 26; Magdalene Williams, grand representative of Missouri; Ida Askina, grand representative of North Carolina.

Mr. and Mrs. John Noble and daughter of Mansfield were guests at the Lyle Hammon home Sunday.

The M. C. Guthrie, Rome, N.Y., are spending a few days at their home here.

A daughter was born Monday to Mr. and Mrs. William Dent, who live east of Shiloh. Mrs. Dent is the former Miss Marilyn Van Wagner of this place.

A man driving past the John Belt farm in Point North road, south of Shiloh noticed and reported the house on fire, Saturday about 8 p.m.

Shiloh Fire department was called and worked in the cold and piercing wind until 4 a.m. Franklin Township Fire department was called. It believed the fire was caused by an overheated furnace.

Only the frame of the gutted building stands. Fire broke out again the next morning but was soon under control. The family was not at home Saturday evening but dogs in the house before firemen could reach them.

The place was formerly owned by the late George England. Damage was estimated at $14,500, partly covered by insurance.

Mrs. Belt, who teaches piano, pursued on with the rearing of her pupils at Shelby despite the fire.

During the fire, E. Dean Wolford, lost his air mask and was overcome by fumes and smoke. Even now he is unable to recall all that happened.

While Marshal Joe Harris had his station wagon parked along the curb in West Main street, near the business section, Saturday night, a passing motorist drove into the rear end, shoving the front of the car into a utility pole. Both ends were extensively damaged.

Washington Report

BY
REP. JOHN ASHBROOK
17th District

The legislative machinery of your government is at a virtual standstill. Since being sworn in Jan. 3, we have had no significant roll call vote. You don't hear anyone complain because in the ending weeks there will be more than enough to do. The cause is the inability of the Rules Committee.

The Democratic leadership is committed to a plan which would pack that committee, focus spot in the legislative process, because of an alleged unwillingness in the past to report to the floor liberal legislation.

While the facts don't bear out this contention, there is a great effort to change the committee's currently 8-4 Democratic advantage to a 10-5. There really is no need for this but Sam Rayburn has let it be known he intends to change the committee. In the meantime, everything waits until the struggle is resolved. No committee assignments have been made, no committee meetings called and little accomplished on the floor of the House.

The Republicans picked up some 20 seats in 1960 and have over 40 per cent of the members of the House. The Democrats want to widen the gap — rather than narrow it — on the Rules committee. I intend to oppose this move. Many liberal commentators allege that the Rules committee thwarts the will of the House. This is sheer fantasy. There is no such thing in a democratic assembly as thwarting the majority. The majority can always get what it wants. If the Rules committee holds up a piece of legislation that a majority of the representatives want reported on, they can sign a discharge petition and have it brought out. Simply stated, it is impossible to control or thwart the will of the majority.

The big question mark on Capitol hill is "How is President Kennedy going to make good on his campaign promises?" He expressed during the campaign a feeling that we should not have any tax increases right now and also averred that he was not in favor of deficit spending. How, then, will he deliver on a promised program which is heavily laden with expanded billion dollar welfare proposals? The budget which President Eisenhower submitted to the Congress is balanced but only delicately. Task force reports to the new chief executive already recommend additional billions in spending in just a few areas.

Mr. Kennedy may be able to have his cake and eat it, too. By offering huge programs to the Congress in sight to pay for them it is certain that there are enough responsible legislators to block these tactics. Responsibility in the public mind may thus be shifted to the Congress for failure to pass this program. I personally am inclined to look for better judgment and faith from President Kennedy.

As Republicans turn over the helm to Democrats one can't help but note that many of our problems are of a continuing nature — foreign and domestic. Unemployment was much more serious in the last peace-time year under Truman, but it continues as a major problem today. Wars and the threats of wars still plague us. Although our defense posture is much improved, we still face the same tyrannical communism which has stepped up its subversion and discord.

Red rally wins third RCL title in succession

Plymouth's Big Red came from behind at Ontario Tuesday night to win a 48 to 47 victory, clinching its third successive Richland county league title.

It was an uphill battle, not decided until the final second, when the Warriors got off a field goal try that teetered on the backboard.

Plymouth's record is now 13 wins and three defeats, all of which came in non-league contests. Its RCL record is unblemished.

Two league games — with Lucas and Union — remain. Neither will affect the outcome of the league.

THE BIG RED FELL BEHIND with a cold performance in the first period, when it garnered only seven points. But it steamed up somewhat in the second quarter and went to the dressing room only two points behind, at 25 to 23.

What Coach Harold Daup told his charge during the break apparently paid off, because the Red scored 19 in the third canto and went into the final period with a lead of four points at 42 to 38.

Tight defensive play held scoring down during the final eight minutes, when Plymouth scored six, Ontario nine.

CONSIDERING ITS INABILITY to control rebounding — Lanzen, Warrior center, is six-five — the Red did well. Jim Russell scored 20 points to lead the visitors. Jerry Daron was the only other player in double figures, indeed the only other player over five points with 15. Ray Lynch's floor play was attributed by spectators to be a major factor in Plymouth's scaling.

Lanzen had 25 for the Warriors.

Team play did it!

By The Old Timer

Whatever happens from here on in, this season's quintet deserves consideration among the best the Sandusky street boards have ever produced.

Because it is a team that had little on paper when the season started, less proved ability than any team in several years, and it has flourished less on the individual ability of one or two players than as a cooperative effort.

Coach Harold E. Daup had only three lettermen when the first whistle blew. Jim Russell had performed notably for the 1959-60 outfit, chiefly at guard where he established a reputation for hard floor play, effective rebounding and a high fouling rate. Ray Lynch got some substitute action. Marv Cok had seen considerable action as a junior but never quite reached the level he had achieved as a sophomore.

But the rest of the outfit was relatively green. It got few breaks in the schedule. Although Lucas, its first loop opponent, is down this year, Lexington tested the Red to the limit before succumbing in overtime.

THERE WAS THE IMPRESSION at this point that Daup might well have a ball club if it could hold together.

John Jones & Son, Inc.

Has John Jones really slaved all of his life so his son could take over? Perhaps Mrs. Jones could throw some light on this question.

Since he's a small boy, John Jones, Jr. has wanted to be a forest ranger. But his father has been so wrapped up in his own success that he has never asked his son what he wanted to do with his life.

The fact that John should be free to make his own choice of a career has never entered his father's mind.

Janet Barnes weds Mr. Ousley

Miss Janet Barnes and Claude Ousley exchanged marriage vows Sunday at 6:30 p.m. before the candlelighted altar of First Presbyterian church.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Moss Rutan. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Barnes. The bridegroom is the son of the John Ousleys.

A prelude of wedding music was played on the church organ by Max Caywood.

The bride was escorted down the center aisle of the church by her father. She wore a white chiffon gown fashioned with a full ballerina length skirt. A shawl collar was draped over her shoulders to form cap sleeves and the neckline was formed in a V. Her only jewelry was a teardrop necklace. She wore a small headband of satin leaves and carried a nosegay of white flowers with trailing streamers.

Miss Eva Dick of Shiloh was her maid of honor. Her gown in pink chiffon was similar to that of the bride. Her flowers were a corsage of white carnations.

Frank Ousley was his brother's best man.

MRS. BARNESES CHOSE a spring green dress with a full skirt. The bodice was designed with a high round neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. She wore a beige clip hat and a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Ousley wore light blue and also had white carnations as her flowers.

The bride's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Gary Eastman Steuben, wore navy blue. So did the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Sally Ousley, Shiloh and Mrs. Grace Barnes, Greenwich, paternal grandmother of the bride.

A reception followed in the North Fairfield Grange hall. Bouquets of pink and white carnations decorated the bride's table. Assisting the guests were the Misses Margaret Dawson, Sandra Barnes, Ruth Osley and Linda Bright.

After a short honeymoon, the young couple is living at 42½ Oak street, Shelby.

JET POWER helps Ohio Fuel serve you better!

Jet power has been brought down to earth to help the Ohio Fuel Gas Company meet increasing demands for natural gas in 745,000 Ohio homes, stores, and industries. In the world's first harnessing of jet thrust for industrial needs, Ohio Fuel's parent company, the Columbia Gas System, is now using a jet engine to pump natural gas. The jet engine - like those that power the fabulous new jet airliners - propels millions of cubic feet of gas a day on its way to Ohio from the big gas fields in Louisiana. This revolutionary new achievement is the result of the constant program of progress by Columbia and Ohio Fuel to serve you.

Loaded for trouble?

To the youngsters, a drive with the gang is great fun. But driving is serious business, too. Last year, nearly 40,000 people died in traffic accidents —many of them killed by drivers whose minds weren't wholly on their job. So stay alert every minute when you drive. Keep driving fun—and safe!

Help stop senseless killing on our highways. Drive safely yourself. Insist on strict law enforcement for your own protection. Work actively with others to support your local Safety Council. Remember—where traffic laws are strictly enforced, deaths go down.
