

Yea, team!

The start of the football season whets the enthusiasm of player, coach and fan for the color and excitement of gridiron combat.

The sensible coach remembers the game at the high school level is wholly for the purpose of developing character, muscular coordination and love of sportsmanship. It is unimportant to win if to do so is to subvert the real purpose of interscholastic football.

Too often the enthusiasm of the Monday Morning Quarterback club and the rowdies who collect on the sideline instead of remaining in the stands where they belong deflects the players and their coach from the stated purpose of the sport. This must be halted.

One sure way is for school officials to enforce strictly the rules and the spirit of the regulations affecting spectators and players.

There were too many — indeed, one is too many — reports of vandalism, mugging, molestation and other crimes during the last gridiron season.

We suggest, from having watched several hundred schoolboy games, these rules:

1. No person save the players, officials, coaches and authorized press should be permitted within 50 feet of the playing field.

2. No spectator should be permitted to leave the stands for a better vantage point closer to the field.

3. Players should be cautioned to use guest facilities as they would their own. We've had too many proved reports of visiting players who used classrooms for lavatories, who broke windows and doors and otherwise disgraced themselves and their teams.

4. Pressure by the business community, graduates and "friends of the team" to produce a winner by other than ethical methods should be ignored or exposed. To expose it is the best way to kill it for good. The courageous school official who exposes such pressure will get our wholehearted support.

5. The stadium, parking lots, and streets to and from the stadium should be adequately patrolled by police to prevent offenses against person and property.

6. Small children who're sent to the game without supervision so that parents can obtain cheap baby sitting should be required to remain seated in the stands.

7. Persons who plainly have used alcoholic stimulants to excess should be ejected or barred from attendance. Whether in the college or professional game this is harmless is beside the point. To teach schoolboys properly, we must make it clear that alcohol has no place in the sport, whether in player, coach, official or fan.

Continued breach of rules, of common sense and good taste will only result in bloodshed, and sooner or later the abolishment of night football at the schoolboy level.

Just in case anybody's interested, not one report of breach of the rules during daylight football occurred in Ohio in 1960.

Fire guts Cutright dwelling

A spectacular fire that was nearly two hours in detection gutted the two-storey dwelling at 140 Plymouth street owned and occupied by the Jack A. Cutrights at about 10:30 p.m. Friday.

The family was not at home. The parents were at a drive-in theatre, the children with a neighbor.

Neighbors smelled wood smoke about 9 p.m. but could find no fire. William Adams told Councilman John T. Dick and Fire Chief Judson A. Morrison "the whole west side of town smells of wood smoke" and they set out to search for the fire. After about 40 minutes, they saw flames licking through the roof of the Cutright house.

A general alarm, the second to the same house in eight weeks, summoned firemen and civil defense personnel, who fought the flames until 3 a.m. But little of the household furnishings were rescued. Some storm windows and garden appliances were retrieved from a rear shed.

Cause of the fire is uncertain. An electrical short circuit may have caused it.

"It was lucky for us the house was shut up," Chief Morrison said Monday. No estimate of damage or loss has been completed, he said. Insurance on the dwelling was $12,000, on contents $4,000.

Assault case given another hearing

Robert T. Brewer, 33, Willard route 1, who was brought here for detention on a charge of intoxication Aug. 12, was fined $50 and costs.

Postponement for one week to allow the accused to assemble witnesses was accorded Dallas Neese, 19, rural Shiloh, accused of assault and battery in mayor's court here. Neese will be heard tomorrow at 7 p.m.

Sewer lagoon sites deficient in clays, expert tells council

Cost of constructing sewer oxidation lagoons in the Bittinger and Dr. Sichel-property north of Plymouth will amount to $185,000, Aden E. Stilson & Associates told village council in special session last night.

Soil testing carried out by specialists engaged by the village showed 40 per cent of the proposed lagoons in areas where materials are suitable for such construction and 60 per cent where they are not.

The soil engineers recommended the village move the proposed lagoons northward. This, pointed out Roger W. Loveless, chief sanitary engineer for Stilson, would mean the village would have to negotiate for the McKown and Bittinger properties rather than the Bittinger-Sichel properties.

Soil deficiencies are such in the 60 per cent area that two feet of clay or other impervious material would have to be applied in order to make the lagoons meet state requirements. And, as Loveless slyly implied, "this runs into money."

Loveless produced a sketch showing how the three oxidation lagoons might be planned so that a minimum of "borrow" — that is, trucked-in clay — would be necessary.

Allowing about $35,000 for acquisition of the site, Loveless cited a total of $185,000 for construction of the oxidation lagoons, including about

Mayor unopposed after board action

Despite a special $100 survey paid for by "neighbors", Joseph H. McCurdy won't be allowed to run for mayor of the village in the general election.

The survey was supposed to show that McCurdy is principally domiciled in the village. But it didn't.

And when the self-appointed citizen's committee inquired about the legality of writing in candidacies, chiefly thinking of Thomas P. Crabbe, it was told they'd be illegal. Only where there is no candidate

Chronister cousin dies at Mansfield

Funeral services were conducted for Willis E. Chronister, a cousin of Harry Chronister in Mansfield Friday night.

Born in Plymouth, Oct. 15, 1903, Mr. Chronister died suddenly Aug. 15. A retired employee of the Erie railroad, he lived near Butler.

He is survived by two brothers, Ernest and John Chronister, several nieces, a stepbrother and three step-sisters. Burial was in Mansfield Memorial park.

Mrs. Keith's father dies at Bucyrus

Father of Mrs. Lowell E. Keith, 112 Franklin street, Fred Schiefer, 85, retired sawyer and thrasher of Chaffield, died in Bucyrus County hospital Saturday.

Although he had been in failing health for some time, he was a patient there only a day.

Two daughters, Mrs. Alverna Wickert, Ft. Wayne, Ind., and Mrs. Arleta Miller, Chaffield, and three sons, Harold, Russell and Paul, all of Chaffield, also survive. There are seven grandchildren.

The Rev. Paul Netzel conducted last rites Tuesday at 2:30 p.m. in College Hill church south of Attica. Burial in the church cemetery ensued.

35 seek starting jobs on Big Red squad

Thirty-five candidates aspire to starting roles on Coach Bill Ramsey's 1961 Plymouth Big Red grid outfit.

They include a dozen lettermen, seven seniors, nine juniors, 12 sophomores and seven yearlings.

Ramsey said Monday night "the attitude of these boys is good and I hope we'll make a lot of progress before school starts."

He has an overnight scrimmage set up Monday afternoon. The squad will leave Plymouth early in the afternoon, scrimmage at 5 p.m. and stay overnight with players of the opposing squad.

Lettermen among Red

Dave Barbour, senior letterman, will see much duty in middle of Big Red line this season. He's a 200-pounder. AT LEFT: Dick Lewis is a candidate for an end post. A senior, he'll have to make up in speed what he lacks in heft at only 147.

Akers hurls zeroes to down Celeryville

Eric Akers pitched a five-inning no hitter against Celeryville in first round play of the Huron county pony baseball tourney last week.

Celeryville conceded in the sixth, with Plymouth leading 16 to 2. The score reverted to the fifth inning.

Akers also belted a triple. Gary Ross and Ron Cline had a pair of bingles apiece. Jim Hook also had a pair, one of them a homer.

Plymouth was to play Willard No. 2 at Greenwich Tuesday afternoon.

Nero Howard pitched Celeryville to a 7 to 3 victory over Willard No. 1 to enter the semi-finals in the winner's bracket.

Celeryville meets North Fairfield Saturday at 1 p.m. loser of Tuesday's contest Sunday at 1 p.m.

A series final at Roosevelt Raceway June 23.

Miller's assault on the Fair purses will begin Monday — first day of the four day card — in the $26,000 Ohio State trot. His entry in the two-year-old stake will be Demon Maid, a Grandview Futurity winner and impressive in re-winter and impressive in recent fair performances at Mt. Vernon and Bucyrus.

Tarport Tom, son of Solicitor, and with a 2:09 to his credit on a half mile track, will be Miller's challenge to Buckeye Champ, Coffee Break, Play Bill, Cutie Hill, Shame Volo and Pastime Balios in the $30,000 Buckeye State pace Tuesday.

The date has been tentatively set for Nov. 18.

At their meeting last week, they also planned dances to be held in October and December.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Sir:

It has been a shame, all summer, to see how the playground at the elementary school building has been allowed to be abused, as it has, by children that have been turned loose to spend their whole day there without supervision. Swings have been taken down and dragged through the stones, seat boards were split to remove the chains and the chains were used to climb the trees. Limbs were broken off and left to lay around. Maybe, next summer, it would be wise to hire a playground supervisor for the summer and let the parents of these children contribute toward the expense. The childhood behavior and language were disgraceful.

Unightly weeds have been allowed to grow several feet high, all summer inside and outside the fence, until the property owners had to keep them mowed. Even during the Catholic school sessions, the children were allowed to climb in and out of the windows and left to eat their lunches outside, strewing their scraps and papers over the grounds.

These things certainly don't add to the beauty of our school, or our community. Why should we vote on more money for the upkeep when these things are allowed to go on?

Very truly yours,
Mrs. James H. Rhine

The Rev. Dr. Arthur Hall, Orrville, father of the Rev. Robert F. Hall, will be guest minister during the regular worship service Sunday morning in First Evangelical Lutheran church.

Mrs. Eleanor Searle Whitney, soloist, will sing "Recessional" by de Kovan. She will be accompanied by Mrs. Francis E. Guthrie, church organist.

The Rev. John Worth and his family are vacationing in New York state for several weeks.

Edward B. Curpen drove to Columbus Sunday to spend the day with the James Doneses and to bring Mrs. Curpen home after a week's visit.

Scout leaders Ellsworth Ford and George Carlier and Scouts Timothy Redden, Carl and Delbert Hass and Gregory and Girard Cashman spent the weekend visiting the Sault locks and Niagara Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Raymond Willett will leave from Hopkins airport in Cleveland Saturday for New York, where they will spend the weekend at the Waldorf Astoria hotel. The trip is the top prize won by the Plymouth Hearing Aid center in an area contest.

Carol Roberts returned home Sunday from Deshler, where visited her cousins, Pamela, Paula and Patricia Tussing. Her parents, the George Robertses, drove over to bring her home and spent the day there.

Stanley E. Condon entered Mansfield General hospital Saturday night for treatment of a back ailment.

Miller returning to state fair

Led by the world champion pacing mare of 1960, Countess Adios, the colorful Del Miller stable is returning to the Ohio State fair after a long absence.

Invasion of the Ohio horses in the famed Miller corral lends further excitement to a $127,400 Fair racing program already densely populated with some of the finest trotters and pacers produced by the Buckeye state.

Countess Adios' recent victory in a $12,000 feature at Yonkers convinced Miller that the 4-year-old daughter of Adios and Countess Vivian is ready to battle it out with the likes of Right Time, Major Goose, Merrie Adios, Mountain Princess and Duke Yates in the Ohio State fair's Maturity pace Thursday.

A colorful sidelight to the Countess' 2:03 conquest at Yonkers is that she beat out Byron Kuth's Right Time, who blazed to a 2:00 2/5 victory last year in the Maturity to set a new fair pacing mark. Right Time, a 5-year-old bay son of Good Time, had won six of 15 starts before tangling with Countess Adios.

Ineligible for the Little Brown Jug in 1960 through a clerical error, Countess Adios was still brought to the Delaware meeting by Miller and stole the show in the Walnut Hall Breeders' Fly stake with times of 1:59 1/5 and 2:00 — which smashed four world records.

She registered a 1:59 4/5 in the Hanover and a 2:00 1/5 in the Ladyship. The Countess has already added $43,000 this year to her $166,360 earnings of last year. One of her 1961 wins came in the $50,000 H. T.

Larry M. Barnd weds Shelbian in Lutheran rite; to live there

Larry Martin Barnd of Shiloh took Miss Charlene Naomi Carver as his bride Saturday at 2:30 p.m. in Shelby's First Lutheran church in a setting of beauty baskets of white gladiolus and carnations set off with palms and lighted by two candelabras.

The Rev. L. B. Hull read the vows. Daughter of the L. W. Carvers, Shelby, the bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a hand-clipped Chantilly lace and nylon tulle gown over bridal taffeta. The bodice was cut along Basque lines, with long tapered sleeves and pearl-trimmed, scalloped Sabrina neckline. Front lace panels, marked the full-length skirt. Alternate tiers of lace and tulle ruffles cascade down the back and swept into a wide chapel train.

The bouffant veil of imported silk illusion fell from a Juliet cap or Chantilly lace encrusted with tiny seed pearls. She wore small button pearl earrings, the gift of the bridegroom. Her flowers were a white orchid with ivy and lilies -of-the-valley on a white Bible.

Miss Eileen Baker, Shelby, a chum of the bride, was maid of honor, attired in olive and Nile green silk organza over Nile taffeta fashioned in the princess tyle, the bodice cut with short sleeves and scoop neckline. Her princess ballerina skirt was trimmed with a flat bow at the back waistline.

A circular scalloped face veil suspended from a matching nylon braid crown with crystal trim. She carried a cascade of pale yellow carnations accented by tangerine carnations and tied with ribbon complementing her gown.

THE MISSES DREAMA Thornton, Shelby, and Patricia Neal, Mansfield, friends of the bride, served as bridesmaids, attired similarly as he maid of honor save in reverse color. Their flowers were tangerine carnations accented by pale yellow carnations and tied with ribbon complementing their gowns.

Craig Harnly, Otterbein college, the bridegroom's chum, was his best man. Terry Russell and Thomas Barnd, Shiloh, and Timothy and Terry Carver, Shelby, ushered.

Kimmie Kennard, Shiloh, the bridegroom's niece, was flower girl. Timothy Hahn, Mansfield, the bride's cousin, was ring bearer.

About 200 were received in the church rooms after the ceremony. Mrs. James Kolb, Mrs. Richard Hindenlang and Miss Faye Sipe served the wedding cake, a six-tiered creation decorated with pale pink roses and sugar bells.

After a wedding trip to Florida, the Barnds will live at 14 1/2 High School avenue, Shelby.

Mrs. Barnd is a graduate of Shelby High school. Mr. Barnd was graduated from Shiloh High school and from Ohio university, Athens. The son of the Merle M. Barnds, Shiloh, he will teach in Shiloh Junior High school next month.

Mrs. St. Clair entertains

Mrs. Nellie St. Clair, Columbus, was a guest last week of Mrs. James St. Clair, who entertained the Herbert Myerces, Dayton, at dinner Friday evening and the Walter St. Clairs, Fredericktown, Sunday.
