

Now, in writing

Before the year is out, we hope, a sanitary sewer system will be installed here.

It'll be expensive, and we don't particularly relish the position in which trustees of the board of public affairs and councilmen will find themselves when the sewer rates are laid down.

The system will not, as we understand it, be the ideal one. Storm and sanitary sewage will be conducted down the same pipe. Where the pipe is clearly within the village's jurisdiction and responsibility, it's plain there'll be no difficulty about establishing who's to take care of it.

But where it's a question of jurisdiction, there are bound to be problems.

For this reason alone, it would be advisable for the board of public affairs to begin now to set down in writing the rules by which the sewer system will be administered. These rules should be made available to every user of the sewer system.

We have long held that similar rules ought to be written down for electric and water subscribers. Previous boards have been remiss, we think, in failing to do this.

The new board has certain competences and experiences not prevailing with previous boards. It is no reflection upon the predecessors of the present board to suggest that now we have the opportunity to regularize rules in writing, so all can see, and be guided accordingly.

The strategical planning has been done. Right or wrong, we are committed to it. Now it necessary to implement the strategy with planning of a tactical character. Tactical planning is the duty of the board of public affairs. There should be no delay in providing it. In writing, for all to see.

PHS keeps first grade standing

Plymouth High school retained its rating as an approved school by the Ohio Department of Education in an inspection of Nov. 10. President David E. Cook of the board of education announced Dec. 29.

He was so informed in a report by Stanley L. Fox, school supervisor, who found only five shortcomings.

These are:
1. The school library does not meet minimum standards.
2. Instructional materials needs in all areas of the school should be surveyed and brought up to date.

3. The guidance staff should be expanded to a full-time basis during the next year.
4. Classroom lighting in the biology department is not adequate.

5. Pupil furniture should be replaced promptly.

FOX PRAISED THE achievements of the board and administration in these areas:

1. Science, music, home economics and business education

2. Industrial arts and vocational agriculture housing and locker room facilities.

3. Organization and administration: "Capable leadership has been exercised by the executive head . . . daily operation of the school is properly supervised by the principal."

4. Curriculum improvements: "foreign language offerings have been expanded, new programs have been introduced in arts and agriculture, and a broader program of instruction in industrial arts should be available soon."

5. Teacher assignment: "with perhaps one exception, teachers are fully assigned to areas of certification. Fine efforts have been made to place teachers in field of major preparation. Many staff members have recently taken additional training in areas related to their teaching assignments."

6. Classroom instruction: "reflects conscientious efforts by the teaching staff. Instructional activities in many areas are handicapped by lack of sufficient equipment, materials and resources. Need for equipment in the industrial arts area is particularly serious. Attention should be given to needs in business education, art and physical education. Progress is being made in equipping science areas. Teaching aids and materials are needed in English, foreign language and social studies fields."

"Citizens of the district," Fox said, "are commended for providing additional school facilities. The challenge now is to equip facilities, develop programs and expand services as part of an ever-improving school program. Development of this school to its fullest potential will demand an understanding of the needs, continuing interest and a high level of support by the community."

Girl's car struck by AC&Y freight

An 18-year-old Plymouth girl escaped severe injury Thursday when her car was struck by an Akron, Canton & Youngstown railroad freight at the Riggs avenue crossing. Joan Kieffer, daughter of the Frank A. Kieffers, enroute to her employment in Willard, skidded on the icy pavement. Her car stalled on the tracks. She released the brake, she told police, and the car coasted forward slowly. It was struck by the train at the rear. It spun around with a damaged Miss Kieffer complained of a head fender and door. A thigh injury after she reported for work and was treated at Willard.

$2 a foot Has sewer plan been dealt for sewer fatal blow on 1,000-ft. rule?

There's no other way to pay for Shiloh's sanitary sewer than by special assessment, probably in the amount of $2 a foot of street frontage, officials there say.

The village needs about $60,000 to pay the cost of installing the $250,000 system.

But these things are moulded in public opinion but slowly, councilmen observe, and the governing body is making haste slowly.

Village officers for the current term were sworn Tuesday night.

Mayor Glenn Swanger started his eighth two-year term, the second one consecutively. John Bryan, retired civil servant, is the new clerk. He succeeds his wife, Mildred, who succeeds Mrs. Maud Ruckman, who overlooked filing of an expense statement in 1960 and was barred from the ballot for five years.

Arlo W. Firestone, O. F. Pennell, Keith Dawson and Charles Guthrie will serve four-year terms. Firestone, Pennell and Dawson were candidates for reelection. John Barnhart and Everett Fry, Jr., also a candidate for reelection, will serve two-year terms.

Leo Russell and Hobart A. Garrett are joined by Ami Jacobs as trustees of public affairs.

Veteran councilman John T. Dick was re-elected president of the council. Charles Lookabaugh was re-appointed to a

Plans for a sanitary sewer system may have struck an unsurmountable obstacle, it was revealed Tuesday night.

Formal opinion of the Water Pollution Control board will be sought by the village solicitor to determine whether the village may go ahead with acquisition of the Bittering-Sickel farm north of here as the site upon which to install oxidation lagoons.

The village's new engineer, Carl H. Gerken, Napoleon, told the council again he intends to install two lagoons, covering about nine acres in all, the northernmost of which will reach to not less than 80 feet of the northern property line.

WHAT TROUBLES the council is the published policy of the WPCB, which says that no lagoon may be within 1,000 feet of a dwelling (on this score the present plans qualify) and that the village must retain "administrative control" of said 1,000 feet.

Plymouth has no plans to acquire this land from John T. and Agnes McKown. It has no authority to allow or to restrict construction of dwellings upon it, now or in the future. If the WPCB's rule is to be interpreted literally, the council said, "we're in real trouble." Gerken told the council he believes the plan will be approved.

Veteran councilman John T. Dick was re-elected president of the council. Charles Lookabaugh was re-appointed to a six-year term as cemetery trustee. Wayne H. Strine, principal of Plymouth High school, was named to a three-year term as park board member. He succeeds Luther R. Fetters, forced to vacate appointment because of conflict of interest as trustee of public affairs.

Solicitor Joseph F. Dush was re-appointed.

The council voted unanimously to hire Gerken but not until the opinion of the WPCB is received. Solicitor Dush told the council Gerken's contract is likely to be more expensive to the village than the contract which bound it to Alden E. Stilson & Associates Ltd., Columbus engineers who prepared the original plans. Stilson was fired last month.

Dush later said he thinks Stilson can win a lawsuit if he chooses to sue the village, "but I couldn't say whether he'd get that much money in a judgment (his bill is for $18,345)."

FIRST GESTURE OF OHIO Fuel Gas Co. toward negotiation of a renewal of the contract which expired Sept. 16 was made by Cloyce V. Messenger, Shelby district manager. He offered to compromise on the company's last demand. The table shows what the village offers, what the company has demanded and Messenger's compromise offer:

	Village	OGF	Offer
A	$2.50	$2.50	$2.50
B	25c	25c	25c
C	72c	75.5c	73.5c

Legend: A — minimum bill; B — rate per 100 cu. ft. for first 1,500; C — rate per 1,000 cu. ft. for next 98,500; D — rate over 100,000 cu. ft.; E — length of contract in years; F — fuel clause in contract.

After Messenger was told the village wishes more time to consider the newest offer, chiefly because John T. Dick succeeded Elmer E. Markley as gas rate committee member only two hours before, the council debated whether to associate with five other municipalities in a combine to engage a rate expert to detect higher gas rates. Cost would be 10 cents per capita population, or $182.20 for Plymouth. The question was tabled.

Committee appointments for the current term were made by Mayor William Fazio thus:

W. Willard Wirth and Clarence O. Cramer, firemen's pension; Donald E. Akers and John T. Dick, finance, endowment and Brinkerhoff fund; Cramer and Donald H. Levering fire and police; Levering and Charles Vanasdale, streets, buildings and sewers; Wirth and Akers, utilities and rest rooms; Vanasdale and Dick, gas rate committee.

Whether to engage Carl Booth as emergency police radio operator was referred to committee for recommendation at the next meeting Jan. 16.

Robertses married 45 years

The Bradley J. Robertses observed their 45th wedding anniversary on Dec. 25. They plighted their troth in the Presbyterian parsonage here on Christmas day, 1916. The Rev. Mr. Thomas read their vows.

They established a household near Delphi, Ohio, a farm. After a time they moved to the old Gribben farm in Uppdyke road and lived there until 1940, when they went to Attica for two years. Shortly after the outbreak of World War II, they returned to this neighborhood. They've lived in Rt. 98 near Plymouth Grange hall ever since.

For several years Mr. Robertses ran a sawmill. He sold it to the Kaple brothers of New Washington and has since been retired.

likes housekeeping, — honest — and finds cooking a pleasant diversion.

Their family consists of Bradley J. Robertses, Jr., Attica; Mrs. J. Raymond Willet, Mrs. Charles H. Dick, George Robertses, Mrs. Vernon Robertses, Campbell, Cal., and Nelson Robertses, Plymouth. There are eight grandchildren.

All of the Robertses children were here to celebrate the anniversary.

Axe falls on extras

First steps toward tightening its fiscal belt were taken by Plymouth Board of Education Tuesday night.

All field trips requiring public expense will be eliminated at once. Where a sponsoring group, such as the Band Mothers club, pays the expenses in full, a trip may be allowed.

William Ramseyer, football coach and mathematics teacher, will be assigned as substitute teacher and tutor for slow learners in mathematics. This will save the board a maximum of $15 daily for substitute teachers.

It was intended to assign Ramseyer to teaching of driver education during the second semester. Member Donald Dawson said he dislikes seeing a qualified mathematics instructor "wasted on driver's training." In this he was supported by Mrs. Miles Christian, who said Ramseyer should be used to tutor pupils weak in mathematics.

THREE OTHER ECONOMIC measures were tabled until Tuesday night, when the board will meet in its first regular session of the year. They are:

1. Complete elimination of the spring athletic program, including track, baseball, tennis and junior high athletics. The saving is $800, at the rate of $200 per coach. One member observed, "This directly hits the children, these are not spectator sports." But another, Mrs. Roy Carter, said,

George L. Rogers dies of heart seizure

Owner of Plymouth Elevator, for many years a Mansfield businessman, George Lawrence Rogers, 63, died after collapsing in front of his office at 23 East Third street, Mansfield, Dec. 21.

Dr. D. C. Lavender, Richland county coroner, said Rogers died of a heart seizure. He was dead on arrival at General hospital at 5:45 p.m.

Born in Shelby June 20, 1893, he was the founder of G. L. Rogers International Harvester agency at Mansfield. In 1958 he sold the business and served real estate interests thereafter.

A prominent Mason, Mr. Rogers was a member of Mansfield Lodge 35, F & AM; Mansfield Commandery #21, Knights Templar; Valley of Columbus AASR; Al Koran Shrine, Mansfield Shrine club and the Optimus club.

His wife, Mrs. Patricia Baderscher Rogers; a son, George D., Mansfield route 3; three daughters, Mrs. Richard Corbin, Gallon route 2; Mrs. Robert Stewart, Mansfield route 4; and Mrs. Scott Swank, Mansfield route 1; a step-daughter, Miss Laura Baderscher; and three sisters, Mrs. Ray Havertield and Miss Leona Rogers, Shelby, and Mrs. Lawrence Gross, Mansfield, survive.

The Rev. T. L. Leathwood, Mansfield Baptist Temple conducted a funeral service Dec.

Boy, 8, dies of shot through brain; Shiloh youth shot

Two young boys were shot, one of them fatally, in bizarre accidents during the Christmas holidays.

An eight-year-old Greenwich boy died in Cleveland Clinic Tuesday at 1:45 p.m. of a cal. 22 bullet lodged near the base of his skull after he was struck at 3:30 p.m. Sunday in Greenwich. He is Dale Ray, son of the Robert Rays, Greenwich route 1, who was playing in the yard of his uncle, Clifford Osdon, Elmwood drive, Greenwich.

He fell at his play and a playmate summoned help.

Police say the bullet entered his temple above the right eye and passed through a lobe of the brain before it was spent. Surgeons removed the slug but the boy is said to have lost sight of the right eye.

Police Chief Robert Seidel reported he found a 15-year-old Greenwich boy, Donald Enzor, son of the Dean Enzors, who admitted firing a Winchester 74 automatic rifle at crows about half a mile away. It is surmised that a bullet from this weapon struck young Ray.

No action has yet been taken with respect to young Enzor.

A 16-YEAR-OLD SHILOH boy underwent surgery in Willard Municipal hospital after he was accidentally shot in the left side above the hip while hunting with his father on the Howard Leber farm in Ninevah road.

He is Paul Hartley, son of the Roy Hartleys, Shiloh route 1. The elder Hartley told Huron county sheriff's deputies that the son was using an old 12-gauge shotgun with hammers. He had shot and crippled a rabbit and was trying to find it when he jumped on a tree stump. The shock caused the weapon to discharge.

The boy was said to be in fair condition after removal of his splen.

23. Burial was in Mansfield cemetery.

A. C. Hammett . . .

Arthur C. Hammett, 86, who lived with his son, Clark C., in Route 61 south of here, died there Dec. 25 after an extended illness.

He had been in Shelby Memorial hospital for a considerable period.

Born May 28, 1875, in Washington township, he lived all his life near Shelby. A retired farmer, he was the last member of his family.

Five other sons, Melvin M., Kenneth K., Robert R., Glenn G. and Dale D., all of Mansfield, also survive.

The Rev. William C. Newman conducted last rites Dec.

27 at Mansfield, where burial ensued.

Lewis A. Moon . . .

Lewis Albert Moon, 78, for many years a farmer south of Plymouth, died at his home a mile east of Tiro Sunday.

His wife, Flossie, and a son, Howard A., Tiro route 1, survive.

The Rev. Howard M. Hauer, pastor of Crouse Memorial Lutheran church, Tiro, conducted a funeral service yesterday at 2 p.m. from Bark-dull Funeral home, Shelby.

O. C. Jewell . . .

Father of Mrs. George Beck, Shiloh, and of Mrs. Ray Carey, Plymouth, Oro Cluster Jewell, 72, died in Shelby Memorial hospital Dec. 27.

He was seriously ill for two years.

Born in Huron county Oct. 31, 1889, he lived most of his life near Rome. He lived near Shelby since 1941. Two sons, George R. Shelby by route 1, and Walter E. Houston, Tex., and two daughters, Mrs. Forrest Spain, Winchester, Ind., and Mrs. Betty Hoskins, Willard, and a sister, Mrs. Bessie Tucker, Ashland, also survive.

NOTHING...

is so universally read as the classified pages!

Readership surveys of daily and weekly newspapers show that subscribers turn to the classified page just about as often as to any inside page save comics. (And comics often appear on classified pages!) For variety, breadth of interest and attention-holding, classified pages are second to none in the newspaper. Many advertisers insist upon classified space, subject to the rules of the trade, because they know these facts.

are news, as well as advertising!

The reader learns the Joneses are having a baby before Mrs. J announces it to her bridge club. "WANTED: used baby buggy, call Mrs. Jones." He sees that Mrs. Brown has left Mr. Brown. "I will not be responsible for any debts other than my own. John A. Brown." The Wilsons have a new calf. "FOR SALE: Milk cow, just freshened. Inquire Adam Wilson." Billy Smith has grown two sizes since Christmas. He says so! "FOR SALE: Hockey skates, size 6, used only five times, too small for owner. See Billy Smith."

DURING JANUARY

Advertiser classifieds will be sold at bargain rates!

To re-introduce Advertiser classifieds to its family of readers, the classified department will sell four classifieds for the price of three, during January only. RATES: 20 words for 60 cents for single insertion, FOUR insertions for $1.50.

Red loses two games

For the third year in a row, Plymouth basketballers lost their Christmas holiday out-

The Spartans bagged 30 21 in the final eight minutes. Points in the third period and Plymouth never was a fac-

At this time it was Buckeye Central which turned the tables for the second time this season.

Ken Kimmel dropped a pair of free throws in the final two minutes to put it away for the Spartans. It was just after 10 p.m. Friday night as the Spartans won, 50 to 48.

Plymouth trailed by 12 points at the half, 23 to 11. The Spartans dominated the last half, to 27. The Big Red shot of 69 from the floor and of 15 from the penalty line. Buckeye canned only 14 of 51 free goal tries but bagged 22 of 28 foul tosses.

Jim Hamman scored 18 for the Spartans, who record 15 two wins and six losses. Kimmel netted 20 for the visitors.

1961 developments centered on sewers, full employment, new building stimulus

Stabilization of industrial employment, a boom in non-taxable building construction, two dramatic defeats of a school operational levy and the village council's continuing deliberation over the sanitary sewer system highlighted developments in Plymouth during 1961.

On Jan. 1, the village's only industry, Thie Fate-Root-Heath Co., regarded business prospects with some suspicion. It had just lost to a Japanese competitor a $4 million contract to supply locomotives to the Panama Canal Co. By mid-October, it reported a considerable accretion of new orders, some of them financed by loans of the Export-Import Bank, and industrial employment was stabilized by Oct. 30. So much so, in fact, that the company recalled some workers and paid its annual Christmas bonus of 2.5 per cent.

Completion of the $290,000 addition to Plymouth High school and of a $400,000 addition to the Charles E. Rhine Armory in Sandusky street were recorded during 1961. Neither produces any tax revenue for the village.

Ground was broken in July for the new $400,000 St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Mission church at Hoffman and Sandusky streets, a project financed principally by the ingenious and diligent efforts of its pastor, the Rev. William Conces, who collected over a 10-year period nearly eight tons of sales tax stamps from half a million Ohioans in 60 counties and surrendered them at Columbus for slightly more than $350,000.

Completion date is tentatively set for May 1.

Defeated on Nov. 7 by a 60 per cent negative vote, the board of education sought on Dec. 12 to put a new three mill operating levy, which would produce about $54,000 to meet current expenses and pay for needed equipment and teacher increments in the public schools. The issue received less than one per cent more support in the special election. Its defeat presages dire days for the board, which will have to juggle funds to meet current obligations. The new board will decide where, and when cut.

No development drew so much attention as Plymouth's trail with sanitary sewers. By the year's end, this was the status:

1. The designing engineer, Aiden E. Silston & Associates, Ltd., Columbus, had been hired. His bid of $18,345 was ignored.

2. Carl H. Gerken, Napoleon, was the apparent successor designate.

3. The village remained committed to the oxidation lagoon system of treatment and to land of the Bittinger farm north of Plymouth as the site for the lagoons. Proceeds of sale of the $150,000 in general obligation bonds, approved in general election of 1960, were on deposit locally.

Mayor William Fazio saw to it that he had no opposition on the general election ballot by objecting to the candidacy of Joseph H. McCurdy on the grounds he was not principally domiciled in the village. The Richard county board of elections so ruled and Fazio was unopposed. Clerk Carl V. Ellis, now on his fifth term, and Treasurer Mrs. John Reynolds, on her second term, were also unopposed.

Incumbent Councilman Donald E. Akers and Charles Vanassale were elected for two-year terms under the provisions of the new Ohio law. Incumbents John T. Dick and Donald H. Levering won four-year terms. So did newcomers Clarence O. Cramer and W. Willard Wirth.

Two women were appointed to the highest office of the Presbyterian church. Mrs. Robert Cornell and Mrs. Marjorie Ehet were named lay elders, posts they will hold for life.

The Rev. Robert F. Hall, dean of the ministerial corps, resigned for an appointment in Elyria and was succeeded as pastor of First Evangelical Lutheran church by the Rev. John-W. Worth, formerly an assistant pastor at Wooster. The Rev. Moss Rutan, pastor of First Presbyterian church, resigned in December to go to Kings Junction.

Halsey F. Root, secretary of The Fate-Root-Heath Co. since its organization in 1919, died in February in a Lorain hospital.

Maynard J. Coon, executive head of Plymouth schools since 1950, was named "citizen of the year" by the Chamber of Commerce in March.

School board---

"These are the things the people voted against, not academic subjects."

2. Use of school buildings after the school day curtailed so that buildings will close at 4:30 p.m.

3. Elimination of extra-curricular activities such as class dramas, concerts and class parties. This is apt to encounter strong objection. Three members said they believe it is the school's duty to afford some social activity to retain the interest of pupils.

Driver education, which was suspended completely last year, will be offered on a tuition basis during the summer, the board ruled.

Donald P. Markley was elected president of the board, Dawson vice-president. Mrs. Kenneth Myers was re-engaged as clerk. She will serve a probationary period of two years from Jan. 1 and is thereafter eligible for a four-year appointment, under new Ohio law. Her salary is $1,800.

The board will convene in regular session on the second Wednesday of each month at 8 p.m., except January, when it is necessary to advance the date one day.

Peoples National bank was designated official depository for active and inactive funds, of which the latter there are none, for a two year period. First National Bank of Mansfield, which has a branch in Shiloh, sought the appointment.
