

Red collapses before Butler Bulldogs, 55-48

Shoddy ball handling, poor shooting result in tourney defeat

It was 7:38 p.m. Tuesday by the big clock in the end of Ontario High school gymnasium. Coach Gordon Shipley, diminutive leader of Butler's Bulldogs, was saying, "I'll tell you this, we didn't come over here tonight to get licked."

How right he was appeared forcibly on the scoreboard an hour and 37 minutes later: Butler 55, Plymouth 48.

Thus the Big Red bowed out of tournament competition even before it got started. It marked the second time in three years the Big Red had won the league title only to fail in the tourney.

A packed house watched this one, yelled a good deal but in reality had little to cheer about. Because the brand of basketball displayed by both teams, but especially Plymouth, was inferior.

PLYMOUTH LOST BECAUSE it was unable to hang on to its ball. Backboard recovery, notably in the last half, and because it couldn't shoot accurately, particularly in the fourth period.

Coach Harold Daup's squad clung to a one-point lead after eight minutes, 11 to 10, largely because Mary Cok hit with two tries from the field. Al Morton, lanky Butler star, was keeping the Bulldogs in contention with one-handed push shots from 10 feet out.

After a field goal by Ron Thorne put Butler in the lead midway in the second period, Jess Hamman turned one in off his right hand. Morton retaliated to make it 20 to 19, whereupon Ken Van Loo burst under the bucket for two and Jim Russell beat the clock, which read seven seconds, for his seventh point of the night. Plymouth went to the dressing room with a 24 to 20 lead.

At this point, Plymouth had 15 rebounds, Butler 11. Plymouth had converted 10 of 26 field goal tries, Butler 6 of 19. THE BIG RED CAME UNSTUCK in the third period. Butler began to hold its own off both boards. And Plymouth was unable to shoot accurately.

Doug Walters, Wharton and Ken Farst clicked for eight points to offset three Plymouth free throws — one by Reed and two by Russell — to reduce the lead to a single point. Van Loo fumbled a secured rebound, Morton picked it up under the Plymouth basket and converted. A questionable decision on what constitutes a kicked ball — Butler passed the ball with force into Russell's foot, he did not kick it — gave the Bulldogs another chance in the forecourt and these two goals by Morton at 4:48 of the period gave the Bulldogs a lead they never gave up.

From this point the Big Red seemed to be grasping at straws. Its turnover rate rose and its shooting accuracy simply disappeared. In the third period, Plymouth converted only five of 16. In the last quarter, the rate was four of 14. Meanwhile, Butler was doing eight of 15 for the third period and five of seven for the final one.

IT WOULD HAVE TAKEN a mighty poised club to defeat Butler under the circumstances. But on this night Plymouth simply did not have it. The final period, which began with Butler leading 42 to 38, saw Plymouth creep to within three points after applying a full court press, chiefly on two push shots by Reed, but Butler was breaking away for easy lay-ups because the Red defense collapsed.

Morton, whose effectiveness is deceiving, led all scorers with 23. Russell was next with 13.

'Nip' BeVier dies at Shelby; Mrs. Kruger succumbs at 79

For 55 years an employee of Fate-Root-Heath Co., and its predecessors most recently as plant superintendent, David E. (Nip) BeVier, 74, died at his home, 31 East Gaylord avenue, Shelby, at 8 a.m. yesterday.

He was ill two months. His associates learned he was seized of pains in his legs, but he passed them off as trivial until they worsened. His physician sent him to a hospital and after treatment he was sent home.

Born here Oct. 4, 1886, he had lived in Shelby 30 years.

He was a member of First United Presbyterian church, Shelby.

His wife, Gertrude, and two brothers, George and Frank, both of Plymouth, survive.

The Rev. Moss Rutan, pastor of First Presbyterian church here, will conduct a funeral service tomorrow at 2 p.m. from Barkdull Funeral home, Shelby. Mourners may call at the funeral home today. Interment will be in Oakland cemetery, Shelby.

Mrs. Kruger had lived in Plymouth since 1946

Mrs. Gertrude Niehoff Kruger, 79, died in Shelby Memorial hospital yesterday morning.

She had been ill a long time, in and out of hospitals for several months.

Born in the Netherlands, in the same town as her late husband, Martin, whom she married Dec. 18, 1909, at Hoboken, N. J., Mrs. Kruger had lived here since 1946. For 37 years previously, the Krugers lived in Brooklyn, N. Y.

The Krugers observed their golden wedding anniversary Dec. 18, 1959. Mr. Kruger died Nov. 8, 1960.

A daughter, Mrs. James J. Ryan, 233 Sandusky street, with whom she lived, and a son, Master Sergt. John Henry Kruger, USAF, Hickam Field, Hawaii, survive.

McQuate Funeral home is in charge of arrangements, details of which were not available at press time.

Total of $106 will remain in the operating fund to be carried over to the 1961 drive. Goal of the 1960 drive was $2,973. It fell short by $273.63.

Mrs. Gaylord hurt in two-car cash; passenger injured

A Plymouth route 1 woman was slightly injured and her passenger severely hurt Friday in a two-car collision on the Rt. 20 bypass at Fremont.

Mrs. Melvia Gaylord, 54, driver, received abrasions of the feet and hands and possible rib fractures when her car was struck from the rear by another operated by Martin Brannan, 36, Toledo, who received lacerations of the chin and forearm and abrasions of the hand.

Mrs. Gaylord's passenger, Mrs. Sylvia Prediere, 59, Willard, mother of Mrs. G. Thomas Moore, received a concussion of the head with possible fracture of the skull. Brannan was issued a summons alleging he failed to halt within an assured distance.

Mrs. DeLancey dies in hospital

Mrs. Flora DeLancey, 79, Cornell hotel, died in Willard Municipal hospital at 12:45 a.m. Sunday.

She was admitted by ambulance Saturday.

Born Sept. 15, 1881, in Fenner road, Richland county, she was the widow of Walter DeLancey, who died in Cleveland about 25-years ago. Mrs. DeLancey returned to live here.

A son died in 1945. Only nieces and cousins survive.

The Rev. Robert F. Hall, pastor of First Evangelical Lutheran church, conducted last rites Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. from McQuate Funeral home. Burial was in Greenlawn cemetery.

Marksman slays sheep-killer dogs

Prompt and accurate shooting by Cloyce Slessman, a neighbor, killed two dogs which had destroyed 12 sheep and lambs in the barn of the Frank V. Smiths opposite New Haven cemetery in Route 51 East.

The carcasses of the sheep and lambs were still warm and the dogs were found inside the barn, Mr. Smith reports, when Slessman arrived. He had been hunting foxes, which explained why he had a loaded weapon in his possession.

Claim for reimbursement of damages has been laid through New Haven township trustees and will presumably be paid by county commissioners from dog tax revenues.

Neither of the dogs was licensed, Smith said.

Tax bill high! Think of 1852: $4 for 102½ acres

Think that $40.40 a thousand (or $38.90, if you live in Huron county) tax bill is high?

Compare it with the bill paid by John Ziegler, deceased kin of Sherman Burns, West High street, who uncovered a slightly torn but highly legible receipt issued by the Huron county treasurer Nov. 29, 1852, to Mr. Ziegler.

Taxable property is described as Range 24, Township 1, Section 3, Lot No. 5, containing 102½ acres, having a value of $530, with a rate of .4372 mills.

The tax bill for the half? Why, four dollars three cents.

Dinner tickets still available here

Tickets for the annual Plymouth Chamber of Commerce dinner are still available from Don Vanderpool and his committee. Oscar J. Gowitzka, Edward Ramsey and Robert Lewis.

The dinner will be served Thursday at 6 p.m. in the Plymouth Elementary school. Robert W. Levering, former 17th district Congressional representative, will be the guest speaker.

Mayor, clerk get typing help; Band sets concert here Mar. 3

Hiring of a part-time secretary to cope with administrative typing in the mayor's office and to assist the clerk was approved by village council Monday night on request of Mayor William Fazio.

Fazio said he needs the stenographic help to "move important correspondence" through his office and to keep minutes of the planning committee. Clerk Carl V. Ellis has been paying his extra typing help from his own pocket.

Not more than $25 a month from the general fund was earmarked for this purpose. Fazio said he already has tentatively engaged the stenographer, but did not otherwise identify her.

Councilman Donald E. Akers notified the council he intends to introduce an ordinance calling for pay raises for elected officers. He sought from Solicitor Joseph F. Dush instruction as to final date for passage of such legislation to apply on terms beginning Jan. 1, 1962.

Alden E. Stilson & Associates, Ltd., Columbus, consulting engineers for the sewer project, told the council they will not proceed with a survey of the Bittering site for use as sewer lagoons until they are furnished with a written authority to trespass upon it.

MAYOR FAZIO SAID HE had heard no further from the attorney for the farm agent, Dr. George J. Sieckel, and would seek a final word by telephone.

Stilson set the fee for the survey at payroll cost plus 100 per cent plus expenses. A seven per cent of cost contribution by the village will be required for the repaving of Trux street, which is also Route 603, within the corporation. The bridge over the Huron river will be replaced and the street widened east to the corporation line.

The village will also be required to enforce one-side-of-the-street parking. Some trees will be removed. A request has been made of Division 3, state highway department, Ashland, to repave Route 61 from the north corporation line to the intersection with Route 98.

MAYOR AND STREET committee were empowered to take action to relieve a sewer stoppage in Cornell's restaurant.

A juggling act that would do credit to a headline performance on the Orpheum circuit resulted Thursday night in short-term solution to immediate demands for capital funds.

Village council resolved to pay off the outstanding debt on the electric system. It amounts to $55,000 (originally it was $84,000).

2 Use all moneys in the bond retirement fund (now totalling $135,825.69) and some in the electric operating fund (thoroughly $20,000) to pay off this mortgage. The action leaves the utility department debt free, since the water mortgage has been settled.

3 Transfer temporarily moneys from electric and water operating funds to the sewer service fund, in anticipation of receipts of a two mill levy.

4 Use moneys in the sewer service fund (about $40,000), which are now earning four per cent interest, to buy land upon which to install sanitary sewer lagoons.

Ohio Power shows bigger profit, higher gross, increased costs

New records in power sales and revenues and the highest cost of conducting its business in its history are reported by Ohio Power Co's vice-president and general manager, A.

N. Prentice, Canton. During 1960 Ohio Power sold 12.6-billion kwh of electricity and had gross revenues totaling $31,681,000. Power sales were up 6.1 per cent over the previous year and revenues were $4,838,000 higher than in 1959.

"These increases were achieved in spite of a general slowdown in the economy and major cutbacks in production by heavy energy-consuming industries, such as steel and ferro-alloys," Prentice said.

"Much of the slack in our industrial sales category was taken up by two aluminum reduction plants which continued to use huge quantities of power," he said. The two plants, which reduce bauxite ore to primary aluminum, are operated by Ormet Corp., Clarington, and Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Corp., Ravenswood, W. Va.

Sales to industrial customers amounted to nearly 7 1/2-billion kwh in 1960, a seven per cent increase over 1959.

"Both residential and commercial customers showed similar gains in power purchases during the year," Prentice stated.

The company's average domestic user of electricity increased his annual consumption to a record 4,268 kwh during the year. Average cost of a residential kwh continued to decrease, amounting to only 2.21 cents, compared with an average cost of 2.24 cents in 1959 and 2.79 cents in 1958.

"Ohio Power last year added 1,556 electrically heated heated homes to its lines, bringing the total number of installations to 6,760," Prentice said. "Of those added last year, 1,198 were new homes and the remaining 358 were older homes which were converted from a fuel-fired heating system to electric heating."

I didn't get to go away alone last weekend. My hostess was sick and her mother called up and said it wouldn't be convenient for me to go.

So I stayed home and took care of my sick brother. And boy was he sick. I wouldn't wish what he had on my worst enemy.

Chp has the measles. The dictionary says measles is a contagious febrile disease marked by the appearance of round red spots on the skin, starting with a catarrhal condition.

Take it from me, the dictionary is right. First he had the coughs, which is the same as catarrh. Everytime he coughed, I thought he would turn inside out.

Then he got a fever, which is what febrile means.

And then came the spots. He must have had a million of them, in his ears, up his nose, in his hair, under his eyes, on his eyelids — everywhere including where I was told but not allowed to see.

When he cooled off, which took a couple of days, he got the itches. He just couldn't take his hands off where it itched. Then we got some baby oil and that helped.

So I have been washing dark glasses and trying to keep the cats off the patient and the measles off me.

THE DOCTOR SAYS there isn't any treatment for measles except to keep the shades down and the light out of the patient's eyes.

There is apparently a treatment for patients' mothers. Mom called the doctor to see how she could make Chip feel better and she was told "Lime gelatine".

Well, she made it, and he ate some of it, what he could keep down. But he admitted it would have been the same if it were raspberry or orange.

Pop says that making lime gelatine must be the same as making an expectant father boil water; it's not needed, but it keeps the asker of questions so busy he doesn't ask any more questions.

Mosher against U. S. aid to private (parish) schools

Payment of federal funds for the support of private and parochial would probably be unconstitutional, Rep. Charles A. Mosher (R-Oberlin) has told about 50 inquirers in Sandusky county, and for other reasons he is opposed to federal support of private schools.

Use of tax funds for this purpose, he said, would tend to fragmentize the school system, to the detriment of the country.

"The public schools are equally available to all children of school age. No child need be sent to any private or parochial school except as the parents of the child decide they have some special reason why they do not want to take advantage of the opportunity to attend the public schools," Mosher said.

He cited his personal interest in the question, since the Mosher's only son was sent to a private school during four years of secondary education and since Mosher himself served on the education committee of the Ohio Senate for several years.

Whether pupils enrolled in private or parochial schools should be counted for purposes of distributing federal aid money also fell under Mosher's scrutiny. He says he now thinks they should not, but that his mind is not closed on either issue.

Suit for $150,000 settled for $1,200

Settlement of $1,200 was agreed upon Tuesday by attorney for Merland Gibson, administrator of the estate of Myrtle Gibson, and Mrs. Gladys Coffey, Shiloh, and Ralph F. Pettit, Greenwich, defendants in an action seeking judgment of $150,000 for alleged wrongful death of Mrs. Gibson on Dec. 3, 1958.

Mrs. Coffey's attorney argued Mrs. Gibson was not a paying passenger in her car. He said the two women exchanged rides.

Gibson alleged his former wife, who died in the collision in Route 61 near Route 598 intersection, lost her life through negligence of the defendants. Pettit was the driver of a light truck which collided with Mrs. Coffey's car.

They got those humps because they were bred there

We got ours because (choose one)

1. We worked for 'em.
2. God meant for editors to have humps.
3. A hump is a sign of ignorance.

As any fool can plainly see (we can see it), No. 2 is as wrong as wrong can be. Obviously, God never intended for editors to have humps or He would have made them with humps.

Camels have humps, and they're not especially ignorant. The dromedary and the Bactrian are pretty smart, it seems to us. They eschew water for drinking purposes six days out of seven. It's a good bit like the old saw, "All Frenchmen are Europeans, but all Europeans aren't Frenchmen." Some animals, including humans, which have humps may be ignorant, but not all of them.

So that hump on our back isn't necessarily a sign of ignorance. And No. 3 isn't completely correct.

The right answer, dear friends and gentle hearts, is No. 1. WE GOT THAT HUMP BECAUSE WE WORKED FOR IT!

Humps develop from pushing, and the Lord knows we pushed.

Which is how we won some important awards in advertising during the annual Osman C. Hooper Newspaper show, staged by the Buckeye Press association to afford its members an opportunity to see how they compare with other newspapers in the same circulation class.

Advertisers who don't push make at least one tragic mistake: effect of advertising is cumulative. Repetition sells!

Publishers who don't push don't eat. But they have to have something to push with. Know-how is part of it. Equipment is another. We've got both — modern, efficient, flexible, ready at the drop of your hat.

Ungainly though it may be, like the Brahma, we're touchy about our hump. We'd like it to grow bigger. On push.

Hostler's hungry hounds run up string of 12 wins without loss

Those who think the material may tend to thin out can take heart from the performance of Coach Ron Hostler's seventh grade quintet: an undefeated season after 12 games!

The outfit has a scoring average of 37.3 points a game and has held its opposition to 13.3 points a game. Thirteen players make up Hostler's squad, but seven of them have seen most of the action.

Mike Frisby, far and away the leading scorer with 164 points, and Roger Crager, with 79 points, are Hostler's top rebounders and engineers of the fast break. Guards Rod Huston, with 61 points, and Jim Broderick, with 50, are the ball-handlers and play-makers. Noah Slone has 56 points, John Kennard 12 and Bob Hall 11.

Biggest victory of the season came against Greenwich, 52 to 1. Willard seventh graders managed 24 points against Hostler's crew, 11 short of a tie.

Other members of the squad are Dave McQuown, Sid Allen, Nick Hunt, Phil Bushey, Mary Cole and Bill Tom.

On the Sidelines

By THE OLD TIMER

Big question that'll never be resolved: what would've happened had Iowa's regulars not been dropped from the squad?

It was apparent from the telecast that Iowa's inexperience and lack of poise cost the Hawkeyes the upset victory over the Bucks. There was no need to give — and let's face it, the buckets by Siegfried and Gearhart were outright gifts — Ohio the four points in the last two minutes.

Iowa outplayed Ohio, a not uncommon trait for Hawkeye teams when pitted against the Cardinal and Grey, and full credit should be given Coach Sharm Scheurman, the 24-year-old Hawkeye mentor, who came up with the one defense Ohio had played against only once before. He chose the close man-for-man technique. Frankly, the Bucks didn't know how to handle it. They were used to a three-two or a two-three zone with double teaming of Lucas.

Nelson, the Iowa pivot man, outplayed Lucas off the boards. Had Iowa's shooting accuracy in the last half been anything like what it was in the first period, the Hawks would have won by 15 points.

But they pay off on score, and Ohio won by one, 62 to 61. Hail to the undefeated Bucks, and plenty of praise to the never-say-die Hawkeyes.

Yesiree...this is an "old-fashioned" winter!

The Old Farmer's Almanac was right when it predicted a real "old-fashioned" winter this year.

It's been cold! And, how!

The average temperature during December was 33½ per cent colder than the same month the year before in the area served by the Ohio Fuel Gas Co.

January was 23 per cent colder than a year ago.

During the 12-day period ending January 30, temperatures dropped 9 to 22 degrees below normal.

As a result, Ohio Fuel delivered a record 103 billion cubic feet of gas during December and January to keep customers' homes warm.

This means your home heating bills this winter are likely to be higher than usual. The colder the weather, the more fuel it takes to keep your house warm. But it's a comfort to know that gas is by far the least expensive fuel for heating.

With natural gas, homeowners in Ohio enjoy unmatched heating efficiency, comfort, and convenience — no matter how much colder one year is than another — at rates that continue to be among the lowest in the nation.
