

No complacency

That three other schools in the county system have lost their charters, by action of the state board Jan. 8, whereas Plymouth's charter is not now in any form of escrow, should give nobody cause for complacency.

The pattern is clear. The state department of education intends to force improvements in high schools. It's a matter of complying or shutting up shop.

Inspector Fox put it well in the final paragraph of his report about our schools: "The challenge now is to equip facilities, develop programs and extend services . . . development of this school to its fullest potential will demand an understanding of the needs, continuing interest and a high level of support by the community."

It is this challenge which voters have apparently rejected, assuming they understood it. Too often the voter figures that housing the animal is enough. He forgets it has to be fed, watered, bathed and trained.

For our part, we are most concerned about library shortcomings. Inspector Fox found this condition prevalent throughout the county, even in the city districts. It suggests lack of leadership and of knowledge: knowledge that a library is the core of any school, whether public or private, secondary school or college; leadership toward this aim and apparent toleration of small or no budgets to build a library.

What the school board has done so far to make the shoe fit the last seems satisfactory to us. To cut non-essentials is right, no matter how popular those non-essentials are.

But the cuts are directed toward making outgo equal to income, primarily, rather than to correct conditions long in need of correcting.

What the school needs is a library of about 5,000 useful volumes. Assuming there is space to store these books, should they be furnished, there is some question whether the board could afford the shelving. But we believe that funds can be found to pay for shelving if the books can be gotten.

Fraternal and patriotic organizations would do well to contribute to the library fund. Perhaps the school administration could submit a list of volumes desired, together with their cost. Interested organizations and private citizens could then undertake to furnish any or all of the books on the list.

Whether a graduate intends to dig a ditch or launch a rocket for a living, he needs nothing so much as a sound command of his mother tongue and a deep knowledge of the principles by which he is governed. The best way, the cheapest way, to assure these is through books.

New line for Dime drive set

"We're really going to make a big push for contributions to the March of Dimes this year," says William Ramseyer, Plymouth High school football coach who's chairman of the drive, "and we're going to do it with a little different approach."

The National Foundation, he pointed out, has licked poliomyelitis. Funds made available for research by such as Dr. Jonas Salk and Dr. Sabin have produced vaccines that prevent poliomyelitis in the great majority of cases. The Huron county chapter recorded no polio cases last year, but is $2,400 in the red because it paid for vaccines.

The foundation is now concerned with birth defects and with rheumatoid arthritis.

"Birth defects obviously affect the newborn, the very young. We have three pupils in the public schools who've had polio. Others were born with heart defects and other physical shortcomings. Those who were born without such deficiencies are grateful for this good fortune and that's the angle we're pursuing this year — the grateful will show their gratitude by getting out to help those who weren't so lucky."

Thirty-six players on the three high school basketball squads — varsity, reserves and freshmen — will make a door-to-door canvass of the village on Jan. 29, the anniversary of the late President Franklin Delano Roosevelt, from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

"They'll call at every door and ask everybody to contribute as he is able," Ramseyer says. "Each player will be identified with a Big Red banner and will carry the official container of the March of Dimes."

Additionally, smaller groups of players, in uniform, will appear at other gatherings to promote the "dribbling for dimes" approach. "Basketball players have to dribble, or bounce the basketball," Ramseyer says, "and if folks want to give in 'dribbles,' we'll accommodate them. The boys will dribble, in uniform, as long as folks keep pushing coins in the containers."

Monday night Ramseyer and players distributed containers for March of Dimes contributions about the business section.

Chest distributes on 85.6% basis to 10 participating

Only 85.6 per cent of the goal of $3,000 was realized by Plymouth Community Chest, its treasurer, Quentin R. Ream, said Jan. 10.

Ten agencies will share in the proceeds. Allocations of funds to them on the pro rata basis (in parentheses) earmarked for the agencies follow:

Cub Scouts ($100); Boy Scouts ($300); Salvation Army ($582); $498.19; Shelby - Plymouth-Shiloh Cancer Fund ($400); $342.40; Plymouth High school band ($400); $342.40; Plymouth Midget league and Pony league ($300); $214 and $42.80; Girl Scouts ($136); $116.41; American Red Cross ($500); $428; Plymouth Branch library ($175); $149.80; Mary Park fate ($107); $91.59; and operating fund $100.

Serving on the board of directors for the drive were Eldon Burkett, Mrs. David Dick, M. J. Coon, Albert Marvin and M. E. Mellott. The last two are completing their terms this year. William R. Miller will continue as president for another year. Quentin Ream as secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. A. L. Paddock, Jr., vice-president.

WPCB says 'control' means just that -- 1,000 feet with no houses

"The statement about control of lands adjoining sewer lagoons means exactly what it says," the Water Pollution Control Board testily told Plymouth's village council Tuesday night.

"The municipality must control development of residential housing within 1,000 feet of the lagoons. Such control is much easier to obtain and to maintain if the lagoons are located at a site where residential development near the lagoons is unlikely. If the lagoons are to be located within 1,000 feet of property which is suitable for residential development, an agreement should be obtained from the adjacent property owner to restrict residential development within 1,000 feet of the proposed lagoons."

What is means, Solicitor Joseph F. Dush told the council, is that the village absolutely must obtain and keep control of all land falling within the perimeter of 1,000 feet from the proposed lagoons.

If his view prevails, and proves to be correct, the sanitary sewer plan is knocked into a cocked hat. The village simply cannot install lagoons on the Bittinger-Sickel site of 156 acres in such fashion as to keep them 1,000 or more feet from any dwelling or likely building site. This would include land on the west side of Route 61, opposite the site.

Councilman Donald E. Akers disputed Dush's interpretation. He said hotly, "I'm telling you the engineer can get approval. I said in the first place this shouldn't be taken up through any attorney or by the council but by the engineer, whoever he is."

After acrid debate, Mayor

William Fazio requested the resolution hiring Carl H. Gerken of Napoleon as consulting and designing engineer and approving his contract to be tabled. But not until Councilman Charles Vanasdale and Akers reached agreement on an additional clause in the contract: if Gerken fails to obtain approval of the lagoon sites from the WPCB, he is not to be paid.

A COUNTER PROPOSAL by the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. was laid down by the gas rate negotiating committee.

Clarence V. Messenger, Shiloh manager for Ohio Fuel, said he doesn't think it "stands a chance of being accepted" but he agreed to take it to his principals.

The council's offer is for $2.50 minimum, 25 cents per 1,000 cu. ft. for the first 1,500, $2.25 cents per 1,000 for the next 98,500, 67.5 cents per 1,000 for all over 100,000, a four-year contract with no tax clause and no fuel clause, and a $2.50 turn-off charge for a two-month period.

Ohio Fuel's last offer was for the same minimum and the same base rate of 25 cents. Thereafter the company wants 73.5 cents per 1,000 cu. ft. for the next 98,500, 70 cents for all over 100,000, a two-year contract with both tax clause and fuel clause, and a $5 turn-off charge for a 12-month period.

BECAUSE OF SHORTAGE of time, the council recessed until Tuesday at 8 p.m. when it will continue debate on the 1962 budget.

The Richland county budget commission has certified these estimated resources for the year. The council won't be able to exceed them in its budget, although of course if funds in excess of the estimates are properly earned or paid, they may be disbursed.

General fund, $33,228.10;

one-mile mill fire levy, $3,974.26;

one-mile cemetery levy, $3,974.26;

street construction, maintenance and repair, $12,534.58;

state highway improvement fund, $980.50;

water works, $42,575.61; sewer service fund, $21,410.50; electric light fund, $10,098.48; fire equipment and apparatus fund, $15,625.76; bond retirement, $5,277.76 and $24,105.81.

The tax levy is certified at $8,600 mill, of which the county gets 3.3, the schools 24.9, the village 8.4.

Tax duplicate value is $3,974.25.

The general fund is down $6,389.67 from 1961. Clerk Carl V. Ellis reported, chiefly because the unencumbered balance was lower.

After lengthy debate, both with and without the presence of the police department, the council tabled hiring of Carl Booth as stand-by radio operator in the department's base station. Told by Police Chief Robert L. Meiser that Booth has the offer of a similar job at Jackson, his former home, two councilmen urged him to accept it, implying they doubt they can find money enough to pay Booth now.

FHA sets bake sale at hall in Shiloh

Plymouth - Shiloh Chapter, Future Homemakers of America, will stage a bake sale in the Cass township room in Shiloh Saturday from 9 a.m. to noon.

Jr., a Madison township trustee, who is also a member of the Richland county fair board, is circulating petitions to oppose Dawson, Clarence Tugend, a Worthington township trustee, is said to be considering making the race.

Republican opposition will be headed by the perennial bellwether, John C. Friday, defeated last time by Fred Tonemacher. Michael J. Smith, former mayor of Lucas, and B. V. McCready, a Mansfield furniture salesman, also seek the GOP nomination.

Norman L. Wolfe who's been county auditor since 1935, will seek reelection. Since Richard Hamilton narrowly missed defeating him in a general election six years ago, Wolfe has had no strong opposition.

Rep. Richard M. Christianson will seek a second term in the General Assembly. He is a Democrat.

London, a Republican who seeks reelection.

Fazio has toyed with the idea of seeking the commissionership "ever since I was successful as Plymouth's mayor." He sought the support of his party's precinct committeemen and of the party organization in the county. Although Harlow Staff of Willard, Huron county Democratic chairman, hasn't said so, he is giving no sign of change from his standing policy of "hands off in the primary — let the best man win."

Whoever wins the Democratic nomination will get the party's support in the fall.

Arthur R. Leek, Ripley township trustee, unsuccessful in a bid for the commissionership last time, is circulating petitions to oppose Leech as Republican nominee.

Dr. William B. Holman, a Norwalk physician, will seek nomination for the unexpired term of Dr. Charles E. Del as coroner. Dr. Earl McLovery holds the office by appointment until the general election.

Being a periodic, but irregular, presentation of human interest stories that come to the staff's attention yet seem for one reason or another not suitable for treatment elsewhere in the paper.

The sidewalk kibitzers, who admit they knew little of national and international affairs save that they're in one heck of a mess, derived considerable delight this week from the cartoon strip "Professor Phumble".

Copyrighted by King Features Syndicate, Bill Yates' drawing depicted the Professor saying to his wife, "Look at all the bad news today, I tell you the whole world is GOING TO THE DOGS!" Whereupon the Phumble's hound, a beast of indeterminate origin racially but obviously no dumbknot, crawled under the bed and said, "If it does, we'll refuse it!"

POLICE DEPARTMENTS, municipal officials and others charged with law enforcement apparently believe dogs can read. Once a year, at least, newspapers are asked to publish items to the effect that dogs straying from their homes will be caught and punished by death.

Everybody knows dogs can't read, even the writers of television fantasies. But somehow it's impossible to convince 'em.

Consider the sign on the door of the U. S. post office in Willard. "Dogs not permitted to enter" it says, and underneath, it also says, "Seeing Eye Dogs Excepted."

Support prices on grains harvested in Richland county in 1962 will be $1.20 to $1.30 a bushel for corn, 93 cents to $1.03 for barley, 62 to 70 cents for oats, $1.02 to $1.12 for rye and $2.25 to $2.35 for soybeans, the Richland County Agricultural Stabilization committee announces.

Wheat support will be $2 a bushel, says Dean Tolles, chairman of the committee.

In 1961, price supports for agricultural commodities in Richland county averaged one to nine cents above the national average.

Muck growers set 1962 short course today, tomorrow

Marketing of vegetables, production of special crops and possibilities of raising vegetables in plastic greenhouses will be the principal topics at the Muck Crops school today and tomorrow at the Celeryville school.

Research men working at the experiment station, as part of the Ohio Agricultural Experiment station, will review results of their plot work this year.

The use of crop rotations in controlling diseases of radishes, celery, carrots and potatoes will be the opening topic at 10 a.m. on Thursday morning. Drs. J. D. Wilson and J. P. Sleesman will be the speakers. Weed control work will be discussed in the afternoon by Dr. E. K. Alban. Dr. Freeman S. Howlett will report on use of magnesium on celery. Dr. Walter N. Brown will report on celery variety tests.

Friday's program will begin at 9:30 a.m. with a presentation on the possibilities in plastic greenhouses by Dr. George Marlow, Jr., extension specialist in horticulture from the University of Kentucky. Cultural problems in greenhouse management will be presented by Dr. E. K. Alban and Roger Paddock, president of the Greenhouse Vegetable Packing Co. at North Olmsted. Joseph Rini, well known in Celeryville circles and warehouse manager for the Pick 'N Pay stores in Cleveland, will talk on their merchandising problems in relation to vegetables.

An annual banquet will be held Thursday evening at the Celeryville Christian Reformed church beginning at 6:30 p.m. Tom Shaarda, Jr., is chairman of the event and John Wallace, Willard United Bank, will be toastmaster. Dr. Jacob O. Kann, president of Cleveland Quarries at Amherst, one of the outstanding speakers in Ohio, will speak.

Two cake walks will be featured. Admission is 40 cents. Food committee will be Mrs. Earl C. Cashman, Mrs. M. J. Coon and Mrs. Clyde Lasch.

Maids of the Mists will meet Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Roscoe Hutchinson.

A pot luck luncheon will be served at noon.

Band Mothers . . .

Band Mothers will stage a record hop in the high school gymnasium Saturday at 8 p.m.

Ben Shaver will be the disc jockey.

Two cake walks will be featured. Admission is 40 cents.

Food committee will be Mrs. Earl C. Cashman, Mrs. M. J. Coon and Mrs. Clyde Lasch.

SCOUT NEWS

"Electricity" will be the theme of the Cub Scout Pack meeting Thursday at 7 p.m. in Plymouth Elementary school.

Divorce on charges of extreme cruelty and neglect was accorded Margaret Ellison Burdge from her husband, Robert C. Burdge, in Huron county court. Burton pleads court Dec. 16. Mrs. Burdge, now living in Mansfield, was given custody of three minor children.

J. Harris Posterna will register guests at 9:30 a.m. today.

4% circulation rise recorded by branch library

A gain of 665—slightly under four per cent—books circulated in 1961 over 1960 was reported by Mrs. Harold Shaffer, librarian, to Plymouth Branch library board Thursday night.

A total of 18,011 volumes was borrowed by library patrons. Juvenile readers led the field with 13,540 books. Adult readers took out 4,471. The breakdown to type of book borrowed was adult fiction, 2,764; adult non-fiction, 1,707; juvenile fiction, 4,641; juvenile non-fiction, 3,606; and junior "easies," 5,293.

Mrs. Earl C. Cashman was chosen president, Mrs. C. R. Archer vice-president; Mrs. George Hershenow secretary; and Mrs. Thomas F. Root treasurer.

New books ready to be circulated are "The Twenty-Seventh Wife" by Irving Wallace, the story of Eliza Young, who was married to the Mormon leader, Brigham Young, and was responsible for the legal actions against polygamy; "Wilderness," a Civil War story by Robert Penn Warren; "Chairman of the Board" by Edward Streeter, which is a national best seller; "Be Ready, with Bells and Drums" by Elizabeth Kala; "Rogue's Ransom" by Gordon Ashe; "Daughter of Silence" by Morris L. West; and "My 21 Years in the White House" by Alonzo Fields.

Also, Thomas Wolfe's "You Can't Go Home Again," "The Faulkner Reader" which includes several short pieces, and "The Sound and The Fury," complete; "Tortilla Flat," by John Steinbeck; and "Subtreasury of American Humor," edited by E. B. White and his wife, Katherine.

Let's Explore OHIO

"Hocking County possesses more points of interest to lovers of nature than can be found in any portion of the State." So stated Dr. O. C. Farquhar of Zanesville, in the middle of the last century in Howe's Historical Collections of Ohio.

Today this is as true as it was then. The Hocking State Park within the circle southwest of the city of Lancaster make up a region visited by more people than some of the National Parks.

Red whips Colonel Crawford

Told by scouts and others that it could be done, Plymouth's Big Red forced the action against Colonel Crawford here Friday night and ran off with a 78 to 67 victory, its fourth of the season against seven losses.

Plymouth connected early for a 10 to 0 lead and never was headed thereafter. Jimmy Hamman and Tommy Barnd collaborated for 50 points, Barnd getting 27. Plymouth canned 21 of 37 tries from the floor in the first half (the Big Red was 35 for 72 all night).

Phil Fletcher and Roger Van Loo also scored in double figures for Plymouth, Fletcher getting 10 and Van Loo 11. Rick Zabest bagged 16 for the Colonels.

Plymouth reserves have yet to win a game. They were beaten by the visitors, 40 to 27.

The Baron of the Bluegrass makes a much better coach than a debater favoring his line of work — big basketball.

Adolph Rupp, whose record of victories has no equal, argues for big basketball in the current issue of a national magazine.

His points aren't very convincing. It's a pity his opponent in the debate, an NCAA official at Drake University in Des Moines, a fine man serving a fine institution, is equally inarticulate.

Rupp's beats will probably be adopted by the "get-Fullen" movement of the Ohio State Alumni group. If they do get Fullen, it'll be a great pity.

How to sell young boys on honor when their coaches spit in honor's face is a problem we'd just as soon pass to another.

But we all share it. Last in the merry-go-round is Bill Doolittle, Mansfield coach who quit in mid-season to join Paul Dietzel at West Point as offensive backfield coach.

Dietzel swore by all that's holy when he was up here last summer that he would serve out his contract at LSU and then look elsewhere. Asked why he doesn't go now, he said, "I've got my contract to live up to." What a phoney!

Now Doolittle joins the gang. The NCAA man at Drake has a strong point, and Jack Fullen has been pounding it home for a long time:

how can you teach honor among thieves?

Get the thievery out of athletics and you'll get honor, not before. The folks at Harvard, even the touch football devotees

now playing on another greenward some 400 miles south of Cambridge, don't care a whoop if the Crimson beats Yale five times out of six or one time out of six. Or hardly ever. What counts what went on that sheepish, and Massachusetts was less proud of Harvard because little Center college of Kentucky beat it at football? Or that the folk at Bluffton are less proud of their little college when it loses almost all of its basketball games to schools which openly recruit and offer bishdiments to athletes?

Addy Rupp, Paul Dietzel and Bill Doolittle can go fly a kite — we much prefer hono-

NOTHING . . . is so universally read as the classified pages!

Readership surveys of daily and weekly newspapers show that subscribers turn to the classified page just about as often as to any inside page save comics. (And comics often appear on classified pages!) For variety, breadth of interest and attention-holding, classified pages are second to none in the newspaper. Many advertisers insist upon classified space, subject to the rules of the trade, because they know these facts.

CLASSIFIEDS . . . are news, as well as advertising!

The reader learns the Joneses are having a baby before Mrs. J announces it to her bridge club. "WANTED: used baby buggy, call Mrs. Jones." He sees that Mrs. Brown has left Mr. Brown. "I will not be responsible for any debts other than my own. John A. Brown." The Wilsons have a new calf. "FOR SALE: Milk cow, just freshened. Inquire Adam Wilson." Billy Smith has grown two sizes since Christmas. He says so! "FOR SALE: Hockey skates, size 6, used only five times, too small for owner. See Billy Smith."

DURING JANUARY Advertiser classifieds will be sold at bargain rates!

To re-introduce Advertiser classifieds to its family of readers, the classified department will sell four classifieds for the price of three, during January only. RATES: 20 words for 60 cents for single insertion, FOUR insertions for $1.50.

Call at the business office or phone 687-5511 for this grand opportunity to buy, sell, lease, rent, hire, find a job, say thank you, advertise your wife or husband, or give away your kittens.
