

The flu

Just when we were more or less certain we had a persistent cold about licked, along comes an announcement by Ohio health officers that a Type B influenza epidemic may be (note that's "may be") forthcoming.

Everybody is careful about the use of the word "epidemic". It's like yelling "mad dog" in a crowded theatre. When, as was the case in Shelby this week, 435 pupils of an enrollment of about 2,600 were absent because of respiratory ailments, some parents became frightened.

It's better, says our doctor, to regard respiratory ailments at this time of year with respectful caution. It does no good to panic.

The symptoms of Type B influenza are said to be "fever, cough, sore throat, perhaps upset stomach, muscular aches." So far as we can recall, we had the same symptoms when they called it Asiatic flu, a couple of years ago, and grippe when we were young.

Whatever you call it, it is demobilizing and demoralizing. What should you do about it?

Don't try, as Grandpa did in World War I, asafetida. It does no good, although by its awful odor it tends to keep infected persons away. Don't rely on Uncle Ned's cure (hang a boot at the foot of the bed, drink till you see two). It does no good either. And you're apt to find out, as we did, one of the unfortunate paradoxes of life: when we could afford the physical expense of such a cure, we couldn't make the fiscal outlay; now that we can make the fiscal outlay fairly easy, we can't afford the physical expense.

Treat yourself with care. Drink many fluids, non-alcoholic, preferably uncarbonated fruit juices. Keep warm. Go to bed and stay there. Take aspirin for aches. Eat lightly. Avoid others. When the symptoms have passed, see your doctor for immunization. See him in any case if the symptoms become aggravated.

And keep your spirits — non-alcoholic — up! Doctors say a favorable mental attitude works wonders.

This week

Today is Thursday, Feb. 1, the 32nd day of the year, with 333 days more to follow in 1962.

Sunrise is at 7:10 a.m.

Fred (Sid) Myers, 68, died in Mansfield General hospital.

George Leshe was elected Cubmaster.

Father of Glenn Frakes, Lafayette Frakes, 71, died in Shelby.

Jim Russell scored 19 points as Plymouth downed Belleville, 65 to 53, to clinch a tie for the Richland County league title. Then he racked up 20 to lead a come-from-behind surge as Plymouth edged Ontario, 48 to 47, to win the championship.

Damage of $14,500 was the result of a fire in the home of John Belt near Shiloh.

Miss Janet Barnes became the bride of Claude Ousley in First Presbyterian church.

Miss Madeleine H. Smith chose Mar. 3 for her marriage to Joseph F. McClure, Shenectady, N. Y.

This week, five years ago:

Miss May Fleming, 80, once a hand compositor in The Advertiser, died of pneumonia.

The March of Dimes collected $202 here, despite a heavy sleigh fell during the march.

A total of 196 residents of Plymouth were employed at Wilkins Air Force station, with a payroll of $625,000.

Phaenon Guthrie was named Betty Crocker Home-maker of Tomorrow in Shiloh High school.

Mrs. Fannie Hatch Caldwell, 79, died in Shiloh.

First Presbyterian church voted unanimously to call Moss Rutan, son to be graduated by Western Theological seminary, Pittsburgh, Pa., as pastor.

This week, 10 years ago:

Mrs. Miles Christian published a novel, "The Dams Can Break".

March of Dimes collected $400 here.

Staff Sgt. John A. Turson was en route home after 10 months in Korea.

Mrs. Anna Mae Blackford, 41, died in Columbus.

Jack Root and Robert Schreck enlisted in the Navy.

This week, 15 years ago:

Ray McCarty escaped injury but his car was demolished after a collision with a Franklin couple.

Marriage of Lieut. Eugene F. Phillips, USAF, to Miss Helen Nadelak, Philadelphia, took place Jan. 18 in St. Peter's Roman Catholic church here.

Mrs. G. Thomas Moore, nee Betty Lou Mitchell of New Haven, joined the billing department of Fate-Root-Heath Co.

This week in history:

President Woodrow Wilson died at his home in Washington, Feb. 3, 1924.

Feichtner throws hat in ring to oust Leech at Norwalk

A lifelong resident of Huron county, Ray Feichtner, seeks to unseat O. W. (Bill) Leech, incumbent Republican, as Huron county commissioner.

Nominating petitions for the GOP ballot now being circulated for him will be filed before the Feb. 7 deadline, Feichtner said.

A prominent farmer in New Haven township, Feichtner works 460 acres, specializing in the raising of feeder cattle and sheep.

He has been a member of the Huron county fair board for 20 years and is serving his fifth year as chairman. He has been on the board of directors of the Willard Farmers Exchange Co., an elevator and feed co-op, for many years.

Feichtner is a director of the Ohio Cattle Feeders association and is a long time member of the Farm Bureau and the Grange. With Mrs. Feichtner, he headed the Willard High School Football Parents association for two years and has been active in other community affairs.

His farm is a mile north and one-half mile east of Willard Townline road. The Feichtners have two children, a daughter, who is married to a farmer near Bucyrus, and one son, John, who works the farm with his father and is now attending a short course at Ohio State university.

"I have always had a keen interest in county government," Feichtner said in announcing his candidacy, "and as a sizable taxpayer I am well aware of the scope of the county commissioners' responsibilities."

Youth arrested on charge of DWI

A 20-year-old Plymouth youth will be heard today in Huron county court at Norwalk on a charge of drunken driving.

He is Richard Fidler, 117 West High street, arrested Sunday after his car failed to stop and collided with the rear of another, driven by Leslie Franklin, 37, Route 60, Wakeman, at the intersection of Routes 18 and 20 east of Norwalk.

Mrs. Franklin and their daughters, Charlotte, 13, and Jeanne, six, were taken to Fisher-Titus Memorial hospital, Norwalk, for treatment of minor injuries.

Fidler received a facial laceration.

He was released to the custody of his father under bond of $200.

New Haven school entered at night; three others hit

New Haven school was among four such establishments entered by footpads Thursday night, Sheriff John Borgia reported.

East Greenwich, Ripley and Monroeville schools also were broken into, Borgia said.

The New Haven school was visited at 4 a.m. Friday by a sheriff's patrol and found not to have been disturbed. A service station at New London was also broken into Thursday night or early Friday morning.

A small hole was broken in a window pane, Borgia reported, and a wire inserted to trip the release catch on the window. Desks were disrupted and papers strewn about but only a small amount of loose change was missing.

This pattern also prevailed at Monroeville, Borgia said, save that a revolver may also be missing there.

Clyde Rothschild dies of cancer at 61

Retired machinist at Fate-Root-Heath Co., Clyde Rothschild, 61, died of cancer in Bucyrus Community hospital Saturday.

He lived all his life in New Washington, where he was a member of the Methodist church. He was a Mason at Letonia.

His wife, the former Letonia Reiderman; a son, Jacob, Ft. George G. Meade, Md.; a daughter, Mrs. William Kaple, New Washington; a brother, Jacob, Bucyrus; and four sisters, Mrs. Carrie Meyers and Mrs. Frederick Gissman, New Washington; Mrs. Bessie Kibb, Shelby; and Mrs. Cleo Gossman, Cleveland, survive.

Last rites were conducted Tuesday. Burial was in Union cemetery.

Fire safety subject of Columbus guest

Al Eisingaule, fire safety inspector for Motorists Mutual Insurance Co., Columbus, will present a fire prevention demonstration before the Community club Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. at Cornell's.

He has experience as a fire fighter and, in addition to his insurance work, has attended Ohio State university training schools in inspection and arson.

The demonstration will primarily concern fire and related hazards in the home.

Thor E. Woodworth, agent for Motorists Mutual, is sponsoring Mr. Eisingaule and his program.

Frank Lofland dies

Funeral services were conducted Friday for Frank Lofland, 86, a former Plymouthite, in Ft. Wayne, Ind.

He was found dead Jan. 23 by two neighbors at his home in Leo, Ind. He frequently visited here with Christian Webster, a neighbor in Trux street, where he grew up. His father was a well-known plasterer.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. William Earle, Riverside, Cal.; a son, H. C. Lofland, Robertsville, Ind., and a sister, Mrs. Blanche Campbell, Riverside, Cal.

McCormick heads Cub Scout pack 1

Franklin W. McCormick succeeded George Leshe as Plymouth Cubmaster Thursday night during the monthly pack meeting.

Robert Hunter is assistant Cubmaster.

A film on safety was shown. Mr. McCormick demonstrated walkie-talkie equipment.

Lion badges were awarded to James Clark and Larry Kamann. Larry Fazio received a Bear badge and denner stripes.

"South Sea Islands" will be the theme of the February meeting. Each den will prepare a skit and display.

Two den mothers are urgently needed. Any person who wishes to work with the Cubs is asked to call Mr. McCormick.

Auxiliary to meet here

Mrs. Ella Beaverson, Gibsonburg, president of the 5th district, American Legion auxiliaries, will be the guest of the Plymouth auxiliary Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Legion hall.

New members will be initiated. Mrs. Max Fidler, Mrs. James Ryan and Mrs. William Hough are in charge of the social hour.

Yost quits in vo ag; board cuts janitors to make ends meet

Harvey Yost, vocational agriculture teacher in Plymouth High school, has resigned to join Ohio Power Co. at $1,000 additional salary plus fringe benefits, Plymouth Board of Education announced Thursday night.

His post has been offered to Keith Johnson, a December graduate of Ohio State university. Johnson was graduated from Dalton High school in Wayne county in 1957.

Resignation of Mrs. Miles Christian, first woman to be elected to a policy making post in the village, was accepted. The board will elect a successor at the next meeting.

ECONOMY MEASURES that will save $3,062 annually were approved by resolution. Elimination of tennis as a spring sport will save $215. Purchase of art, construction and practice paper by pupils will save $324. Decreases in janitorial service will result in economies of $1,200. Other salary adjustments, notably in the vocational agriculture department, will save $1,225.

By charging the athletic association and others for use of school buses, the board will earn $75. By increasing pupil fees, the board will collect $370. An increase of a penny a meal in the cafeteria effective Jan. 29 will collect $1,260.

The sum of these savings is $4,767, which will bring the budget into balance. But these economies, Supt. Maynard J. Coon pointed out, will not allow the board to comply with the directive of the state department of education to improve library facilities and the industrial arts and commercial departments.

CUSTODIAL SERVICES

which are cut include:

1. Night custodian in the high school abolished during June, July and August.

2. Custodian of Plymouth Elementary school abolished during June, with annual leave during the first two weeks of July.

3. Custodian of Shiloh Elementary school shall now lawns in the entire district during the period June 1-July 15, with annual leave for two weeks immediately thereafter.

4. Annual leave for the high school custodian will begin July 15, for the junior high school custodian July 1.

School library funds raised by $1,200

Improvement of the high school library to the extent of $1,200 increased appropriation is part of the 1962 budget for Plymouth public schools, the board of education ruled Thursday night.

An appropriation of $2,000, compared to only $800 last year, was approved.

General fund appropriations in 1962 will be $416,483, compared with $345,494 in 1961.

The entire budget amounts to $536,361. The budget in 1961 was $689,367.

Other appropriations are $14,065 for administration, $272,756 for instruction, $10,260 for bus drivers, $19,614 for janitorial services, $31,876 for supplies, $1,562 for maintenance materials, $951 for equipment replacement, $13,226 for contract and open order services, $1,193 for capital outlay, $749 for interest on short-term loans, $43,375 for lunch rooms and $76,722 for bond retirement.

First National bank to stage open house to show customers new Shiloh quarters

First National Bank of Mansfield will stage Saturday from 2 to 8 p.m. an open house to celebrate the opening of its new Shiloh office building. The public is cordially invited to attend.

The new bank building is Shiloh's first new commercial structure in more than 25 years. "We have faith in the future of this community and hope our leadership will spark additional new construction in this area," says Avery C. Hand, Jr., first vice-president of First National.

The branch office occupies a corner lot at West Main and Church streets which offers easy access to the drive-in teller window at the rear of the building. The front is designed in a modern motif utilizing vast areas of glass and Indiana oolitic limestone. A fascinating feature of the building is the use of self-spanning prestressed concrete slab roofing. This type of construction originated with the Romans, some of whose buildings and archways stand today after 2,000 years. The floor covering is a new product of modern engineering. The chemical research, Marble slices and marble chips are impregnated with permanent polyester and epoxy resins to give the terrazzo flooring a combination of beauty and utility. The floor design was developed and the product manufactured in this area.

The building contains 2,500 square feet of floor space. A large conference room has been included for the convenience and privacy of customers. The vault construction offers the latest in safety features and the Century model Mosler safe door is the newest safe design on the market.

E. Dean Wolford, assistant cashier, is manager of the Shiloh office, a position he has held since the retirement of A. W. Firestone, a founder of the predecessor bank.

"The old office building was constructed in 1875. It was first used as an egg storage building and was remodeled for use as a bank upon the founding of the Shiloh Exchange bank. This bank ceased business and in 1901 the building became the home of the Shiloh Savings bank. The bank gained wide publicity when it was the first bank in the area to install bullet-proof teller windows," says Wolford.

The office will be staffed by Wolford, Larry Kochheiser and James Barnhart. The bank's advisory board members in Shiloh are Kenneth K. Benzing, Dr. C. O. Butner, A. W. Firestone and L. D. Wolfersberger. Banking hours will remain the same, 9 a.m. till 2:30 Monday through Thursday and 9 a.m. till 6 p.m. Friday.

WSCS ...

"The Mission of the Church of Christ in Latin America" will be the WSCS topic Tuesday night at the Methodist church.

Members of the Marguerite circle are in charge of the program and workshop. They are Mrs. Jerome Waker, Mrs. Kenneth Schneider, Mrs. Adrian Cole and Mrs. Leonard Wilson.

Hostesses are Mrs. Robert C. Haas, Mrs. Dale McPherson and Mrs. Wilson.

Miss Fortney wed to James Carl Root

Miss Dixie Fortney became the bride of James C. Root Saturday at 2:30 p.m. in First Evangelical Lutheran church, before an altar decorated with lighted tapers and bouquets of pink and white carnations.

The Rev. John Worth read the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Francis Guthrie played a prelude of organ music and accompanied Orva Dawson, tenor. While the couple knelt at the altar, Mr. Dawson sang "O Perfect Love".

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a ballerina length gown of white brocade. The fitted bodice had a scooped neckline extending into three-quarter length sleeves. Her short crown, held her short illusion veil. She carried a white Bible with an arrangement of a white orchid with stephanotis.

Miss Nancy Miller, maid of honor, wore a camelia pink velvet gown. The fitted bodice was fashioned with draped neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. Her short skirt was designed in full folds. She wore a small white fur headband and carried a matching fur muff with a corsage of orchid-shaded iris.

The bridesmaids, Mrs. James Jacobs and Miss Lynn Bachrach, wore gowns similarly designed in orchid. Their flowers were pink carnations.

Jeanine Fortney, the bride's young sister, was flower girl. Her pink velvet dress was fashioned as the others, but trimmed with braid. She carried a small white fur muff with orchid iris.

L. Edward Taylor was Mr. Root's best man. Ushers were his brother, Benjamin, James Jacobs and B. A. Berberick, Shelby.

The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Rose Van Buskirk, wore a dark blue afternoon dress with a small white hat. A corsage of light pink camellias was pinned at her shoulder. The bridegroom's mother chose a bright blue shantung sheath with lace bodice covered with short jacket. She wore a small blue velvet hat and a corsage of light pink camellias.

Mrs. Robert Fortney chose a light blue knit with a winter white hat. Her flowers were also pink camellias. Mrs. Verne Cole, the bride's aunt, wore a black and white dress with a white hat and carnations at her shoulder.

A reception followed in the Plymouth Elementary school. Miss Marilyn Jones, Mansfield, registered guests. Assisting at the bride's table were Mrs. Cole, Miss Estella M. Eastersday, who made small favors for the guests, Mrs. Berberick, Mrs. Thomas F. Root and Mrs. Wayne H. Strine.

The young couple spent a short honeymoon in the Pocomo mountains in Pennsylvania. They will be at home in the William Fortney house in Park avenue until spring.

The new Mrs. Root, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fortney of Loudonville, is employed by R. R. Donnelley & Sons Co., Willard. Mr. Root, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. H. James Root, is attending Ashland college.

Three plots sold Inland Corp. has sold land in New Haven township to Oliver and Jewell Cramer, according to a deed filed with the Huron county recorder. So did Iva Rodau.

Hiram Smith and others sold land in New Haven township to Robert Baxter.

Mrs. Vanderpool alleges neglect

The marriage of the Billy Vanderpools, 250 Trux street will apparently end in divorce. Mrs. Vanderpool, nee Loretta Joyce Trauger, alleges neglect and cruelty in a petition filed in Richland county common pleas court. She seeks custody of three minor children.

The Vanderpools were married in Bucyrus Feb. 27, 1954.

Mosher selects eight from county

Eight Huron county boys are among 37 nominees of Rep. Charles A. Mosher (R-Oberlin), 13th district congressman, to take qualifying examinations for appointments to three service academies.

Of 11 nominees for the Air Force academy examinations, James L. Fletcher, Western Reserve High school, Wake-man, and Aldis Kangars, Norwalk High school, Norwalk, are the Huron countians.

Of 13 nominees for the Naval academy examinations, Larry L. Ayres, Willard High school, Willard; Rodger A. Gerhardtstein, York High school, Bellevue; Barry L. Miller, New London High school, New London, and Gary A. Miller, Bellevue High school, Bellvue, are Huron countians.

Daniel L. Burke, Bellevue High school, and David E. Jones also Bellevue High school, are among 13 nominees for the Merchant Marine academy examinations.

Mapping out a day's run are Gerald Moser, 18, of Spring Lake, Mich., and Karl Kirsch, 17, of Huntington Woods, Mich. Neither of them had driven on a long trip before.

Plymouth to Plymouth to Plymouth to Plymouth

Teen-agers get 21.85 miles per gallon, averaging 50 miles per hour for 2414 miles

Results are in from one of the most unusual economy runs ever conducted.

The drivers? Not two "pros" as you'd expect, but two teen-agers from Michigan.

There were two contestants. The first was a 1961 Plymouth Savoy "6," identical to the one that topped its class in the last Mobilgas Economy Run. The other was a 1962 Plymouth Savoy "6" that had never competed before. Champion vs. Challenger!

Results: The 1962 Plymouth averaged 21.85 mpg. The 1961 Plymouth averaged 19.71 mpg. That figures out to 10.8% better gas mileage—40 extra miles per tankful—for the new Champ. The 1962 Plymouth (Model's Plymouth engineers had expected only a 1% improvement.)

Route: Plymouth, Michigan, to Plymouth, Indiana, to Plymouth, Pennsylvania, to Plymouth, Massachusetts, and return, 2414 miles in all. 2414 miles of typical turpike and downtown traffic. Rain, fog, sleet much of the way. Average speed: 50.1 miles per hour.

The moral? See your Plymouth dealer. Look at Plymouth's completely new styling. Sample Plymouth's performance in a demonstration drive. Then price the family-size Plymouth you want. Your Plymouth dealer will get you started on an economy drive that will last for years!

Editor angry about ad campaign

SIRS:

Plymouth Division, General Motors Corp., obviously with considerable pride (otherwise why spend a small fortune for a full page in the Saturday Evening Post to tell about it?) recently sent two Michigan youths on a 2,414-mile jaunt to prove that Plymouth is a quality product.

In doing so, the boys visited Plymouth, Mich.; Plymouth, Ind.; Plymouth, Pa., and Plymouth, Mass. They rode in six-cylinder automobiles, of which their fabricators seem justifiably proud, to prove a point: that the 1962 model is even better than the 1961 product, especially in the matter of gasoline consumption.

That Plymouth (of GMC) chose four Plymouths (in Michigan, Indiana, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts) in which to demonstrate its quality may suggest to some that these five Plymouths comprise the sum and substance of quality in the whole nation. If they do not, why did not Plymouth (of GMC) visit other Plymouths, particularly when it would have been no trouble to do so?

One thousand eight hundred and twenty-two citizens of Plymouth, Ohio, dispute that contention and do so vigorously.

This Plymouth was founded in advance of either of its namesakes in Michigan or Indiana. It is not so old nor large as its namesakes in Massachusetts or Pennsylvania. But it is not without a justified reputation for quality and some of its residents (well, at least one) believe that for the purveyor of an allegedly fine automobile to visit communities of the same name in an effort to prove its quality without including Plymouth, Ohio, is hardly the way to go about selling automobiles hereabouts.

The quality of Plymouth, Ohio, is internationally recorded and respected. The Plymouth locomotive, a product of The Fate-Root-Heath Co., stands for quality wherever it is in use — Australia, the Far East, Mexico, Africa, India and South America.

One of Plymouth's sons, the late Capt. Elmer L. Parsel, was a hero of the defense of the Philippines.

Others have served with great distinction when their country called.

From this community have gone forth citizens whose calibre and quality were benchmarks throughout the nation. Among them were William Chapman Ralston and David Ross Locke.

It is inconceivable that your researchers should have overlooked Plymouth, Ohio, almost in a direct line between Plymouth, Ind., and Plymouth, Pa., in their effort to plot a route over which the Savoy "6" could prove that it is, indeed, a product of quality.

We have no doubt that the Savoy "6" is just what you say it is — a fine automobile. That it was driven from Plymouth, Mich., to Plymouth, Ind., to Plymouth, Pa., to Plymouth, Mass., and return by some schoolboys and recorded 40 extra miles per tankful establishes your right to make that claim without much fear of contradiction.

We submit, nonetheless, that had the Savoy "6" passed through Plymouth, Ohio, on its route, you'd have a lot less difficulty selling your product here. And there'd be at least one less person whose admittedly tender feathers wouldn't be ruffled by what obviously was a venial sin. To proceed from Plymouth, Mich., to Plymouth, Ind., to Plymouth, Pa., in a Plymouth and not pass through Plymouth, Ohio — humph!

Jack up your research people and let us have no more of this!

Yours for better ad campaigns,
The Editor

Book relates story of Parsel's outfit

"They Fought with What They Had" has been presented by Mrs. Glenn Frakes to the Plymouth Branch library.

It is Walter D. Edmonds' story of the Army Air Force in the southwest Pacific during 1941 and 1942. Capt. Elmer L. Parsel, son of Ben Parsel and a brother of Mrs. Frakes, plays a prominent part in the book. Stationed at Clark Field in the Philippines, he flew early reconnaissance missions in B-17s. Later his squadron moved to Del Monte airstrip, where it continued raids on Mindano and other parts of the islands which by that time had fallen to the Japs.

Miss Hawk tapped to reign at dance

Beverly Hawk, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hawk, Plymouth route 1, has been chosen queen of the Future Homemakers of America Sweetheart dance Mar. 16 in Plymouth High school.

Her attendants will be Nancy Arnold, senior; Phyllis Fletcher, junior; Patty Hughes, sophomore, and Linda Peters, freshman.

Mrs. Riedlinger gets B. S. degree

Mrs. Shirley Cole Riedlinger, a 1958 graduate of Plymouth High school, was among the 170 recipients of baccalaureate degrees at Bowling Green State university's winter commencement there Friday.

She received a bachelor of science degree in home economics.

GOP women given special U. S. flag

It's about that time when political machinery begins to turn at the local level.

Mrs. William E. Carpenter, local GOP committee woman in Huron county, has a statement from J. George Stewart, architect of the U. S. Capitol, attesting that a 3 x 5 flag sent to her by Rep. Charles A. Mosher (R-Oberlin) has "lown over the big dome in Washington. It's available for use by GOP groups in the county. Always shop at home first!

Being a periodic, but irregular, presentation of human interest stories that come to the staff's attention yet seem for one reason or another not suitable for treatment elsewhere in the paper.

Honors come often for John Hughes, Bryan High school pupil at Yellow Springs. Immediately after he was named second alternate for appointment to the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., by Rep. Clarence W. Brown (R-Blanchester), dean of Ohio's Congressional corps, he learned the first alternate failed the physical examination. Result: he's now first alternate.

On the heels of this news came recognition by the Ohio Forestry association for outstanding work in conservation by Eagle Scout Hughes, son of the Leo Hugheses and grandson of Mrs. Samuel Bacharach, Plymouth. He's the youngest person so honored, the only boy this year, and one of only five singled out for recognition for outstanding service to forestry in Ohio for 1961.

The United States is now engaged in its most stupendous coast-to-coast highway building program that will total 41,000 miles of high speed Interstate Highways in ten years.

It is interesting to look back into history to the time when our first national highway building project was undertaken at the start of the 19th century. This was the National Road or the Cumberland Road, extending through the wilderness from Cumberland, Md., to Wheeling, W. Va. a hundred and sixty years and more ago. It was completed to Wheeling by 1818 and to Columbus, Ohio by 1836.

This photograph shows one of the best known landmarks on the old National Road, the Y-bridge at Zanesville, Ohio, across which moves the heavy traffic of U.S. Route 40 today (Interstate Highway 70).

At first this route was a buffalo trail that later was known as Nemaacolin's Path (an Indian trail). As the Braddock Road across the mountains, this trail played its part in the French and Indian War. The Ohio Company people came this way to settle Marietta, when they marked off the road from Fort Cumberland to the Youngbushen, in 1788.

The National Road as far as Columbus, Ohio was a busy stagecoach highway in the early days of the Ohio Country. Along its improved route today can be seen many of the original stone mile-posts which have been reset at the roadside. In June 1865, at the close of the Civil War, Gen. Sherman's army wagons passed over the original Y-bridge at Zanesville on their way from Washington for distribution to the frontier posts of the West.

Don't be fooled: that bird is black!

Have you seen the white blackbird?
Don't be fooled, say Plymouth's bird - watchers. "There ain't no such thing! It's a common grackle, partly albino. The tail feathers are mostly white. Some have seen it in the yard of the William E. Roots, others in the Robert L. McIntire feeder."

Spread some sunflower seed where evening grosbeaks can find it and you'll have this pleasant bird about the house, say bird watchers. The McIntires have had these visitors, Francis Guthrie saw one in his Ball street home and the Robert C. Haases had a pair in their yard Jan. 10.

A party of watchers here cooperated in the annual bird count of the Audubon society, the 41st annual Christmas enterprise conducted in collaboration with the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Within an area of 15 miles diameter, the group saw one Cooper's hawk, three red-tailed hawks, two red-shouldered hawks, two marsh hawks, three sparrow hawks, 142 mourning doves, one barred owl, two kingfishers, one flicker, eight red-bellied woodpeckers, two hairy woodpeckers, 31 downy woodpeckers, 78 horned larks;

Also, 22 blue jays, one crow, 38 black-capped chickadees, 23 tufted titmouses, 23 white-breasted nuthatches, one red-breasted nuthatch, one brown creeper, two golden-crowned kinglets, 97 starlings, 264 house sparrows, three meadowlarks, 51 cardinals, two evening grosbeaks, 20 goldfinches, 28 slate-colored juncos, 71 tree sparrows.

Also, one white-crowned sparrow, two swamp sparrows, 38 song sparrows, four Lapland longspurs.

Observers were Maynard J. Coon, the Robert C. Haases, the Vance W. Snyders, Mrs. Daniel M. Henry and Raymond Hankammer.

'61 grad qualifies as paratrooper

Pvt. Allen H. Greulich, son of Mrs. Helen A. Hicks, Dinning road, recently was graduated from the 101st Airborne Division jump school at Ft. Campbell, Ky. Greulich received his paratrooper wings after completing three weeks of intensive ground and aerial training which included five parachute jumps. The 101st, a major strategic army corps unit, constantly maintains an immediate readiness force for airborne deployment to any area in the world. The 17-year-old soldier entered the army in June, 1961, and completed basic training at Ft. Knox, Ky. Greulich is a 1961 graduate of Plymouth High school.

Fazio makes pitch before Democrats

Over 100 Democrats attended the Democrat committee meeting in Norwalk. Joseph T. Ferguson, treasurer of Ohio, introduced his son, Thomas, who will be a candidate for state treasurer in the May primary.

William Fazio, mayor of Plymouth, Democratic candidate for representative to the general assembly, and Clayton Dick, candidate for county commissioner, spoke.

Short talks were made by Mayor Lesius Frey of Norwalk, Mayor Burke of Wakeman, Mayor Clayton Lord of Monroeville, Judge Clifford Brown and Frank Hiltz.

Petitions for all state, district and county candidates were completed.

Red falls second time to Butler as Van Loo has biggest night

Plymouth held Butler even or one half here Saturday night but lost Tommy Barnd in fouls early in the third period and couldn't contain the Bulldogs, who romped off with a 78 to 48 victory in the Johnny Applesseed conference game.

Dick Wharton scored 21 for Butler, which capped its 13th win in 14 tries. Only Union has beaten the Bulldogs.

Ron Thorne bucketed 18 and Orval Oyster 17 for the winners, whose second half surge from the floor was unstoppable by Plymouth.

Roger Van Loo had his biggest night in Plymouth livery with 18 points.

The hapless reserve quintet sat another, its 14th straight, 5 to 29.

Plymouth's record, now five wins and nine losses, shows slight chance of improvement, percentage-wise. The Big Red as to meet Fredericktown, Union, Lucas and Lexington in its remaining games. It could defeat the last two, but must be rated decided underdogs

Ramseyer moans: frosh don't cotton to big floor so well

"What gets into my boys when they get on a big floor?" asks Coach Bill Ramseyer of Plymouth's frosh cagers.

In every outing so far, the yearlings have choked up on the big floor.

Monday they put on a dismal exhibition at Ontario and were whipped, 41 to 15. Plymouth never was in the ball game after the first period was half gone.

Plymouth belts Jays as Barnd scores 23

A last-half surge led Plymouth to its second victory of the season over Bellville, 66 to 59, here Friday night.

Tom Barnd had 23 and Phil Fletcher 21 for the Big Red, which trailed at the half, 25 to 22.

Plymouth won the game at the foul line, canning five more than the Jays. The teams were all but even in field goals, Plymouth bagging one more with 22.
